 The first bridge over the Williams River was built by convicts in 1855 and as travel between Perth and Albany increased so did the Williams township. The town quickly became one of the major stopover points on the coach road from Perth to Albany.*

By 1911 it was beyond repair and the current bridge replaced it. Ed. A new bridge was built in 2021

 The Williams River Bridge Hotel was opened in 1870.*

 A government school was built in 1888.*

 The site of the present hotel and the townsite was surveyed in 1905.*

Arthur River, WA: https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Arthur_River,_Western_Australia

Following the introduction of convicts in labour to the Swan River Colony in the early 1850s, the road from Perth to Albany was completed and a number of small settlements sprang up along it to support pastoralists who had been granted grazing leases in the area from as early as 1854. Arthur River gradually developed into a thriving centre with a police barracks and gaol (1866), the Mount Pleasant Inn (1869), St Paul's Church (1885) still surviving to this day as remnants of the original settlement, and a post office, blacksmith, doctor and trading post also being built around that time. By the end of the century, it was the major centre in the area.

pg.9 The importance of the Albany Road in the development of the Swan River settlement was responsible for the thriving settlement at the 125 mile - known then as Mount Pleasant - (now called Arthur River) after the Inn of the same name built for the Spratt family. In time, the post office, blacksmith shop, Church and Piesse's store were all to be built in this vicinity. The 125 mile was also a key point in the changing of horses for the Mail Coach before the building of the Police Barracks at the 131 mile in 1867.

Old bush schools: life and education in the small schools of WA 1893 to 1961:

<https://ro.ecu.edu.au/ecuworks/7075/>

P.6: In 1903 the Education Department undertook to authorize the establishment of provisional schools where an average attendance of ten, but less than twenty, could be guaranteed. The Department would provide books, furniture, apparatus and a grant of £4/10/- per head of average attendance. Parents were to provide a room and to make the teacher's salary up to £60 per annum. This meant that where two or three families had settled in an outback district with homes within two or three miles of each other, schooling could be provided for a minimum of financial effort on the part of the parents.

pg.7: In those early years the provisional one-teacher schools were a large segment of the state education system.

In 1908, for example, they constituted one-third of all schools. By 1910 they had risen for the first time to fifty percent of all government schools (234 out of a total of 468).

By 1910 there were 117 small schools in the Great Southern alone. In 1912 Inspector Miles commented, 'Our schools are a perfect barometer of the rise and fall of centres of population', having in mind at the time, the great rise in the number of schools in the Great Southern and in the eastern Wheat Belt. In 1913 the Education Department made a change in the classification of schools, indicative of the consolidation of many new areas into regular settlements. Schools with an average attendance of from ten to nineteen pupils became 'State Schools', Class VIII, thus eliminating the concept 'provisional school'.

DAYLERKING SCHOOL

Physical Description: Situated close to the Williams/Quindanning Road some 400 metres east of the Quindanning Hall. The building had a residence attached and W.G. Clayer was the first teacher. The second school in the Quindanning area replacing the Daylerking school some 5kms to the east, opened on 15 Jul 1901 and operated spasmodically until 1907.

(From our Correspondent.)

The annual picnic of the Quindanning school was held in Mr. Sherry's paddock on November 8. The day was warm and pleasant. There was a large gathering, all of whom seemed to enjoy themselves thoroughly. The children for some time past had been energetic in collecting and their efforts were most generously responded to by residents and others from the surrounding districts. The sports committee (Messrs. Wilson, Bailey, Henrickson and J. Page, with Mr J. Milieu as secretary) carried out the arrangements for the sports in a manner that none could cavil at. All children attending the school won prizes and special races were arranged for visitors. The ladies of the district; with Miss A. Fletcher as secretary, provided dainty refreshments in variety and abundance.

At 5 (sic) o'clock p.m. all assembled in the schoolroom and Mr. R. W. Millen, acting as chairman, spoke of the day we celebrate — the King's birthday. The school children then gave an entertainment consisting of action songs, dialogues and recitations, each item being well received and creditably rendered. The usual votes of thanks were passed and carried with acclamation, and many animated and humorous speeches were given. The entertainment concluded by all rising and singing "God Save the King."

The room was then cleared and under the able directorship of Mr. G. Batt a most enjoyable ball was held. Many dainty and prettily made costumes were worn (sic), amongst which the following were noticeable: — Mrs; T. Waldeck, pretty white dress ; Mrs, Flay (sic, should be Fleay), black voile skirt, pale blue blouse; Mrs. H. Sherry, cream pongee silk with insertion, black voile skirt ; Mrs. T. Wilson, electric blue poplin; Mrs. E. A. Sheehan, white muslin and insertion ; Mrs. J. Page and Mrs. Fletcher were both in black and white, while Mrs. D. Henrickson and Mrs. Bailey had on figured delaine blouses and black skirts ; Miss J. Fletcher wore a lovely costume of coral pink silk with touches of cream, while Miss A. Fletcher had on a pretty white shower of hail muslin with touches of pale blue.

Mr. Sheehan was inimitable as Mr. Primrose, the gay old bachelor; Miss Dorothy Craig, as his ward, Ellen Murray, looked graceful, and acted the part prettily; Miss Sophy Fletcher surpassed all her past efforts as Bobbin, the maid. Mr. E. Morgan, as Henry Thornton (in love with Ellen, and ready with a licence to fly to the church) played his part splendidly; while Mrs. E. A. Sheehan and Mrs. J. Craig caused roars of laughter as the two old maids, Miss Biffin and Miss Winterblossom.

The prizes were distributed by the chairman (Mr. T. Lavender). He said he came there expecting to enjoy a very unpretentious little entertainment but was never more surprised than when hearing the well-trained voices of the children and the way in which they acquitted themselves. He thought the parents should be very grateful to Mr. and Mrs. Sheehan, who never spared themselves, and took such an interest in the pupils of their school. A vote of thanks was proposed to Mr. and Mrs. Sheehan by Mr. John Bailey, and carried unanimously.

Mr. Sheehan thanked those present for attending, and all he asked of the parents was to back up the teachers, and not keep "Johnny" at home next day if the teacher found it necessary to put the screws on him for laziness. It was the inspectors and teachers who had the hard work nowadays, not the children. The programme of work was broken up and simplified in such a way for them that it should be a pleasure—not, as in olden days, a labor—to attend school.

The prize winners were as follow:—Dux of school, Dorothy Craig; 2nd, Madge Craig; 3rd, Florrie Page. Standard III, Bertha Henrickson. Standard II, Norman Craig. Standard I, Wilfred Wilson. Juniors, Frank Sherry. Many got special prizes, among whom were:—Phoebe Page, Everett Sherry, Robbie Wilson, Lily Morgan, and Charlie Henrickson.

This is an article which tells of a painful accident happening to Everett Sherry of the local hotel, and mentions family members playing euchre.

Quindanning Notes.

(From our own Correspondent).

A painful accident happened to Everett Sherry—son of Mr. H. Sherry, of the local hotel. Last Saturday evening he was running about without his boots, as children are so fond of doing, when he got one of his toes cut almost off with a piece of glass. Both parents were unable to leave home, but Mr. J. Craig kindly came to their assistance, and drove Mrs. Sherry to Williams, where the boy was attended to by Dr. Moreton. Doctors nowadays often recommend parents to let the children run bare-footed for health sake—a pity they do not advise them at the same time to gather up and bury the sharp pieces of glass which lie around their houses, and are such a menace to the poor little bare feet.

A well-attended meeting of the Progress Association was held at the hotel on Thursday evening. The chief business done was a resolution passed to petition the Williams Roads Board that the Government subsidy for road maintenance be divided among the wards—not equally—but according to mileage.

The fourth euchre party was held in the school on Saturday evening, when there was a much larger gathering than usual. The prizes on this occasion were won by Mrs. John Bailey and Mr. John Page, while the boobies fell to Miss M. Henricksen and Mr. F. Morgan. After refreshments were partaken of a hearty vote of thanks was passed and carried with acclamation to Messames Sheehan and Craig and Miss Trigg for the hard work and trouble they had taken to make those parties so successful.

Following is an article, about Susannah Henrickson, pregnant, becoming critically ill with influenza, requiring the urgent assistance of a doctor.

This article emphasises the dangers and difficulties our ancestors faced in that and earlier era's. Marradong at that stage, as many other towns and districts, did not yet have a telephone.

Influenza is still rife in the district. Mrs. D. Henrickson, oldest daughter of Mr. J. M. Page, of "Spring Hill," was attacked, and, getting a relapse, pneumonia set in. She became so ill that a telegram was sent to Dr. Lewis, of Narrogin, who lost no time in facing the cold wet drive of over 40 miles, arriving at the house about midnight. The patient has since given birth to a child prematurely, and is in a very critical condition, in fact little hope is given for her recovery. When cases like this turn up, we feel the great necessity of a telephone. In order to communicate with the doctor or chemist, a message has to be sent 15 miles to Marradong.

The weather for the past week has been cold and wet; the rain has improved the late crops, which otherwise would have been very poor indeed.

The Rev. A. O. V. Knight (C of E) is making a tour of the district. He addressed the school children yesterday, and is holding service at 3 p.m. here on Sunday and in Marradong at night.

Memories of Ethel "Min" Maloney (nee HENRICKSON):

"Daniel and Susannah HENRICKSON resided: Waroona, Coolup, Wuraming, Dwellingup, Quindanning and then Boddington District. W.A. (All being mill towns.)

Occupation: Sailmaker, Mariner, Builder, Blacksmith, Farmer & Clock/watch Repairer.

Daniel's farm house to 1936, Bannister Rd. Boddington. W.A., He owned this block of land at the junction of the Marradong Rd. in the Boddington townsite. He built a small 3 roomed "humpy" in one corner close to a well, in one corner of this block. The family lived here while Daniel looked for work. He could build, turn his hand to blacksmithing and mend clocks.

Eventually they bought a 160-acre farm on the road to Bannister about 5 miles out of town. He built a home for his son, Andrew on his adjoining block. This was a 4 roomed dwelling similar to the mill homes. He also built a home for the family on the farm. This was a 4 roomed weather board house plus a long Batt- Brick kitchen.

There were 3 open fire places inside made from Batt (clay) bricks. In front of the house there was a small footbridge used to cross the river to post & pick up the mail in their letter box on the main Boddington/ Bannister Road. W.A.

In the paddock, nearest the house at the rear entrance (which was the gate mostly used) was the hay shed. Outside of which the Chaff Cutter powered by a horse going around in a circle harnessed to a pole attached to a motor driving a wheel. "Min HENRICKSON" would sometimes ride the horse to keep him going.

Daniel also had a Blacksmith forge, as he was a tradesman at shoeing horses. "Outside the back gate were two sheds (one either side). In one, was kept the sulky (built by Daniel) used as their means of transport to Boddington. W.A. In the other shed, was the remains of an old "Cadillac" car. This had broken down halfway on a journey from Perth. During this period and their returning to collect it, a lot of the parts had disappeared. What remained, was brought to the farm and kept in the shed for spare parts.

The farm was later sold to Ned Lovegrove, after Daniel's death in 1938. "Granny moved back to town, she stayed for a while with daughter Martha" Matt" while Uncle Arthur (MILBOURNE) and Uncle Charlie TURTON, built the 4 roomed house on the Boddington Block. The farm was sold to Ned LOVEGROVE.

Now owned by (1991) Keilmanns and used as shearers quarters,1991.... There are a few original fruit trees left in the orchard. These were planted by "Granny" PAGE, Susannah Markham PAGE. (Christmas Red Plum trees). The shed houses a sulky built by Daniel. Clay bricks at Grass Valley, Quindanning. W.A. (also the bricks at Aunty Matt's Home) 3 miles from Quindanning were made by Daniel. Left here in 1911.

Via Debbie: Found out this morning some interesting information, for me anyway...I never knew...from a cousin.

"That Susannah Markham Henrickson nee Page use to play the piano in Boddington Town Hall for hours, had to be helped down steps to toilet! She didn't wash her hair - rubbed Kerosene thru every day and 100 strokes with brush every late afternoon! She used to count as well and if I (the cousin) was wrong I missed out on my pay! Sometimes 3 pence, sometimes sixpence! I was 12 (the cousin) when she passed. Daniel was a tea drinker. "

Susannah Markham Henrickson (nee Page) died 1 Sep 1960, Perth, WA. Burial Quindanning, WA.

WHEAT DRESSING.

THE prevailing opinion is that the solution now used—Blue-stone—answers all the purposes, in preventing smut and keeping insects away from the crops, and one farmer is of opinion that by using double the quantity it will have the effect of poisoning birds and animals that eat the seed. Whether the latter be correct, remains to be proved, as it is a mere supposition as far as we know. No doubt many of the farmers will try the scheme next season. It is certain that bluestone prevents smut to a great extent, but we have before us a far more effectual means of preventing blight and destroying birds and animals. It is an acknowledged fact that the losses to the farmers by pordies, better known as "boodies" are something enormous, and if any remedy can be applied to rid them of these pests it is worth a trial. The Circular does not state that it will destroy these animals we have mentioned, nevertheless it is more than probable that it possesses the necessary agency in preventing animals as well as birds from committing the ravages upon newly sown crops. The cheapness of the article commends itself to the notice of the farmer as it can be had at less than half the cost of bluestone. . .

BODDINGTON

Mr. Andrew Henrickson is recovering from a broken jaw, which he received when he rode his motor cycle into a gate one evening last week. The accident was caused when the sun dazzled Mr. Henrickson as he approached a gate which is usually left open, but on this occasion it had been closed and he was thrown heavily. He managed to walk to Mr. Dave John's house, from where Mr. John drove him to the Boddington Hospital for treatment.

May Henrickson (nee Turton) (1900-1982) died 22 Sep 1982, Williams Bridge, WA, aged 82 years.

John Edward Waldock (1888-1964) died 7 Dec 1964, Quindanning, WA [Reg. 91]. Buried Quindanning Cemetery.

The following six pages are details of John Edward Waldock's parents, John Waldock (1843-1900) and m.2 Hannah Elizabeth Haines (1851-1909). They also contain an article about the murder of his father's first wife, Catherine Waldock (nee Fletcher) and the hanging of Henry Walter Sherry.

JOHN WALDOCK (1843-1900) Senior - John Edward Waldock's (1888-1964) father

Via smith/davies/barbard Family Tree, Ancestry

John Waldock was born 1843, baptised 23 Jul 1843, Ashwell, Hertfordshire, England. Parents: JESSE WALDOCK (1817-1874) and MARIA (MARIAH / ANN MARIA) HASSALL who were married 24 Oct 1840, Royston, Ashwell, Hertfordshire, England.

JOHN WALDOCK (1843-1900) Senior was married twice:

m. 1 JOHN WALDOCK (1843-1900) Snr married m.2 'CATHERINE' FLETCHER (1855-1885) 22 Nov 1870, Pinjarra, WA [Reg. 3177]. Registered as Catherine Fletcher.

'CATHERINE' KATHLEEN FLETCHER (1855-1885)

Kathleen Fletcher was born 3 Aug 1855, Harvey, WA [Reg. 2894]. Registered as Kathleen Fletcher. Parents: JOHN FLETCHER (1824-1896) and MARY O'BRIEN (1831-1928), who were married 26 Jun 1854, Pinjarra, WA [Reg. 716], registered as Mary Brien.

CHILDREN OF JOHN WALDOCK (1843-1900) AND CATHERINE FLETCHER (1855-1885):

1. WILLIAM JOHN WALDOCK (1873-1955) married MARGARET GERTUDE ACRES (1893-1984) 1918. Perth, WA [Reg. 52].

2. THOMAS HENRY WALDOCK (1876-1955) married ELIZA GERTRUDE KING (1886-1939) 19 Mar 1906, Williams, WA [Reg. 5].

3. MINNIE WALDOCK (1879-1963) married HENRY HERBERT 'HARRY' SHERRY (1872-1943) 14 Apr 1896, Perth WA [Reg. 688]. Step siblings.

4. ALICE HENRIETTA WALDOCK (1884-1974) married HENRY NORTON WHITE (1879-1943) 1902, Quindanning, WA [Reg. 1975].

Catherine Waldock (nee Fletcher) died 16 Sep 1885, WA [Reg. 14058], registered as Catherine Waldock, aged 31 years. (Murdered). Details of the circumstances that led up to her murder can be found in the article EXECUTION OF HENRY SHERRY.

This is described in great detail two pages further on.

As is described further on in the article on the execution of Henry Sherry, William John Waldock aged 12 years and Thomas Henry aged 9 years were with their mother Catherine Waldock when she was approached by Henry Walter Sherry and witnessed when she was shot. What a horrific experience for them both. One they would never get over. Their lives changed forever. When their father remarried, the family had increased to 12 children.

m.2 JOHN WALDOCK (1843-1900) Snr married m.2 ANN ELIZABETH SHERRY (nee HAINES) (1851-1909), 1888, Quindanning, WA [Reg. 81]. Registered as Ann Elizabeth Sherry. Note: Ann Elizabeth Sherry (nee Haines) was the wife of Henry Walter Sherry who had murdered John Waldock's first wife Catherine.

It is all very complicated. Following are the details of Hannah Elizabeth Haines 'Ann' and her marriage to Henry Walter Sherry.

HANNAH ELIZABETH HAINES (1851-1909) 'Ann', 'Annie' and 'Anna'

Note. Hannah Elizabeth was known mostly as Ann and Annie. Birth record as Hannah Elizabeth, first marriage as Anna Elizabeth, second marriage Ann Elizabeth, death, Annie E.

Hannah Elizabeth Haines was born 1851, Fremantle, WA [Reg.1660]. Name recorded as Hannah Elizabeth. Parents: WILLIAM HAINES (1828-1871) and RACHEL HEATH (1825-1857) who were married 8 Apr 1850, All Saints Church, Lambeth, Surrey, England. She was a domestic servant to Captain Fawcett of Pinjarra. Annie E Waldock (Sherry nee Haines) died 1909, Subiaco, WA [Reg. 31]. Registered as Annie E.

m.1 ANNA ELIZABETH HAINES (1851-1909) married HENRY WALTER SHERRY (1839-1885), 1870, Pinjarra, WA [Reg. 3164], registered under Anna Elizabeth Haines.

Hannah Elizabeth Haines and Henry Walter Sherry had seven living children (plus one stillborn).

Henry Walter Sherry committed murder and was hanged in Perth Prison in 1885.

Hannah 'Annie' was remarried in 1888 to John Waldock (1843-1900). Details relating to the murder and hanging can be found in the article EXECUTION OF HENRY SHERRY following.

HENRY WALTER SHERRY (1839-1885)

Via Mulligan Family Tree, Ancestry

Henry Walter Sherry was born 1839, Stourmouth, Eastry Dist, Kent, England. Parents: JOHN SHERRY (1813-1880) and ELIZA PETLEY (1816-1857) who were married 14 Oct 1833, Stourmouth, Kent, England.

CONVICT:

Henry Sherry (fruit salesman, was convicted of arson of Dwelling House, date 24 Jul 1861, trial place Maidstone.

He was sentenced for life and transported via Lord Dalhousie, arrival WA, 28 Dec 1863.

His conduct as a convict was exemplary and he obtained his ticket of leave 9 Mar 1866. Conditional Pardon 13 Mar 1875, Pinjarra, labourer. Worked for Capt. EXECUTION OF HENRY SHERRY.

THE SCENE AT THE SCAFFOLD.

Henry Sherry was hanged yesterday morning in Perth gaol for the murder of Catherine Waldox at the Williams on the 16th of Sep last.

The deceased man, we believe, belonged to a well-to-do family in England. In 1863 he was convicted of arson, having set fire to his father's stackyard, and was sentenced to penal servitude for life. He arrived in Western Australia in the convict ship Lord Dalhousie on December 28th, 1863. His conduct as a convict was exemplary. When given his ticket he obtained employment as foreman with Captain Fawcett, of Pinjarrah, (sic). In course of time, he married a domestic servant in the employ of Captain Fawcett, and settled as a farmer in the Williams district. The police have no record of any convictions against him subsequent to his arrival in the colony.

Sherry, it appears, had formed an attachment for the deceased woman, who was the wife of a farmer living in the same neighbourhood. He made a proposal to her that they should elope together and leave the colony, but she refused to do this. It would seem that then he had become enraged with her and determined to murder her and then destroy himself. With this double object in view, he on the day of the murder borrowed from a neighbouring farmer named Hoghton a gun and some strychnine, making the pretence that he wanted the former to shoot a hawk. In the evening Mrs. Waldox with her two sons, aged ten and twelve respectively, went out to shoot opossums. The boys fired two shots, and having no ammunition left turned, along with their mother, towards their home. The prisoner met and spoke to Mrs. Waldox, who walked a short distance away with him. They stood together in conversation within view of the boys, and then he was seen by one of them to level the gun at the woman, at the same time saying "Here goes." She turned to get away from him, but without hesitation he fired at her, the charge penetrating the lungs and heart. Sherry then walked quietly away to his own house, and the boys seeing their mother fall, ran home and raised an alarm. The next morning the prisoner said to a man named Guthrie, "It is done and cannot be undone, I shot her in the back." In reply to Guthrie, he said that he had done it because he wanted her to leave the colony with him, and she would not. It had been his intention, he added, to kill himself with strychnine, but the quantity he took was not sufficient for the purpose. He would, he said, have shot himself with the other barrel of the gun, but it would not go off. To another person he said that he had tried to drown himself in the pool after committing the deed, but had not succeeded in his object as he "floated on the top like a corpse." To a farmer named Holmes he said that he and Mrs. Waldox had been quarrelling and fighting for two years, but he had put an end to it now. While in custody on the charge of murder, he admitted that he had killed Mrs. Waldox, but added that he did not do so because he hated her for, on the contrary, "he doted on the ground which she walked upon." To a constable he said that he met her by appointment on the evening in question, and that it was arranged between them, that he should first kill her and then himself, but that he had failed to fulfill his part of the contract. He added, "I am not going to build up any false hopes I expect the rope for it." When the case was heard at the Supreme Court, no attempt was made to deny the murder, and the plea of lunacy was only put forward as a suggestion. His Honour in charging the jury said "there never was a clearer case brought before the Court. It was also a peculiarly painful case. It was not one of those brutal

It had been his intention, he added, to kill himself with strychnine, but the quantity he took was not sufficient for the purpose. He would, he said, have shot himself with the other barrel of the gun, but it would not go off. To another person he said that he had tried to drown himself in the pool after committing the deed, but had not succeeded in his to drown himself in the pool after committing the deed, but had not succeeded in his object as he "floated on the top like a corpse." To a farmer named Holmes he said that he and Mrs. Waldox had been quarrelling and fighting for two years, but he had put an end to it now. While in custody on the charge of murder, he admitted that he had killed Mrs. Waldox, but added that he did not do so because he hated her for, on the contrary, "he doted on the ground which she walked upon." To a constable he said that he met her by appointment on the evening in question, and that it was arranged between them, that he should first kill her and then himself, but that he had failed to fulfill his part of the contract. He added, "I am not going to build up any false hopes; I expect the rope for it." When the case was heard at the Supreme Court, no attempt was made to deny the murder, and the plea of lunacy was only put forward as a suggestion. His Honour in charging the jury said "there never was a clearer case brought before the Court. It was also a peculiarly painful case. It was not one of those brutal murders that they saw sometimes committed for gain, but a crime perpetrated by a man who evidently had been carried away by an excess of passion, of illicit passion, for his wretched victim. It showed to what frightful depths human nature may fall when men give way to a passion which, when properly directed, was a noble passion, but which illicitly indulged, led to tragedies such as that one."

Since being condemned to death about a fortnight ago, Sherry has appeared quite resigned to his fate. He expressed penitence and was attentive to the words of spiritual advice that came to him from the Bishop of Perth and the Dean, the Rev. Mr. Carter. His appetite throughout never failed him and he slept soundly—in fact his dreadful fate had scarcely affected his nerves. He made his will in favour of his wife and children, bequeathing to them the whole of his property. In a letter to his wife, he acknowledged the great sin he had committed, the great wrong done to her and his six children, and the justice of his sentence. He retired to rest on Monday night at about a quarter past eleven o'clock, slept from about a quarter past twelve to half past three and spent the remainder of the morning in reading and praying. For breakfast he took a mouthful of bread and drank only a small quantity of tea.

Shortly after seven o'clock the preparations for carrying out the sentence of death were begun and soon everything was ready. At about a quarter to eight the time fixed for the execution—all the persons qualified to be present were in attendance. In the waiting room of the gaol were assembled the sheriff, (Mr. J. B. Roe) the medical officer, (Dr. Waylen), the governor of the gaol (Mr. Woodbridge) the executioner and his assistants and the representatives of the

Shortly after seven o'clock the preparations for carrying out the sentence of death were begun and soon everything was ready. At about a quarter to eight the time fixed for the execution—all the persons qualified to be present were in attendance. In the waiting room of the gaol were assembled the sheriff, (Mr. J. B. Roe) the medical officer, (Dr. Waylen), the governor of the gaol (Mr. Woodbridge) the executioner and his assistant and the representatives of the Press. The Bishop of Perth was with the condemned man in his cell, which was situated at the end of a deeply shaded corridor running to the east. The whole of the interior of the gaol and the aspect of those present seemed to partake of the solemnity of the occasion. At five minutes to eight, the death bell began to toll out in its chill monotonous tones and the executioner was called from the scaffold, where he had been examining the machinery, to take charge of his prisoner. The sheriff and the medical officer made their way down the corridor and awaited there the appearance of the condemned man and those who were in attendance upon him. Scarcely a minute elapsed before the executioner had prepared Sherry for the ordeal, having bared his neck and removed his shoes. A movement was then made into the corridor, the executioner leading the way followed by the bishop in his surplice, and the prayer book in his hand opened at the burial service. Next came Sherry, with his hands fastened behind him and wearing only a pair of mole-skin trousers supported by a belt, a cotton shirt and a pair of stockings. He was a tall, rather spare built man, with prominent nose and sharp, intelligent features. He walked erect without any assistance, and, indeed, he seemed quite as composed as any one present. He scarcely seemed to change colour, and his eye was as steady as if nothing of any consequence were happening. It was palpable that death had few terrors for him. When half way along the corridor, the bishop in solemn tones began to read the burial service, his voice rising into great distinctness when he reached the solemn words "In the midst of life we are in death." The procession moved slowly forward and passed through a door-way into the quadrangular space within the gaol walls in which the permanent scaffold stands. When he came in view of the black painted machine of the law the condemned man never faltered but quietly and with steady step followed the executioner up a flight of stone steps on to the platform. Without the slightest assistance and without a word from the executioner, he walked on to the trapdoors, looked up at the rope dangling above so as to place himself in the right position, and then stood firm as a post ready for his fate. In a trice the executioner had placed the noose round the criminal's neck and drawn the cap over his head and then with his assistant placed himself at the lever ready to let fall the trap. In the meanwhile, the Bishop had continued to read aloud the burial service and when all was ready for the bolt to be drawn had not ended. Sherry stood with the noose round his neck until the service was finished; and though it seemed that he remained in this position for fully a couple of minutes, he continued firm, the only sign of emotion he evinced being once or twice a hard drawn breath. The moment the word "Amen" had been uttered, the lever was pulled, the bolt was drawn and the trap doors opened, launching Sherry into eternity. Death was instantaneous, not a single motion of the body being observable. The drop given was about 6ft. After hanging the customary time, the body was cut down and a formal inquest was held upon it by the coroner. The usual verdict was returned and with the burial of the body, the solemn proceedings attendant upon the vindication of the law in its severest form were at an end.

Three years after Catherine's death John Waldock married a second time. Ann Elizabeth Sherry (nee Haines) had been married to Henry Walter Sherry, who had murdered John Waldock's wife, Catherine, in 1885 and been hanged in Perth Prison on 27 Oct 1885.

m.2 JOHN WALDOCK (1843-1900) Snr married m.2 ANN ELIZABETH SHERRY (nee HAINES) (1851-1909) 'ANN', 1888, Quindanning, WA [Reg. 81]. She was registered under Ann Elizabeth Sherry.

At her death in 1885, John Waldock and Catherine had five children:

Henry Sherry and Ann Elizabeth Sherry (nee Haines) had seven living children (plus one stillborn). Emily Evaline Sherry was born in 1886 following her father's death and registered under Sherry. For details of these children, see further back.

All of this is very intriguing and would make a book on its own.

CHILDREN OF JOHN WALDOCK (1843-1900) AND ANN ELIZABETH SHERRY (NEE HAINES) (1851-1909):

On their birth registration their mother's name recorded as Ann Elizabeth.

1. JOHN EDWARD WALDOCK (1888-1964) married ANNIE EMILY HENRICKSON (1893-1978)
26 Sep 1912, Waroona, (Murray), WA [Reg. 16].

2. HERBERT HARDING WALDOCK (1891-1964) married FLORENCE SELINA LAVENDER (1900-1933), 1930, Williams, WA [Reg. 23]. Birth name recorded as Harding Waldock.

m.2 HERBERT HARDING WALDOCK (1891-1964) married GLADYS MAY HARDING (1905-1998), 1939, Plantagenet, WA [Reg. 24].

3. CHARLES AUBREY WALDOCK (1893-1965) married ROSE EVELYN MCNESS (1899-1943), 1918, Williams, WA [Reg. 2].

m.2 CHARLES AUBREY WALDOCK (1893-1965) married LETITIA EVELYN AUGUSTA SHERRY, 1946, Williams, WA [Reg. 35].

In summary, Ann Haines/Sherry/Waldock (1851-1909) gave birth to a total of 11 children including one stillborn. John Waldock snr (1843-1900) fathered seven children, four with Catherine and three with Ann.

Continuing with the story of Annie Emily Henrickson (1893-1978) and John Edward Waldock (1888-1964):

At the races held on the 11th March, Mrs. Farmer, who had the booth on the course, was robbed, not only of the takings, but of the change she had brought with her. The matter was put in the hands of the police, but unfortunately up to now no trace of the thief has been found. Much sympathy is felt for the popular hostess of the Quindanning Inn.

All welcomed the rain which came down heavily last week. It ended for a time the bush fires which have been raging here since February. Several farmers had narrow escapes from having their homesteads burned by these early fires—Mr. F. Wilson in particular. The fire crossed from the forest into his paddock, and then on to his orchard and garden. He was helped to beat it out by a few neighbors who happened to be passing and see the fire. When it caught the long grass in the garden, they became so exhausted from the great heat that they were about giving up a forlorn hope to combat the flames, but urged on by the endurance and bravery of a little school girl—Anatha Henrickson—who continued to fight the fire by herself, they took heart, made a fresh attack, and by renewed efforts, put out the fires, and saved not alone the homestead, but also the stables and barn, which at the time contained the wheat and chaff of the past harvest.

A section cropped from the Funeral Address of Martha Markham Farmer:

The Funeral Address for Martha Markham Farmer – ST Alban's Church Marradong W.A. 21.1.1984

Martha Markham farmer is now glorified with him! She who was born in Quindanning 88 years ago and can be remembered by some here, as a shepherd girl, very much like the shepherds of the Holy Scriptures.

A ganger of the railway line between Boddington to Pinjarra, Harry by name, became her husband, and they established their special farmlet home down Farmer Road.

Martha turned the ground around her home almost into Paradise, for she was one who seemed to be blessed with a green thumb. She had an uncanny gift of grafting, so you would find apples on pear trees, or apricots or peach trees. She had pot plants galore, pumping her own water from the well to keep them all alive. And how she loved to milk her cow, mow her own lawn, and start & maintain her own motor for electricity.

Together Harry & Martha brought 3 boys & 2 girls into the world, and this Mother devoted all her energies to love and cherish each of you in her inimitable way.

Whilst her husband went to war, Martha carried on the farm supporting herself, & enjoying every moment of her pioneering life. This very independent lady made everyone welcome who came her way, and in a twinkling had a cuppa before her guests. Even if there was only a little produce left, she was able to concoct a delicious & satisfying meal to all at the table.

Just 20 years ago her husband died, and this was a very sad blow for her. One never heard her growl of hardships, for she always made the best out of everything. Her energy was boundless, her zest for life was unthinkable.

Aunty Matt was a friend to all who knew her, and even though she belonged to the Senior Citizens Group and attended meetings, she didn't really want to dwell on the olden days, but lived very much for the present and the future.

Martha kept herself young with her grandchildren & her great grandchildren, & truly loved being with each of you - & hearing of your comings and goings & your hopes for the year ahead. She was very proud of all her achievements, and she was very proud of all of you, her family.

Always she was thinking of you very rarely of herself, and her one wish that she has expressed, is that you will not grieve for her, but to continue to love one another as much as she loved each of you.

Martha accepted her impending demise with, great dignity, having no regrets & having lived a life with nothing to be ashamed of.....but perhaps there was one regret....for having driven her own car for so long, she wished she could continue to do so until she was 90. But that was not to be, for all our wishes cannot be granted.

Today she is enfolded in the everlasting arms of her Heavenly Father, and we can safely leave her there, but always remember her when you say the "Our father", and if prayer is part of your life, then she will never be far from you.

PRIZE ESSAY ON THE HORSE,

Grass Valley, Quindanning.

*Dear Auntie Nell, — I have never written to you before. I am trying for a prize on "The Horse." The horse is a noble animal, and is kind to his master. He is gentle, and willing to work. He is not made to destroy or to hurt, like the wolf or the lion, but to be of use to men. The horse loves his master, and soon learns to know him. A story is told of a soldier who had a favorite horse that never seemed so happy as when his master was on his back. —I remain, your fond nephew, CHARLIE HENRICKSON, aged 13.

Dear Charlie, —Your little essay on "The Horse" has gained a prize. I trust it arrives safely, and that you will enjoy reading it. Are you fond of reading? Next time you write you must tell me something about yourself, what school you attend, and what lessons you like best, and whether you have any brothers. I know you have two sisters—Bertha and Herma. How fond you all must be of Herma. I suppose you make a great pet of her. Did you help father grow the tomatoes and potatoes? And are you going to be a farmer? Good-bye, Charlie. I gladly, welcome you as my nephew. I want all my nieces and nephews to have a "Sunshine Money-box," and drop their spare pence into it, and then at the end of the year I'll ask all the children to open them and forward me the contents to help defray our expenses for the Orphans' Cheer at Christmas time. Will you help in this way? Write me again soon, dear. Much love, —From Auntie Nell.

Obituary.

PIONEER OF MT. MAGNET PASSES.

The death of Mr. William Watson of Mt. Magnet, at the age of sixty-nine years, has broken yet another link with the early days of the district. Approximately thirty-six years have elapsed since the Watson brothers settled at the now well-known Yoweragabbie Station which was in their hands for many years and, upon relinquishing his interest in the station, the late gentleman retired to Mt Magnet where he operated a small commission agency. A surviving brother, Mr A. J. Watson, is still at Yoweragabbie; another brother, Mr S. J. Watson, is at Yarragadee, via Mingenew and yet another, Mr Tom Watson, is at Strawberry; several sisters also survive, among them being Mrs J. Fitzgerald, late of Mullewa and now of Cuballing.

Although ailing for some three months, the sad news of his demise at 9.30 o'clock on Saturday night last came as an unpleasant shock to his wide circle of friends, and even acquaintances, for he had been held in high esteem throughout the Murchison for many years. Sympathy is extended to the bereaved widow and family in their irretrievable loss. The family comprise: Mrs Webb, Mt Magnet; Mrs Crick, Mt Magnet; Mrs Webster, Mt Magnet; Mrs J Matthews, Mullewa; Mr C. Watson, Mullewa and Mr. T. Watson, Perenjori.

Mr and Mrs Matthews and Mr C. Watson made the trip from Mullewa by car on Saturday night. The funeral took place on Sunday afternoon, the remains being interred in the Anglican portion of Mt Magnet cemetery and, considering the brief notice, was largely attended. However, there are many who, although unable to pay their last respects, will always hold a kind remembrance of the late Mr William Watson.

SAD FATALITY AT QUINDANNING.
 CHILD BURNT TO DEATH.

A very sad fatality occurred at Quindanning last week when the infant child of Mr. and Mrs. D. Henrickson was accidentally burnt to death. It appears that the child was playing in the vicinity of the washing copper and by some means the little one's clothes became ignited. Although everything possible was done for it, the child was too severely burnt and expired some 24 hours later. Great sympathy is felt for the parents in their bereavement.

OBITUARY Robert Turton

Another grand old pioneer has passed on with the death of Mr. Robert Turton, who died at Boddington last Thursday, May 25th.

Born at Wandering in 1865, he was the eldest son of Mr and Mrs. William Turton, who were among the earliest pioneers to settle at Wandering. The late Mr. Robert Turton (or Bob Turton as he was better known) had a long and useful life and played a most important part in the pioneering and development of the Wandering district.

He was most ingenious and clever and mastered many trades at an early age. He was a good stone mason, bricklayer, carpenter and plumber, as well as being a wheel wright and blacksmith.

In those days, W.A. was a separate colony and had very little, if any, trading with the Eastern States and all duplicate parts of machinery, etc., had to come from England, so when breakages occurred it was always Bob Turton that would be called upon to mend it or very often make a new part, which he would do with utmost skill.

He became a building contractor and built many buildings in the Wandering district, including the Wandering-Hall in 1896, over 54 years ago. He made the bricks locally and all the timber was hand-sawn from the jarrah forests near Wandering. The Hall is a splendid building of brick on good stone foundations that will stand for many years to come. A creditable monument to his skill and memory.

The hall still stands strongly in 2022.

He was most ingenious and clever and mastered many trades at an early age. He was a good stone mason, bricklayer, carpenter and plumber, as well as being a wheel-wright and blacksmith.

In those days, W.A. was a separate colony and had very little, if any, trading with the Eastern States and all duplicate parts of machinery, etc., had to come from England, so when breakages occurred it was always Bob Turton that would be called upon to mend it or very often make a new part, which he would do with utmost skill.

He became a building contractor and built many buildings in the Wandering district, including the Wandering Hall in 1896, over 54 years ago. He made the bricks locally and all the timber was hand-sawn from the jarrah forests near Wandering. The Hall is a splendid building of brick on good stone foundations that will stand for many years to come. A creditable monument to his skill and memory.

for many years to come. A creditable monument to his skill and memory.

He was greatly respected throughout his long life, being of a very kind and generous disposition. He got great pleasure out of his work and was happy in the company of his family and many grandchildren, for he dearly loved little children.

Early in life he married Elizabeth Foast, who predeceased him five years ago. They had a family of eight children, Harry (deceased), Ruth (Mrs. Fred Rodda), William, Frank, Maude (Mrs. Handle), May (Mrs. Henrickson), Lucy (Mrs. Priest) and Charlie.

Sons-in-law are F. Rodda, J. Priest and G. Handle; Daughters-in-law Mrs. Harry Turton, Mrs. W. Turton, Mrs. Frank Turton and Mrs. Charlie Turton.

He also leaves two brothers, Tom and Albert and two sisters Hannah (Mrs. Bates) and Rose (Mrs. Farrier) and many grandchildren.

The funeral which was well attended, took place at the Wandering cemetery on Friday, May 26 and the service was conducted by the Rev. Walker, of Williams.

Funeral arrangements were carried out by A. Dawson and Sons, Narrogin.

Coffin-bearers were:— Messrs. C. Cornish, K. Cornish, W. Dowsett, K. Johnstone, P. Warburton and J. Gaskin.

Floral tributes were received from the following:— Bill, Liz and family; Alan and family; Frank and Nell and family; Mat, Bobby and Don; Bill, Bessie and family; F. A. Turton and family; Mouritz family; Granny Priest and Tiny; Mr. and Mrs. Bone and family; Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Holland and family.

MEMORIES FROM IRMA TURTON (NEE HENRICKSON) ABOUT HER MOTHER, SUSANNAH HENRICKSON (NEE PAGE):

"In her married years, Susannah kept turkeys, chickens, ducks, geese and guinea fowl on her farm. These had to be rounded up at night to protect them from foxes as they free roamed in the day along the river. She also had pet lambs that had been left motherless, as well as an old pig. Keeping cows for milking was a must. She had a bull calf called "Jack". He became so tame; he was a pest when he saw anyone with a bucket as it was used from being fed in.

Meat for the family was provided from the stock kept. The pork for ham or bacon.

"Ethel (Min) and Susannah stayed with Martha "Matt". (Susannah) "Granny" as she was known. "Granny" used to take in washing to help funds along. She owned the block in Boddington. W.A.

Arthur Milbourne had timber for the house railed up from Perth, W.A. Charlie Turton and Arthur Milbourne built the house for "Granny" and "Min" to live in. When Daniel died in 1938, she sold the farm to Ned Lovegrove."

Susannah's birth is " Williams, W.A." on her birth certificate but may have been born on Page's farm, Quindanning. W.A.

Susannah was a very good horse woman as far as riding was. She would take her kangaroo dogs out with her whilst riding, to hunt kangaroos.

If the dogs weren't up to hunting (being too hot) she would give them a gentle kick with her stirrups whilst riding.

WEST PERTH WEDDING

A pretty wedding took place at St. Mary's Church, Colin-street, West Perth, last evening, when Miss Gertrude Henrickson, of West Perth, was married to Mr. Stanley McQuoid, of Kalgoorlie.

The bride made a charming picture in a frock of magnolia satin, the bodice cut with a high neckline, and the skirt falling into soft folds at the long train. Her filmy tulle veil was kept in place by a halo of orange blossom.

The two bridesmaids, Misses Henrickson and H. McQuoid, were frocked alike in satin gowns made with short puff sleeves. Miss Henrickson wearing blue and Miss McQuoid pink. They wore short beige-coloured gloves and large picture hats matching their frocks, and carried pink roses.

MARRIAGE BELLS

Wesley Church, Kalgoorlie, was the scene of a pretty wedding on the evening of July 5, when Gertrude Eileen McQuoid became the wife of Thomas Armstrong. The bride, who entered the church with her father, was daintily attired in a frock of ivory mariette, and radium lace, with shoulder posy of orange blossom. Her wedding veil, arranged under a coronet of orange buds, was loaned by her sister-in-law. The bride was attended by Misses E. Hornhard and H. McQuoid as bridesmaids, the former in a frock of powder blue crepe de chine, and the latter wearing shell pink, both frocks featuring the uneven hemline. The bride's bouquet was of roses, lilies of the valley, and hyacinths, the streamers having tiny horseshoes attached, whilst her maids carried posies of tinted roses and carnations. After the ceremony there was a gathering of friends at the home

Recollections of Aunty Min (Mrs T. Maloney) Mum's Sister.

As recorded by Shirley Wilson (nee Watson), granddaughter of Daniel and Susannah Henrickson, in 1991.

When Dad & Mum (Charlie & Bertha Watson) left Narrogin about 1925, they returned to Mullewa for Dad to work for Uncle Tom Molster at his store. Aunty Min came with them as a schoolgirl. At first, however, there was not a house available in Mullewa, so for a few months, they lived in Mt. Magnet with Dad's sister Aunty Annie Webb. Aunty Min went to school with Rosa & Ruby Webb.

The house she first remembers is the one in Mills St Mullewa behind Molster's store. The house had a very big yard, a lattice-enclosed front verandah and four main rooms, including a long kitchen. As was the custom in those days in hot climates, beds were put on front verandahs. The first house in the street was occupied by Watson's, then Mr & Mrs Graham Hall & their daughter Lal. Graham was an engine driver on the railways. Mullewa being a junction, had quite a large population of railway staff. Between Halls & Watsons was a dividing hedge with the toilets down in the back corner. Min & Lal being good friends, would exchange notes via their own little letter hole in the hedge. At that time, the police station was on the corner of Mills & Streets opposite. Aunty Min also came up to the new house, built on the hill in Jose St in 1929.

After Grandfather & Grandmother Henrickson & family moved from the Quindanning district about 1911, they settled for various periods in the Waroona, Coolup, and Dwellingup districts & finally arrived & settled in Boddington (- 1915).

Grandfather owned a block at the junction of the Marradong Road in the Boddington townsite. He built a small three-room humpy in one corner close to a well in one corner of this block. The family lived here while Grandfather looked for work. He could build, do Blacksmithing & mend clocks.

Eventually, they brought a 160-acre farm on the road to Bannister, about 5 miles out of town. Grandfather built a house for Andrew on his adjoining block. This was a four-room dwelling similar to the Mill houses.

He also built a house for the family on the farm. This was a four-room weather-board house plus a long Batt-Brick kitchen. There were three open fireplaces inside made from batt (clay) bricks. The clay for the chimneys was dug on the farm - close to a big pool on the Bannister side of the Hotham River, which was within a couple of hundred yards of the front of the house. Over the fireplace outside, he built covers to protect them from the rain. None of the family was allowed to go near the big pool. As far as could be ascertained, it was "Bottomless."

In front of the house was a small footbridge used to cross the river to post & pick up mail in their letterbox on the main Boddington/Bannister Road.

Vehicle access was via a ford crossing about a ¼ of a mile towards Boddington & opposite Uncle Andrew's house. A road also led past his place to join the Boddington Road further down. This road was a Gazetted or Government, which went through the farm & up to join Pollard's property.

Aunty Min remembers walking long distances chasing Granny's turkeys which roamed free along the river. There were also chooks, ducks, geese, & guinea fowls which roamed free during the day but needed to be shut up at night, as far as possible, to protect them from foxes.

She was the last member of the family still living at home & when she first started working at "Gordon's" store in town would ride her bicycle to work. This became too much as sometimes the store stayed open until 9 pm. By this time, though, Uncle Andrew & family had moved to town, so she stayed with them during the week & went home for the weekends.

Back to life on the farm. In a paddock nearest the house at the rear entrance (which was the gate mainly used) was the hay shed, outside of which was the Chaff-Cutter. This was powered by a horse travelling around in a circle while harnessed to a pole attached to a geared wheel arrangement. At times Aunty Min would have to ride the horse to keep it going. Grandfather also had a Blacksmith's Forge as he was a tradesman at shoeing Horses.

A few miles up the road from the farm was a stream called "Chalk Brook". The soil there was like white chalk & Aunty May (Mum's sister) used a paste made from this to paint the house. She used a dye for colouring and painted the inside-one room blue.

Blackboy (Xanthorrhoea, also Balga Grass, plant) gum was a good substitute for varnish when melted down & mixed with spirit. This was used to varnish wooden floors, steps & bush furniture.

Aunty Min learned the figures of Square Dancing after listening to her older sister & put it into practice by using four Blackboys growing in an approximate square as the figures. To make them more lifelike, she cut the bushes in a fringe and left some hanging long on each side to represent arms & hands. She had lots of fun bowing to her "partners" and swinging corners.

Outside the back gate were two sheds (one on either side). In one was kept the sulky, which was their only means of transport to Boddington. In the other was the remains of an old "Cadillac" car, which had broken down halfway on a journey to Perth and been abandoned. Upon returning to collect it, a lot of parts had disappeared. What remained was brought back to the farm for use as spare parts.

After Grandfather died on the farm in 1938, Granny moved back into town. She stayed for a while with Aunty Matt while Uncle Arthur Milbourne & Uncle Charlie Turton built the four-room house on the Boddington block. The farm was sold to Ned Lovegrove.

Thank you to Tiffany for typing these recollections.

SECOND CHILD OF SARAH BLECHYNDEN & JOHN PAGE

2. PAGE, JOHN 'JAMES' 'JIMMY' HENRY (1871-1947) & KING, 'MARY' ELLEN (1876-1955)

There is some confusion between the registration of the names of the second and fourth child of Sarah and John Page.

- 2. John Henry Page, born in 1871, went by the names 'James' and 'Jimmy'.
- 4. John Page, born in 1876, went by the name of 'Johnny'.

KING – In loving remembrance of my dear husband and our dear father and grandfather, John William King, who passed away on July 6, 1922, at Marradong; also, my dear son and our dear brother and uncle Henry Edward who passed away at Narrogin on May 21, 1904: also, my dear son and our dear brother and uncle. Private George Chapman, who was killed in action at Hebuterne, in France on Mar 27, 1918: also, my dear son and our dear brother, John Ernest, who was called away suddenly on Aug 6, 1926, at Greenfields, Lower Williams.

*Until we meet again.
 But though earth's fairest blossoms die,
 And all beneath the skies are vain,
 There is a brighter age now nigh,
 Beyond the reach of care and pain.
 We shall meet our loved and lost ones,
 When the surges cease to roll,
 Sin and death and every evil,
 Then shall yield to Christ's control,
 We shall meet beyond all troubles,
 When the surges cease to roll.
 Inserted by loving wife, mother, sisters and brothers, sons and daughters and grandchildren.*

TRAGEDY AT QUINDANNING.

Yesterday evening Constable McGuigan, of Williams, brought into the Narrogin morgue the body of John Earnest King, aged 45, a farmer in the Quindanning district.

It appears that the body was found in the bush, a bullet from a 303 rifle having entered the side of deceased and come out through the head.

King and his wife were out riding together at the time of the tragedy and Mrs. King states that deceased shot himself.

The R.M. (Mr. A. E. Burt) ordered a post mortem examination and a coronial enquiry into the cause of death.

MAN SHOTQUARREL WITH WIFE

SUICIDE INDICATED

There are some unusual features surrounding a shooting incident which occurred at Williams yesterday. A settler in the district, named John Ernest reported to have shot himself, following a quarrel with his wife.

Last night Mrs. Thomasine Henrietta King called at the Williams police station and told Constable McGuigan that earlier in the evening she and her husband quarrelled in the bush near their home, along the Williams River. Following the quarrel, she said her husband shot himself.

On visiting the place mentioned by Mrs. King, Constable McGuigan found King's dead body, which he took to the police station. An examination of the spot by McGuigan revealed that only one set of tracks; the dead mans led to where the body was found, and this, in conjunction with other circumstances, indicated that the man had committed suicide.

Mrs. King told the constable that she and her husband were the only persons present when the tragedy occurred.

The matter has been reported to the Criminal Investigation Department, and Inspector Condon has instructed Detective- Sergeant Fraser to closely investigate the tragedy. Sergeant Fraser left for Williams by car this morning.

If interested in viewing the coroner's report, log into the Supreme Court of WA.

*Ah, little we thought when he bade us good-bye,
That 'twas his last good-bye on earth;*

*No thought of the anguish, sorrow, and loss,
That with the morrow would take birth.*

*Oh, could we have been there in that hour of death,
To have caught the last sigh of his dying breath,
His last faint whisper we might have heard,
And breathed in his ear one parting word.*

Marradong.

(From our Correspondent.)

A quiet but pretty wedding was celebrated on the 8th September at St. Alban's Church, Marradong, when Miss Annie Louisa King, fourth daughter of Mr. John W. King, of Marradong, was united in matrimony to Mr. John Edwin Bates, of Marradong and formerly of Pinjarrah. The Rev. W. Patrick officiated. The bride, who was given away by her father, looked very pretty in a dress of cream Japanese silk, the skirt having deep gathered flounce edged with valenciennes lace and rows of val. insertion lengthwise in the skirt, with full gathered bodice neatly trimmed with val. lace and insertion, with spray of orange blossoms. The usual wreath and veil was worn and the bride carried a bouquet of pretty, white flowers. Miss Emily Isabella May King, a little 12-year-old sister of the bride, who acted as bridesmaid, looked very nice in a pink mousseline- de soie, nicely tucked and trimmed with Valenciennes lace and insertion; panama hat trimmed with pink and white silk rosettes, white silk streamers and edged with a ruching of white silk; shoes and stockings and gloves to match; white waist ribbon, and carried a bouquet of pink everlastings and white flowers. Mr. W. J. King acted as best man.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the old home of the bride's parents, but owing to the bride's mother being in delicate health only the relatives of the bride and groom, with the exception of the Rev. Patrick, were present. However, 37 sat down to breakfast, at which the usual toasts were honoured.

The church was nicely decorated for the occasion by the friends of the parties and the flag hoisted at Mr. Vagg's hotel.

The following ladies were present: —

Mrs. T. W. Bates, smart 'tweed skirt and coat, white silk front.

Mrs E. A. King (mother of bride), black silk lustre skirt, white silk blouse.

Mrs. T. Waldoock, black silk skirt, white silk blouse.

Marradong.

(From our Correspondent.)

A QUIET but pretty wedding was celebrated on the 8th September at St. Alban's Church, Marradong, when Miss Annie Louisa King, fourth daughter of Mr. John W. King, of Marradong, was united in matrimony to Mr. John Edwin Bates, of Marradong and formerly of Pinjarrah. The Rev. W. Patrick officiated. The bride, who was given away by her father, looked very pretty in a dress of cream Japanese silk, the skirt having a deep gathered flounce edged with valenciennes lace and rows of val. insertion lengthwise in the skirt, with full gathered bodice neatly trimmed with val. lace and insertion, with spray of orange blossoms. The usual wreath and veil was worn and the bride carried a bouquet of pretty white flowers. Miss Emily Isabella May King, a little 12-year-old sister of the bride, who acted as bridesmaid, looked very nice in a pink mousseline de soie, nicely tucked and trimmed with valenciennes lace and insertion; panama hat trimmed with pink and white silk rosettes, white silk streamers and edged with a ruching of white silk; shoes and stockings and gloves to match; white waist ribbon, and carried a bouquet of pink everlastings and white flowers. Mr. W. J. King acted as best man.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the old home of the bride's parents, but owing to the bride's mother being in delicate health only the relatives of the bride and groom, with the exception of the Rev. Patrick, were present. However, 37 sat down to breakfast, at which the usual toasts were honoured.

The church was nicely decorated for the occasion by the friends of

for the occasion by the friends of the parties and the flag hoisted at Mr. Vagg's hotel.

The following ladies were present:—

There comes a fond vision of not long ago.
Just as a dream he stands by my side
And whispers, "Dear mother, Death cannot divide."
I seem to see your face, dear George,
Through a mist of anxious tears.
Ah, a mother's part is a broken heart
And a burden of lonely years.
One of the best, a loving son,
A brother kind and true.
So dearly loved, so sadly missed
By everyone he knew.
He died as he lived, manly, unselfish, and brave.
A life so purely lived,
A crown so nobly won.
—inserted by his sorrowing parents,

Quindanning.
(From a Correspondent.)
A pretty but quiet wedding was solemnised at Quindanning by the Rev. Brother Frewer on August 28th, when Miss Emily Isabella May King, daughter of Mr. J. W. and Mrs. King, of Spring Gully, Marradong, and Mr. Geo. Fletcher, youngest son of the late Mr. John Fletcher and Mrs. Fletcher, of Lower Quindanning, were joined in the holy bonds of matrimony. The church was beautifully decorated with flowers, chiefly in purple and white, by the two sisters and niece of the bride, Mrs. Thomas Waldeck, Mrs. Thomas Wilson and Miss Rebecca Wilson. The bride, who entered the church on the arm of her father, looked neat and pretty in a dress of cream Tokio silk-made skirt and blouse, fashioned with a row of deep insertion down each side of front and round the bottom and caught with sprays of orange blossom and bows of white ribbon; the blouse also neatly trimmed with insertion and large pearl buttons. The usual wreath and veil and a coronet of orange blossoms (kindly lent by Mesdames T. Waldeck and Fawcett) was also worn by the bride, who carried a bouquet of lovely mixed flowers, nicely arranged by Mrs. Fawcett. Mr. Alfred King carried out the duties of best man. After the ceremony the happy couple drove to the home of the bride's parents, where a light reception was held, and, after the usual toasts were honored, the happy couple left for their home on the river amidst showers of rice and confetti. The bride's going-away dress was saxe-blue poplin, made coat and skirt pattern, with white silk front and smoke pearl buttons, white hat with black band and bunch of cherries. Great credit is due to Mrs. Thomas Waldeck for the needlework, as she was the maker of the two dresses. A few nice and useful presents were made by the following friends:—Mr. and Mrs. Wilson and family, glass salad bowl and d'oyleys; Mrs. H. Sherry, jam dish and spoon; mother of bride, bread saw; father of bride, Langleyware milk jug; Mrs. James Page, glass salad bowl; Mr. and Mrs. Hope, sweet dish; Miss Lucy Fawcett, ¼ doz. egg cups; Miss Mary Fawcett, ½ doz. glass tumblers; Master Charlie Fawcett, knife and fork tray; Master Allen Fawcett, pair mats; Mr. and Mrs. Bates and family, glass salad bowl and butter dish; Mr. W. King, glass butter dish; Mr. and Mrs. T. A. King and family, glass butter basin; Mr. A. O. King, glass sugar basin; Mr. S. King, bedroom lamp; Mr. J. H. King, cheque; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Waldeck, glass butter basin, salt cellars and spoons; Mrs. J. Boyer, cheque; Master Tom and Misses Florrie and Olive Batt, salt cellars.

MRS JAMES PAGE - CHOCOLATE PIE

This delicious dessert was found on Trove, entered by Mrs James H Page in 1908. Debbie Miles was so tempted she cooked and served it to her family in March 2021. It was as delicious as stated.

Sunday Times (Perth, WA: 1902 - 1954), Sun 10 May 1908, pg 7

CHOCOLATE PIE.

Two cupsful of milk, yolks of two eggs, six tablespoonsful of sugar, four tablespoonsful of grated chocolate, and two tablespoonsful of corn flour. Let milk and sugar come to boiling point; add corn flour wet with milk, the chocolate, a teaspoonful of vanilla extract, and last, the well-beaten yolks of eggs. Pour into a baked crust and cover with meringue of whites of two eggs. This pie is delicious, and should be served very cold. —

Mrs. James H. Page, Salt Spring, Quindanning.

Debbie's attempt at making the Chocolate pie made in 1908 by Patience "Mary" Ellen Page (nee King), her ancestor.

"It is a chocolate custard meringue pie. I modified the recipe by no sugar added in the custard, added dark chocolate powder, instead of grated chocolate, added brown sugar to the meringue when whipping instead of icing sugar. Let it cool and place in the fridge to set to be really, cold."

Delicious Chocolate Pie:

11 out of 10 for taste.
Mary would have been proud of you Debbie.

Note: When James and Mary's granddaughter *Eileen 'Margaret' Page was 12 years of age (about 1947) James and Mary Page separated in marriage. James contracted an infection in his hand. Quindanning.

WEDDING BELLS.

(From our Correspondent.)

A very pretty wedding was celebrated on the 11th of March in the church at Quindanning, when Mary Henrietta, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Page of Quindanning, was joined in holy matrimony to William Thomas Hope, also of Quindanning. The Rev. Canon Groser performed the ceremony. A large crowd assembled at the church which was very prettily decorated by the friends of the bride, having an archway of evergreens and red gum blossom from which were suspended two white horseshoes. Miss Branch presided at the organ and played the Wedding March. The bride entered the church on her father's arm and looked lovely in a dress of white satin made with princess effect, the skirt being prettily trimmed with cream lace insertion and sprays of orange blossoms, two rows extending from the waist at front, downwards and around the bottom, corsage of V-shape lace insertion, with a trail of orange blossoms daintily arranged on the left side, and wore the usual wreath and veil, and carried a bouquet of bridal creepers, fern and carnations. Miss Ellen Page, eldest sister of the bride, looked very nice in a dress of hail-spot muslin, trimmed with embroidery and insertion with yoke of lace, pink sash and white hat trimmed with pink roses.

Mr. W. King acted as best man and Mr. H. Houghten as groomsman.

After the ceremony the party drove to the home of the bride's parents where a sumptuous repast awaited them. Between fifty and sixty guests sat down to the breakfast and in a very happy speech Canon Groser proposed the health of the bride and bridegroom. The bridegroom responded suitably. After a pleasant afternoon had been spent, the happy couple drove to Glenvale Estate where they will reside for the present. Showers of rice and confetti accompanied them as they moved off. The bride's travelling dress was a perfect fitting royal blue Delaine, with row of buttons down front, cream lace sailor collar, and white hat.

Among the many useful presents received were the following: — Mr. and Mrs. Bailey, bed spread. Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bailey, sweet dish. Miss Rose Bailey, crochet mats. Miss E. Sheehan, table centre. Mrs. Wilson, handmade lace d'oyleys. Mrs. Houghten, afternoon tea set. Mr. P. Houghten, glass pickle jar. Father of bride, cake stand. Mother of bride, butter and sugar basins. Narrogin Trading Co., E.P. cruet. Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher, glass dishes. Mr. and Mrs. T. Waldeck, glass butter dish. Messrs. Page Bros., glass tumblers and jugs. The Misses Page, milk jug and sauce bottles. Mr. and Mrs. Bates, afternoon tea cloth. Mr. W. King, silver mounted cut-glass salt cellars. Mr. and Mrs. King, cut-glass mustard pot and umbrella. Mr. J. King, silver-plated vase. Mr. A. King, silver-plated bread fork. Miss King, silver butter knife. Master King, silver jam spoon.

I must here remark that great credit is due to Miss Page for the taste she displayed in making the dresses for the bride and bridesmaids, both of which were dainty confections.

Electoral Roll:

Details on William Thomas Hope are elusive. There is a record of birth and death for a William Thomas Hope in N.Z.

FALSE HOPES

NEGLECTED HIS WIFE

Divorce Granted

After a married life lasting 12 years Mrs. Mary Henrietta Hope petitioned in the Divorce Court before the chief Justice (Sir Robert McMillan) this morning for a dissolution of her marriage with William Hope. Mr. C. Greif appeared for her.

Mrs. Hope said that they were married in 1914 and she lived with her husband at Marradong, where he was working on the timber mills. In September, 1923, he left her without reason, and as no trace of him could be found at the mills she informed the police who unsuccessfully dragged a river for his body. Her sister, who lived in Leederville, advertised for him for a month without response.

As she had no money, Mrs. Hope took a position at Narrogin at a hotel, and got the police to put his photograph in the police gazette. One day he walked into the hotel and made himself known to her. He was then heavily bearded; previously he had been clean-shaven. He gave her £15, but refused to keep her. She had a warrant issued, and he was arrested for wife desertion. An order for maintenance was made against him, but he had not kept it.

A decree in the usual terms was issued.

4. PAGE, PHOEBE ISABELLA (1898-1974)

Phoebe Isabella Page was born 1898, Williams District, WA [Reg. 4945].

Electoral records show Phoebe was in VIC in 1928. She married in 1930 and spent all of her married life in VIC until her husband Italo Vincent Cesare died in 1973. It appears that following his death she returned to, where her death was recorded.

Phoebe Isabella Page died 1 Jun 1974, Mount Lawley, WA, aged 75 years. Buried Karrakatta Cemetery.

PHOEBE ISABELLA PAGE (1898-1974) married m2. ITALO VINCENT CESARI (1893-1973), 1930, Melbourne, VIC [Ref. 9174]. This was his second marriage.

ITALO VINCENT CESARI (1893-1973) Via Waddington Family Tree, Ancestry.

Italo Vincent Cesari was born 10 Aug 1893, Sydney, NSW. Parents: ARCANGELO CESARE CESARI (1857-1949) and ROSE EUGENIA CORRA (1875-1959) who were married 22 Oct 1892, Melbourne, VIC.

Italo Vincent Cesari was a boatman, fisherman, labourer, grocer, gardener.

Italo Vincent Cesari died 1973, St Kilda, VIC [Ref. 520].

Arcangelo Cesare: 1887, Milan, Milano, Lombardia, Italy. Cesare was 31 when he signed a contract in Milan to go to Sydney and join a tour that would take him from Sydney to Melbourne, to TAS and New Zealand. Cesare played the horn in Martin Simonsen's opera company, conducted by Signor Lombardi.

Arrival: 13 Oct 1888, Williamstown, VIC, aboard the Austral.

Employment: 1889 Australia. Cesare signed on with Giovanni Venturi of the Italian Society of Artists, which enabled him to stay on in Australia. He married Rosina Corra, who was also Italian, in Melbourne in 1892, and he became part of the orchestra at the Princess Theatre

ARCANGELO CESARI (1857-1949) and ROSE EUGENIA CORRA (1875-1959) had three children:

THROWN FROM VEHICLE

A GIRL BADLY INJURED.

DRIVER ARRESTED FOR DRUNKENNESS.

Last evening Constable Topliss of Victoria Park was informed that an accident had occurred on Suburban Road, South Perth. Proceeding to the scene the constable found Stella Scrivener, 22 years old, lying on the road. Nearby was a man, Alfred Whittle, and a pony and sulky. Miss Scrivener was taken in the ambulance to Perth Hospital, where she was treated for a fractured hip and other injuries.

Whittle was arrested on a charge of having been drunk when in charge of a horse and vehicle. It was ascertained that Whittle was driving Miss Scrivener to Como when the pony fell and the girl was thrown to the roadway.

Note. This happened the year they were married to each other.

In April, 1862, Joseph Bailey made application to purchase Williams location 19, containing 40 acres, which he made freehold at a cost of £20 during 1868. On this site he built his original homestead which was the birthplace of all members of his family. The building is still in a reasonable state of preservation. This old building many years later, was used as Marling School. Joseph Bailey, after settling on the Williams River, purchased other small holdings near the river but situated east of his original block. In addition, his name appears on a number of pastoral leases near the Murray River with acreages totalling in the vicinity of 24,000 acres. At the same time, he held further leases of 6,000 acres near the old sandalwood road which led to Bunbury.

PLAN OF JOSEPH BAILEY'S PROPERTIES

Courtesy Kathy Burns

By Nora Kathleen Grant (nee Bailey): Kathy's mother who did a lot of research on Joseph Bailey and Sarah Dewis.

Joseph Bailey received a land grant of 40 acres at Marling on the Williams River, just 14 miles from Williams about 1862, which he made Freehold in 1864. Williams Location 19.

When Joseph died in 1897, the homestead 'Pleasant View' was now 758 acres Freehold. He also had 1,000 acres nearby of conditionally purchased land, 'Spring Hill Farm of 437 acres Freehold. 'Red Hill' Farm of 100 acres Freehold.

In 1862 Joseph Bailey in company of William lavender made their way from York to Marling, both men having 40-acre grants adjoining on the Williams River. They travelled along the Avon, Dale and Hotham Rivers with wagons, stock and farm equipment to Marling on the Williams River.

Joseph would have worked as a teamster between Perth and their properties carting sandalwood and provisions, some 114 miles each trip taking 7 days each way.

From earth on his property bricks were made by hand of which the home was constructed. The shingles for the roof hewn also by hand from trees felled on the property. These trees were called shingle trees, today we know as Sheoak. Joseph married Sarah Dewis 5 Apr 1867. They named their home 'Pleasant View'. Today the remains of that home are still standing but beyond repair. Even the old fruit trees, vines and palms are still flowering.

Unfortunately, the family no longer owns the property. It belongs to a grandson of William Lavender.

A small book has been printed and compiled by Williams District High School, students, "Williams School 100 years". Quindanning 1924.....

The book includes names like, J. Page, I. Page, along with many others.....

"A school was established 1893 with 12 pupils & Miss K. Nichols as first teacher. There was another school apparently 1887, 20 miles from Williams school, on the Williams River. The exact situation not known & closed from temporary mental weakness of the teacher. The 1893 school was owned by C/E Church, situated at Dayler King, which remained in use till the turn of the century.

A new school was built on a reserve on the south side of the Williams Road. (Some 400 metres east of the present Quindanning Hall). This closed again in 1907. It was re-erected on the site donated by Henry Sherry, along with a residence. This was on the way to Marradong, very near the Quindanning Hotel, WA. Remained functional for thirty (30) years.

In 1952 a new building was erected on land granted by William Morgan, which closed in 1960. There was a school called "Marling", situated in the old "Bailey Homestead", from 1911 and functioned for many years, finally closed in 1950. In 1905, the "property" (Pleasant View), became the property of William Lavender. "

Joseph Bailey died 13 May 1897, Marling, Marradong, (Williams), WA [Reg.2694] aged 67 years, father, ISAAC CHARLES BAILEY, place of birth Staffordshire, Eng. Buried at Pleasant View (Marling School), Marradong, near Williams. Died of Bronchial Catarrh and Exhaustion. See image of grave site a couple of pages earlier.

INDIVIDUAL DETAILS OF THE CHILDREN OF JOSEPH BAILEY & SARAH DEWIS

1. ISAAC CHARLES BAILEY (1868-1868) (Via Ringeri Family Tree, Ancestry) was born 16 Feb 1868, Perth, WA [Reg. 10556]. Baptised 5 Mar 1868, death 1868. WA BDMS do not have a record of his death. Joseph Bailey's daughter, Elizabeth Bailey married John Pilkington. He managed the Marling property "Pleasant View" after Sarah (Elizabeth's mother) died 1901, until Charles was 15 years of age 1904. The property was then sold to William Lavender, Joseph's friend and neighbour. Elizabeth and John moved to Williams – with their two sons and five daughters living in many different places. Some remaining local. One moving to New Zealand. Elizabeth and John died in Williams and are buried in the Narrogin Cemetery.

The Obituary of "Monasser" John Borton Bailey gives an interesting summary of his life:

OBITUARY Monasser John Borton Bailey The Williams district has recently suffered the loss of several elderly pioneers of considerable standing, including the above-mentioned, whose demise occurred on September 25 in the Narrogin District Hospital at the age of 82. The late Mr. Bailey was the second eldest son of Joseph Bailey, who came out here from Staffordshire (Eng.) in the 1860's. Upon arrival the father took up land adjoining Mr. Lavender, whose property of that period is still held by Messrs. T. & J. H. Lavender and known as "Marling". After some schooling in Perth, the deceased became engaged with his father in running the newly-acquired	The late Mr. Bailey was most efficient in respect of horses and his knowledge was willingly placed at the disposal of neighbours. property and also in carting sandalwood from the Eastern districts to Perth, an occupation which occupied the attention of many others at the time, some of whom, like the late Mr. Bailey were very young. They also were extremely courageous and enterprising in tackling whatever obstacle arose, as well as achieving notability in their handling of horses in which the deceased was outstanding. In 1897 he married Martha M. Page, who subsequently bore him one son and five daughters. The son is still working the original property known as "Springhill" and situated at Quindanning. This property was acquired and improved the hard way by his grandfather, and was later added to by the deceased until the area comprised 1700 acres devoted to mixed farming. Although regarded as a man of strong determination he nevertheless enjoyed the confidence and esteem of all who knew him because of his marked generosity and high sense of duty. It is questionable whether he ever had an enemy. He was particularly devoted to his farm and surroundings, as well as his wife and children and rarely left either. After his son Isaac returned from the late War, the old gentleman retired from active participation in the work of the farm but still maintained the reins of its control until his demise. The funeral took place at Quindanning on September 28th, where, in the presence of a large gathering, the Revd. Walker officiated at the graveside in the Church of England portion of the local cemetery.

OBITUARY

Martha Markham Bailey

Mrs. Martha Markham Bailey an old resident of Quindanning, passed away at Victoria Park on the 10th. inst. at the advanced age of 83.

Her father came to this State from England and subsequently settled at Quindanning. He married Sarah Harrison Blechynden who subsequently gave birth to 2 sons and four daughters. Only the eldest and youngest of the latter are still living, viz. Mrs. Susan Hendrickson and Mrs. Maria Carrotts. The deceased was the third daughter.

In 1897 she married Mr. Bailey and with him engaged in farming at "Springhill", Quindanning, where the couple subsequently reared a family of six, comprising one son and five daughters, viz., Isaac, Rose (Mrs. E. W. Sherry), Florence (Mrs. W. E. F. Fletcher, Lillian (Mrs. F. Morris, Amy (Mrs. L. Pyke), Althea (Mrs. A. Munday).

The late Mrs. Bailey enjoyed the confidence and esteem of all who knew her. She was noted for her knowledge of farming methods and sheep husbandry, as well as being extremely accomplished as a housewife. Noted for her generosity and hospitality this fine lady enjoyed the affection of a very wide circle, including many who had grown up from childhood within the sphere of her benign influence.

During the long period of her association with Quindanning the late Mrs. Bailey expressed her fine personality in many ways, all with the object of benefitting others. She undoubtedly established a record of public and private service which will be remembered for many years to come.

The interment took place in the Church of England portion of the Quindanning cemetery in the presence of a large gathering which included all the children, as well as the two remaining sisters, viz., Mrs. Hendrickson and Mrs. Carrotts. The service was conducted by the Rev. O. A. Waller.

Coffin bearers were Messrs. A. Kennedy, J. Morgan, W. Pollard, F. Batt, W. Cowcher and L. Batt.

Floral tributes were received as under:—

Son and Daughter; Rose, Joy, Ron and Dorry; Florrie, Bill, Anne, Margaret and Phillip; Lil, Lethe, Coral, Lynette, Frank, Kay, Claire, May and Paul; Maria and family; Susan, Matt and Harry; Nell and Harry; Vera, Charlie, Joan, Bert, Lois and Milton; Sarah, Arthur and family; Joy, Ellen, Rene and Cyril; Anne, John and family; May, Jack and Leon; Ernest, Lizzie, Terry and Nora; Ted, Ev. and Frank; Margaret, Charlie and family; Kevin, Elaine and family; Joe and Hilda, Ted and Joy; Stella and Ted; Jane, Clem and Max; Cath, Chas. and family; Mrs. Wilson, Rebbie and Maude; Aub. and Cissie; Jack, Muriel and Del; Bob, Ivy and family; Tom and Edythe Curnow and family; S. T. Turton and family; Pat and Gloria Batt; Mrs. E. E. Munday, Tom and Lil; Mrs. L. Pollard and Bill; Mavis and Russell Morgan and family; Piechios family; Neil, Maureen and family; Mrs. Hemingway, Jack and Mavis Morgan and family; Dorothy, Athol, Grace and Wendy; Mrs. Ruth Cowcher, Lance and Vernon; Wilfred, Lily and family; Mr. and Mrs. Littleton and family; Mr. and Mrs. W. Cowcher and family; Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Cowcher and family.

Messrs. A. Dawson & Son of Narrogin, were entrusted with the funeral arrangements.

WILLIAMS

The W.A. Historical Journal, speaking of the old cemetery, quotes: "This old cemetery on the Perth side of the township is much neglected-looking now. Most of the headstones and the pegs have disappeared but the following are still in a good state of preservation: William Cornwall, 7-12-1824 to 6-8-1908, aged 83 years; Thomas Goderick Palmer died 15-11-1908, aged 4 years; Mary Quinn, died at Glenfield, Williams, 1-6-1891 aged 46 years; Mary Eliza beth Egerton Warburton, died 11-9-1938; Elizabeth Rosselloty, died 30-4-1891, aged 50 years. The new cemetery, dating from shortly after the establishing of the new townsite, is well kept. There is another at Marling, near Quindanning, where lie buried several members of the Lavender and Cowcher families. A still smaller burial plot is on or very close to Boranang. In it, according to legend, lie a Mr. and Mrs. Bailey and some of their children. The Baileys were contemporaries of the Lavenders, Fletchers and Fleays."

An interesting article on the old Williams Cemetery and mention of a smaller burial plot at Marling.

Article, Thu Aug 20, 1987 ISAAC AND THE UTE – 'A HAPPY OLD PAIR'

Following last year's concert with the London Philharmonic Orchestra at Leeuwin Estate, I received a letter from Mrs. Doris Bailey (nee Lawson). As a young girl, she first came to the property upon which Leeuwin is now situated, with her family, as part of the Group '57 Settlers. She and her family were the first people to work the land and clear the trees on the area in which we are now located. She re-visited the property recently and was so amazed at what she saw that she sat down and wrote a poem which she has passed on to me. I was most impressed by her recollections of those early days on the property, when it was nothing but virgin bush, and also by the pleasure she had most obviously received from seeing the developments that have taken place between the time she first came to this property and today. I thought I would share Mrs. Bailey's poem with you, as we are often tempted to accept today's prosperity as something which can be taken for granted and yet I think it does us all good to reflect back on the work and the people that went before us to create what we now have today, not only on this property but in the whole of Australia. I trust that you will gain as much pleasure from reading her poem as we at Leeuwin Estate did.

Doris Horgan.

GROUP 59 MEMORIES

A poem written many years later by Mrs. Doris Bailey (nee Lawson).

My eyes are crook my spelling poor, but if you like I'll tell you more, of how we landed on your shore.

We didn't cross the nullabor,
we came around the coast;
the sea was rough, the going tough and so were all the crew.

We landed at Fremantle,
a sad and sorry lot, wondering into what mess we had got.

We caught a puffing billy,
for a ride I'll never forget; it crawled and shunted off the tracks at every blooming stop.

Eventually we landed at a siding in the dark;
my brother there was waiting with a horse and cart.

Our only roads were bush tracks made by sleeper cutter's drays

We came to a fast flowing creek, the water reached the horse's girth or we could cross a fallen log;
we took the latter measure and finally reached the top (Boodjidup Creek).

The group house was bare and lamps were lit;
we were so tired and weary, we huddled on the floor and waited until morning to find out where we were.

We were in miles of virgin bushland, it was a frightening sight, and we worked from morn till night.

The first 25 acres were ringbarked, fenced and cleared, then by hand we planted Ki-Ku grass.

My father never wanted cows his words to me were -
"on these slopes our fruit will grow; on the flat our hay we'll mow".

After fifteen years of toil and woe we were forced to go.

As I gaze upon it now, how I wish he'd lived to see the beauty of your place.
The vines are green; the fruit is ripe;
I walk away and out of sight.

I cleared the land;
I turned the soil;
I fought the scrub and clinging vine;
Now when I drink your lovely wine,
I shut my eyes and dream it's mine.

The years have gone, my youth has too, but my memories I share with you;
of beautiful land and babbling brook from which our first water we took.
Now I come to have a look and speak to a beautiful wintry on the banks of Boodjidup Creek.

Electoral Roll:

1922, 1925, 1937, 1943, 1958 Isaac John Bailey, Quindanning.

Villages to face new test

LAURA and Frank Morris, of Como, have plenty of reasons to celebrate Retirement Village Week this week.

The couple is among a growing number of West Australians choosing the friendliness and security of life in a retirement village.

Potential retirement village residents are set to benefit from an accreditation scheme launched this week by industrial relations minister Graham Kierath.

Developed by the Retirement Village Association of WA, the scheme will recognise member villages which provide high standards of services, facilities and management to residents.

The scheme is the result of comprehensive research and pilot tests by a professional accreditation committee.

The accreditation process will involve retirement villages completing a comprehensive questionnaire and taking part in a series of interviews to evaluate the type and quality of facilities and services offered.

Accreditation will be reviewed every few years and may be withdrawn if villages are not up to standard.

ONE MAN KILLED, ANOTHER HURT IN SMASHES

One man was killed at West Perth and another critically injured at Mt. Lawley in road smashes today.

Killed was George Munday (32), of South Belmont. Injured was chemist Jacob Cass, of Monmouth Street, Mt. Lawley, who has a compound fracture of the left thigh and possible internal injuries. His name was placed on the danger list on his admission to Royal Perth Hospital.

Cass, conscious but in agony from multiple injuries when he was dragged from the rear wheels of a truck, asked for a morphia injection from a package in his pocket. The morphia had been smashed, but an ambulance driver gave him an injection from his first-aid kit.

The fatality occurred when two trucks collided, capsizing one, at the corner of Oxford and Cambridge Streets.

Munday, a married man with two children, was thrown head-first on to the roadway from the capsized truck. He died before he reached hospital. Driver of the council truck in which Munday was travelling was Harold Boyd, of Shakespeare Street, Mt. Hawthorn.

Driver of the other truck was Henry James Squire, of Sydney Street, North Perth. Cass, whose shop is in Railway Parade, Mt. Lawley, was delivering a packet of morphia to a client. As he was turning into

As he was turning into East Parade he collided with a clay-laden truck, driven by Frederick E. Thompson, of Victoria Road, Midland Junction.

Constable A. Colvin, of the Perth Traffic Branch, was told that two cars were in the vicinity when the accident occurred.

One car did not stop and the traffic police would like this car's driver to report as a witness.

4. PAGE, JOHN 'JOHNNY' (1876-1939) & GUTTREY, MATILDA JANE (1890-1964)

"Beloved husband of Matilda. Loving father of John, Jane and Leonard."

Surmising: the second child born to Sarah Page and John Page was registered in 1871 as John Henry Page. He became known as James and Jimmy. Their fourth child born in 1876, as shown above was registered also as John Page. He was known as Johnny. Perhaps Sarah and John Page decided to change the name of number two child after registering him, (or it was an error by the person who registered him).

JOHN PAGE (1876-1939) married MATILDA JANE GUTTREY (1890-1964) 15 Mar 1910 in St Alban's Church, Marradong, Williams, WA [Reg. 6], registered as John Page and Matilda J Guttry. John was aged 34 years and Matilda Jane 20 years.

Matilda Jane Guttrey was born 10 Mar 1890, Williams, WA [Reg. 433]. Parents: father, GEORGE GUTTREY (~1831-1894), mother, MARY ANN FLETCHER (1862-1898) who were married 1876, Williams River, WA [Reg No 4197]. Following the death of Matilda's father, George Guttrey, in 1894, her mother was remarried to William Rogers. They had a son: William George Owen Rogers, born in 1895, Murray, WA [Reg. 371]. Matilda's mother, Mary Rogers, Guttrey (nee Fletcher) died in 1898. Matilda was only 4 when her father died and 8 when her mother died. More details further on.

Matilda Page (nee Guttrey) died 21 Sep 1964, Quindanning, WA [Reg. 64], aged 74 years. Buried Quindanning Cemetery.

The next four pages are details of Matilda Guttrey's parents: George Guttrey (~1831-1894) and Mary Ann Fletcher (1862-1898) and family. Note, Guttrey with various spellings.

George Guttrey was born about 1831, Westmorland, England. We are not sure of the date of his birth. <https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Westmorland>

Convict Records, George Guttry: (note spelling).

<https://convictrecords.com.au/convicts/guttry/george/7680>

George Guttry (note spelling) was a convict, number 3258, who was convicted at Appleby, Westmorland, Columbia, England, in 1852, for breaking and entering and larceny.

At the age of 25 years, he was transported via the Stag which arrived in Fremantle on May 23, 1855 with 89 passengers and 255 convicts [Erickson].

Note: It is interesting that George Guttry came out with John Henry Markham Page on the Stag.

Via Leanne Dowsett on 20th Jan 2012:

George remained in WA and received his Ticket of Leave 7 Jan 1857 and Certificate of Freedom 22 Dec 1869 in Bunbury WA.

He spent his life around the Williams/Narrogin area and on the 4 Oct 1876, he married Mary Ann Fletcher.

They married at Saddleback Flour Mill in Williams as this is where they were both working at the time. They went on to have 6 children.

George Guttrey died 21 Jun 1894, Williams, WA [Reg. 682], aged 63 years, registered under Guttry. Buried Old William's Cemetery. Recorded as GUTHREY George, Ticket- Of- leave.

MARY ANN FLETCHER (1862-1898) Matilda Guttrey's mother.

Mary Ann Fletcher was born 26 Feb 1862, Pinjarrah, WA [Reg. 6218]. Parents: recorded as John Fletcher and Mary Bride (sic). The Surname Bride could be mistaken for O'Brien.

Mary Ann was the fourth child born to John Fletcher and Mary O'Brien.

There is an earlier registration recording that a Mary Fletcher was born 1859, Canolup (sic. Coolup), WA [Reg. 4710], parents recorded as John Fletcher and Mary O'Brien. This child was the third child of John Fletcher and Mary O'Brien and apparently died soon after birth.

The following article has been shared from the Family Tree of Sue Nancarrow:

Mary Ann was the fourth child of John and Mary O'Brien. John and Mary's third child was also called Mary Ann, but she died soon after birth. Mary Ann was born when her parents were living on Pinjarrah Park and working for Captain Fawcett. She then moved to Canolup as a small child and finally on to Quindanning as a very young teenager. Mary Ann was only 14 when she married George Guttry who was 45 years old. They married at the Flour Mill this could have been because one or both of them were working there. On the birth records of their children they are listed as working and living at various places. These included Williams, Quindanning, Mokine and Marradong. Mary Ann's youngest son John Thomas only lived to be a year old, I haven't found out why he died yet. After George Guttry died Mary Ann married again, this time to William Rogers. They had one child William before her death at the age of 36 from heart disease. Mary Ann is buried with her two sisters, father and first husband. Her grave is not marked and the exact location is not known. In a letter that was written by Annie Fletcher, it said that the three sisters were all buried in a line.

Mary Ann Rogers, Guttrey, (nee Fletcher) died 1 May 1898, The Junction of the Rivers, Cables Pool, Williams, WA [Reg. 2776], registered under Mary Ann Rodgers. Parents recorded as John and Mary O'Brien. Buried Old Williams Cemetery, unmarked grave.

m.1 MARY ANN FLETCHER (1862-1898) married GEORGE GUTTREY (~1831-1894), 1876, Williams River, WA [Reg No 4197]. As recorded.

Following George's death in 1894, Mary remarried. Matilda was only four when her father George died and eight when her mother Mary died in 1898.

m.2 MARY ANN GUTTREY married WILLIAM ROGERS (1863-1951)

1 Jan 1895, Quindanning School, WA [Reg. 27]. Recorded as Guttry.

WA Birth registrations and birth certificate of Sarah Jane Rogers (see above), record that her father was William Rogers and her mother was Mary Ann Fletcher. Mary Ann Rogers (nee Fletcher) died in 1898 so could not have been her mother. William and Susan Hayes were married in 1900. The first child William George Rogers was registered with his mother as Susannah Hayes and William Rogers. At this stage we can only surmise the person giving the details was confused and this was an error.

The next fourteen pages are about Matilda Guttrey's grandparents John Fletcher (1824-1896) and Mary O'Brien (1835-1928). They show how the various families came to WA.

JOHN FLETCHER (1824-1896) JNR. Mary Ann Fletcher's father, Matilda Guttery's maternal grandfather.

JOHN FLETCHER (1824-1896) married MARY O'BRIEN (1835-1928), 26 Jun 1854, Pinjarra, WA [Reg. 716]. Marriage certificates says she was under 21 years.

MARY O'BRIEN (1835-1928) Mary Ann Fletcher's mother, Matilda's maternal grandmother. Via Beresford Family Tree, Ancestry:

Mary O'Brien was born about 1835, Dublin, Ireland. According to her age of 104 on her death certificate she was born about 1824. There seems to be some contradictions regarding Mary O'Brien's birth date and age on her headstone when she died. Most records show she was born in 1835 so it is assumed there was a mistake when advice was given for her headstone and death certificate.

Ellen drowned trying to rescue 7-year-old Ernie Lilly they both died. Ellen was 7 months pregnant. Ernest William Lilly (Lilley) died 1886, Williams, WA [Reg. 14349].

Via: My Family History Family Tree, Ancestry:

Tragedy again struck the Quindanning area in December 1886. Two lads were playing beside a pool in the Williams River in close proximity to the home of the Harry Haynes family. By some misadventure a boy aged seven years named Ernest William Lilley, who could not swim, fell into the water and was soon in difficulties. Realising the immediate danger, his pal ran to the Haynes home for assistance. Very quickly Mrs Haynes arrived at the scene where she, fully clothed and unable to swim, immediately plunged into the water in a frantic effort to save the boy. She was very soon out of her depth and weighted down by wet clothing, she was drowned. The result was a double tragedy.

At the inquest held at Quindanning on 21 December 1886, a finding of accidental death by drowning was recorded in both instances with a rider commending Ellen Haynes who lost her life in trying to save the boy Lilley. Both are buried in the old Williams cemetery. (2)

LEWIS FAMILY TREE: Lewis and Batt family history by Ian Lewis.

Thomas Wilson | lewisfamilytree \(wordpress.com\)

Following is a paragraph from the above link about convict, Thomas Wilson (1837-1894).

He was a factory worker when, aged 13 years was convicted for theft on trial at Aberdeen court on 21/4/1847. He was sentenced to seven years imprisonment at the Parkhurst juvenile jail. He was convicted along with five other lads which were all part of a gang known as the Copper company by the local police. In to his second year of that sentence, he was deported as one of the many Parkhurst juvenile convicts sent to Western Australia and New Zealand. His four months on the sea journey was on board the vessel "Mary", which arrived in Western Australia in 1849. Seven other lads of the 53 on board were also members of that Copper company gang.

Muriel Amelia Wilson's paternal grandparents: THOMAS WILSON (1837-1894) and MARTHA BATT (1847-1872) were married 1861, Murray River, registered in Fremantle, WA [Reg. 1692]. They had eight children, more details following.

MARTHA BATT (1847-1872) Muriel Amelia Wilson's paternal grandmother

Martha Batt was born 8 Jun 1847, at Mangonah, (Canning, WA [Reg. 968]. Parents: JOSEPH BATT (1800-1884) and RUTH DOWNTON (1814-1867) who were married 10 Apr 1838, Pitney Parish Church, Somerset, England. Martha was their seventh child.

Joseph Batt | lewisfamilytree \(wordpress.com\)

It is recorded in an early family publication by the Batt family that Joseph and his wife Ruth (nee Downton) arrived in Western Australia during the early years of the establishing of the colony, either on or about the 4th or 12th Dec 1838, on board the vessel "Britomart", or in Jan of 1840 on the vessel "Westmorland".

7. MARY ANN WILSON (1869-1961) was born 1869, Pinjarra, WA [Reg. 11554]. Baptised 25 Jul 1869. (FHL Film number:284855). She married JOSEPH HENRY LEWIS (1864-1928) Nov 1887, Jarrahdale, WA [Reg No 316]. Mary died 1 Mar 1961, East Victoria Park, registered in Wellington, WA [Reg. 30].

8. WILLIAM WILSON (1871-1872) was born 1871, Pinjarra, WA [Reg. 12908]. Baptised 31 Dec 1871. [FHL Film number:1363713]. He died 1872, aged 1 year [Reg. 6237]. His mother Martha also died that year.

Ian Lewis is the Author and Publisher of the excellent book An Olive Branch in the Jarrah Forest. The History of the Lewis Family in WA.

Following the birth of William, Martha died after giving birth to another stillborn child. William died at the age of 1 year, the same year as his mother. She is buried in the East Perth Cemetery. Her husband Thomas was imprisoned for life for assaulting his 12-year-old daughter. She died 12 months later and is also buried in East Perth Cemetery. Thomas died 1892 at the Mt Eliza Depot, Perth, transferred from the prison when he became too sick to get any care. He too is buried in East Perth Cemetery. The Wilson children were all alone after their father was put in prison and I believe the Batt family raised them in various families.

SUPREME COURT—CRIMINAL SIDE.

(Before His Honor the Acting Chief Justice.)

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 26.

A special sitting of the Supreme Court in its criminal jurisdiction commenced this morning at ten o'clock, when the following cases were disposed of.

WOUNDING WITH INTENT.

Thomas Wilson was indicted for that he, on the 5th of November last, one Margaret Wilson feloniously and unlawfully did wound with intent to kill and murder her. There were two other counts in the indictment, varying the intent.

The Crown Solicitor prosecuted. Mr. Howell and Mr. Parker appeared for the defence.

Thomas Kean, a police constable stationed at Pinjarrah, was the first witness examined. Being sworn, he said.—I knew the prisoner, who is a family man, having several daughters, among whom is Margaret, the prosecutrix, a girl about twelve years old. I recollect the night of the 5th of November, which was an unusually cold night, and it was about one year. Early in the morning of the 5th of November I was aroused by someone knocking at my door. On opening it I saw the prisoner standing in the verandah, in a state of nudity, and covered with blood, dirt, and bruises. She appeared very weak, and was supporting her head on her arm against the wall.

She informed me what had happened and I requested my wife to attend her, while I sent for Dr. Bedingfeld. When he arrived, I went to the prisoner's room, and found her lying on a sofa, undressed. I awoke him and asked him where his daughter Margaret was. He replied, "I suppose she's been with you; I gave her a good beating." I then arrested him and conveyed him to the police station. (Leather strap and pair of boots produced.) I found this strap in the prisoner's house, and the boots under the sofa where he slept. I went to search for the strap, consequent upon information received from the prosecutrix.

Margaret Wilson, the prosecutrix, a mere child, deposed that on the morning of Wednesday, November 5, she went to the house of a man Cooper, at her father's request, to procure meat. Her father went to the Williams on the same day. Witness obtained the meat and took it home; she went to bed before her father returned, in company with her little sister, who slept in the same bed. She recollected her father returning during the night; he was on horseback. Witness got up, lit a lamp, and putting on her frock and jacket went to her father outside. He asked her why she had that frock on; she replied that she had worn it that day going to Cooper's. He was then on horseback, and he told her to go inside and take off her clothes and he would give her a good "warming" when he came in. She went into her bedroom, and divested herself of her frock and jacket. Her father followed her into the bedroom, and began to beat her about the bare back with a leather strap (produced and identified). He subsequently threw her on the bed and continued beating her about the naked back and body. He then dragged her on the floor, told her he would kill her, — that "he meant it this time"; kicked her in the abdomen and other parts of her body, and trampled on her face. He had on the boots produced — a heavy, bob nailed pair. During all this time witness was quite naked. He also attempted to throttle her, and subsequently dragged her out of the house, threatening he would drown her in the river, which threat he proceeded to carry out by dragging her along in that direction. When about half way he fell down, but soon got up again and began to kick her about her naked body. She ultimately became insensible. The next time she saw her father was in the court-house at Pinjarrah. Witness admitted having been once criminally assaulted by a man named Sam Ewen and that the prisoner (her father) had often had criminal intercourse with her.

Witness admitted having been once criminally assaulted by a man named Sam Ewen, and that the prisoner (her father) had often had criminal intercourse with her.

Mr. Thomas F. Bedingfeld, a medical practitioner residing at Pinjarrah, said he was sent for to the police station to attend to the prosecutrix, whom he found in bed covered with bruises. Blood was oozing from two contused wounds on the right side, above the hip. Witness suggested that a nurse should be sent for, to wash the child. When this was done witness discovered several lacerated bruises, such as would be caused by the strap produced, all over her body. There was a bleeding wound on her head — an incised wound, which could not have been caused by the strap. There were contused wounds about the lower part of the abdomen, which must have been caused by some blunt instrument. The point of a boot would produce such wounds. Witness saw marks of nailed-boot on the pelvis. Her arms were much bruised, and there appeared marks of a finger and thumb on either side of the gullet. She was, in fact, covered with wounds and bruises. The boot produced would inflict some of the wounds, which had clearly been caused by violently stamping with the sole. On the evening of the day upon which witness was called to attend to the prosecutrix fever set in, she became delirious, and her life the night of the 5th of November, which was an unusually cold night for that season of the year. Early in the morning of the 6th of November I was aroused by someone knocking at my door. She appeared very weak, and was supporting her head on her arm against the wall. She informed me what had happened and I requested my wife to attend her, while I sent for Dr. Bedingfeld. On the evening of the day upon which witness was called to attend to the prosecutrix fever set in, she became delirious, and her life was in danger. -If suppuration of the wounds had taken place, death, in all probability, would have ensued.

Caroline Cooper said she recollected the prosecutrix coming to her house on the 6th November to get some meat for her father. She was dressed as usual and did not present any appearance of having been ill-treated. Christina Bates deposed to having washed the prosecutrix, having been sent for that purpose by Mr. Bedingfeld. She was lying on a mattress, much bruised and disfigured about her body. Witness further described the nature of the wounds, the details of which are unfit for publication. This was the case for the prosecution. The Crown Solicitor then addressed the jury, and Mr. Howell in a powerful speech followed on the other side. His Honor having summed up, the jury, after half-an-hour's deliberation, found the prisoner guilty on the minor count of wounding, with intent to do grievous bodily harm.

RAPE.

Thomas Wilson, the same prisoner, was further charged with committing a criminal assault upon Margaret Wilson, his daughter, the prosecutrix in the preceding case. The prisoner was defended by Mr. Howell, with Mr. Parker. The charge was abandoned at an early stage, consequent upon the prosecutrix declining to give evidence. His Honor then sentenced the prisoner to penal servitude for life for the other offence of which he was found guilty.

The next article contains a repetition of the story above. It has been cropped to show the outcome. The charge had to be abandoned owing to the prosecutrix declining to give evidence to incriminate him.

A Lunatic

John Carrotts was charged at the Fremantle Police Court this morning before Mr H Fairbairn, R.M. with Lunacy. He was sent to the Fremantle Lunatic Asylum. The Magistrate said that the doctor had reported that Carrotts was not very bad and would be able to come out of the asylum before long.

JOHN CARROTT and ELIZA CLARK had two children as follows:

1. CHARLES CLARK (1854-) Charles Clark was born 1854, Anderby, Lincolnshire, England, Baptised 20 Aug 1854, Anderby, Lincoln, England. Surname as recorded in Family Trees on Ancestry. Charles was an illegitimate son. He was cared for by his grandmother Ann Clark when his mother died.)

2. JOHN CARROTT (1856-1865) (via Gaynor Anderson Family Tree, Ancestry) was born 1856, Hogsthorpe, Lincolnshire, England. John died Hogsthorpe, Spilsby, Lincolnshire, England. Death certificate shows he died at the age of nine years, Tubercular deposit around stomach. Son of John Carrott, farm labourer. Note: John Jnr died aged 9 years, 6 years after his father murdered his mother. A sad story for this little boy. John was cared for by his uncle Robert Clark when John's mother died.

m. 2 JOHN CARROTT (1832-1918) married MARY BEAHAN (1845-1882) 18 Nov 1868, Albany, WA [Reg. 2845], recorded as Beahan. Variations in spelling, Behan, Beahan.

MARY BEAHAN (1845-1882), the mother of Robert Carrott who married Maria Page (variation of spelling of Behan, Beahan and married name: Carrot, Carrott, Carrotts) was born about 1845, WA. Mary died 10 Apr 1882, Fremantle Asylum, Fremantle, WA [Reg. 11299], recorded under Carrots, aged 39 years. Buried, possibly Skinner St, Cemetery, Fremantle. WA. Note: Mary Beahan was a maid from Kendenup, WA. She was admitted to Fremantle Asylum, Western Australia, 1 Nov 1879. Mary had a stillborn baby prior to admission. She had signs of typhoid, hit her head on a wall and died 3 days later of Natural Causes on the 20 Apr 1882.

Mary Carrotts is mentioned in the book by Alexandra Wallis, Hysterical Women. She is the first patient mentioned in the book and her story is on pages 5 and 6. Last line. "That her husband's violent behaviour led Mary Carrotts mental condition and the ensuing breakdown that claimed her life."

Joseph Bailey farmed at "Red Hill" Quindanning WA (1000 acres). Later bought property at Cuballing WA (9 miles from Narrogin WA). Also owned own home in township of Cuballing, WA. When the farm was sold after Joseph & Bertha Bailey's deaths, family moved on. Joe to Narrogin, WA and Louis to Gosnells WA.

Leon, a Bike rider & competitor, also Shearer to Victoria Park, WA. May also lived in Carlisle WA, her daughter, Fay married Mr Deverill who lived in Greenwood WA. Joseph donated part of his farm for what now is Quindanning Cemetery WA. Joseph & Bertha Bailey are both buried in Fremantle Cemetery WA.

Bertha Bailey nee Page

Bertha Page married Joseph Edward Bailey "Joe" brother of John Bailey. Their farm was near town of Quindanning WA. They had 4 children, 3 sons and a daughter, They lived towards Williams WA called "Stockyards". In later years Joe and Bertha Bailey sold the farm and moved to a small farm in Pingelly WA.

Times were hard in those days with no shops nearby and the closest being at Williams WA 24 miles away.

Wheat was carted to Narrogin WA to be ground into Flour and byproducts of Bran and Pollard.

It was carted by wagons pulled by a team of horses. Trips were also made to Perth WA for stores. All farmers sending their orders for groceries etc.

When the wagons left, wool was also taken to Narrogin or Perth by wagons. Afgan Hawkers who traveled in covered wagons were very welcomed. They sold dresses, materials, sweets and a variety of cooked foods. They cooked curries at night. Their names were Gandah-Singh, Dave Singh and Buda Sing.

OBITUARY.

MR. HERBERT ASHBY.

It is with very deep regret that we have to record the death of Mr. Herbert Ashby, -youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Ashby, old and greatly esteemed residents of Narrogin, which took place at Nurse Kelliher's private, hospital on Wednesday last. The deceased was taken ill about a month ago and from the start his medical adviser viewed the case with alarm on account of the disabilities suffered by the patient at the great war and the subsequent heavy blow sustained recently at the loss of his wife, after a union of only a few weeks' duration. He received the most skillful medical and nursing attention. Dr. Mackie being unremitting in his attention and did everything possible to save the life. The heartfelt sympathy of a host of friends is extended to the bereaved parents and relatives.

MR. HERBERT ASHBY.
 It is with very deep regret that we have to record the death of Mr. Herbert Ashby, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Ashby, old and greatly esteemed residents of Narrogin, which took place at Nurse Kelliher's private hospital on Wednesday last. The deceased was taken ill about a month ago and from the start his medical adviser viewed the case with alarm on account of the disabilities suffered by the patient at the great war and the subsequent heavy blow sustained recently at the loss of his wife, after a union of only a few weeks' duration. He received the most skillful medical and nursing attention. Dr. Mackie being unremitting in his attention and did everything possible to save the life. The heartfelt sympathy of a host of friends is extended to the bereaved parents and relatives.
 The late Mr. Ashby, who was only 28 years of age, took an active part in the Empire's battles with the A.I.F. during the war, and was badly gassed, which greatly militated against his chance of recovery.
 The funeral took place yesterday afternoon, and was largely attended, the returned soldiers uniting with a representative gathering of citizens in paying a last tribute to the memory of deceased.
 The remains were interred in the Baptist portion of the Narrogin cemetery, the Rev. W. Kennedy conducting an impressive service at the graveside. The pall bearers were returned soldier friends of the deceased, viz.: Messrs. Jasper Stone, W. Hurst, J. Brown, F. Zerk, Harry Gill and B. Duncuff.

BAILEY—BEE.
 St. Peter's Church, Cuballing, was the scene of a wedding of great interest on Saturday, May 1st, when marriage was solemnised between Marjorie, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Bee, of Cuballing, and Lewis John, second son of the late Mr. J. E. Bailey and Mrs. Bailey, Cuballing.
 The Revd. A. C. H. Lerpiniere officiated. The church, which had been tastefully decorated by girl friends of the bride, was crowded to the doors.
 The bride presented a particularly charming figure as she entered the church on the arm of her father. She was preceded by two little tots, Fay Ashby, who acted as flower girl, being prettily dressed in a long flowing frock of pink satin trimmed with silver lace and little Teddy Bailey acting as her escort, being dressed in white silk.
 The bride was gowned in a lovely frock of magnolia satin, cut on princess lines. The sleeves fell bell shape from the shoulder with scalloped edge at elbow, the inner part of sleeve going to the wrist and finished with a point over the hand. The train was long and beautiful, the edge being also scalloped. The only trimming on the gown were crystal buttons. A handsome embroidered veil mounted in a coronet of orange blossom was worn over the face and a sheaf of beautiful flowers completed the toilet. Miss Sylvia (Nurse), Metzke acted as bridesmaid and looked a picture in her pretty frock of pale pink net trimmed with pink satin bands over pink satin. The skirt was very full with huge puffed sleeves. She wore a halo of matching material and pink flowers. Her bouquet was of pink roses.
 Mr. Leon Bailey acted as best man. After the ceremony, a reception was held at the Agricultural Hall, where Mr. and Mrs. Bee, assisted by Mrs. Bailey, mother of the bridegroom, received the guests. Mrs. Bee chose a beige georgette frock and carried a bouquet of red roses. Mrs.

carried a bouquet of red roses. Mrs. Bailey wore navy blue floral silk and carried gold roses.
 Sixty-two guests (mostly relatives) sat down to a very appetising breakfast. The tables were decorated with Kentia palms and pink roses. About 180 guests attended the dance held in the evening. The large 3-tier wedding cake was made and iced by the bride's mother. On the second tier was a silver slipper which adorned the bride's mother's cake 28 years before. On the top tier stood a beautiful silver dinner bell, tied with white ribbons and lilies of the valley. Many beautiful and useful gifts and cheques were received, also congratulatory telegrams from absent friends.
 The bride travelled in a smart navy blue coat and skirt, cut on the latest lines with toque, shoes, gloves and bag to match.
 The happy couple left by car for their honeymoon.

SYLVIA MABEL GIBSON (1914-1990)

Sylvia was married three times.

Sylvia Mabel proved elusive for many of us for some time as we only had her two Christian names. It was known she had been married twice before. After an immense amount of time speculating and researching finally, we had a breakthrough thanks to Elizabeth from the Lost Parkerville & Stoneville History Group.

Via Mervyn Beacham: Be aware when searching Trove, there were two Leon's, one is the one we are chasing and the other was Thomas Leon Ford Bailey. Thomas Leon Ford Bailey used Leon for the main name and was the musical Leon, especially did well with the Violin and involved with Repertory Club. There is a send-off article for him about to join the airforce, whereas the other Leon joined the army for a short while, from 25 Feb 1941 to 16 Mar 1943. Anne Barrett (nee Carrotts) remembers Leon shearing for her father, Harold Ernest Carrotts. The Leon we are chasing, bore witness against a neighbour who peppered some stay cattle with No. 6 shot from a 410-orchard gun.

Electoral Roll:

1931 Leon Bailey, Cuballing, farm assistant, Bertha, Leon's mother, household duties, Lewis John Bailey, brother.

1980 Leon Bailey, 382 Seaborne St, Parkerville, Sylvia Mabel, home duties.

3. ANNE ELIZABETH BLECHYNDEN (1842-1927) & THOMAS EDWARDS (1838-1903)

‘Anne’ Elizabeth Blechynden was Harrison and Charlotte Blechynden’s third child. She was born on 19 Mar 1842 at ‘St Aubyns’, East Beverley.

On 5 Mar 1862, Anne married Thomas Edwards at ‘Mount Pleasant’ at Edwards Crossing.

They had eight children.

Thomas Edwards passed away at the age of 64 on 7 Feb 1903 in Beverley. Anne passed away at the age of 83 in Dec 1927.³ They are buried together, with their daughter Florence, at Edwards Crossing Cemetery in Beverley.

³ Anne’s death notice records that she died in the Beverley Hospital on 1 Dec and that her funeral took place on 3 Dec 1927. However, her headstone indicates that she died on 8 Dec 1927.

BLECHYNDEN, ANNE ELIZABETH (1842-1927) was born 19 Mar 1842, 'St Aubyns', East Beverley, WA [Reg No. 105], her name being recorded as Elizabeth Anne. It appears that from then on, she was known as Anne Elizabeth. Her marriage and death records record her as Anne. Her headstone has her as Anne and Ann. Her parents, Harrison Blechynden and Charlotte Augusta Robus, who were married in Perth on 3 Mar 1832, emigrated from Kent in England to the newly established Swan River Colony, arriving on the ship Minstrel 20 Jan 1830. Her older brother and sister John and Sarah were born in Perth, WA. Prior to Elizabeth's birth her parents moved to an undeveloped property in the newly surveyed district of Beverley.

BEVERLEY Our journey through time pg. 24: Barracks were established at John Mann's property at the Dale, aptly named the Barracks, and at Turkey Cock Creek on 'St Aubyns'. Patrols were mounted from these barracks and at times the military also provided armed escorts across the Darling Range.

One wonders who would have assisted with her birth as at this stage there was no town as such and very little infrastructure. By the time her brother Henry George was born in October 1843, his birth was registered as being at 'Babbyalla', the property next door. By the time Elizabeth Anne (known as Anne) was almost eleven years old, six more brothers had been added to the family: Jesse William, 1845, died in 1846 at the age of 20 months; Walter Edward, 1846; Charles Edwin, 1848; Thomas Harrison, 1849; Jesse William, 1851 and Joseph, 1853.

Anne and her sister Sarah would have had a busy time helping their mother with so many boisterous little boys running around. There were no schools at this time, so their mother taught them to basically read and write. The girls would have become competent at helping to do all the household chores, which held them steadfast later in their lives when they married and had their own families. There were no shops to begin with. With hard work from dawn until dusk, their farm became self-sufficient, with a home-grown garden, chooks, cattle, sheep and pigs. Transport anywhere was by horse or horse and buggy. At an early age the children were taught and became proficient at riding. As the boys got older, they too had to help with the chores, graduating to helping their father and older brother John on the farm.

By 1852, a small service area consisting of a mud bat store and a wheelwright was being established at Edwards Crossing which was 13 kilometres away. One can imagine the family would have travelled by horse and cart to the store to shop for goods. Annual shows were recorded as taking place at York which was 28.5 kms - 17.7 miles away. One can also visualise the family travelling in their horse drawn wagon, participating in different events at the show, socialising and mixing with other families.

In 1854, her brother John Blechynden walked to the Blackwood district at the age of 21 guided by two friendly Aborigines. On the 23 of Feb 1860, Anne, now aged almost eighteen years, would have been excited and delighted when John Blechynden married Elizabeth Green on 23 Feb 1860, at St George's Cathedral in Perth. Anne and her sister Sarah, aged almost 19 years, would have enjoyed dressing up in the latest fashion and mixing with the other invited guests.

'Anne' Elizabeth Edwards (nee Blechynden)

Anne Blechynden caught the eye of Thomas Edwards, a young farmer from the property, 'Speldhurst', not far from 'Babbyalla'. One can speculate that living close by they had known one another while growing up and often met at the local shows and social occasions.

'Anne' Elizabeth Blechynden was married on 5 Mar 1862 to EDWARDS, THOMAS (1838-1903) at 'Mount Pleasant', Edwards Crossing, Beverley, WA [Reg. 1753], registered in York, under Anne Elizabeth Blechynden. It appears that at this stage she was known as Anne. 1965. Note: St Paul's Church, Edwards Crossing, was consecrated in 1862. In 1865 the property was subdivided into 'Mount Pleasant' and 'Speldhurst'.

Thomas Edwards was born 14 Sep 1838 Guildford, WA, the eighth living child of WILLIAM EDWARDS (1792-1865) and ELEANOR AYLING (1798-1871) married 6 Apr 1818, Easebourne, West Sussex, England FHL 1041534. WILLIAM was born 15 Feb 1792, Easebourne, West Sussex, England. Baptised 6 Jan 1793, Cocking, West Sussex. Thank you to Kevin Fowler. His research has shown that John and Elizabeth (Eliza) Edwards were not William's parents (as is recorded by many family trees). Parents at this stage unknown.

William and Eleanor and their family arrived 14 May 1830 at the Swan River Colony on the Rockingham. An ex-soldier of the 95th Regiment, William was awarded medals for his campaigns including the Battle of Waterloo. More details further on.

This is an example of the Waterloo Medal and a Military General Service Medal mentioned above. Courtesy Lindsay Adams.

William was a farm servant to Thomas Peel at Murray River in 1830. He is recorded as being a tenant on Stirling's farm at Guildford where his wife had a store. Bt. Swan Loc. 23 of 200 acres 1831.

Following is a very brief summary: by 1841 he was leasing Hamersley's property 'Sandgate' at York. By 1845 he had leased with the right to purchase 'Speldhurst' Farm, 3540 acres at Beverley. In 1850 Eleanor opened a store at Edwards Crossing. 1854 purchased 'Speldhurst'. 1865 the property was divided into 'Speldhurst' and 'Mt. Pleasant'. Farmer and grazier (York census 1859), see further on.

William Edwards died 28 Oct 1865, Beverley, WA [Reg. 3009], aged 73 years. Buried Edwards Crossing Cemetery, St Paul's Church, Beverley, WA.

AYLING, ELEANOR (1798-1871) was born 1 Jun 1798, Graffham, Sussex, England. Eleanor's parents were STEPHEN AYLING (1750-1825) and ANN STACEY (1752-1807) who were married 12 Oct 1781, Sussex, England. Ann Stacey was born 1752, Graffham, Sussex, England. Ann Stacey died 1807, Graffham, Sussex, England. Stephen Ayling was born 23 Dec 1750, Graffham, Sussex, England. Stephen Ayling died 24 Mar 1825, Graffham, Sussex, England.

Eleanor's story is outlined in more detail with William's further on.

Emigration: William Edwards, aged 38 and his wife Eleanor aged 32, left England with their four surviving children, as recorded in a family bible: Elizabeth, William (Jnr), Caroline and Mary Ann; via Peel's third ship, the Rockingham, departing Mon, 11 Jan 1830, from St. Katherine's Docks Gravesend, near the Tower of London.

WILLIAM EDWARDS (1792-1865) and ELEANOR AYLING (1798-1871) had nine children as below. More details re these children follow further on in their own sections.

1. ELIZA EDWARDS (1819-1866),
2. MARY ANN EDWARDS (1820-1820),
3. WILLIAM EDWARDS (1821-1889),
4. CAROLINE EDWARDS (1824-1898),
5. MARY ANN EDWARDS (1826-1903),
6. MATILDA EDWARDS (1831-1887),
7. ALFRED JAMES EDWARDS (1834-1888),
8. CHARLES FREDERICK EDWARDS (1836-1911), and
9. THOMAS EDWARDS (1838-1903)

Following their move to the Beverley, William Edwards and family have been associated with the properties: 'Seaton Ross', 'Speldhurst', 'Mount Pleasant' and 'Edwards Crossing'. All of this is better explained by Edwards family tree researcher Kevin Fowler.

EDWARDS FAMILY TREE - 17th Edition by Kevin Fowler: pgs. 118-123.

'Speldhurst'

On Saturday, 14 Jan 1854, after leasing 'Sandgate' since 1841, William purchased 3,547 acres (1,436.5 ha) for £800 ($1,600), a portion of the original 5,320 acres (2,154.6 ha) of Avon Location 1 in Beverley, from A.H. Stone, who had taken up this land in Dec 1830. (Stone retained the established portion of the land called "Seaton Ross".) There was a mortgage of £300 ($600) for three years, with interest at 10% paid half-yearly. The final payment took place in 1857, when William was 65 years old and Eleanor 59.

This property was generally known as 'Speldhurst' and was still in its virgin state. The Edwards first home at 'Speldhurst' was the crude mud-bat bush affair, down near the river, at a fresh water pool. Because of floods, they abandoned this house and built a better establishment much further up the banks.

STOCK: 19 horses, 637 sheep, 40 pigs, 42 sheep sold and (word undecipherable) during the year 1859,

In the salt and pork area he had made and sold 3,300 pounds (think this is correct figure) during the year.

Note: By this time, the older children of William and Eleanor Edwards had all married and begun their own families.

Eleanor Edwards (nee Ayling)

William Edwards of Beverley (1792-1865)

Edwards family tree researcher Kevin Fowler continues:

During 1866, Thomas built the third house at 'Speldhurst', where it still stands, with many subsequent alterations over the past 139 years.

After William's death, Charles and Thomas inherited this property equally and the property was sub-divided into 'Speldhurst' and 'Mt Pleasant' and a portion of 'Mt Pleasant' still belongs to the Edwards family.

Being resourceful, William built a mud bat store in 1854 beside the road at the Avon River junction for Eleanor, who used this to bring in much needed finance whilst 'Speldhurst' was being developed. Apparently, Eleanor was also responsible for the distribution of the mail.

Others also established themselves here, including Mr Joseph Wansborough (a wheelwright and carpenter, and who had a forge); a bootmaker and repairer, and a Mr John Cox (a blacksmith and Dray Merchant). This 42 acres (17 ha) of land was eventually sold to become part of "Seaton Ross". . .

Beverley

Before the Seaton Ross Bridge was built over the Avon in 1864, the road from York to Beverley went through 'Speldhurst' and past St. Paul's Church and over 'Edwards Crossing'. The land on which this church was built had been donated by William in 1859, and he, with his neighbours, then built the church, which was consecrated in 1862.

This was the site first fixed for the Town of Beverley when surveyed in 1867, but then it was changed to its current location. After the townsite of Beverley was surveyed, Thomas bought land in Hunt Road and Vincent Street; Charles bought land in Vincent Street and built a store there and Kenneth, William (Jnr's) son, also bought land. Thomas donated land for the Beverley Cricket Club to commence. In 1872, Alfred's son William built his York Store, where he began his successful business and farming career in York and Beverley.

When the railway arrived in Beverley on Thursday, 5 Aug 1886, a siding was given the name 'Edwards Crossing' to recollect the crossing over the river at the Edwards family homestead which was used by early settlers for many years. The railway terminated in Beverley and passengers to/from the Eastern States went by coach to Albany and then by ship, until the railway line was extended to Albany, opening on Saturday, 1 Jun 1889.

The question has been asked why were the properties named 'Speldhurst' and 'Mount Pleasant'?
<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Speldhurst> and <https://www.british-history.ac.uk/survey-kent/vol3/pp275-300>

Speldhurst is a village and civil parish in the borough of Tunbridge Wells in Kent, England. The parish is to the west of Tunbridge Wells: the village is 3 miles (5 km) west of the town. . .*

The large and populous hamlet or village of TUNBRIDGE-WELLS is situated at the south-east boundary of this parish; part of it only is in Speldhurst, another part in the parish of Tunbridge, and the remainder in that of Fant, in the county of Suffex. It consists of four smaller districts, named from the hills on which they stand, Mount Ephraim, Mount Pleasant, and Mount Sion; the other is called The Wells,

It seems strangely coincidental that a Perth businessman Mr Alfred Hawes, the original owner of the farming property Location 1 at Beverley, named the farm Speldhurst (per Beverley, Our journey through time). It initially seemed highly probable that the farm Speldhurst was named, by William and Eleanor after their local village in Kent. Perhaps, Mr Hawes also had connections with the town.

William Edwards died 28 Oct 1865, Beverley, WA [Reg No. 3009], aged 73 years. Eleanor Edwards (nee Ayling) died 24 Dec 1871, aged 73 years, WA [Reg No. 6096], registered in 1872. Both buried at Edwards Crossing Cemetery, St Paul's Church, Beverley, WA.

Centenary of St. Paul's . . .

May 4th this year is the centenary of the Consecration of St. Paul's Church, at Edwards Crossing by Bishop Hale, the first Bishop of Western Australia.

The Church was built in 1860, very soon after the arrival of the Rev'd Frederick Lynch, B.A: (Dublin), to be the first Rector of Beverley. At that time St. Peter's Gilgering, was the Parish Church and Mr. Lynch took the first services there on Advent Sunday 1858 and he lived in the first parsonage at Gwambygine. It was then expected that the township of Beverley would be at Edwards Crossing and the new Church of St. Paul's was built there and it 'became the Parish Church until Canon Groser built St. Mary's on the present townsite in 1892.

That St. Paul's was not consecrated until 1862 is due to the difficulties of travel and the enormous distances the Bishop had to cover in those days when his headquarters were at Perth and he visited regularly from the scattered settlements in the N.W. right through to Albany, Augusta, and what is now Busselton and Bunbury. We may imagine him, a frail figure seemingly quite unfitted for such a life, travelling on horseback with pack horses, often camping in the bush and often preferring that to the wattle and daub shacks of the pioneers, whose rough and terribly hard lives he shared.

On this occasion he arrived from Northam having just consecrated the Church at Katrine and visited Toodyay. At Gwambygine he must have met old friends - Fleay, Edwards, Quartermain, Wittenoom, Viveash-whom he had met when he visited on his way through to S. Australia to be consecrated Bishop and when they had decided on the sites for St. Peter's and St. Paul's. The Parish itself extended as far as Pinjarra in the West and to the East the new Rector was free to roam as far as the border of S. Australia. In actual fact Mr. Lynch had care of St. Patrick's at Moorumbine. and began the work which Canon Groser was to consolidate in Brookton at Mr. Seabrook's, and visited as far out as where Quairading now is.

Of the details of the Consecration, we have no knowledge but the little Church still stands in the paddock near to the Edwards Crossing bridge, a memorial to many brave men and women who with only the tiniest resources set out to conquer the bush and make the homeland which is ours today; and a memorial to those who planted the Faith here as an essential part of our inheritance.

A special service is to be held in St. Paul's Church on Sunday, Apr 29th, at 3 p.m., and those attending are asked to take afternoon tea afterwards on Mrs. Geoff Lennard's verandah, where it is hoped there may be a display of some of the relics of those early days.

The names of the original Vestry are as follows: Church Wardens—Messrs. E. R. Parker, John Fleay; Vestry—Messrs. G. Lennard junr., James W. Broun, James Draper. Most of these names are familiar ones in the Beverley district today. Participants in next Sunday's service cannot fail to be impressed by the atmosphere of this peaceful little country church erected in times when great personal effort and no small amount of self-denial were called for before its completion. —P.H.A.

St. Paul's Church, Edwards' Crossing.

Built 1859 & Consecrated 1862, this was for thirty years the Parish Church of Beverley. Here worshipped many of the pioneers of the district & here, in sure and certain hope of a joyful resurrection, many lie buried.

Holy Communion is celebrated here every month on the first Sunday at 8.30 am.

Divine Service is offered weekly in the Parish Church of St. Mary in Beverley.

ST. PAUL'S CHURCH

Consecrated in 1862, St. Paul's Church at Edwards Crossing is the oldest church in the Beverley district. Surrounded by the graves of some of the district's earliest settlers it is a landmark of interest to many visitors and descendants of pioneers still attend the quarterly service held there.

A visitor in November last was Mr Alexander Turner, of the Australian Broadcast Commission, who was accompanied by Mr and Mrs S Efford, of Beverley. The setting stirred the poetic imagination of Mrs Efford and she later penned the following lines on the old church:

Bathed in the evening sun light,
 Just in the hour before the darkness falls;
 I see again the tiny village church,
 Where pioneers worshipped,
 —tis St Paul's
 Curved to the right in perfect symmetry,
 Is golden hay reflecting all the sun,
 Some stooked like Indian wigwam, neat and small
 For harvesting has only just begun.
 Around the humble little church,
 Lonely the pioneers' tomb stones stand,
 They tilled this soil through hungry years,
 Now rest in their beloved land.
 Full many a bride in rapture
 here.
 Before the tiny altar stood,
 To make her vows in trembling voice,
 To give a promise sweet and good
 Still to the church the people come,

 To lift their hearts in song and prayer,
 As many a striving pioneer came,
 To rest awhile and bide
 from earthly care.
 The sunlight fades, and I must go,
 For life moves swiftly and the shadows creep,
 The little church so quiet will be,
 Shrouded in solitude, reverent and deep.
 I turn to go, and all my imagery,
 The haunting sadness of the passing day,
 Is swept asunder as I see the golden grass
 And smell the fragrance of the new mown hay.
 New life is here, for all to see,
 The pioneers did not strive in vain,
 For at St Paul's their children worship still,
 Amidst a field of ripening,
 golden grain.

Prelate dedicates disputed windows

JOYFUL parishioners packed York's Holy Trinity Church yesterday for the dedication of its controversial new stained-glass windows.

The three striking windows, designed by WA artist Robert Juniper, replace damaged ones that were donated 94 years ago by one of the State's oldest families.

Wishes

The new windows were installed against the wishes of the Edwards family but they were welcomed by most of the parishioners who turned out in force for the dedication.

The Anglican Archbishop of Perth, Dr Peter Carnley, conducted the morning service and dedicated the four-metre-high windows in the eastern wall of the historic church.

As sunlight streamed through the stained glass, splashing colour on to the altar and the southern wall of the sanctuary, he said:

"Look on the rainbow and praise Him who made it."

The congregation replied as one: "How beautiful it is in its brightness."

After the service, Dr Carnley said he was gratified that the Juniper windows looked so striking.

The windows depict traditional religious scenes of Christ's Passion and Resurrection together with local landscapes, flora and fauna and an intermingling of historical events from the Avon Valley.

The old windows portrayed biblical scenes in a classical Italian style.

Made of coloured paper glued between glass sheets, they had cracked and faded since they were donated by Mrs Jane Edwards in memory of her husband, William.

Descendants of the Edwards family had asked that the windows be preserved or replaced by exact copies in stained glass.

They were shocked when the parish vestry committee, with Dr Carnley's support, decided to change the windows entirely and use a contemporary design by Robert Juniper.

Mrs Nancy Monger, great grand-daughter of Jane Edwards, and other members of the family have refused to attend the church since and did not attend yesterday's dedication.

Mrs Monger said of the Juniper windows: "They would look beautiful in a modern church but not in a 19th-century one."

The rector of York, the Rev. Peter Mold, said he feared that the furor surrounding the windows was probably not over, even though they had been dedicated.

"In this sort of town it could continue for centuries unless something is done to redress the balance," he said.

He said that the original windows might possibly be offered to the Residency Museum in York.

At a reception after the dedication, Dr Carnley reflected on structural problems of the Holy Trinity Church.

An excellent history of William and Eleanor Edwards was compiled for an Edwards reunion in 1979. Below is a copy of part of a newspaper item advertising the reunion.

Descendants of Beverley pioneers plan a reunion

A REUNION of descendants of William and Eleanor Edwards, who came to Western Australia on the "Rockingham" in May 1830 will be held in Beverley on October 14.

William who married Eleanor (nee Ayling) at Speldhurst Church in Kent in 1817, served with the 2nd Battalion 95 Regiment Foot in the Peninsula Wars and was at the Battle of Waterloo, June 15, 1815.

He was holder of a Waterloo Medal and a Military General Service Medal with bars for battles fought at Toulouse, Ortez, Nive, Nivelle, St Sebastian, Pyrenees, Vittoria and Barrosa, all of which have been retained by a great-grandson.

William and Eleanor and four children came from England with a party of immigrants under Thomas Peel and when the scheme failed, he became a tenant of Governor Stirling at Guildford. Later he bought 100 acres in the area in exchange for 200 bushels of wheat and 3 1/2 acres with a house on it for nine nanny goats valued at twenty pounds. He also opened a store.

His love of farming caused William to lease land in the York district in 1842 for that purpose. In 1858 he bought 3547 acres for 800 pounds in the Beverley district, and half of that land is still farmed today by his descendants.

Four more children were born to the couple in Western Australia, making a family of eight children.

He died in 1865 and he and Eleanor are buried in the churchyard of St Paul's at Beverley, a church built on land given by William Edwards for that purpose.

The reunion will be held there at 10am on October 14.

Descendants of the Edwards families are invited to bring their own lunch and refreshments to the Beverley Town Hall at 1pm after the church service. Would all those interested send particulars of births, deaths, marriages and copies of old photographs as soon as possible to Mrs M. Hutchinson, RMB 252 Beverley or Mrs M. France 22 Barker Avenue Como.

Descendants of Beverley Pioneers plan a reunion

A reunion of descendants of William and Eleanor Edwards who came to Western Australia on the "Rockingham" in May 1830 will be held in Beverley on October 14 (1979).

William who married Eleanor (nee Ayling) at Speldhurst Church in Kent in 1817, served with the 2nd Battalion 95 Regiment Foot in the Peninsular Wars and was in the Battle of Waterloo June 15, 1815. He was a holder of a Waterloo Medal and a Military General Service Medal with bars for battles fought at Toulouse, Ortez, Nive, Nivelle, St Sebastian, Pyrenees, Vittoria and Barrosa, all of which have been retained by a great-grandson.

COMMEMORATIVE PAMPHLET OF A REUNION OF DESCENDANTS OF WILLIAM AND ELEANOR

EDWARDS, which was held at Beverley, WA on Sun 14 Oct 1979. The reunion commenced with a church service in "St Paul's" and was followed by a lunch and get-together in the Beverley Town Hall. A tribute to Mrs. M Hutchison who collated the information for the 1979 Edwards Reunion.

LIFE AND TIMES OF WILLIAM and ELEANOR EDWARDS

This story begins on 15th February, 1792 in England when a son was born to John and Eliza Edwards. He was baptised William on the 6th January, 1793 in the small village of Cocking in Western Sussex.

Nothing is known of William's childhood. He is said to have grown into a very strong man about 5ft. 9in. tall, with wide arms and could lift 100 lbs. while lying on his back. Bad tempered, it is said. Under the trying conditions of most of his life, maybe we all would have been.

It is known that he fought in the Peninsular Wars and in the Battle of Waterloo. William was in the 95th and 96th Regiments 2nd Battalion Rifle Brigade. He is believed to have landed at Lisbon in 1809 and fought through Spain for 7 years. Conditions were appalling with poor rations, wretched billets, lack of money because of delays in pay and slow mails. His Waterloo Medal and General Service Medal are on display today. He was lucky to receive his General Service Medal as it was issued 34 years after the last battle, and by that time he had settled in Western Australia. This medal has 8 bars attached naming the battles fought.

In June, 1813 the French were beaten at Vittoria Spain, and conditions began to improve. Battles were fought throughout 1813 at Barrosa, St. Sebastian, Pyrenees, Nivelle and Nive. In February, 1814 the battle for Ortez was fought and in April, 1814 the battle for Toulouse. In July, 1814, the Regiments returned to England.

However Napoleon struck again and William's Regiment was recalled leaving Ostend, Belgium in May, 1815. The Battle of Waterloo was fought on the 15th, 16th, 17th June, 1815. During a battle, it is said that William received a shot below the heart where the shot remained until his death.

In February, 1817 at the age of 25 he married Eleanor Ayling at a church in Speldhurst, Kent. Eleanor was 19 years old, having been born on 1st June, 1798 but the exact place of her birth is not known. It could have been in Speldhurst, Kent, where they were married or perhaps in Cocking where the name Aylen figures in many old records. The spelling of her maiden surname "AYLING" has been the subject of much discussion. Some believe it may have been "AYLEN". However, William recorded it as "AYLING" as late as 1859 and at least two of her grandsons have it in this form as part of their names. As the story of William's enterprises unfold, You will find Eleanor again and again being the ideal help mate for the early colonist.

After the Peninsular Wars, a Garrison was established in Kent and some of William's contemporaries were known to be there. If William was there also, this may have been the time and place of the courtship of Eleanor.

In 1819, when most of the soldiers were discharged, England was bankrupt. There was no demand for their labour. The pensions granted were small. Food was dear and even bread was scarce.

By 1828-1829 when Thomas Peel was talking of his grandiose schemes for Western Australia, changes in farming and manufacturing were causing riots and stock companies crashed. There was much suffering for those without land. Many families took what they were led to believe was to be the chance of a lifetime with Peel at the Swan River Colony in Western Australia.

Under Peel's scheme, each adult male was to be allotted 200 acres of land. Also each settler to reach the Swan River Colony was to be granted 40 acres for each £3 of value of goods brought with them.

In the New Year of 1830, William now aged 38 and Eleanor aged 32 left England with their four children. The children were Eliza (aged 12), William (aged 9), Caroline (aged 6) and Mary Ann (aged 3). The children were all born in Sussex (according to a family Bible).

The vessel in which they sailed was the "Rockingham", Peel's third ship. She was a three-masted ship of 423 tons, with 4 guns. She carried 24 crew members and 174 passengers. The family travelled steerage at a cost of £114/7/6. The fares were:

Adults	£25
Children under 10 years	£13/2/6
Children under 3 years	£6/5/-

The family carried with them the undermentioned items:-

5 cwt. of beef	..	£21/-/-
4 cwt. of biscuits	..	£11/4/-
½ cwt. of tea	..	£9/16/-
1 cwt. of rice	..	£2/16/-
½ cwt. of Split peas		14/-
Agricultural Implements		£5/-/-
Carpenter's Tools		£3/-/-
Bricklayer's Tools		£4/-/-
Shoemaker's Tools		£5/-/-
Wearing Apparel		£50/-/-
A total		£112/10/-

The mention of agricultural tools, carpenter's and bricklayer's tools makes it appear he was fairly versatile in his activities. The amount of £112/10/- together with the cost of the berths probably amounted to all their worldly worth.

Sad and apprehensive they must have been, and even before they could become accustomed to shipboard conditions, the first of so many set backs befell them. On leaving the Thames River the "Rockingham" lost an anchor and drifted on the Goodwin Sands in the Straits of Dover. The high tide refloated her. In the English Channel the ship ran into a fierce gale and lost most of her sail. She limped into Falmouth, Cornwall for a refit which took two weeks.

During the journey to Western Australia Eleanor learnt how to plait straw, thinking the knowledge might be useful in the new land of their adoption. At Guildford she found her opportunity, and soon her menfolk were wearing cool, light, hats (made from Swan River rushes) with broad brims, fabricated by the deft fingers of this resourceful woman.

Upon arrival off the Western Australian coast on 14th May, 1830 the ship was grounded at Mangles Bay by a winter gale. The vessel was abandoned. No lives were lost: (A Cairn was erected in later years to recall this near tragedy).

The wrecked passengers sheltered on shore in casks, barrels and bags until tents could be set up. Their implements were lost and their stores were soaked and salty. The stormy weather lasted four days.

When the storm abated, the Edwards' family made their way to Peel's settlement at Clarence (now known as Woodman's Point). A tent was their home. Conditions were deplorable. Some of the new settlers died. Starvation became a very real fear as the stores rotted and soon scurvy and dysentery broke out. During these first months Eleanor encountered an animal foraging in their stores one evening. William on being called soon dispatched with the intruder. Had they encountered the first dingo caught by white man?

By October, 1830 Governor Stirling sent Doctor Collie to investigate the settlers' plight. Dr. Collie was horrified. Some of the people were nearly insane with hunger and with worry about their families.

Governor Stirling suggested that the settlers come to Guildford as it was apparent that Peel's scheme was not to be. Most of them accepted, and with the tools they had salvaged, made boats for the trip, some say William stole his!!

Just when the Edwards' family left Clarence is not known. Their fifth child Matilda was born in 1831 in Guildford. At her baptism at Guildford, in November, 1832, William's occupation is given as a farm labourer. In 1841 when William wrote to Governor Hutt, he mentioned becoming a tenant of Governor Stirling which seems to indicate William had accepted Governor Stirling's early offer.

Conditions in the early 1830's were difficult for all early settlers, especially those like the Edwards who had been left destitute. There was a lack of ready money and the bartering system was the method of most transactions. For several years, meat and flour came from Java, Tasmania and the Cape of Good Hope. Often severe rationing was imposed to stave off starvation. Wages were paid wholly or partly in goods.

During the 1830's William and Eleanor were blessed with the births of three more children. Alfred James was born in 1834; Charles Frederick in 1836 and the last of their eight children, Thomas, was born in 1838.

To acquire land on which to grow at least enough food for their own consumption was the wish of most of the new settlers. In 1832 the Surveyor General was instructed "to grant Mr. Edwards lately one of Mr. Peel's people, numbers 63 and 64 Guildford as formerly granted to Captain Mearns. It was induced to give him two grants as they are much curtailed and him having a large family, a wife and 5 children."

Research has shown that William Edwards carried out a number of land transactions in subsequent years.

In 1837 William acquired 100 acres on Helena Location 17. In the Census for Guildford in that year William included in his assets: 9 acres of wheat; $\frac{1}{2}$ acre of potatoes; 1 acre garden; 2 tons artificial oat hay and 6 tons of natural hay.

On the 14th February, 1838 the eldest child, Eliza was married to Jonathan Jones.

In November, 1838, William described himself as a farmer at the Christening of Thomas at Guildford. About this time Eleanor opened a General Store in Guildford. Perhaps she sold some of those light, broad-brimmed hats referred to previously.

Guildford Lot 49 was purchased during 1839. In an old book of N. Ogle, an entry reads "Lot 62 Guildford, William Edwards 1839".

In 1841, William leased for one year and then bought Swan Location 23 of 100 acres for £50. In this year he also wrote to Governor Hutt putting his case for a land grant which was refused.

Daughter Caroline married George Michael Horley in 1842.

In 1843 William appears to have taken over a lease with Edward Hamersley on land known as "Sandgate" situated between York and Beverley. Just how long the lease lasted with Hamersley is not known. There is also the suggestion that William leased part of the "Speldhurst" property before purchasing it in 1858. It seems the eldest son William and his wife Jane Hewitt (who were married in 1843) were here also, as 9 of their 10 children were born there. It is thought that this is where the oft-mentioned two storey fortress-like building may have been constructed as protection from the natives, who were giving considerable trouble at that time in the York district.

During 1845 an advertisement reads: "The undersigned wishes to take in a small flock of sheep on his run near York either on shares or on increase or money payment as agreed on."

Wm. Edwards November 22nd, 1845'

It does appear that despite the hard times since their arrival, William had been able to establish appreciable capital. During 1845, he helped his daughter, Eliza, and her husband, Jonathan Jones, to clear a debt of £350 to Mr. Monger which involved portion of Location 16 Guildford and on which was a hotel. The following advertisement in May, 1845, indicates he had no intention of running the business himself. It reads: "Guildford Hotel will be let at a moderate rent with or without furniture -- immediate possession. Wm. Edwards, Address Helena." He later gave this to Eliza in 1857.

1846 there was a depression which brought down stock and produce prices. Sheep prices fell from £6 to 6/-, cows from £30 to £5 and horses from £100 to £20.

While William was in York it is said Eleanor continued with the Guildford shop, assisted by her daughters. As the daughters married it seems that a girl named Mary Conway, could have been her assistant. Mary is later stated to have been Eleanor's servant girl.

Son, James, married Mary Conway in 1855 and left Western Australia to go to South Australia. A daughter, Eleanor, was born to them and they returned to York where their son William John was born in 1859. James became a farmer in his own right, mainly in the York and Beverley districts. At one time he had a sheep run of 26,000 acres.

Tragedy struck the family in 1857 when son-in-law George Horley was killed in a fall from a wagon. Caroline was left with seven children ranging from 1 year old to 14 years.

On 14th January, 1858, William purchased from A. H. Stone land in Beverley. The property consisted of 3,547 acres: Avon Location 1 and was purchased for £800. There was a mortgage of £300 for three years with interest at 10% paid half yearly. A. H. Stone had taken up 5,320 acres the whole of Location 1 in December, 1830. He retained the established portion and sold the above mentioned 3,547 acres to William. The property was generally known as "Speldhurst".

Their first home at "Speldhurst" was a crude bush affair down near the river at a fresh water pool. Probably because of later floods they built a better establishment much further up the banks.

The 1859 Census shows that William spelt Eleanor's name as AYLING. There is also information that William and Eleanor and all their children were literate. The education of the youngest children had probably been part of Eleanor's responsibility. William listed amongst the information supplied in the Census:-

30 acres Wheat, 30 acres Barley, 2 acres Oats
1 acre Rye, 30 acres Green Crops, 8 acres Fallow
22 acres cleared, ½ acre kitchen garden, 19 horses,
687 sheep, 40 pigs. He employed one labourer.

In 1862 Thomas married Annie Elizabeth Blechynden.

During 1866 Thomas built the third house at Speldhurst where it now stands with many subsequent alterations over the past 113 years. 1866 also saw the death of Eliza who was aged 47 years.

On the 28th October, 1865 William died at the age of 73, having served his family and his new country well. Eleanor lived for another 6 years and died at the age of 73 on the 24th December, 1871. The death notice reads: "Cause of death -- abscess in side".

So ends this brief extract of the era of these two fine pioneers from whom there are presently over 2,000 descendants.

PIONEERS OF GUILDFORD: The Jones Family.

These brothers and sisters, all of whom are living, were all born at Guildford, their father and mother having arrived in the colony on the same boat as Captain Stirling. Left to right: Mr. Walter L. Jones (aged 89) of Guildford; Mr. Albert Jones (86) of Pingelly; Miss Ellen Jones (78) of West Beverley; Mr. Charles Jones (84) of Pingelly; and Mr. Lewis Jones of Pingelly. Mr. Walter Jones is the only one of the family who married and he had fourteen children, eleven of whom are living. Two sons were killed at the war.

The article above states that “Mr. Walter Jones is the only one of the family who married “. However, research indicates that other members of the family did marry. The two sons who were killed in the war were sons of Walter Llewellyn Jones.

LIONEL WALTER JONES (1879-1916) was Killed in Action in France. VICTOR STANLEY JONES (1893-1917) was Killed in Action in Belgium.

m2. JONATHAN JAMES JONES (1811-1896) married SARAH ANN SUTTON (1843-1897) 25 Jul 1868, Fremantle, WA [Reg. 2775]. Via the Barrand / Wall Family Tree, Ancestry, Sarah had a child prior to her marriage to Jonathon James Jones. This child was Annie Matilda Sutton, born 9 May 1865, Freshwater Bay, WA [Reg. 8620]. Annie’s birth registered under Sutton.

Historical story by Ronald Sutton:

In 1869, at age four, Annie moved to "Boyadine" with her mother Sarah Ann and stepfather Jonathon. During her teens, Annie was either employed as a servant to the family of John Frederick and Mary Morrell on the farm "Wattles" at Northam or unofficially adopted by the family. Annie adopted the name Morrell prior to her marriage and that surname appears on her marriage certificate.

Annie received on 12th February 1895 a land grant of 2 acres from her mother, part of Swan location P232 at Shenton Road, Claremont, WA. Annie subsequently sold the land to the War Services Board in 1920 of which it was divided into eight residential lots. Annie died on 18th October 1944 in Lucknow Hospital, Claremont and is buried at Karrakatta Cemetery, Anglican Plot XC 7A. A memorial headstone marks the burial site. Olaf is buried with Annie.

ANNIE MATILDA MORRELL (SUTTON) (1865-1944) married OLAF ANTON HAGBART EVENSEN (1859-1935), 19 Jan 1885, Perth, WA [Reg No. 5896]. Registered under Annie Matilda Morrell and Olaf Anton Hagbart Evenson. They had ten children all with the surname of Evensen.

CHILDREN OF JONATHAN JAMES JONES (1811-1896) AND SARAH ANN SUTTON (1843-1897):

All births registered in Beverley,

1. EMILY JANE JONES (1869-1871) was born 1869, Beverley, WA [Reg. 11667]. Birth registered under Emelie. Emily Jane Jones died 1871, aged 1 year, [Reg. 4841].

Tarwonga is a farming district about 20k south of Williams. There is a hall, tennis court and cricket ground hidden among the trees within a few meters on the east side of Albany Hwy. There is also Tarwonga house just a little further south on the west side of Highway that was used as a staging post for the coaches (horses) on the Albany to Perth journey. West Tarwonga Rd is just opposite the Tarwonga Hall entrance track that was the hub of the district. Rosemary (Sattler) whose family still farm at West Tarwonga said the Barron family were the proprietors of the Tarwonga Inn which is the building still there today at the original staging post."

NINTH CHILD OF WILLIAM EDWARDS (1792-1865) AND ELEANOR AYLING (1798-1871):

9. EDWARDS, THOMAS (1838-1903) was born 14 Sep 1838, Guildford, WA. Thomas died 7 Feb 1903, Beverley, WA [Reg. 13]. THOMAS married 'ANNE' ELIZABETH BLECHYNDEN (1842-1927), 5 Mar 1862 at the 'Mount Pleasant' Homestead, Edwards Crossing, Beverley, WA. More details following.

CONTINUING - ANNE ELIZABETH BLECHYNDEN (1842-1927) AND THOMAS EDWARDS (1838-1903)

Anne Elizabeth Blechynden was married on 5 Mar 1862 to Thomas Edwards at the 'Mount Pleasant' Homestead, Edwards Crossing, Beverley, WA [Reg. 1753], registered in York as Anne Elizabeth Blechynden Note: (St Paul's Church, Edwards Crossing was consecrated in Nov 1862.)

Thomas Edward's father, William Edwards arrived at the Swan River Colony, 14 May 1830 per Rockingham with his wife Eleanor and children, Eliza, William, Caroline, and Mary. In 1830 he was recorded as being a farm servant to Thomas Peel at Murray River in 1830. In 1831, William was recorded as being a tenant on Stirling's farm at Guildford where his wife Eleanor had a store. Another four children: Matilda born 1831, Alfred James 1834, Charles Frederick 1836 and Thomas were all born in Guildford, WA, Thomas being the last child born to them, 14 Sep 1838.

William owned Lot 49 in Guildford, was a policeman there for some time, then in 1841, leased land south of York, 'Sandgate' and farmed there until 1845, when he bought 3,540 acres of land at Beverley.

Thomas Edwards' older siblings were married in Guildford, WA. Eliza was married 14 Feb 1838, to Jonathon James Jones, Caroline married George Michael Horley 27 Oct 1842, and William was married 20 Apr 1843 to Jane Hewitt and moved to 'Sandgate' in 1846.

BEVERLEY, Our journey though time, pg. 14.

. . . Meanwhile William Edwards was leasing Speldhurst. Edwards who was a decorated ex-soldier from the Napoleonic wars, was one of the immigrants brought out in 1830 by Thomas Peel, whose colonisation venture in the future Peel region was such an abject failure. Edwards, worked for a while on Stirling's Woodbridge grant at Guildford, where his wife also opened a shop. By mid-1940's however he was leasing 3540 acres of location I. He would later purchase Speldhurst from Jones. Location I: Seaton Ross and Speldhurst.)

BEVERLEY, Our journey though time, pg. 77.

... In fact, the first tiny service centre in the district was established at Edwards Crossing on Brooklebay, at the junction of a number of roads. William Edwards constructed a mud-bat store there, and subsequently Joseph Wainwright commenced business as a wheelwright. By 1864 a smithy was also operating at the site, and in the same year a convict team consolidated this little township by building the Avon bridge, later named Seaton Ross Bridge.

By 1845 their father, William Edwards had 3540 acres at Beverley: 'Speldhurst', and 'Seaton Ross'.

During this time, the Edwards family came to know their neighbours, Harrison and Charlotte Blechynden and family who lived nearby on the property 'Babbyalla'.

Comparing the approximate ages of the Edwards children who had accompanied their parents to Beverley and the ages of the Blechynden children in 1845:

Edwards Family: Mary Ann 19 years, Matilda 14 years, Charles Frederick 9 years and Thomas 7 years. Alfred James aged 11 years, stayed on with his brother William who with the move took over 'Sandgate'.

Blechynden Family: John 12 years, Sarah Harrison 4 years, Anne Elizabeth 3 years, Henry George 1 year and baby Jesse.

Matilda Edwards was married in 1849 to Thomas Davies at Wexcombe, Mary Ann Edwards was married in 1849 to James Draper 24 Jun 1850, York.

In the 1859 Census for the Beverley district, it was recorded that William and Eleanor Edwards, farmer and grazier, and their sons Charles and Thomas were home, as well as William's grandchildren. Frederick and Ellen Horley (Hawley). Thomas was now aged 21 years of age. It appears Alfred James and Charles Frederick as they became of age, moved to the city. Alfred was married 1857 to Mary Mervyn Conway, Fremantle and later Charles married Mary Ann Hunt (nee Seabrook) at Canning in 1884. Thomas Edwards began to court Anne Blechynden, and three years later, 5 Mar 1862, they were married at the 'Mount Pleasant' Homestead at Edwards Crossing.

Thomas was 24 and Anne was almost 20, her birthday being 16 Mar. Thomas continued to farm 'Speldhurst' with his father William Edwards.

Thomas Edwards and Anne Elizabeth Edwards (nee Blechynden)

Thomas and Anne's first child, Samuel Harrison Edwards, was born 24 Feb 1863 at 'Speldhurst', Beverley, WA [Reg. 6927]. Their second child, Ross Frederick Edwards, followed on 15 Apr 1865 [Reg. 8673].

It was a sad time for the family when Thomas Edwards' father, William Edwards, died on 28 Oct 1865 at Beverley. One can imagine it was a large funeral as family and friends gathered at the St Paul's Church, Edwards Crossing Cemetery, Beverley to mourn his passing.

Thomas Edwards was recorded as being a farmer at Beverley at 'Speldhurst', property originally owned by his father, William Edwards. He employed seven Ticket of Leave men on occasion between 1866- 1875, including a tutor. He was an active church worker, C/E.

Thomas and Anne's third child, Louis Ayling Edwards, was born 18 May 1867 [Reg. 9935A]. He was followed by Arthur William Edwards who was born 17 Dec 1868 [Reg No. 11226A]. Their fifth child, Florence Elizabeth was born in 1870 [Reg. 12773]. All of the births were registered in Beverley, WA. One can imagine Anne was kept very busy with her five children.

Sadness visited the family again when Thomas Edwards' mother, Eleanor Edwards, died 24 Dec 1871, aged 73 years. She also was farewelled at St Paul's Church and buried at the Edwards Crossing Cemetery.

Their sixth child, Andrew Thomas Edwards, was born 5 Nov 1872, Beverley [Reg. 14284] and their seventh child, Walter Ernest, was born in Jul 1875. Thomas and Anne must have been devastated when Andrew Thomas Edwards died at the age of three years on 15 Dec 1875, Beverley [Reg. 8317]. Their eighth child, Peter Ebner Ralph Edwards, was born 24 Apr 1883, Beverley [Reg. 24046].

This Board only meets quarterly, and its meeting on Wednesday, the 1st instant was the last quarter. There were present the Chairman, (J. Seabrook, Esq., J.P.) and Messrs. Thomas Edwards, W. Smith, H. H. Sewell, and E. R. Parker. The first question before the Board was Mr. Thomas Edwards' application to shut up an old road leading from Scaton Ross to the Avon Bridge—a road which by a slight deviation could be carried up the boundary between the two estates. The Board were of opinion that Mr. Edwards' application was a reasonable request, but they finally decided upon visiting the locality before giving a final decision. Mr. Johnson, of Guildford, the proprietor, strongly objected on the grounds that his late father and himself had used the said road for 50 years. That there must be roads, every member acknowledged, but while they are constructed for the use of the public, they must not be allowed to mar the value of freehold property, or injure the grazing capabilities of paddocks. These serious questions will come more frequently in the future, before the Roads Boards, and it behoves the settlers to look after their best men to form these Boards so that these important questions may not become of lasting annoyance to communities hereafter.

Another question before the Board was that upon the Land Tax, which the Board vetoed, and the Chairman was requested to write to the Acting Colonial Secretary to that effect.

Mr. James Morrison, of Guildford, applied for leave to erect two swing gates across a road in general use, which was granted.

It was suggested by one member that as a compensation to those districts not enjoying the benefits of railways, the Government should make the grants proportionately larger. But against this it was argued that we, with our railways, have to make innumerable byroads as feeders to the line, therefore our local wants in road construction were greater than ever, and we could not yield a point on that score.

The accounts were satisfactory, although the balance in hand was smaller than last year.

A vote of thanks to the Chairman for presiding, brought the proceedings to a conclusion.

MR. THOMAS EDWARDS.

On Saturday morning, 7th inst., about six o'clock, there passed away, at the age of 64 years, one of the most respected and oldest of the settlers of the Beverley district. Mr. Thomas Edwards, late of Mount Pleasant, Beverley, had spent the greater portion of a long and useful life in this district. He was looked up to and respected by all, and was a trusted friend to everyone who knew him. He was well known, and his opinions on agricultural and kindred subjects were thought highly of. It was only (says the "Chronicle") a few months since he had retired from active life to enjoy a well-earned rest. He was confined to his bed but a few days with an illness which terminated fatally. Many were the friends who followed the remains to their last resting place in St. John's churchyard.

OBITUARY

ANNE ELIZABETH EDWARDS

Another of our very old residents passed away in the Beverley Hospital early on Thursday morning last in the person of Mrs Anne Elizabeth (better known as Granny) Edwards. Mrs. Edwards' father, the late Harrison Blechynden came to W. A. from Kent, England, in the year 1830, and she was born at St. Aubyns, Beverley on March 19, 1843, and so was in her 86th year. She was married to the late Thomas Edwards of "Mt Pleasant" in March 1862, (her younger brother Henry George died last month at the age of 84). The funeral takes place this morning. After a service in St Mary's, the cortege will proceed to the old St Paul's Churchyard (which is really part of the old Mt. Pleasant property) at Edwards Crossing.

Deceased had a family of seven sons and one daughter of whom five sons, Samuel Harrison, Lou, Arthur, Walter and Peter survive and are located in the Beverley and adjoining districts.

Headstone of Thomas Edwards (1838-1903), and his wife Anne Elizabeth Edwards (nee Blechynden) 1842-1927), also their daughter, Florence Edwards (1870-1922), old St Paul's Church yard, Edwards Crossing, Beverley. Note: Anne's name is recorded as Ann.

A Link with the Early Days

DEATH OF MR. SAMUEL HARRISON EDWARDS

A link with the early days of the district was broken when the death occurred at the Beverley Hospital last Saturday of Mr. Samuel Harrison Edwards, of Lomos, at the age of 77 years. He had been ailing for a long time and was a patient at the Corrigin Hospital before coming to Beverley for treatment. He was a brother of Messrs Louis and Peter Edwards, of this town, and of Walter Edwards, of Lomos, and was unmarried.

Deceased was born at Speldhurst and was the eldest son of the late Thomas and Anne Elizabeth Edwards. His grandfather was a passenger to Western Australia on the ill-fated ship Rockingham, which was wrecked on the coast, close to where the town of Rockingham now stands. It had been his intention to settle at the Peel Estate but in the disaster he lost all his belongings and was forced to alter his plans. He came to the Beverley district to manage a property for a man named Stone and ultimately became the owner of the Speldhurst and Mt. Pleasant properties, which were to remain in the family's hands for several generations.

Deceased had the advantage of what educational facilities the young district could then offer and at the age of 22 he left Beverley and proceeded to the North-west, where he later acquired a station known as Ulawarra. After many years in the North he sold out and came South, commencing farming operations near Lomos. Some twelve years ago he discontinued farming and commenced business as a storekeeper at the siding. Of late he has been assisted by his brother Walter in this enterprise.

The funeral took place on Sunday afternoon, the mortal remains being laid to rest in the graveyard of St. Paul's Church at Edwards Crossing, alongside those of other members of the Edwards family.

Street Fatality. -A regrettable fatality occurred at Albany on the afternoon of Thursday, whereby a bright little chap, Prince Rowsell, aged six years, lost his life. The lad had attended the infants' school during the afternoon and about 4 o'clock was on his way homeward on Perth-road, in company with a number of other children. A lorry, driven by Fred Potter, was proceeding in the same direction. It is not quite clear whether the unfortunate victim and his associates were having a ride on the vehicle, but nearing Deykin's farm he stepped from the rear of the conveyance, only to be struck by a motor car, driven by Leslie Ross Edwards, a licensed chauffeur, who was returning to town from the King River, with three passengers. The little fellow was seen to be in a bad way and Edwards lost no time in conveying him to the hospital, but he was dead on arrival, having sustained fatal injuries to the head and left side. An inquest will be held next week, on a date yet to be fixed.

THE INQUEST.

The inquest on the body of the child was held at the courthouse this morning before the coroner, Mr A. E. Burt, R.M.

Constable Naismith, in the absence of Sergt. Kelso, conducted the enquiry for the police and gave evidence of identification.

Dr. Syme Johnson gave evidence of the result of a post-mortem examination of a deceased child, in which he detailed the injuries, and added that the cause of death was fracture of the ribs, and right chest, laceration of the lung, haemorrhage, and shock.

Leslie Ross Edwards, motor driver, residing in Albany, and the driver of car No. 33, said that on Apr 7 he proceeded with three Greeks to the cool stores, and afterwards to Green's place, off the Perth-Albany-road, about four miles from town. When returning and approaching a spot near Deykin's farm, he noticed F. Potter's lorry approaching, and he sounded his horn as a warning. He noticed a number

THE INQUEST.

The inquest on the body of the child was held at the courthouse this morning before the coroner, Mr. A. E. Butt, R.M.

Constable Naismith, in the absence of Sarge Keeling, conducted the enquiry for the police and gave evidence of identification.

Dr. Snyne Johnson gave evidence of the result of a post-mortem examination of a deceased child, in which he detailed the injuries, and added that the cause of death was fracture of the ribs, and right chest, laceration of the lung, haemorrhage, and shock.

Leslie Ross Edwards, motor driver, residing in Albany, and the driver of car No. 33, said that on April 7 he proceeded with the Greeks to the coal stores, and afterwards to Green's place, off the Perth-Albany road, about four miles from town. When returning and approaching a spot near Deykin's farm, he noticed F. Potter's lorry approaching, and he sounded his horn as a warning. He noticed a number of children running at the back of the lorry on the near side. Just as the car was opposite the lorry one of the children ran across the back of the lorry in front of the car. Witness immediately applied the brakes, and pulled up within a distance of 15 yards. He was running at from 15 to 20 miles an hour at the time. That was the ordinary rate of travelling. After stopping the car he and one of the passengers went back to the child, who was lying on the road bleeding from the mouth. They picked the child up, placed him in the back of the car, and took him to the hospital. He could not say if the child was alive or not, as there were no movements of any kind. He had held a license for two years, and that was his first accident. It would have been absolutely impossible to avert the accident.

To the Coroner: The child was too small to be seen over the lorry. To the police: There was a dent in the car radiator, and the child must have been struck by the centre of the radiator. He did not feel any bump, and could not say if the wheels went over the body.

To the Coroner: When passing the lorry the car was as far on the lorry the car was as far on the side of the road as it was possible to get, the left hand wheels being on the bank.

Basil Paillessis deposed that he was in Edwards' car on the day of the accident, sitting in the back seat. When nearing Deykin's farm he saw a number of children hanging on and running behind a lorry. Witness here corroborated the evidence of the previous witness as to what took place and how the accident was caused. The driver could not avoid the accident.

Frederick John Potter deposed that on April 7 he was engaged in driving a lorry along Perth-road between 4 and 4.30 p.m. Two children were on the lorry, while a number of school children going home from school, were running at the back. Approaching Deykin's farm he noticed a car coming in the opposite direction. Just as the car passed the lorry, well on the proper side he heard a noise as if the car had struck something. On looking round he saw the car in the act of stopping, also a child lying on the left hand side of the road, between himself and the car. He hurried back to the child, who was lying face downwards, and turned the body on its side. He noticed blood coming from the mouth. The child was motionless. Edwards and the passengers came up and took the boy to the hospital. The car was not travelling more 15 or 20 miles an hour.

David Moss deposed that on the afternoon of Thursday April 7 he was driving along Perth-road at about 4.15, going home. He saw Potter about two chains ahead of him near Deykin's farm. A number of children were hanging on behind the lorry. He next saw car 33 approaching in the opposite direction. Just as the car neared the lorry a little boy ran out from behind the rear of the latter, and in front of the car. The boy appeared to hesitate, and then the middle of the car struck him. The driver of the car sounded his horn. The car was travelling at an ordinary rate. Two wheels of the car were right up on the side of the bank of the road. Edwards immediately applied the brakes and stopped the car in between 11 and 15 yards. The driver of the car could not have averted the accident, as it was not possible to do so. It was all done in a few seconds.

DEATH OF OLD IDENTITY

An old Perth identity who arrived in this State on Queen Victoria's Jubilee Day 1887, died yesterday. She was Elizabeth Robinson, 87 years of age, of Woodville-street, North Perth.

Mrs. Robinson, who was a widow, is survived by three sons and five daughters. She was born in Sheffield, Yorkshire, England, on Dec 20, 1846, and in 1865 married Thomas Robinson, a manufacturing cutler of Sheffield.

She came to Western Australia with her husband in 1887, arriving in Fremantle on Queen Victoria's Jubilee Day. Mrs. Robinson lived in Fremantle for about two years, and then went to Melbourne, where her husband took up a position with Ward Brothers.

In 1901 Mrs. Robinson came back to this State, after the death of one of her daughters, and since then has lived mostly in North Perth. The late Mrs. Robinson was buried in the Church of Christ portion of the Karrakatta Cemetery today.

OBITUARY. A Link With the Early Days.

PASSING OF MR L. A. EDWARDS.

Death severed a link with the earliest days of our district and State this week when it claimed Mr Louis Ayling Edwards, formerly of Speldhurst and latterly of Forrest Street, Beverley. Deceased who was 76 years of age, was born in the district, and except for very short periods has lived the whole of his life within its boundaries. He succeeded to land which his father owned before him and which even earlier his grandparents had controlled. The latter landed from the ill-fated "Rockingham" in 1829 (ed 1830) and made their first acquaintance with the district when they came here to manage the estate of the late A H Stone, which then comprised the properties now known as Seaton Ross, Mt Pleasant and Speldhurst. It was the latter property which afterwards came under the control of the late Mr Edwards and here the greater part of his life was spent, his interest in the property only ceasing when after a period of management by his son, Ernest, it passed out of the control of the Edwards family a few years ago. From then on, he lived in retirement at a home he purchased in Beverley. His demise occurred at the Beverley Hospital on Tuesday night and came as a release from much suffering. No district family has a longer association with Beverley than that of the Edwards'. In all-spheres of activity successive generations have played their part, and as a remit of his lifetime association Mr Edwards was ever a fund of interesting information concerning the early days. He took a keen interest in all matters appertaining to the district's advancement and in his younger period was actively associated with many bodies. We propose to deal more fully with the family's association with the district in next issue and in the meantime, tribute is paid to the deceased as a good friend whom it was a pleasure to converse with. He was one of Nature's gentlemen, tolerant, just and with a kind word for all, who set an example of Christian living to all with whom he came in contact.

Deceased is survived by a widow, one son (Ernest) and two brothers Peter (Beverley) and Walter (Lomos). To these the sympathy of a district wide circle of friends is extended. One son, Bert, was killed in action in the first World War.

The funeral took place at the Anglican Cemetery yesterday morning, following a service at St Mary's. There was a big attendance and the Rev J L Brown officiated, finding inspiration for his address in the life of the deceased citizen, and speaking words of comfort to the bereaved.

The late Mr L A Edwards (Louis Ayling Edwards)

SOME FAMILY HISTORY

A grandson of William Edwards who fought at Waterloo and afterwards came to this State in the sailing ship "Rockingham" which was wrecked on our coast the late Mr L A Edwards whose death was referred to in a recent issue, was born in this district and was associated with it all his life. The family history covers the whole period of the State's development, the "Rockingham" having arrived in 1829 (ed 1830).

William Edwards was given a grant of land at what came to be known later as the Peel Estate, Possibly the wreck of the ship which had brought him to these shores and in which he lost such goods and chattels as he had been able to bring from England affected his plans, for some time later he settled at Guildford and established the first store to be set up in that locality. It was here that Thomas Edwards, father of Mr LA Edwards was born.

In 1845 the whole family moved to Beverley, William Edwards assuming the managership of the area of land which now comprises the Seaton Ross, Speldhurst and Mt Pleasant properties. Purchase of the two last named properties was later arranged, the price paid being, it is believed, in the vicinity of 5s per acre. William Edwards gave the land for St Paul's Church and the family was instrumental in having the Church built, it being amongst the first seven erected in the State. He and his good wife and buried in the adjacent church yard where also the son Thomas and his wife and other members of the family, were laid to rest when their earthly span was ended.

Death Of Aged District Identity.

Believed at the time of her demise to be the Beverley district's oldest identity, Mrs Annie Elizabeth Edwards passed away at the age of 96 years at the Home of Peace, Subiaco on the 10th. inst. She was the widow of the late Lou Edwards and lived in Beverley for the greater part of her life, the last few years being spent as an inmate of the city institution where her death occurred.

Mrs. Edwards was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Robinson of Sheffield, England, where she was born, her father being a cutler in the world-famous steel centre (Ed. Sheffield cutlery). She came to the West with her parents just before she was twenty years of age and lived for some time at Fremantle where her father followed his calling.

Blessed with a retentive memory until her declining years she could tell interesting stories of the port in the early days when all shipping used the original long jetty.

She came to stay with the Charles Edwards' at Edwards Crossing and it was at Mt. Pleasant that she met her future husband who was a member of a family with an association with W.A. going back to the very earliest days of the Colony and one of whose forebears had fought at Waterloo.

The couple were married at the district's first church, St. Paul's, Edwards Crossing, in 1896 and lived at Mt. Pleasant until 1900 when Mr. Edwards took over the adjoining property, Speldhurst, where they were to live until 1927 when they retired to Beverley.

Two sons were born to Mr. and Mrs. Edwards. The eldest, Bert, was associated with the earliest scout troop to be formed in Beverley (he was assistant scoutmaster) and volunteered for service following the outbreak of war in 1914. He left the State with a reinforcement unit to the 10th Light Horse and was killed in action in the desert campaign. A present-day resident of the town in Adam Murray was with him at the time he received his fatal wounds.

The other son, Ernest, is a leading citizen of the district who also became a great advocate of scouting and has been prominently associated with organisations to which he has given fine service in numerous capacities.

Mrs. Edwards is remembered by the older generation of district residents as a woman whose faith and Christian principles were exemplified in staunch service to the Anglican Church. She was active with the Guild, Mothers' Union, and other activities until age curtailed her opportunities for service.

The Funeral.

In the presence of numerous family friends and acquaintances the funeral of the deceased lady took place at the Anglican Cemetery, Beverley, on Friday last following a service at St. Mary's conducted by the Rev. J. A. S. Philson.

The arrangements were in the hands of Messrs Purslowe & Sons and the pall bearers were Messrs. J. L Mann, L. F. Sims, H. T. Edwards, R. C. Smith, A. H. Murray and H. C. Doncon.

Believed at the time of her demise to be the Beverley district's oldest identity, Mrs Annie Elizabeth Edwards passed away at the age of 96 years at the Home of Peace, Subiaco on the 10th. inst. She was the widow of the late Lou Edwards and lived in Beverley for the greater part of her life, the last few years being spent as an inmate of the city institution where her death occurred.	Two sons were born to Mr. and Mrs. Edwards. The eldest, Bert, was associated with the earliest scout troop to be formed in Beverley (he was assistant scoutmaster) and volunteered for service following the outbreak of war in 1914. He left the State with a reinforcement unit to the 10th Light Horse and was killed in action in the desert campaign. A present day resident of the town in Adam Murray was with him at the time he received his fatal wounds.
Mrs. Edwards was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Robinson of Sheffield, England, where she was born, her father being a cutler in the world famous steel centre. She came to the West with her parents just before she was twenty years of age and lived for some time at Fremantle where her father followed his calling.	The other son, Ernest, is a leading citizen of the district who also became a great advocate of scouting and has been prominently associated with organisations to which he has given fine service in numerous capacities.
Blessed with a retentive memory until her declining years she could tell interesting stories of the port in the early days when all shipping used the original long jetty.	Mrs. Edwards is remembered by the older generation of district residents as a woman whose faith and Christian principles were exemplified in staunch service to the Anglican Church. She was active with the Guild, Mothers' Union, and other activities until age curtailed her opportunities for service.
She came to stay with the Charles Edwards' at Edwards Crossing and it was at Mt. Pleasant that she met her future husband who was a member of a family with an association with W.A. going back to the very earliest days of the Colony and one of whose forebears had fought at Waterloo.	The Funeral In the presence of numerous family friends and acquaintances the funeral of the deceased lady took place at the Anglican Cemetery, Beverley, on Friday last following a service at St. Mary's conducted by the Rev. J. A. S. Philson.
The couple were married at the district's first church, St. Paul's, Edwards Crossing, in 1896 and lived at Mt. Pleasant until 1900 when Mr. Edwards took over the adjoining property, Speldhurst, where they were to live until 1927 when they retired to Beverley.	The arrangements were in the hands of Messrs Purslowe & Sons and the pall bearers were Messrs. J. L Mann, L. F. Sims, H. T. Edwards, R. C. Smith, A. H. Murray and H. C. Doncon.

Wedding Bells.

EDWARDS—BROWN.

*Artistic decorations of silver streamers and bowls of pink and white stocks and lillies, with a huge silver and pink bell in the centre, graced the interior of the Beverley Methodist Church, when Ruby, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Brown, of "The Park," Beverley, was married to Ernest, only son of Mr.

and Mrs. L. A. Edwards, of "Speldhurst," Beverley, on Wednesday evening. August 31st. Rev. R. H. Mason (late of Beverley) officiated, assisted by the Rev. W. Freeman.

Regally gowned in a shimmering frock of silver lamay, the bride entered the church on the arm of her father to the strains of "The voice that breathed o'er Eden". Her beautiful Horaton point veil fell in graceful folds from a coronet of tiny orange blossom. Attached to the shoulders with a silver cord and tassel fell a soft train of the same shimmering material as her dress, underlined and bordered with a shell pink georgette, giving a most soft and delightful touch of colour to the exquisite toilet. A beautiful bouquet of unusual choice collection of white flowers and fern with touches of delicate pink was carried and a rope of pearls (gift of bridegroom) also worn. The frocking of the bridesmaids, Miss Essie Smith and Miss Doreen McKellar, made the color scheme of the wedding unusually attractive. They were gowned alike in rose and silver shot taffeta, hemmed with silver lace and multi-colored flowers, which stood out brilliantly from the silver and white toilet of the bride. Smart, headdresses of silver and rose tulle were worn, the soft tulle being caught with tiny velvet flowers. Miss Smith's toilet was completed with a shower bouquet of beautiful pink roses and carnations and heath, whilst Miss Doreen acted as flower girl, carrying a sweet basket of pink carnations and sweet peas, strewing the petals in front of the bridal procession on leaving the church. Little Margaret Murdoch made a sweet trainbearer in her dainty frock of rose taffeta, with tulle frills caught down by pink and blue forget-me-nots and wore a quaint bonnet of tiny frills of silver lace and velvet streamers. Each of the bridesmaids wore the bridegroom's present, a string of dainty twisted pearls.

Mr. Dean Brown carried out the duties of best man.

During the signing of the register, Mrs. Ainsworth, of Wagin sweetly sang "Beloved, it is Morn" and played the Wedding March, Mrs. J. Mann presiding at the organ for the other portions of the service.

Over 150 guests partook of the hospitality of the parents of the bride at "The Park" where a reception was held. The parents of bride and bridegroom received the guests in the vestibule, where large bowls of beautiful stocks gave a vivid setting to such a gathering. Mrs. Brown was gowned in an ensemble frock of navy silk morocain, relieved with mushroom and navy hat. Her bouquet of golden daffodils completed a charming toilet. Mrs. Edwards was attired in fawn silk morocain relieved with blue and smart black hat, - with a posy of violets and carnations.

A marquee had been erected on the lawn, where the wedding breakfast was partaken of. On entering one was amazed at the beautiful colour scheme of the decorations and flower bedecked tables. During the evening the usual toasts were honoured with enthusiasm and a sheaf of telegrams from all parts of Australia were read by the Rev. Mason.

A move was then made to the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. Brown where dancing interspersed with songs and other items were indulged in till a late hour.

Later in the evening Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Edwards left per motor, amidst showers of confetti and good wishes, for a tour of the Northern Districts, the bride being attired in a smart frock of navy crepe-de-chine, and black-rose hat with fur and tailored coat.

The numerous and costly presents showed the extreme popularity of both bride and bridegroom in the district, several presentations being received from local organizations.

GREAT SOUTHERN MEMORIES BY I. A. JENONI LIMITED EDITION, pg. 69

A compilation of very, short family histories from the Great Southern (which, in the case of this book, extends to Beverley), included are the pieces on the Blechyndens Roesland - Redhill and of Ernest Walter Edwards of Beverley.

ERNEST WALTER EDWARDS OF BEVERLEY

Ernest Walter Edwards of Beverley says that the first of his family to come to Western Australia was great grandfather William Edwards a veteran who served under Wellington during the Peninsular Wars and at Waterloo.

Ernest had many mementos of 'Waterloo' William as he affectionately calls his ancestor. Campaign medals list the various battles including one in Spain which took place at Barossa, probably a quiet little wine producing area before the day it was over-run by the two opposing armies.

Our own Barossa Valley is undoubtedly named after this Spanish Barossa.

William's special 1815 Waterloo medal and the bayonet he carried in the battle are among Ernest's souvenirs from the life of his great grandfather.

Waterloo William, born in 1792 in Kent had a farm in the south of England after his war service had ended.

He had married Eleanor Ayling and they had four children before deciding to come to Western Australia to take part in a great land settlement scheme organised by Thomas Peel.

William, his wife and four children arrived in the year 1830 aboard the sailing ship 'Rockingham' after a long, slow, six month voyage. The ship under command of Captain Hallburton, and with 172 persons aboard including 75 children, entered Cockburn Sound but before disembarking a storm arose casting the ship ashore. Despite the conditions the crew and adult passengers managed to struggle through the surf to safety carrying with them the smaller children. Out of the 172 fortunately none were lost.

This happened on the 14th of May 1830 near where a wheat loading terminal now stands. The town of Rockingham gets its name from the event. A plaque set in ballast stones has been erected to mark the spot. Later the wreck of a steamer nearby (the 'S S Kwinana') is remembered as a place name in the area near Rockingham.

Neither William nor the other prospective settlers could see any future in the rough sandy country they were expected to farm so he took a job on a farm at Guildford. Later he leased a farm in the area from Governor Stirling until he managed to buy a one hundred acre property of his own. William paid 200 bushels of wheat for his new farm and nearby bought a house on 3½ acres for 9 goats (value $40).

In 1842 William leased land at York where the present 'Sandgate' property at Gilgering is situated. He opened a store at York which was carried on by three generations of the family. Presently it is the site of the York Co-op.

In the mid 1850's Waterloo William purchased for 800 pounds ($1600) 3,549 acres in the Beverley district and part of this land is still owned by his descendants under the name Mt Pleasant.

Four more children were born to William and Eleanor Edwards in Australia making eight in all.

William, born in 1792, died in 1865 while his widow Eleanor, born 1798 survived till 1871.

Thomas Edwards, the youngest son, carried on farming at Mt Pleasant while another brother had a property called 'Speldhurst' in Beverley.

Louis Ayling Edwards, the son of Thomas, married Annie Elizabeth Robinson, an English girl and they had two sons. The elder, Herbert, served in the middle east during World War One as part of the 'Camel Corps' and was killed at the second battle of Gaza.

The younger boy, Ernest Walter, was working in a bank but left this to join his father on the 'Speldhurst' farm.

There are still remains of pioneering buildings on 'Speldhurst' Ernest says. As he is well past the 80 year mark himself he can recall a great deal about pioneering in the district. Settlers used the natural building materials available. Mud walls, mallet bark rafters, and thatch from blackboy rushes for the roof. The floors of stamped down mud glazed with a mixture made from dissolving wattle and jam tree gum, were very durable.

Farmers drove horse teams which pulled ploughs and old time strippers before the great day when H V McKay developed his harvester which stripped, thrashed and winnowed the grain ready for bagging. Before that time, one turned the handle all day of a winnowing machine to finally clean the wheat or oats.

Horses and wagons would then cart the wheat to flour mills until 1910 when the local mill burned down on Christmas Day of that year. Ernest mentions here that John Mann's grandfather was a Beverley miller in the early days.

GREAT SOUTHERN MEMORIES
BY I. A. JENONI LIMITED EDITION, P. 70

York had flour mills where local wheat was processed into various grain products so Beverley ceased as a milling town.

Ernest Walter Edwards married Ruby Brown, born in Victoria, whose family came to Beverley to farm.

Ernest and Ruby have one son, Geoffrey Ernest, who is farming 'The Park', the old Brown property. Geoffrey's son Ian is also on the farm.

Ernest says 'The Park' was named by a previous occupier Robert Bowyer Smith, a man who claims a place in agricultural history. This man invented the stump plough and further developed it during his time in Beverley. 'Stumpjump' Smith as he was known, obviated all the back breaking grubbing of tree stumps which had to take place before the old set ploughs could be used. Grain growing increased rapidly when using this invention and production climbed to unheard of figures.

Ernest and Ruby also have a daughter Wendy who is married to Neil Williamson from a Beverley farming family. Neil is stock manager for Elder Smith and Company in Perth.

Ruby's brother Dean Brown became well-known for his pearl culture activities at Cygnet Bay. Nowadays two of his sons are running the venture.

Ernest Edwards has been involved in football, cricket, rifle shooting, and lawn bowls. He has been awarded a certificate for long service on the Hospital Board. He has been a Justice of the Peace for 42 years and is a life member of the Agricultural Society. He says, "I seem to have been in everything except local Government."

He believes that Beverley is a place to find good people, good land, and good sheep. It is also not a bad place for local people to retire.

OBITUARY. DEATH OF MRS A. W. EDWARDS.

On Saturday afternoon last after a two hours search the body of Mrs. A. W. Edwards was found in the Commercial Room of the Freemasons Hotel under circumstances which point to suicide. It is well known that deceased has not enjoyed good health for a long time — a fact which has, no doubt, caused her people much anxiety. She came to town with her husband and daughter, Lila, on Saturday. With Lila she attended the Paddy's Market at the Hall and afterwards did some shopping in the town. They became separated and as stated above after a long search the sad truth was learned.

The body was taken charge of by the police and removed to the morgue, where a post-mortem was conducted by Dr. Hodgson. An inquest was formally opened on Sunday morning and adjourned to a date to be fixed.

The funeral took place on Sunday afternoon, the place of interment being the Anglican Cemetery. Our sympathy is extended to the husband and 2 daughters (Lila and Mrs. L. Sims) and her parents (Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Smith) and family. Deceased was 49 years of age.

OBITUARY

ARTHUR WILLIAM EDWARDS.

The Grim Reaper has been active in the district during the past few weeks and on Saturday last claimed another of Beverley's old identities in the person of Arthur William Edwards, of Mt. Pleasant, scion, (sic, should be a son) of one of the earliest settlers of the district. Deceased had been ailing for a long time and for seven weeks had been an inmate of the Beverley Hospital, where his demise occurred.

The late Mr. Edwards was the fourth son of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Edwards, of "Mt. Pleasant." The latter property was originally embraced in a single holding comprising the lands now known as "Seaton Ross," "Mt. Pleasant," and "Speldhurst," owned by A. H. Stone. Portion of this large tract of land, was acquired by the grandfather of the subject of this notice, and it was he who founded the two properties now known as "Mt. Pleasant" and "Speldhurst."

The latter property was originally embraced in a single holding comprising the lands now known as "Seaton Ross," "Mt. Pleasant," and "Speldhurst," owned by A. H. Stone. Portion of this large tract of land was acquired by the grandfather of the subject of this notice, and it was he who founded the two properties now known as "Mt. Pleasant" and "Speldhurst."

The properties have been in the control of the Edwards family ever since. The late Mr. Edwards, was born at "Mt. Pleasant" 63 years ago, and on the death of his father assumed control of the farm, (his brother Lou taking charge of "Speldhurst"). He spent the whole of an active life in farming pursuits on the property he had acquired.

In 1903, the late Mr. Edwards married Mona, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Smith. She predeceased him by about 3 years. There were two children of the marriage. Elsie (Mrs. Len Sims) and Lila, and these, together with four brothers (Sam, Lou, Walter, and Peter) are left to mourn his passing.

The funeral took place on Sunday afternoon in the Anglican Cemetery, the Rev Elphick officiating. A short service at St. Mary's preceded the burial. A large crowd of friends and relatives were present to pay their last respects to deceased, who was laid to rest alongside the body of his wife.

Wedding Bells
SIMS—EDWARDS
A pretty wedding was solemnised at St. Mary's Church, Beverley, on June 27th, by the Rev. R. J. Smith. The contracting parties were Elsie, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Edwards, of "Mt. Pleasant," Beverley, to Leonard F. (Len.) Sims, second son of Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Sims, of St. Aubyns, Beverley. The Bride entered the Church on the arm of her father, gowned in ivory French georgette over satin, with uneven skirt of soft silver lace, the over dress being of handkerchief effect, embroidered with silver. Her train fell in graceful folds of silver lame underlined with pink georgette and large silver rose and held in place with silver fringe. The veil of Brussels net was worn over the head, forming a cap effect, being caught at each side with a posy of orange blossoms. The bouquet was of beautiful white flowers and fern, with touches of pink. The bridesmaids, the Misses Lila Edwards (sister of bride) and Nita Sims (sister of bridegroom) were gowned alike in pale blue taffeta frocks, with overskirts of soft tulle, banded with taffeta, the skirts being long at the back and finished at the waist with diamante and large bow of tulle. They wore smart blue tulle caps, with appliques of silver flowers and long tulle ends.	Little Nancy Walker (cousin of bride) as train bearer looked dainty in a frock of pale blue taffeta with frilled skirt edged with narrow blue ribbon and caught at the waist with tiny pink florets. The bride travelled in an ensemble of beige jersey cloth with large felt hat to tone and fur. The dresses were the work of Miss Jean Miller and were greatly admired. The reception was held in the Institute. Over 100 guests sat down to the wedding breakfast, the bride's mother wearing a frock of black georgette and lace with hat to tone, and the bridegroom's mother a navy ensemble and hat to match. The Rev. R. J. Smith proposed the health of the bride and bridegroom to which Mr. Sims suitably responded. The toast of bridesmaids was also proposed and responded to by the best man (Mr. Leslie Sims). Mr. Ford proposed the parents of the bride and bridegroom. The cake was made by the bride's mother, and the icing was done by her cousin. The evening concluded with dancing, cards, etc., during which the happy couple left per car on their honeymoon which was spent in Perth.

MR HENRY OLIVERSIMS

A well-respected citizen of the Beverley district in the person of Mr Henry Oliver Sims passed suddenly away at the residence of his daughter, Mrs G Ferguson, on Saturday evening, November 2. Born in South Australia in 1876 he was one of the many "Easterners" whose attention was focussed on the West following the gold discoveries of the early nineties and leaving his job as an employee at a blacksmithing business he came to W.A. and proceeding to Southern Cross walked from there to Kanowna where as a prospector he had a fair measure of success and later operated a gold treatment plant in conjunction with his father and brothers who had also been attracted to the West.

After years of residence on the fields the late Mr Sims came South to take up farming pursuits in the Greenhills district. There he met and married Miss Amelia White, the daughter of a pioneer of that district who had come from England in a sailing boat soon after the foundation of the Colony. It was in this district that his family of three sons and three daughters were born.

In 1921 Mr Sims disposed of his Greenhills interests and with his family came to Beverley where in conjunction with his sons he acquired and farmed an area of the St. Aubyns estate then owned by Messrs Fisher and Tanner. He took an active interest in district affairs and for several years was associated with the Road Board as a member for North-East Ward. Other interests included bowls, whilst he was a good supporter of Football and Fire Brigade activities as a result of his sons' membership of these latter organisations. He was also a member of the Hospital Board for a lengthy term. Last year he retired from active participation in farming affairs and with Mrs Sims took up residence in the town. Blessed with good health throughout the greater part of his life it was only during the last few months that illness has caused family concern, the onset of a heart ailment having recently necessitated a sojourn in hospital. His death came very suddenly just after the evening meal on the 2nd inst as he was conversing with his eldest son, Mr O O Sims.

The funeral took place at the Anglican Cemetery, Beverley after a service at St. Mary's on Monday, November 4th. The Rev Churchill assisted by Mr E B Barnsley, officiated and Miss De Lisle presided at the organ for the preliminary portion of the service. The chief mourners were his wife, sons, Messrs Ossie, Len and Les Sims, daughters, Mrs D Oliver and Mrs G Ferguson, sons-in-law and three brothers. The pallbearers were Messrs H Edwards, A Veitch, W Cooper, O Fleay, H Blechynden, and E Ford. Arrangements were carried out by Mr E T Fairhead.

Indicative of the regard in which the late citizen was held was the exceptionally large attendance at Church and grave side. Wreaths and floral tributes were received from the following:

Loving Wife; Rene and Pat; Sister Fanny; P T Sims and family; Maree and Bette; Oss and Ada; Len and Elsie; Nita and George; Loving Grandchildren; Les and Freda; Syd and Lena Sims; Staff Elder Smith & Co. Beverley; Members Beverley Hospital Board; President and Members Beverley Agricultural Society; Beverley Bowling Club; Staff Beverley Farmers Co-op Co Ltd; Beverley Girls Hockey Club; Ralph, Keith and Cyril; Mrs T G Walker and Rich; Mr and Mrs Gordon Reynolds; Ridgway family; Mrs F A White; Mr and Mrs E Ford and Rita; J Ellis and family; Mr and Mrs Geo Reynolds and family; Mrs Webb, Mavis and Cyril; Mr and Mrs Swan and family and Dolly; George and Mary Carr and family; Mr and Mrs W R Gillespie; Selby and Rita; Mr and Mrs Bill Caudle and family; Ruby and Ernie; Mi and Mrs W H Johnson; Jim, Phyllis and family; Gertie. Wedding Bells

SUTHERLAND—McLEAN

A neatly decorated Church, over crowded with friends, was evidence of the popularity of both bride and bridegroom, when on Wednesday, June 25, Miss Jessie McLean was joined in wedlock with Mr. Louis Sutherland.

The bride entered the Church on the arm of her father, Mr. John McLean, of County Peak. She wore a graceful frock of white georgette, the bodice being semi-fitting with long tight-fitting sleeves and soft skirt of handkerchief effect falling to the ankles, with bow of georgette caught at the side with cluster of orange blossom. The usual veil of tulle was worn, caught into place with wreath of orange blossom. A bouquet of white roses and carnations completed a charming toilet. Two bridesmaids were in attendance, Miss Grace McLean and Miss Jessie Sutherland, the former wearing a smart frock of mauve crepe de chine and pleated georgette, while Miss Sutherland's was of apricot, designed on the same lines. Black hats were worn and bouquets to harmonise with their frocks were carried.

The bride's mother chose navy silk, with soft drapings of lace and black hat, and carried a posy of roses. Mrs. Sutherland (mother of the bridegroom) was attired in a smart costume of grey and hat to match.

The day was a perfect one, and the long string of cars wending their way along the undulating road in the sunshine was an enjoyable and impressive sight. The "best man" was unfortunate enough to pick up a 3 inch nail in his tyre when within a mile of the hall. Some thought possibly this was an error of judgment—more appropriate had the bridal car picked up a "lucky" horseshoe! But that would have been unkind. The good old petrol tin is easier disposed of and there were three or four of them attached to their car as they left the hall later in the evening. These made din enough, but not sufficient to drown the good wishes showered on them by those of the guests who were gathered around them as they drove off. The honeymoon is being spent in the city.

About 200 guests sat down to the well-prepared tables, and after due justice had been done to the dainties provided the Rev. W. E. Freeman, by request, took charge of the gathering and called on all to honor the King in the Loyal Toast. He then proposed the toast of the "Bride and groom," in which he was supported by the Rev. R. Mason, an old friend of the family, who had come from Katanning to assist. The proposers spoke of their pleasure in seeing two young Christian people stepping out into life together. They both came from good Christian homes and it was hoped that the examples set therein would be taken with them to their new home. They were sure that they were voicing the wishes of all present in wishing them success and happiness wherever they went.

The bridegroom responded on behalf of "my wife and myself." He then proposed the toast of "the bridesmaids," to which Mr. Stan Sutherland and Alan McLean, (the groomsmen), responded.

"The Brides Parents" was proposed in a very happy manner by Mr. J. R. Bremner, and was supported by Mr. W. Brown.

Mr. Frank Young gave the toast "The Parents of the Bridegroom" and was supported in his remarks by Mr. W. H. Hastings.

"Granny Wansbrough" (grandmother of the bride) was proposed by Mr. A. T. Thomas, and "absent friends" by Mr. McCooke, senr., whilst Mr. Jim McLean gave the toast "The Chairman."

The Bride's frock was made in Miss Miller's workroom.

Death of Mr. McLean.

The hand of death has this week removed from our midst a most respected citizen in the person of Mr. Donald McLean, senr., who passed away at his late residence, "Aviemore," Beverley, on Tuesday morning last, in his 85th year. The deceased gentleman had been in failing health for some time past and latterly was confined to his bed, and everything was done to soothe his last hours that loving care and constant attention could perform. However, it was recognised that the end was inevitable, and he passed quietly away shortly after 5 o'clock on Tuesday morning, retaining consciousness and his full faculties practically up to the last. Mr. McLean was born at "Aviemore," Inverness, Scotland, on 31st July, 1829, and when 19 years of age he emigrated to, where he lived for a number of years. Upon the outbreak, of the Bendigo goldfields in Victoria Mr. McLean was one of a party to go overland from York Peninsula. He did fairly well on the goldfields, and, returning to, he sent Home for his parents who were then in Scotland. The latter subsequently came out and settled in, later going to Victoria with their family, where they did a lot of pioneering work, principally in the Wimmera district. At Padthaway, near Narracorte, on March 25th, 1862, Mr McLean was united in matrimony, by the Rev. W. McCalman, with Miss Helen Walker, of Kirk Liston, Scotland, the issue of the marriage being seven sons and five

A WELL-LOVED CITIZEN

DEATH OF MRS "GRANNY" WANSBROUGH

To attain to the ripe old age of 96 years and to retain the esteem and the love of practically the whole of the citizens of the Beverley district was the happy lot of Mrs Mary ("Granny") Wansbrough, whose death occurred at her home in Hunt Road, Beverley on Friday last. Long association with the district had made her one of the community's best-known figures, and there were few who knew her that did not marvel at the ease with which she appeared to carry the burden of her years, for up till some 18 months or two years ago it was almost a daily practice for her to walk to the town for her shopping and other activities from her home, and there was a cheery word for all she met.

"Granny" had lived the good life and with age came a serenity which many might envy. She had lived through a difficult period in the history of these districts and of the State, and possessed a most retentive memory which never seemed to fail her even in the twilight of her days. Her mind was a storehouse in which was retained memories of people and events which her juniors might be excused for forgetting. Her 96th birthday occurred on the Sunday preceding her death, and at a family gathering she was able to cut the birthday cake and to take a bright interest in proceedings. On the following Wednesday she suffered a stroke and her demise occurred two days later.

On the following Wednesday she suffered a stroke and her demise occurred two days later.

The deceased citizen was born at York and was the second daughter of Mr and Mrs Henry Davey, who had arrived in the colony some six months previous ly from England. Such schooling as then existed was availed of and she lived in York until after her marriage to Mr Henry Wansbrough. Three children resulted from the union, of which one died in infancy. Mr Wansbrough died at an early age, whilst of the surviving family a son, Thomas, died at Geraldton some five or six years ago, whilst a daughter, Mrs John McLean, of County Peak, is amongst the best-known of residents of this district. Of her brothers and sisters only one survives, he being Mr Frank Davey, the well-known builder and contractor, of Beverley.

Before she came to this district the deceased had taken up nursing and as a midwife she became known throughout these areas. They were the days when maternal facilities were almost non-existent and almost without exception babies were born at their parents' homes, a visiting nurse taking charge of the home for a period. In the practice of her profession she thus assisted in the advent of some hundreds of babies into this world, and many of them are now units of the adult population of these parts. Her services in this regard were much valued and her ability so widely recognised that it was once said that a doctor was not needed when she was about.

Some forty years ago "Granny" suffered a severe illness and her life was despaired of by her physician, who gave her but a few days to live. Professional opinion was confounded and in a little while she was again following an active and useful routine. Up till two years ago it was her practice to visit Albany in the summer months, and through her ability to get about and meet people she became almost as well-known at the port as was the case here. Many expressions of regret at her passing have been received from people of her acquaintance in that area. She was almost if not quite the oldest resident of this district. It was not surprising that there was an exceptionally large gathering at the funeral held on Saturday. All sections of the population were well represented, both at the Methodist Church and at the graveside, where the last tributes of respect were paid. The Rev Meyers of York officiated, and the service was an impressive one, the officiating clergyman speaking feelingly of her life of service to the Church and community. A wonderful array of wreaths and floral tributes were in evidence. For the singing at the first portion of the ceremony Mrs E.E. Burgess presided at the organ, and the arrangements were carried-out by Mr. T E Fairhead.

County Peak Pioneer Passes

A long life marked by christian living, good citizenship and fruitful enterprise ended with the death on Saturday night last at the Beverley Hospital of Mr. John McLean, a pioneer farmer of the County Peak district. He was 82 years of age and throughout his long life had been blessed with singularly good health. Only his family and close associates knew that he had been ailing of late and news of his demise therefore came as a shock to hundreds of friends here and in other districts of the State. He was brought in to the Beverley Hospital at the week-end suffering from a heart ailment and survived only a few hours. It was the first time he had ever been in hospital as a patient.

Pioneering Days

John McLean's long association with the West began in 1896 when he and his brothers Donald and Tom arrived in the State after tiring of prospects in the Mallee country in Victoria which had been hit by a series of poor seasons and low prices. With the goldfields booming the West tempted them, with thousands of others, but a short period on the fields convinced them that their destiny lay elsewhere and in February 1897 they arrived in Beverley poor in pocket but not lacking in determination to make good the hard way. Shortly afterwards they were engaged on a clearing contract on the St. Aubyns property then owned by Ernest Lennard. The contract embraced 50 acres and the price 25/- per acre. It was the late Sam Smith (father of Milford and Conrad) who first advised them of prospects in the County Peak area and after inspection with Jack Fleet as their guide they packed their swags and walked the sandal wood carter's track to the Peak. Camping in a shepherd's hut the first night in the area John had a memorable experience for as he was rolling his swag in the morning he found a black snake beneath the blankets. Later the brothers climbed the Peak and made their selections of land using the foliage of the trees as a guide. It was then the fringe of settlement but the government survey party had been out and pegged the land.

Returning to Beverley they found that a benevolent government was so hungry for settlers that homestead blocks of up to 160 acres (the pick of the land) were available for £1 whilst the balance of holdings could be secured for 10/- per acre, payment being spread over 20 years and survey fees were waived. By dint of hard work the brothers were able to clear and crop about 30 acres in 1898, using a three furrow plow and three horses. By August 6 it showed magnificent promise but from then to October only 10 points of rain fell and the average yield was only eight bushels per acre. The next year, however, nearly 100 acres returned 29 bushels per acre. There were no artificial fertilisers to assist the growth. The first five years at the Peak were the driest that have ever been noted in the area and yet reasonable crops were garnered. In later years Mr. McLean used to tell of walking along the bed of Qualanderry pool, and of seeing as many as 20 brumbies lying dead in the little water remaining at Jurakine. He and his brothers carted the timber for the bridge at the latter property. The Lakes in those days were beautiful stretches of fresh water with wild ducks present in thousands. From these modest pioneering stages the brothers branched out to individual holdings and John McLean's property by reason of later purchase grew to 3000 acres. In his semi retirement in latter years sons Jack and Colin have ably carried on the founder's enterprise.

The Family

It was in 1903 that John McLean met and married Miss Della Wansbrough daughter of one of the Beverley district's best known nurses, Mrs Henry Wansbrough ("Grannie" of revered memory). The Rev'd Coulter a Methodist Missioner stationed in Beverley officiated and a few friends representative of the sparsely settled area were present to wish the couple the best for the future. Later the couple moved into a house on the property and here the subject of our notice lived until his demise. To Mr. and Mrs. McLean were born a family of four sons and four daughters, all of whom are now married. They comprise: Mollie (Mrs. Hastings, Mawson), Allen (Wyalcatchem), Jessie (Mrs. L. Southland, Pithara), Grace (Mrs. S. Chester, Goomalling), Jack (County Peak), Nell (Mrs. J. Stone, Dangan), Colin (County Peak) and Fred (Goomalling). There are many grandchildren and several great grandchildren. It has always been a close knit and loving family group and to the children and widow the sympathy of an extremely wide circle of friends is being extended. The late citizen's life was one of service in many spheres. He was a member of the Beverley Road Board for a great many years and there were few worthwhile activities to which he did not, in his more active days, lend some support. A God fearing and christian gentleman, he lived the good life throughout his days and as a staunch Methodist gave much practical help to his church. He set a good example to all, and his friends included people in all walks of life.

He was brought in to the Beverley Hospital at the week-end suffering from a heart ailment and survived only a few hours. It was the first time he had ever been in hospital as a patient.

Pioneering Days

John McLean's long association with the West began in 1896 when he and his brothers Donald and Tom arrived in the State after tiring of prospects in the Mallee country in Victoria which had been hit by a series of poor seasons and low prices. With the goldfields booming the West tempted them, with thousands of others, but a short period on the fields convinced them that their destiny lay elsewhere and in February 1897 they arrived in Beverley poor in pocket but not lacking in determination to make good the hard way. Shortly afterwards they were engaged on a clearing contract on the St. Aubyns property then owned by Ernest Lennard. The contract embraced 50 acres and the price 25/-per acre. It was the late Sam Smith (father of Gilford. and Conrad) who first advised them of prospects in the County Peak area and after inspection with Jack Fleet as their guide they packed their swags and walked the sandal wood carter's track to the Peak. Camping in a shepherd's hut the first night in the area John had a memorable experience for as he was rolling his swag in the morning, he found a black snake beneath the blankets. Later the brothers climbed the Peak and made their selections of land using the foliage of the trees as a guide. It was then the fringe of settlement but the government survey party had been out and pegged the land.

Returning to Beverley they found that a benevolent government was so hungry for settlers that homestead blocks of up to 160 acres (the pick of the land) were available for £1 whilst the balance of holdings could be secured for 10/- per acre, payment being spread over 20 years and survey fees were waved –

By dint of hard work, the brothers were able to clear and crop about 30 acres in 1898, using a three-furrow plow and three horses. By August 6 it showed magnificent promise but from then to October only 10 points of rain fell and the average yield was only eight bushels per acre.

The next year, however, nearly 100 acres returned 29 bushels per acre. There were no artificial fertilisers to assist the growth.

The first five years at the Peak were the driest that have ever been noted in the area and yet reasonable crops were garnered. In later years Mr. McLean used to tell of walking along the bed of Qualanderry pool, and of seeing as many as 20 brumbies lying dead in the little water remaining at Jurakine. He and his brothers carted the timber for the bridge at the latter property. The lakes in those days were beautiful stretches of fresh water with wild ducks present in thousands.

From these modest pioneering stages, the brothers branched out to individual holdings and John McLean's property by reason of later purchase grew to 3000 acres. In his semi-retirement in later years sons Jack and Colin have ably carried on the founder's enterprise.

The Family

It was in 1903 that John McLean met and married Miss Delia Wansbrough daughter of one of the Beverley district's best-known nurses, Mrs Henry Wansbrough ("Grannie" of revered memory).

The Rev'd Coulter a Methodist Missioner stationed in Beverley officiated and a few friends, representative of the sparsely settled area were present to wish the couple the best for the future. Later the couple moved into a house on the property and here the subject of our notice lived until his demise.

To Mr. and Mrs. McLean were born a family of four sons and four daughters, all of whom are now married. They comprise: Mollie (Mrs. Hastings, Mawson), Allen Wyalkatchem), Jessie (Mrs. L. Sutherland, Pithara), Grace (Mrs. S. Chester, Goomalling), Jack (County Peak). Nell (Mrs. J. Stone. Dangin) Colin (County Peak) and Fred (Goomalling). There are many grandchildren and several great grandchildren.

It has always been a close knit and loving family group and to the children and widow the sympathy of an extremely wide circle of friends is being extended.

The late citizen's life was one of service in many spheres. He was a member of the Beverley Road Board for a great many years and there were few worthwhile activities to which he did not, in his more active days, lend some support. A God fearing and christian gentleman, he lived the good life throughout his days and as a staunch Methodist gave much practical help to his church. He set a good example to all, and his friends included people in all walks of life.

WEDDING.

SUTHERLAND—FERGUSON.

A very large gathering witnessed the marriage of Miss N. Ferguson to Mr. L. Sutherland on Monday, June 22nd, at the Methodist Church, Beverley. The Church had been beautifully prepared for the occasion by Mrs. E. E. Burgess and Miss P. Rea, roses and fern predominating in the decorative scheme. The officiating clergyman was the Rev. Christiansen.

Three bridesmaids — the Misses Joyce and Hazel Ferguson, and Jessie Sutherland — wearing delightful frocks of lime French tulaise attended Miss Ferguson. Against the colourful background formed by their frocks the bride made a charming picture as she entered the Church on the arm of her father. Her wedding gown was of white delustrated crepe, cut on simple lines. The frock featured an unusual yoke of briar work. The same effective trimming edged the long fall sleeves and was used as insets in the full train. An embroidered tulle veil, held in place by a halo of orange blossoms, fell in soft folds to extend beyond the train of her gown, and the sheaf of white roses, carnations and daphne, which she carried, completed a perfect ensemble.

The bridesmaids' frocks were cut on simple lines and were worn with matching coaties. Halo head dresses of silver and lime velvet flowers added charm and each carried sheaves of red roses, gladioli and berries,

Mr. J. Sutherland was best man and Messrs. W. Shackles and D. Forbes were groomsmen.

After the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson held a reception at the Town Hall which had been most tastefully decorated for the occasion by Mrs. Tickle and friends of the bride. The breakfast was held in the large hall and about 150 guests participated.

Mrs. Ferguson's frock was of black silk crepe and was worn with a small black felt hat. She carried a posy of golden roses. Mrs. Allan McLean, sister of the bridegroom, wore a frock of rose pink crepe and carried a posy of pink roses.

At the reception many congratulatory telegrams were read and the toasts usual to the occasion were honoured. A dance was held later in the Hall. The young couple were the recipients of a host of beautiful presents which were arranged on tables on the stage and were much admired.

The following four pages contain interesting details of the history of Nelli May Ferguson's parents George Ernest Ferguson (1879-1937) and Sarah Everson Margaret Neve (1884-1956) and her grandparents.

GEORGE ERNEST FERGUSON (1879-1937), Nellie May Ferguson's father, was born 22 Mar 1879, Amhurst, VIC [Reg. 6526]. George Ernest Ferguson died 12 Jan 1937, Beverley, WA [Reg. 1]. His parents were WILLIAM FERGUSON (1854-1927) and CAROLINE SARAH SHACKLES (1857-1947) who married in 1874, VIC [Reg. 4599]. All their ten children were born in VIC. Many family trees have Caroline married to William Versey Wilson Ferguson. In their marriage and the births of his children, he is always referred to as just William Ferguson. It appears they are the same person? William and Caroline had ten children as follows:

1. WILLIAM EDWARD FERGUSON (1876-1952)
2. ALEXANDER FERGUSON (1878-1878)
3. GEORGE ERNEST FERGUSON (1879-1937)
4. ELLEN ETHEL MAY FERGUSON (1881-1969)
5. JOHN MARSHALL (1884-1955)
6. EDWARD DANIEL FERGUSON (1887-1956)
7. ARTHUR PERCIVAL FERGUSON (1890-1918)
8. WILLIAMINA IDA FERGUSON (1893-1985)
9. PETER FOREMAN FERGUSON (1896-1961)
10. ALEXANDER JAMES THOMAS FERGUSON (1898-1977).

The history of all these children is recorded in Family Trees in Ancestry. All too complex to add here.

George Ernest Ferguson and his brothers Alexander Thomas Ferguson (1898-1977) and Peter Foreman Ferguson (1896-1961) moved to WA. There is mention in George Ernest Ferguson's obituary, (following), that his parents had preceded him prior to his move to WA. The Electoral Roll (also following) shows them in WA in 1925. In 1927 they are recorded as being back in Maryborough, VIC, where they both died.

William Versey Wilson Ferguson died 1927, Maryborough, VIC [Reg. 15116], father recorded as Edward Daniel Ferguson. Caroline Sarah Ferguson (nee Shackles) died 1947, Maryborough, VIC [Reg. 17077], parents recorded as Edward Shackles and Jarret.

These are the two brothers who moved to WA with George:

9. PETER FOREMAN FERGUSON (1896-1961) married IVY MAY MCGRATH (1896-1973) 8 Jun 1921, Beverley, WA [Reg. 400030]. He died 1961, Hollywood, Perth, WA [Reg. 101912].

10. ALEXANDER FERGUSON (1898-1977) married DAPHNE MYRTLE MITCHELL (1907-1972) 1924, Beverley, WA [Reg. 400038]. He died 1977, Perth, WA [Reg. 102633], aged 78 years.

Electoral Roll:

(Family of William and Caroline Sarah Ferguson, grandparents of Nellie May Ferguson).

1905 William Vassie (sic) Ferguson, Russell St, Maryborough, miner, Caroline Sarah, home duties, Ellen, home duties, George Ernest, miner, Sarah Everson Margaret, home duties. All living in Russell Street.

1931 Caroline Sarah Ferguson, Edward St, Beverley, home duties, son - William Edward Ferguson, Edward St, Beverley, labourer.

1934 Caroline Sarah Ferguson, 26 Cambridge St, Maryborough, Vic, home duties, son - William Edward Ferguson, labourer.

1943 Caroline Sarah Ferguson, 38 Goldsmith St, Maryborough, Vic, home duties. Son - William Edward Ferguson, labourer.

SARAH EVERSON MARGARET NEVE (1884-1956), Nellie May Ferguson's mother, was born 14 Mar 1884, Talbot, VIC [Reg.13220]. Her parents were WILLIAM NEVE (1851-1929) and MARGARET BOUIE SMITH (1813-1906) married 1877, VIC [Reg. 1597]. William and Margaret had ten children. All born and died in VIC except Sarah Everson Margaret Neve who married in VIC then moved with her husband and family to WA. Sarah died 1956, Perth, WA [Reg. 102074].

CHILDREN OF GEORGE ERNEST FERGUSON (1879-1937) AND SARAH EVERSON MARGARET NEVE (1884-1956): The children were all born in VIC and moved as a family to WA in about 1925.

1. SARAH ETHEL MAY FERGUSON (1904-1992) married m.1 FREDERICK GRIMBLY (1897-1970) 1925, Moreland, VIC [Reg. 3770]. They had two children. Divorced 1938

Electoral Roll:

1925 Fred Grimbly, 9 Wallace St, Brunswick, Vic, home duties, Sarah Ethel May, home duties.

1928 Fred Grimbly, 55 Sydney Rd, Bourke, Vic, garage keeper, Sarah Ethel May, home duties.

1931 Sarah Ethel May Grimbly, Edward St, Beverley, home duties.

1943 ALLAN ROBERT HOPETOUN McGrath, Forrest St, Beverley, shop assistant, Sarah Ethel May, home duties.

m2. SARAH ETHEL MAY GRIMBLY (NEE FERGUSON) (1904-1992) married ALAN ROBERT HOPETOUN MCGRATH (1884-1956) 1943, Forrest St, Beverley, WA [Reg. 34].

2. GLADYS WILMA FERGUSON (1906-1991) married ERIC ARTHUR RICH (1904-) 1930 Beverley, WA [Reg. 32].

3. NELLIE MAY FERGUSON (1907-1970) married LESLIE ROBERT SUTHERLAND (1904-1986) 22 Jun 1936, Beverley, WA [Reg. 33]. (See further on for more details on this relationship).

4. SYDNEY GEORGE FERGUSON (1909-1971) married NITA PEARL SIMS (1911-1997) 1931, Beverley, WA [Reg. 44].

5. RONALD KEITH FERGUSON (1911-1988) married IRENE ELIZABETH FISHER 1943, Beverley, WA [Reg. 41].

6. IDA HAZEL FERGUSON (1917-1975) married KEITH HARRISON EDWARDS (1908-1958) 1938, Beverley, WA [Reg. 43].

Electoral Roll:

It appears that George Ernest and Sarah Ferguson and family moved from Talbot in VIC about 1925. Their daughter Sarah Ethel May Grimbly joined them about 1931, following separating from 'Fred'.

1912, 1919, 1921 George Ernest Ferguson, Prince Alfred St, Talbot VIC. Sarah Everson Margaret, home duties.

1925 Sarah Everson Margaret Ferguson, Talbot Vic, home duties.

1931, Sarah Ethel May Grimbly, Edward St, Beverley, home duties.

OBITUARY.

GEORGE ERNEST FERGUSON

The death occurred at the Beverley Hospital on Tuesday night of George Ernest Ferguson, at the age of 57 years. He had been taken ill the previous week and entered the Hospital on Thursday. An operation on Saturday morning disclosed the hopeless nature of his malady and in view of this circumstance his sudden demise, bringing to an end acute suffering, came as release.

Deceased was a returned soldier and a citizen highly regarded by a very wide circle of acquaintances. He was born on the 27th March, 1879, at Talbot, Victoria, and was the second son of Mrs C. and the late W. V. Ferguson. His school days were spent at Clunes and grown to manhood he found employment at Talbot and other centres. About 12 years ago he came to the West, whither his parents had preceded him, and later brought his wife and children over, the family settling at Beverley where he became associated with his brother, Alex, in business, subsequently setting up with his sons as general carriers.

Deceased is survived by a widow, mother, five daughters, Ethel (Mrs. Grimbly, Beverley) Gladys (Mrs. Rich, Goomalling) Nellie (Mrs. L. Sutherland, Perenjori) Joyce and Hazel, and three sons, George, Ron and Bob. In addition, there are two sisters, Mrs. D. H. Forbes (Perth) and Mrs L. Webb, (Stratford, Victoria) and five brothers, William (Maryborough, Victoria) Edward (Skipton, Victoria), Jack (Maryborough) Peter (Nth. Perth and Alex (Kelmescott). There are also six grandchildren. One brother, Arthur was killed at war.

The family has been a popular one ever since it arrived in Beverley and sincere sympathy is felt for the bereaved.

Wedding Belle.
McLEAN-SUTHERLAND
 [Contributed]
 On March 21st St. Mary's Church, Beverley was beautifully decorated in pink and white, and with Easter lilies and Michaelmas daisies for the occasion of the celebration of the marriage of two popular young people of the district. The Rev L. Marina, of Beaconsfield, was the officiating clergyman, and the contracting parties were Ruby, elder daughter of Mr and Mrs. G. J. Sutherland, of "Rose Hill," Mt Kokeby, and Allan, eldest son of Mr and Mrs. J. McLean, of "Uralla," County Peak.
 The choir, accompanied by Miss de Lisle as organist, rendered "The Voice that Breathed O'er Eden" as the bride entered the church on the arm of her father. She looked a graceful figure in her beautiful frock of ivory satin, cut on Princess lines and inset with lace godets. The long tulle veil, which was embossed in silver and white, was held in position by a wreath of orange blossom, and the charming toilette was completed by a beautiful sheath of white roses, Easter lilies and maidenhair fern.
 The bride was becomingly frocked in black morocain relieved with white. She wore a smart black hat, and carried a bouquet of roses. Mrs. McLean was attired in brown morocain with lace trimming, smart brown hat, and carried a bouquet of zinnias and fern. Mrs. Wansbrough, grandmother of the bridegroom, was also present, and wore a black satin frock and hat to tone.
 Easter lilies and Michaelmas daisies were again used in the decoration of the tables, on which a sumptuous repast was spread. The Rev. Marina presided in a capable manner, and the usual toasts were honoured. Many telegrams were read including

The bridesmaids were Miss Jess Sutherland, the bride's sister and Miss Grace McLean, sister of the bridegroom. They were-gowned alike in model frocks of shrimp pink georgette and lace, with little coatees of georgette, and wore hats and shoes to tone. Sheaths of shaded roses and gladioli completed their charming toilette.

The bridegroom was ably assisted by his brother, Jack, as best man, and the bride's brother, Leslie, as groomsman.

After the ceremony a reception was held in the Bally Bally Hall, where many relatives and friends were received by the parents of the bride and bridegroom. Mrs. Sutherland was becomingly frocked in black morocain relieved with white. She wore a smart black hat, and carried a bouquet of roses. Mrs. McLean the usual toasts were honoured. Many telegrams were read, including several from well-wishers in the Eastern States. The newly wedded couple were the recipients of many presents, including a number of cheques.

After the breakfast the Hall was cleared for dancing, when more friends arrived to enjoy the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Sutherland.

Later in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Allan McLean left on their honeymoon, the bride wearing a becoming toilette of navy morocain relieved with a yoke of white lace, and short navy coatee, hat, handbag and shoes to tone. She also wore a beautiful string of crystals, the gift of the bridegroom.

Wedding.

DRAPER—SUTHERLAND.

A pretty wedding was solemnised at St. Mary's Church, Beverley, on the afternoon of Tuesday, 19th July, between Clarence, son of the late Mr A. Draper, and of Mrs Draper, "Blackburn," East Beverley, and Jessie Winifred, younger daughter of the late Mr and Mrs George Sutherland, of "Rosehill," Bally Bally.

The bride, who was given away by her youngest brother, Mr James Sutherland, wore a beautiful wedding gown of white slipper satin, with a train. The gown was cut in straight, flowing lines and had tight sleeves reaching to the wrists. Handsome silver embroidery and satin-covered buttons at wrists and neck made a smart finish to the dress. She carried a beautiful sheaf of white flowers.

The bride was attended by two bridesmaids—Miss Lilah Edwards, and her niece, little June Sutherland. Miss Edwards' frock was a beautiful shade of violet worn over a pink underdress. A pale pink turban with flyaway veil in the same toning and pink slippers carried out the effective colour scheme. Little June was a very charming figure in a long frock of a pale mauve shade, also with pink toning. A flower wreathed tulle cap and pink shoes completed her dainty attire. Both bridesmaids carried a beautiful bouquet of lemon and cream roses.

The bridegroom was supported by his brother, Mr Norris Draper, as best man.

The Church was beautifully decorated by Miss Edwards with sweet peas, roses, and great bowls of Geraldton Wax plant.

The officiating clergyman was the Rev. L. Marina, Rector of St. Paul's Church, Beaconsfield, a cousin of the bride's father.

Afterwards, a reception was held at the Masonic Hall, where the guests were received by Mr Syd Sutherland and Mrs A. R. McLean, brother and sister of the bride. They were assisted by Mrs Foss Thompson, sister of the bridegroom, acting for her mother, who to everyone's regret was unable to be present, owing to illness. Mrs McLean was smartly attired in a rust coloured frock with chic brown hat and accessories to tone. She carried a bouquet of cream and lemon roses. Mrs Thompson's dress was of a lighter shade of rust with which she wore a dainty black hat with eye veil. A bouquet of lovely violets completed her outfit.

During the evening Mr Marina referred to the great esteem in which the Sutherland family was held in N.S.W.

The bride's travelling dress consisted of a tailored navy coat and skirt and white satin blouse. With this she wore an up to date navy hat with veil and shoes, gloves and handbag ensuite. A handsome fur-trimmed navy coat completed her smart ensemble.

OBITUARY.

ALFRED WILLIAM DRAPER

With the passing of Alfred William Draper at his residence, "Blackburn," East Beverley, on Wednesday afternoon death has claimed still another of the fast diminishing band of district pioneers. The late Mr. Draper was in his 80th year and death released him from the pangs of an illness which has long been sapping his strength.

Born at "Westbourne" in the York district in 1857, Alfred Draper was the son of parents who came out from England to try their fortune in the Colony very early in its history. They were among the first families to push over the Darling ranges and to begin wresting a living from the soil in the valley of the Avon. Later Mr. Draper, the elder, secured control of a large tract of virgin land in what is now the East Beverley district. This was used as a sheep run and it was in shepherding his father's flock in this locality that young Draper first made acquaintance with this district.

When settlement began in the locality he took up a small area in the vicinity of where the East Beverley Hall now stands and proceeded to develop it. Later he married a Miss Blakiston and built his first home on the property. Of the union there was born 2 sons and a daughter.

About 45 years ago he purchased a large area of adjoining land and with the death of his first wife married Miss Woodley, of Greenhills, the ceremony taking place at that centre. Of his second marriage there was born 3 sons and 6 daughters. Development of the property went on over the years and a new house replaced the original "Blackburn" homestead.

Throughout the years of his sojourn at East Beverley the deceased took a keen interest in the affairs of the district. He was a member of the original East Beverley Road Board, having as associates on the Board such well-known identities as George Bell, C. P. Wansbrough, Edward Powell, and the late Dave Kilpatrick. He took a leading part in the movement which led to the erection of the Hall at that centre, and with Edward Powell was prominently associated with a successful move to have a road surveyed through to Beverley townsite. All activities to promote the social and material well-being of the district had his keen support and he became known as the father of East Beverley. At the same time and he became known as the father of East Beverley. At the same time he was a good neighbour and friend to all. His associates of the early days speak in the highest terms of his kind and generous nature.

Those left to mourn the passing of a loving and kind husband and father are Mrs. H. R. Draper (widow), Ethel (Mrs. Fowler), Lewis, Ernest, Gertrude, Alex, Eva (Mrs. A. Murray), Ruby (Mrs. F. Thompson), Clarence, Norris, Trixie, and Mena. A daughter (Amy) predeceased him by many years.

The funeral took place in the Anglican Cemetery yesterday afternoon. Further reference to this will be made in next issue.

AGNES MARY SUTHERLAND

As reported briefly in last issue the death occurred on Thursday, July 5th, at the Beverley Hospital, of Agnes Mary Sutherland, wife of Mr. G. J. Sutherland, one of the district's leading Merino studmen, and mother of a large family of grown-up sons and daughters, all well known in these parts.

The late Mrs. Sutherland was 65 years of age at the time of her demise, which came as a sequel to a long period of ill-health. She was a native of New South Wales, having been born and educated in Sydney. When 21 years of age she married Mr. G. J. Sutherland, of Marrickville. In 1914, after many years of association with the land in the mother State, Mr. Sutherland disposed of his interests and with Mrs. Sutherland and their family of 6 sons and 2 daughters came West, where he was immediately attracted to this district, settling on the property at Bally Bally, where they have resided ever since.

The deceased lady was an estimable citizen, and took an active part in the social life of the centre where she resided. Her assistance was always in demand when charitable functions were mooted, and it was always readily given. She was one of the first members of the C.W.A. in this district, and also took an active interest in the local Hospital, being a member of the committee of that institution. In the home she has been a loved and respected wife and mother.

Of her family one son (Eric) was killed at the war. Those who mourn her passing are, in addition to a husband, Sid (Beverley), Lou (Pithara), Stan (Cunderdin), Les (Perenjori), Ruby (Mrs. McLean, Wyalkatchem), Jessie and Jim (Beverley). In addition there are two brothers and two sisters in the Eastern States, and one sister (Miss Evans) who resides in Beverley. To all these the sympathy of the community is extended.

The funeral took place on Friday, July 6, in the Anglican Cemetery, being preceded by a service at St. Mary's Church. The Rev. Elphick officiated, and Mr. E. H. Fairhead carried out the arrangements. There was a large attendance, and floral tributes were re-

OBITUARY.

GEORGE JAMES SUTHERLAND.

The death occurred at the Beverley Hospital, after a lengthy illness, on Friday last, of Mr. George James Sutherland, of "Rosehill," Mt. Kokeby.

The late Mr. Sutherland, who was 75 years of age at the time of his demise, had been associated with the Beverley district for the past 22 years, and during that time had by his kindly and jovial disposition, endeared himself to the community. Of splendid stature, standing over 6 feet in height, his years did not seem to press very heavily upon him until some nine months ago, when he was taken ill. He was under medical treatment from that time onwards and his death came as a release from much suffering. Since coming to the district he has been known as "Dad" Sutherland to all and sundry — a soubriquet earned by his happy nature and the "fatherly" aspect his handsome beard bestowed upon him. By his demise the district loses a likeable personality and his family a benevolent father.

The deceased hailed from the Young district of New South Wales, where his father, the late Captain Sutherland, was one of the early settlers. He was the eldest son of a large family, several of whom are still located at their birthplace. Turning his eyes westward in 1914 he decided to seek fresh fields and shortly after his arrival in this State he purchased the "Rosehill" property at Mt. Kokeby, and with his sons set about the development of his purchase. In 1924 it was decided to establish a merino stud on the property and as a nucleus purchases were made from the Peppin Stud in New South Wales. The venture was successful and the "Rosehill" stud soon had an established reputation among sheepmen throughout the State. The stud's successes in the Show ring were notable, and at the Centenary Royal Show in 1929 Mr. Sutherland won the Cap presented for the most points gained in the Merino section. "Rosehill" exhibits have for years past occupied a prominent place in the prize lists at the local district show.

The late Mr. Sutherland was a

The late Mr. Sutherland was a keen sportsman and took an active interest in most local activities. He was no mean shot with the sporting gun and participated in many opening shoots on the lakes and river. For many years he was associated with the Bally Bally Rifle Club, and he has always been a staunch supporter of the Agricultural Society. Of recent years bowls claimed his attention and he was a regular week end player.

Deceased's wife pre-deceased him by two years, but he is survived by a grown-up family comprising Sid (Beverley), Lou (Pithara), Stan (Cunderdin), Les (Perenjori), Ruby (Mrs. McLean; Lenbudding), Jess and Jim (Beverley). One son (Eric) was killed at the war.

The funeral took place on Sunday afternoon at the Anglican Cemetery, the Rev. Elphick officiating at Church and graveside. A very large number of friends and relatives were in attendance and the pall-bearers were: Messrs. J. K. McLean, A. Kilpatrick, W. L. Price, J. W. McLean, A. A. Wood and C. P. Wansbrough. Messrs. Fairhead & Son carried out the funeral arrangements.

Floral tributes were received from the following:

Syd, Jess and Jim; Les and Nell; Muriel and Stan; Ruby, Alan, Ian and Donald; Ted and Peg; Joe, Edie and Beryl; Jack and Enid; Edna and Bruce; Will and Sadie; Tom and Esme; Jess, Lou, Jane and Robert; Matel and Bill; Myra and Joyce; Ena; Edith; Mr. and Mrs. H. OBITUARY.

GEORGE JAMES SUTHERLAND.

The death occurred at the Beverley Hospital, after a lengthy illness, on Friday last, of Mr. George James Sutherland, of "Rosehill," Mt. Kokeby.

The late Mr. Sutherland, who was 75 years of age at the time of his demise, had been associated with the Beverley district for the past 22 years, and during that time had by his kindly and jovial disposition, endeared himself to the community. Of splendid stature, standing over 6 feet in height, his years did not seem to press very heavily upon him until some nine months ago, when he was taken ill. He was under medical treatment from that time onwards and his death came as a release from much suffering. Since coming to the district, he has been known as "Dad" Sutherland to all and sundry — a soubriquet earned by his happy nature and the "fatherly" aspect his handsome beard bestowed upon him. By his demise the district loses a likeable personality and his family a benevolent father.

The deceased hailed from the Young district of New South Wales, where his father, the late Captain Sutherland, was one of the early settlers. He was the eldest son of a large family, several of whom are still located at their birthplace. Turning his eyes westward in 1914 he decided to seek fresh fields and shortly after his arrival in this State he purchased the "Rosehill" property at Mt. Kokeby, and with his sons set about the development of his purchase. In 1924 it was decided to establish a merino stud on the property and as a nucleus purchases were made from the Peppin Stud in New South Wales. The venture was successful and the "Rosehill" stud soon had an established reputation among sheepmen throughout the State. The stud's successes in the Show ring were notable, and at the Centenary Royal Show in 1929 Mr. Sutherland won the Cap presented for the most points gained in the Merino section. "Rosehill" exhibits have for years past occupied a prominent place in the prize lists at the local district show.

The late Mr. Sutherland was a keen sportsman and took an active interest in most local activities. He was no mean shot with the sporting gun and participated in many opening shoots on the lakes and river. For many years he was associated with the Bally Bally Rifle Club, and he has always been a staunch supporter of the Agricultural Society. Of recent years bowls claimed his attention and he was a regular week end player.

Deceased's wife pre-deceased him by two years, but he is survived by a grown-up family comprising Sid (Beverley), Lou (Pithara), Stan (Cunderdin), Les (Perenjori), Ruby (Mrs. McLean; Lenbudding), Jess and Jim (Beverley). One son (Eric) was killed at the war.

The funeral took place on Sunday afternoon at the Anglican Cemetery, the Rev. Elphick officiating at Church and graveside. A very large number of friends and relatives were in attendance and the pallbearers were: Messrs. J. K. McLean, A. Kilpatrick, W. L. Price, J. W. McLean, A. A. Wood and C. P. Wansbrough. Messrs, Fairhead & Son carried out the funeral arrangements.

Floral tributes were received from the following: Syd., Jess and Jim; Les. and Nell; Muriel and Stan; Ruby, Alan, Ian and Donald; Ted and Pep; Joe, Edie and Boys; Jack and Enid; Edna and Bruce; Will and Sadie; Tom and Essie; Jess, Lou. 5. EDWARDS, FLORENCE ELIZABETH (1870-1922)

DEATHS.
EDWARDS.—On February 23, at her late residence, Ohi. Beverley, Florence Elizabeth, only daughter of the late Thomas Edwards and Mrs. Edwards, of Beverley, in her 52nd year. At rest.

SIXTH CHILD OF ANNE BLECHYNDEN & THOMAS EDWARDS

6. EDWARDS, ANDREW THOMAS (1872-1874)

Andrew Thomas Edwards was born 5 Oct 1872, Beverley, WA [Reg. 14284], father, THOMAS EDWARDS, mother ANN, recorded as Ann Maria (sic) Blechynden. He died in 1874 [Reg. 8317], registered under Andrew Thomas, (Thomas as the surname), at the age of two years.

With the birth of their sixth child, the family now consisted of five sons and one daughter. Samuel Harrison was aged 9 years, Ross Frederick, 7 years, Louis Ayling 5 years, Arthur William almost three years and Florence Elizabeth (who had also been born on 5 Oct, in 1870), just two years of age. It was a tragic and very sad day with the loss of Andrew at the age of two years.

Via Max Edwards: When Andrew Thomas (Thomas and Anne's son) died, there was an outbreak of Typhoid. His cousin Lily Aylen (Alfred James and Mary's 6th child) aged five also died from the fever. They are both buried at St Paul's, Edwards Crossing just south of William and Eleanor's grave. The story we were told was that either one or both the children had been visiting their relations who were living and running businesses at Fremantle. After returning to the farm, they became sick with the fever and both died within a few months. 1975 certainly would have been a very sad year for the Edwards family.

Discrepancy: WA death registration records have Andrew Thomas Blechynden dying in 1874. Burial records and the plaque have him dying 15 Dec 1875.

Plaque: Andrew Thomas Blechynden and his cousin Lilly Aylen Edwards at Edwards Crossing St. Paul's Cemetery

SEVENTH CHILD OF ANNE BLECHYNDEN & THOMAS EDWARDS

7. EDWARDS, WALTER ERNEST (1875-1958)

Walter Ernest Edwards was born in 31 Jul 1875, Beverley, WA [Reg. 16596]. Recorded as Walter Ernest. He remained single. He was a Post Master and Storekeeper. Walter died on 12 Jul 1958, Beverley, WA [Reg No. 1823]. Recorded as Earnest. Buried, St Paul's, Edwards Crossing, with his brother Samuel Harrison Edwards.

Note: Some records have Walter Ernest Edwards as spouse to Eliza O'Halloran. WA Births records show that a Walter Edwards and Eliza OHalloran had a number of children. Family Trees in Ancestry and My Heritage show Eliza OHalloran as spouse to Walter Lucifer Edwards (1854-1928). The paragraph following shows that some researchers have the two Walter's confused.

WALTER LUCIFER EDWARDS (1854-1928) [This person is not our Walter Ernest Edwards], via Braithwaite Family Tree, Ancestry, was born 9 Aug 1854, Cleveland, Cuyahoga, Ohio, USA. Parents: WILLIAM BLACKSMITH EDWARDS (1813-1877) and SARAH FIELDER (1819-1892) who were married 5 Aug 1842, Botley, Hampshire, England. There is a photo of William. It seems as if the family travelled. His parents, William and Sarah were both from England. Many of the children were born in England. One was born in France and another in Canada. Others including Walter were born in USA. William and Sarah Edwards both died in New Zealand.

Walter Lucifer Edwards (1875-1958) and Eliza O'Halloran (1862-1931) had six children. They were all born in WA. Their parents were recorded as Walter Edwards and Eliza Halloran / O'Halloran. Walter Lucifer

Edwards died 13 May 1928, Perth WA [Reg. 769]. Registered as Walter Edwards. Elizabeth O'Halloran was born in 1862, Shelbourne, Limerick, Ireland. Elizabeth Edwards (nee O'Halloran) died 27 Nov, 1931, 25 Stafford St, Victoria Park, (Perth), WA [Reg. 1750].

Electoral Roll:

(No mention of Eliza O'Halloran. Here his name is recorded as Walter Ernest).

1910, 1916, 1925 Walter Ernest Edwards, Talga, Pingelly, farmer

1931, 1936, 1937, 1943 Walter Ernest Edwards, Boyamucking, Lomos, farmer

1949 Walter Ernest Edwards Boyamuchen, E Pingelly, farmer

1954, 1958 Walter Ernest Edwards, 9 Whitfield Street, Bassendean.

The following article with mention of Mr. Walter E. Edwards as being in charge at the Post Office, gives an excellent view of how Beverley had progressed by 1901.

BEVERLEY AND DISTRICT.
— o —
(By Our Travelling Representative.)

The town bearing the above name, as most are aware, is on the Eastern railway, and trains passing to and fro stop there for refreshments. The district is what may be termed a good agricultural one, and as it will be shown, a mixed system of husbandry is carried on by the settlers. The buildings in the town comprise— police court, council-chambers (two nice structures), post office (in charge of Mr. Walter E. Edwards), hospital, police barracks (on a site badly chosen, nearly half a mile from the populated portion of the town, in charge of Constable James Stewart, who acts as clerk of the local court), Mechanics' Institute (secretary, Mr. Walker, who also fills the position of clerk to the Council and Roads Board, and secretary of the Agricultural Society), show ground, State school (in charge of Mr T. G. Slater). A class room, 26 x 22 feet, has recently been added to the latter building, the furniture in which is neat and quite up-to-date. There are 98 pupils enrolled, and an average attendance of 80. The work of the pupils proved that the labors of the teacher had not been in vain. In addition to the buildings noted there is a flour mill (owned by Mr. John Mann), two hotels, three stores, butcher, baker, land office, Mr. G. House (agent), Bank Agency, blacksmith and wheelwright and about 80 residences. Of social institutions, there is a branch of the A.N.A., cricket and football clubs, a race course, and park and recreation ground. The spiritual wants of the people are supplied by the Anglican, Wesleyan, and Roman Catholic churches. The water supply of the place is a badly managed affair. I was informed that it is costing the Government £36 per week for water, which is brought daily from Spencer's Brook in tanks by railway, and that much better water could be obtained in the town at a less expense. Mr. R. B. Smith is erecting a new building, jarrah and iron, on a stone foundation. In size the building is 60 x 40 x 16 feet. It is intended for a chaff and produce store, and has a storage capacity for 200 tons. A new Bagshaw chaffcutter and bagger combined is in the building, and a new Tangye oil engine was at the goods shed. This is 6 horse power, and will drive, besides the chaffcutter, a band for cutting felloes, and corn crusher. The building will be completed in about a month, when Mr Smith will commence chaffing his own crop of 210 acres, and then cut for the public if required. A medical man is needed in Beverley, the nearest at present being at York.

BASSENDEAN DEATH RECALLS EARLY HIS- TORY

The death occurred very suddenly in the street near his Bassendean home on July 12 of Mr Walter Ernest Edwards. He was 82 years of age and came of a pioneering family of the Beverley district.

The late Mr Edwards was born at Beverley the son of the late Thomas and Anne Edwards and spent his boyhood at the Speldhurst (Edwards Crossing) property which had been taken up originally by his grandfather and with which the Edwards' were associated for a great many years.

As a youth he joined the postal services and rose in the service to become a postmaster, being stationed at Beverley in 1899. Later he was a postmaster at Leederville, Marble Bar, Fitzroy Crossing and other North West centres.

When the land boom was on he left his employment to take up farming at Bulyee just prior to the building of the Brookton Corrigin railway. Here he stayed for many years, selling out in 1951 to retire to Bassendean. He has been in indifferent health for some time past.

The deceased had never married and his only surviving brother is Mr Peter Edwards, of Beverley but now resident in the city. There are several nephews and a niece.

An Anglican cremation service was held at Karrakatta crematorium on Tuesday in the presence of relatives and friends.

The ashes of the deceased will later be interred at St Paul's Church, Edwards Crossing, where he was christened and where several generations of the Edwards family are laid to rest.

EDWARDS STORE

This is the former Edwards Store in 106 Vincent Street Beverley. It was built in 1886 and has been known by several names including Gillespie's and W.R. Giles Pty Ltd. As mentioned previously, Mary Ann Priscilla Edwards (nee Oliver) moved there from the Eastern States to manage the drapery section in this store sometime prior to 1905 when she married Peter Ebner Ralph Edwards. We do not know which Edwards owned it at the time and why she moved there.

Edwards' Spring Show.

The establishment of H. M. Edwards was en fete on Saturday last when this enterprising firm made its Spring Show for the season 1914-15. A stroll through the large and well-lit drapery department disclosed a most comprehensive display of articles so needed to a fashionable lady's attire. The display was one which caused considerable congratulations to be showered on the staff, as seldom, if ever before, has Beverley seen such an excellent array of drapery. The firm has spared neither time nor expense in gathering together a splendid stock of goods for the new season, which was most tastefully arranged, a delightful Spring effect being gained by numerous bowls of pale pink and scarlet carnations arranged amongst the various dainty fabrics.

On entering the main door, one was greeted with three different stands of beautiful dress materials, all the new cloths and colours being on view. The beige voiles, both plain and embroidered, floral crepes, floral voiles, Jap. crepes, sponge cloths, in plain and check design, poplins, and the ever-useful cambric all conjured up visions of delightfully cool and serviceable frocks.

A stand of robe lengths, suitable for evening wear, looked exceptionally dainty. Delicately embroidered lawns, looking as though they were longing to be manufactured into dainty children's frocks, made a very pretty stand.

Costumes this season mostly all show the loosely cut bodices, which should be exceptionally cool and an advantage over the old-fashioned tight-fitting bodices which are now a thing of the past. Among the many models on view the following were noticeable: —A broché crepe in a dull Saxe shade with roll collar and cuffs of white silk, large white round buttons fastened with knotted braid. A

The establishment of H. M. Edwards was en fête on Saturday last, when this enterprising firm made its Spring Show for the season, 1914-15. Costumes this season mostly all show the loosely cut bodices, which should be exceptionally cool and an advantage over the old fashioned tight-fitting bodices which are now a thing of the past. Among the many models on view the following were noticeable:—A bruché crepe in a dull sage shade with roll collar and cuffs of white silk, large white round buttons fastened with knotted braid. A heavily embroidered white beige voile, the skirt simply made with a wee edging of the embroidery down centre front; the basque coatee was wholly composed of the embroidery and was cut very loosely, the new loose sleeves being plainly shown. A plain white voile with pencil shapes of royal blue had collar and cuffs of the same shade of blue. A bruché crepe in soft cinnamon shade with tango buttons looked smart, while a plain linen frock, with blue collar and cuffs, had the long jumper coat slightly gathered into a wide band. Others in spot muslin, floral voile, crepe and poplin looked very dainty.

The blouses this season are all very loosely cut and simply made, the trimming mainly gained with brightly colored buttons; some very pretty and some merely girlish with striking colored buttons; some very pretty and useful models were displayed. One in a soft shade of dove grey patterned in wee pink and blue roses, with collar of plain grey, looked very pretty. Others in linen, the ever useful Jap. silk, embroidered muslin, voiles, plain and floral, and crepe were all smartly cut and well finished. Children's frocks too have not been forgotten, and many little costumes designed on lines easy to wash, and good standing colors, should find many purchasers. Dainty neckwear, in all the new shapes, both in lace and voiles, etc., with some very effective sleeve linings and embroidered handkerchiefs, made an imposing stand.

Millinery this year is so varied in shape that it will be very easy to get a shape to suit. A splendid assortment has been gathered together by the firm. A black tagel plateau shape, with brim covered with black Chantilly lace of faint pink tulle, had a wreath round the crown of very weeping flowers; a small posy of roses and blue forget me nots were placed right at the back of the brim which was tilted at the back with black rucked tulle. A gold satin straw shape showed the new laced effect and was smartly trimmed in shaded tulle, from brown to gold and gold ribbon. A soft black tagel shape had the upstanding brim finished at the back with a high bow of moire ribbon. A smart shape was wholly composed of black and white ribbon, and had black tulle ruffs immediately in front which gave it a very smart touch. One shape was completely covered with spotted ninon over apricot satin, and was trimmed with a loose bunch of cherries, and their foliage, caught with a loose bunch of apricot ribbon with long ends. A shape covered with frills of lace and dainty wee flowers looked especially dainty. A handsome ostrich mount, with black tulle ruche under brick at back. A shape with the new dome crown was composed of soft blue crepe satin and was simply trimmed with posy of wee flowerets.

Ready-to-wears in chip, tagel, tuscan, pique and many other straws all looked smart and useful and should serve to smarten up many a plain little costume. Shapes also showed all the latest straws in all the new shapes.

Dainty afternoon tea was dispensed to the many ladies who were present.

OBITUARY

MRS MARY ANN PRISCILLA EDWARDS

It is our duty this week to record the passing of another estimable citizen of Beverley in the person of Mrs M A P Edwards of York Road, Beverley, which sad event occurred, as noted in last issue, on Friday morning, February 21, at the Beverley Hospital after a lengthy illness. Wife of Mr P E R Edwards, and mother of Messrs Ralph, Steve, Keith, Cyril and Wallie Edwards, all well-known in Beverley where their schooldays were spent, she was 70 years of age and had enjoyed long association with the district.

A daughter of the late Mr and Mrs John Melbourne Oliver, the late Mrs Edwards came to Beverley as a young woman from the Eastern States to take charge of the drapery department at Edwards' Store (now W R Gillespie, Ltd). This position she held until her marriage to Mr Peter Edwards, a member of one of Beverley's earliest families the ceremony taking place at St George's Cathedral, Perth. From then on, the cares and responsibilities of her home and family claimed her attention, except for a period when in an emergency she again took charge of the Department.

A good wife and mother and possessing a pleasant personality which resulted in a wide circle of friends and acquaintances, the deceased in her younger days took an interest in social and town affairs and was active in various church organisations. Much sympathy is felt throughout the district for the family in their great bereavement.

The funeral took place at the Anglican Cemetery on Sunday afternoon. In the course of the preliminary service at St Mary's the Rev Churchill spoke of the inspiration to be found in the courage and cheerfulness with which the departed citizen had faced the tribulations of life and he extended to the bereaved the sympathy of all who knew her. There was a large attendance and many wreaths and floral tributes were in evidence. The arrangements were carried out by Mr E T Fairhead.

A premature baby Peter was fortunate to survive babyhood. His father was Thomas Edwards who lived at Speldhurst for most of his life and his mother was originally Anne Blechynden, whose parents were the first owners of the Babbayalla property.

Most of Peter's years were spent in Beverley but for several years past he has been domiciled in the Perth home where his demise occurred.

The funeral took place at Beverley yesterday afternoon. Further details of his life appear elsewhere in this issue.

Peter E. R. Edwards, whose death is briefly reported on the front page of this issue, was the last of the family of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Edwards of Speldhurst. Four brothers and a sister predeceased him.

He was born at Speldhurst and educated at the Beverley State School. For some time he worked in the Lands Department under the then Beverley district land agent and Clerk of Courts the late T. G. Walker. It was a very busy period as the land boom in these areas was well under way.

Leaving the Department he worked for the old Beverley Municipality for some years and became the Town Clerk. With the provision of a hospital to serve the needs of the district he became the institution's first secretary, a position he was to fill again in later years.

Away from Beverley for some years he was appointed secretary of the Goomalling Road Board and later became associated for a period with the Water Supply Department in the city.

Returning to Beverley he became the proprietor of a barber's shop and watchmaking business. Self taught as a watch repairer he carried on this type of work for a long period after disposing of the shop.

OUTSTANDING IN SPORT

Peter was perhaps the most outstanding and versatile sportsman of his day in these parts. He was a leading batsman in the local Cricket Association for years, compiling many big scores. On one occasion his nose was broken by a fast rising ball on the local oval and he almost bled to death as a result of the injury the marks of which he bore for the rest of his days.

He was a member of the original Beverley Rifle Club and one of the best shots. Later as a member of the Water Supply Department in Perth he established a Swanbourne range record which was to stand for years, scoring 103 out of the possible 105.

As a golfer he was one of the first members of the Beverley Club and an outstanding exponent of the game. Associates of his golfing (and cricketing) days were the late G. L. Broun, founder of the Club, and Norman Broun, now living in the city. He was a regular player in the golfing "Durbars" held on George Broun's course at Avondale. Stories of those days are legion.

A fine billiardist he and the late Murray Wansbrough were at one time the leading district players with much success in local tournaments. In addition he was a very hard man to beat at tennis.

Field and stream shooting held his interest for many years and here again he was remarkably successful handling the gun and rifle with great accuracy. He was a good bet to shoot a rabbit on the run with a pea rifle.

THE FAMILY

As a young man Peter married Miss Mary Oliver, originally of Nhill, in Victoria. At the time they met she was an employee at Charles Edwards store in Beverley (now Gillespie's). She predeceased him by some fifteen years.

Of the union was born five sons—Ralph, Steve, Keith (deceased), Cyril and Walton, all well-known in these parts.

Peter was an inimitable yarn spinner and at one period was a daily caller at the office of this newspaper—and always with a fresh story.

His passing will give rise to nostalgic memories among many of the older generation of district residents and he will be remembered with affection by those who over a long period of time had the pleasure of his acquaintance.

The funeral was scheduled to take place at Beverley yesterday afternoon.

5. EDWARDS, WALTON HARRISON 'WALTER/WALTOR' (1914-1992) was born 20 Jan 1914, Beverley, WA [Reg. 9]. Recorded as Walton. He died 10 Mar 1992, Dalkeith, aged 92 years. Cremation, Karrakatta Cemetery, KCOO106438, recorded as Walton Harrison Edwards. Memorial, at Beverley, Anglican Cemetery, WA. Some family trees have him as serving in the US as Walton E Edwards Sr, married born 1914, Alabama. Education Grammar School Walton, Florida. This is not him.

In Ann Elizabeth Edward's Obituary his name is recorded as Walter.

Note via Cathy Auld: My understanding is that Wally's mum (Mary Ann Oliver) contracted German measles when she was pregnant with him. I think he lived his life wheelchair bound and possibly nonverbal. He moved to the Sunset Home with his father when his mum passed away (maybe)?

My Pop, Steve Edwards was his older brother. I remember visiting Wally when I was a child. Given his severe disabilities he still outlived his four brothers.

Of note, Rubella is usually a mild illness, with a fever, rash and swollen lymph glands. However, if contracted by pregnant women during the first 10 weeks of pregnancy, the disease can cause life-long problems for babies. Widespread vaccination against rubella for school girls and non-immune women was introduced in Australia in 1971. The Australian National Immunisation Program (NIP) first included measles-mumps-rubella (MMR) vaccine in 1989. See

NOTE: For some of the great grandchildren of Harrison and Charlotte Blechynden, descended through Elizabeth Anne (nee Blechynden) and Thomas Edwards, additional research and work needs to be done to provide a more complete story of their lives. It is hoped someone will take this task on and compile more details for any future edition of this project.

4. HENRY GEORGE BLECHYNDEN (1843-1927) & MARY ANN REILLY (1850-1923)

Henry George was Harrison and Charlotte Blechynden's fourth child. He was born on 6 Oct 1843 at 'Babbyalla', East Beverley.

On 27 May 1874, Henry George married Mary Ann Reilly⁴ at the Catholic Church in York.

They farmed 'Erindale' at Mt. Kokeby together and had four children.

Mary Ann passed away at the age of 73 on 26 Dec 1923 and Henry George at the age of 84 on 6 Nov 1927 both at Beverley. They are buried at the Beverley Catholic Cemetery.

⁴ This is the best photograph we have of Mary Ann.

BLECHYNDEN, HENRY GEORGE (1843-1927)

Henry George Blechynden was born 6 Oct 1843, recorded as Babbalalla, 'Babbyalla', Beverley, WA [Reg. 278]. Henry was the fourth child to be born to Harrison Blechynden and Charlotte Robus.

Henry George Blechynden (via Carrol Family Tree)

Henry George's brother John and sister Sarah were born in Perth, prior to his parents moving to lease the property named 'Babbyalla' in the newly established district of Beverley. His sister Elizabeth was registered as being born on 'St Aubyns', 19 Mar 1842.

BEVERLEY Our Journey through time: A history of the Shire of Beverley by Glen McLaren and William Cooper: pg. 24.

By July 1837, it was estimated that 23 white settlers had lost their lives. . . While Stirling could not countenance a vigilante force in a British Colony, he did strengthen the military force in the Avon Valley. More troops were stationed at York, a permanent post was established on the banks of the Dale River in the far south-eastern corner of Avondale and a detachment of the 21st fusiliers were also stationed on and off at Addington. Subsequently barracks were established at John Mann's property at the Dale, aptly named the Barracks, and at Turkey Cock Creek on 'St Aubyns'. Patrols were mounted from these barracks and at times the military also provided armed escorts across the Darling Range.

When Henry George was born 6 Oct 1843, his birth was recorded as being at 'Babbyalla'. His brother John was aged 10 years, Sarah almost 2 ½ years and Elizabeth just 17 months of age. By the time Henry George was 10 years of age in 1853, six more brothers were added to the family: Jesse William 1845-1846, Walter Edward 1846, Charles Edwin 1848, Thomas Harrison 1849, Jesse William 1851, Joseph 1853. Sadly, Jesse William born in 1845 died in 1846, at the age of 20 months). The family now consisted of seven boys and two girls.

*Book: Beverley our Journey Through Time
Beverley: Early locations and original grantees, map showing "St Aubyns", 'Babbyalla' and Mt Kokeby*

The two older girls had their time cut out helping their mother with so many energetic and boisterous boys around the home. Thankfully, they had a large yard around the house and many animals and chores to keep them occupied. There was very little infrastructure in the surrounding district at this stage and as a consequence no schools. Their mother taught them to basically read and write. The children were taught to ride and care for horses from an early age. As they grew old enough the boys began to help their father and older brother John on the farm. This was great experience as all of them were to pioneer and work their own farms in the future.

By 1852, a small service area consisting of a mud bat store and a wheelwright was being established at Edwards Crossing which was about 13 kilometres away. One can imagine the family would have travelled by horse and cart to the store for goods and the wheelwright for services. Annual shows were recorded as taking place at York which was 28.5 kms - 17.7 miles away. One can also visualise the family going in their wagon, participating, competing and socialising in the many venues provided at the show.

In 1854, his brother John Blechynden, at the age of 21, guided by two friendly Aboriginals, walked to the Blackwood district and was so impressed with what he saw that he acquired two pastoral leases along the Blackwood River. More details can be found in the individual chapter on John Blechynden and Elizabeth Green.

Henry George was recorded as being 16 years of age in the 1859 census. His father recorded the following under the topic of Agriculture:

Harrison Blechynden had 33 acres under wheat production, 15 acres of Barley, 15 acres of Hay and a quarter of an acre of Kitchen Garden. Stock: Harrison Blechynden had 16 horses, 24 cattle, 1160 sheep, 49 pigs. He had sold 2 cattle during the year but did not know how many sheep had been sold or processed. In the salt and pork area he had made and sold 2437 (Ed. This is presumed to be pounds weight) during the year. From this it can be seen Henry and his brothers were kept very busy.

His brother John Blechynden and Elizabeth Green were married on 23rd of Feb 1860, at the Cathedral Church of St George's, Perth, in one of the earliest (white) marriages in WA in which both bride and bridegroom had been born in the colony. One can imagine Henry with his family enjoyed socialising with the guests at the wedding.

In 1862, his sister Elizabeth Ann Blechynden married Thomas Edwards at York. She and Thomas settled on and raised their family on Speldhurst.

In 1864, Henry's brothers, Walter, now aged 18 years and Charles Edwin aged 16 years, made their way to Bridgetown and joined their eldest brother John at his home at 'Bridgedale'. Walter and Charles Edwin stayed with John and Elizabeth and worked for them for three years before moving south to work for Charles Rose on his property 'Wilgarrup' for another three or so years while the Roses were overseas. Walter left 'Wilgarrup' in about 1870, when he selected an acreage of land on the Upper Warren, which he named, 'Glenpennant'. Following his time at Bridgetown, Charles Blechynden returned to Beverley. He left 'Babbyalla' in 1870 and, for five years, rented 'Seaton Ross' from a Mr. Johnson. With the absence of his brothers, Walter and Charles Edwin, Henry George now aged 21 years took on much of the responsibility and hard work in helping his father Harrison on the farm.

Another wedding took place when Sarah Harrison Blechynden married John Henry Markham Page in 1867, at York. They set up their home and raised their family at William's Bridge, Quindanning.

Henry George Blechynden took up land at Mt. Kokeby, the property being known as 'Erindale'. Family members advise he eventually had two properties. One smaller farm at Mt Kokeby itself on the Great Southern Highway just south of Kokeby East Road, and his main farm, Erindale, which was located about 6 kilometres east of the highway along Yenyenning Lakes Road. The smaller Mt Kokeby property was across the other (western) side of the Avon River from 'Babbyalla'. See several pages further on, after Mary Ann Reilly's family story, for more details and photos of Erindale.

During this time Henry began courting a young woman named Mary Ann Reilly and they happily planned to get married.

It was a shock for the family when Henry's father Harrison Blechynden died on the 17 Jul 1873 at Beverley, WA [Reg. 6696], (recorded under Bleychenden), aged 71 years. The funeral was held at St Paul's Church, Edwards Crossing and he was laid to rest at the Edwards Crossing Cemetery, Beverley, WA.

Shortly after the funeral, Henry's brother Walter Edward Blechynden married Jane Needs at Picton in 1873. Henry George was now aged 30 years, Charles Edwin 25 years, Thomas Harrison 24, Jesse William 21 and Joseph 20 years.

HENRY GEORGE BLECHYNDEN (1843-1927) was married 27 May 1874, Catholic Church, York, WA to MARY ANN REILLY' (1850-1923), [Reg. 3772]. Registered as Mary Ann and H G Blechynden. Henry was aged almost 31 years and Mary 24 years.

REILLY, MARY 'ANN' (1850-1923)

Note: Ann appears to be her name used throughout her life.

Mary Ann Reilly was born 1 Nov 1850, Rotunda Barracks, Dublin, Ireland, father, JOHN REILLY (1818-1902) Corporal, mother, MARY ANN STAFFORD (1835-1907). Mary Ann Reilly's birth is confirmed in her Obituary per the link below, which is shown in full later in this section.

Mary Ann Reilly was christened 13 Nov 1850. Parents John Reilly and Anne Stafford.

Baptism of Mary Ann Reilly, parents: John Reilly and Mary Anne Stafford

Mary Ann came to Perth on 19 Aug 1859, with her parents as a young girl, her father, at that time being one of the Pensioner Guards on the transport ship Sultana. She grew up with her brothers and sisters at Guildford. Fifteen years later she married Henry George Blechynden. They made their home at 'Erindale,' at Mt Kokeby, where they lived for over 30 years.

Mary Ann Blechynden (nee Reilly) died 26 Dec 1923, Beverley, WA [Reg year 1924], [Reg. 1]. Recorded as Mary Ann. She was buried at the Karrakatta Cemetery.

The following eight pages have details of Mary Ann Reilly's parents, John Reilly (1818-1902) and Mary Ann Stafford (1835-1907) and family:

JOHN REILLY (1818-1902) and MARY ANN STAFFORD (1835-1907) were married 27 Jul 1849, Monaghan, Ireland, registered as Anne, as per marriage certificate. It looks like it is written as Anne as per marriage certificate transcript below but mostly spelt Ann. To avoid confusion with her daughter Mary Anne (Blechynden), Ann is used in this section.

John Reilly, an enrolled Pensioner Guard, arrived in the Colony on the Sultana on 19 Aug 1859, with his wife Mary Ann (née Stafford) and child. The Sultana carried fifty Pensioner Guards, thirty-one wives and forty children. Reilly was assigned to the Pensioner Barracks in Perth until appointment as Sergeant-in-Charge at the Convict Depot in Meadow Street, Guildford. The Depot in Meadow Street was close to Reilly's subsequent cottage in Helena Street and he lived at Guildford until his death in 1902. Reilly was born in Dublin, Ireland in 1820 (sic). In 1838, then as a tailor at the age of 18, he enlisted in the army on 22 January. As service man No. 995, he was promoted to the rank of Corporal on 1 November 1854 in the 57th Regiment and was discharged on 10 October 1856 with a pension of 9 pence per diem (day). Reilly saw military service that included 10 to 12 years in Malta and 8 years in the East Indies, a total service of 18 years and 293 days. He was holder of the Crimea and Turkish-Crimean Medals as a consequence of action in those campaigns. Reilly was appointed to the Convict Depot at Guildford as Temporary Assistant Warder on 20 Sep 1871 at a pay rate of 3 shillings per day and was promoted later to Sergeant-in-Charge at Guildford.

Guildford was declared a Municipality in 1871, and land was granted to Reilly, Military Pensioner, in 1872 at Lot 83 Helena Street, Guildford. He lived in the cottage built on that lot until his death in Guildford on 16 September 1902 at the age is 82. The title of the land at Lot 83 was transferred to his wife Ann in 1900. His surviving family on his death were his widow and a grown-up family of three sons and five daughters.

◀ Turkish Crimean Medal

Issued to allied military personnel, in British, French and Sardinian issues. The obverse shows the Ottoman Sultan's tughra with the Muslim calendar year of 1271. The reverse, a cannon and four flags. The flag to the fore, second from the left, depicts the country to which the medal was intended. The inscription reads 'La Crimée 1855' for French, 'La Crimea 1855' for Sardinian and 'Crimea 1855' for British. Due to loss by shipwreck of many medals intended for the British, awards were made with whatever issue came to hand, the most common being Sardinian.

About the Pensioner Guards Group:

<https://membership.wags.org.au/enrolled-pensioner-guards...>

The Enrolled Pensioner Force consisted of soldiers, who came to the colony of WA between 1850 and 1880, most arriving during the years of Transportation as Guards on the convict ships. They were soldiers who had been discharged from Military Service, and who on discharge from the army, were awarded pensions.

SECOND CHILD OF MARY JANE BUTLER (NEE MCDONALD) (1889-1978) AND JOSEPH ELIJAH BUTLER (1890-1952) IN MORE DETAIL:

2. MARY DOROTHY MAVIS BUTLER (1912-1966) ***

Mary Dorothy Mavis Butler, the second child of Mary Jane Butler (Nee McDonald) (1889-1978) and Joseph Elijah Butler (1890-1952), was born on Mar 20 1912 at Mokine, Northam, WA [Reg. 171]. She became ‘Doris’ Chapman when a child, see following. Mary Dorothy Mavis Warner died on Aug 14 1966 at Cannington, Perth, WA [Reg. 106], Parents Edward and Edith Chapman, see following.

Mary Dorothy Mavis Butler was adopted by Edward Chapman (1863-1947) and Edith Emma Chapman nee Ackary [1874-1973] on Oct 20 1915 aged 3.5 years. From then on, she was known as Chapman as per her marriage registration and birth registration of children. Note: The family of Edward and Edith Chapman called Dorothy Mavis, ‘Doris’ Chapman.

Edward and Edith Chapman adopted another male child and also fostered a female child. They were brother and sister named Ivor Broxup-Giblett and Alice Maud Broxup. Alice Maud Broxup went on to marry Henry Chapman, son of George and Sarah Jane Chapman (nee Gibbs), in 1917. WA [Reg. 10].

Mary Dorothy Mavis Chapman married twice.

m.1 MARY DOROTHY MAVIS CHAPMAN married ALBERT EVERSDEN, born 1907 at Canning, WA [Reg. 20] on Aug 10 1933 at Perth, WA [Reg. 1041] and divorced on Oct 23 1942. Note that Mary Dorothy Mavis’ family name is registered as Chapman on her marriage registration. From this marriage there were two children. Mary used her name as Eversden on those two birth records.

1. RONALD ALBERT EVERSDEN b. MAY 7 1934.
2. NEIL ROBERT EVERSDEN b. AUGUST 1936.

Mary Dorothy Mavis Chapman (returned to the surname Chapman after her divorce from Albert Eversden).

m.2 MARY DOROTHY MAVIS CHAPMAN married EDGAR JOHN WARNER (1920-1976) on May 13 1943.

From this marriage there were three children.

1. ELIN DAWN WARNER
2. JUDY MERLE WARNER
3. DOROTHY LANE WARNER

Dorothy died 4 Dec 2017. Note that Mary used her name as Warner on those three birth records.

4. HUGH JOHN MCDONALD (1892-1960)

Hugh John McDonald was born 1892 at Perth, WA. [Reg. 1928].

Hugh John McDonald died Mar 15 1960 at Merredin, WA. [Reg. 19]

5. ROBERT FRANCIS MCDONALD (1895-1943)

Robert Francis McDonald was born 1895 at Fremantle, WA [Reg. 563]

Robert Francis McDonald died 1943 at Perth, WA [Reg. 925]

Following the death of ROBERT MCDONALD IN 1896, Ellen remarried again.

m. 2 ELLEN MCDONALD (NEE REILLY) (1862-1910) married EDWIN GREY (1852-1910) in 1900 at Guildford, WA [Reg. 1635]. There were no children from that marriage.

SEVENTH CHILD OF JOHN REILLY (1818-1902) AND MARY ANN STAFFORD (1835-1907):

7. TERENCE EDWARD REILLY (1864-1931)

Terence Edward Reilly was born 15 Aug 1864, Guildford, WA [Reg. 7948], registered as Tarrens.

Terence Edward Reilly died Subiaco, Perth, WA [Reg.1426].

TERENCE EDWARD REILLY (1864-1931) married BRIDGET MCLOUGHLIN (1875-1936), 17 Apr 1894, Fremantle, WA [Reg. 131].

8. WILLIAM REILLY (1867-1919)

William Reilly was born 1867, Guildford, WA [Reg. 10103], parents recorded as John Reilly and Ann Stafford. William died 28 Aug 1919, Swan, WA [Reg. 136]. The date is recorded on the headstone of his parents John and Mary Ann Reilly at Karrakatta Cemetery. He was possibly buried at the original Guildford Cemetery. Speculating: his name may have been added to the headstone after the change of site of the Guildford cemetery. An interesting fact is that William Reilly died at the Victoria Hotel, Midland Junction, which was owned by his sister and her husband, namely William and Elizabeth Jane Minett (nee Reilly).

WILLIAM REILLY (1867-1919) married MARY ANN CHARLOTTE MCCARTHY (1866-1949), 1900, Perth, WA [Reg. 1031].

NINTH CHILD OF JOHN REILLY (1818-1902) AND MARY ANN STAFFORD (1835-1907):

9. CATHERINE REILLY (1870-1940)

Catherine Reilly was born 1870, Guildford, WA [Reg. 12144], recorded under Catharine Rieley.

Catharine McDonough (nee Reilly) died 1940, Perth WA [Reg. 185].

CATHERINE REILLY (1870-1940) married FREDERICK FERDINAND MCDONOUGH (1867-1915), 1891, Guildford, WA [Reg. 3].

John Reilly died 16 Sep 1902, Guildford, WA [Reg No 2763], aged 83 years. Buried 17th Sep 1902, Guildford Cemetery.

Headstone Corporal John Reilly and Mary Ann Reilly (nee Stafford, Karrakatta Cemetery)

Mary Ann Reilly (nee Stafford) died 22 Mar 1907, Swan, WA [Reg. 31]. Buried Karrakatta Cemetery.

John Reilly and his wife Mary Ann Reilly were buried at different cemeteries. The question from those researching was why?

Looking up the history of Guildford and Karrakatta Cemeteries, the answer becomes clearer.

The Karrakatta Cemetery was first opened for burials in 1899. At this time and shortly after the original Guildford Cemetery was about to undergo changes and be moved to a new site.

The following section taken from an article found on Trove explains that at this time changes were about to be put into motion to change the site of the Guildford Cemetery.

OLD GUILDFORD CEMETERY

https://www.waymarking.com/waymarks/WMQFX5_Old_Guildford_Cemetery_Guildford_Western_Australia

The cemetery was located next to an early 1836 church built by the Missionary Society which was the first permanent church ever erected in WA. Nothing remains of this early building. The earliest burial is believed to have been in 1830 and the last in 1918. When the road was widened most of the graves were moved and re-interred at the newer Guildford Cemetery, however 51 headstones were left and later most were laid (in 1953) in a concrete cross with 6 standing.

In 1914 a chapel for the Guildford Grammar School was constructed on the site of the former church.

William Reilly died 28 Aug 1919, Swan, WA [Reg. 136] as recorded on the headstone of his father John Reilly and mother Mary Ann at the Karrakatta Cemetery.

Speculating: William Reilly was buried at the old Guildford Cemetery. Due to the re siting of the Guildford Cemetery, later his name added to a new headstone with his parents at the Karrakatta Cemetery.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Ann Reilly, of Guildford, relict of the late Corporal Reilly, of the 57th Regiment, took place at the Karrakatta Cemetery on Sunday last. The deceased lady, who has lived in Guildford, where she was very highly respected for many years, came to the colony from Ireland over 40 years ago, and at her death was the ripe age of 75 years. She was the fond mother of a large family, all of whom reside in the State, and the sympathy with the family is widespread. The deceased lady was a practical member of the Catholic Church, and had the rites of Holy Church. During her life she took great interest in church matters and the Convent School, assisting in every way its advancement. She was a good and true neighbor, always ready to do a good and charitable action. Her husband pre-deceased her some five years ago. A large number of the old colonists and friends followed the cortege to the grave. The chief mourners were the daughters, Mesdames Broadhurst, Gray, McDonough, Minnett, and Blechynden; sons, Messrs. John, Edward, and William Reilly; sons-in-law, Messrs. Minnett, Gray and McDonough; grandsons, W. S. Minnett, J. Broadhurst, W. and R. Gray, and T. McDonough. The pall-bearers were Messrs. H. S. King (Under-Secretary for Mines), H. E. B. Gull, W. G. Johnson (Mayor of Guildford), J. P. Doheny, McDonald, and Captain Munday. The following are some of the great number of wreaths received:—The family, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. King, Mrs. R. Wilson, Mrs. and Miss Horri-gan, Mrs. Wellman and son, Mrs. Cle-

Continuing with the story of Henry George Blechynden and Mary 'Anne' Reilly:

HENRY GEORGE BLECHYNDEN (1843-1927) was married 27 May 1874, Catholic Church, York, WA to MARY ANN REILLY' (1850-1923), [Reg. 3772]. Registered as Mary Ann and H G Blechynden. Henry was aged almost 31 years and Mary 24 years.

St Patrick's Church Hall: The original York Catholic Church commenced in 1859 and dedicated to St. Patrick in 1860, still stands today is now used as the Church Hall, situated in South Street on the front lawns of the presbytery. The present Church's foundation stone was laid on St Patrick's day, 1875, and completed in 1886.

Henry took his bride back to 'Erindale' where they set up home and raised four children.

This is the remains of the original homestead of Erindale, Beverley, on Yenyaning Lakes Road, Mt Kokeby. Via Kerry Blechynden

See also further on.

Their first child Henry Herbert Blechynden was born 20 Mar 1875 at Guildford, WA [Reg. 16178]. Perhaps their first baby was born in Guildford so Mary's mother, Mary Reilly could be close by and there was more adequate medical support. Their second child William Harrison Blechynden was born 20 Jan 1877, at Beverley, WA [Reg. 18176]. It was some time before their next child was born. Arthur Blechynden was born 13 Mar 1887 at Beverley, WA [Reg. 622], followed by their fourth child, a daughter, Kathline Mary Blechynden who was born 31 Dec 1888, also at Beverley, WA [Reg. 126].

More details about these children can be found in their individual chapters further on.

Note: Family sources say Mary Ann and Henry George Blechynden had other children who died in infancy.

The children grew up on 'Erindale' and attended the Beverley School. The boys worked alongside their father on the farm, learning skills which were to stay with them for the rest of their lives. The boys grew up, married and had families of their own, Kathleen remained single and was known to her nieces and nephews as Aunty Kit.

The children's dearly loved grandmother, Henry's mother Charlotte Blechynden (nee Robus) died on 13 Sep 1889 at the residence of her son Charles Edwin Blechynden at 'Roesland', Beverley. This was a very sad time for the whole family as she had been a loving mother and remained strong for them all. She had dearly loved all her grandchildren.

Herbert Henry Blechynden married Beatrice Gertrude Mary Edwards, 1 Mar 1905, York, WA [Reg. 5]. It is interesting that his name was registered as Henry Herbert Blechynden in WA births and deaths, but as Herbert Henry in his marriage. In the article following and elsewhere throughout this branch he is often called Herbert Henry. Possibly he was known as Herbert to avoid being mixed up with his father. The next was William Harrison Blechynden who married Mary Ethel McDonald at Beverley, 16 Jul 1907, WA [Reg. 24]. Arthur Blechynden married Stella Bertile Fitzpatrick in Perth, WA, 29 Sep 1914, WA [Reg. 686]. Kathleen Mary Blechynden, "Aunty Kit", remained single.

Photos of Erindale Oct 2022 taken by Ken Blechynden during: “Back to Beverley 150 Year Spring Festival”

Comment via Max Edwards: “Erindale farm, which belonged to Henry George Blechynden was sold by Bill Blechynden and his son Geoff in early 2000’s, possibly 2005 to Geoff Bremner. The property is on Yenyening Lakes Road about 5-6 km east of the Great Southern Highway. Yenyening Lakes Road is about 2 km south of Mt Kokeby (towards Brookton). The mud brick walls of the original Erindale farm house still stand among peppercorn trees south of and very close to the road.”

Obituary.

MARY ANN BLECHYNDEN

Another of the very old pioneer residents of Beverley District has been removed from our midst in the form of Mrs. M. A. Blechynden, the beloved wife of Mr. Henry George Blechynden, who passed away quietly at her residence, Harper Street, on December 26th, after a short illness, patiently borne and lasting 10 days at the age of 73 years. The immediate cause of death was coronary haemorrhage and acute bronchitis.

Deceased was the eldest daughter of the late Corporal John Reilly of the 57th Foot regiment (the "Die Hards") who saw service at Sebastopol in the Crimean War. She was born in the Rotunda Barracks, Dublin on November 1st, 1850, and came to West Australia with her parents when a girl about 12 years old, her father at that time being one of the officers in charge of the transport ship "Sultana".

 Another of the very old pioneer residents of Beverley district has been removed from our midst in the person of Mrs. M. A. Blechynden, the beloved wife of Mr. Henry George Blechynden, who passed quietly away at her residence, Harper Street, on December 26th, after a short illness, peacefully borne, and lasting about 10 days, at the age of 74 years. The immediate cause of death was cerebral haemorrhage and acute bronchitis.
 Deceased was the eldest daughter of the late Corporal John Bailey, of the 57th Foot Regiment (the "Die Hards") who saw service at Sebastopol in the Crimean War. She was born in the Rotunda Barracks, Dublin, on November 1st, 1830, and came to West Australia with her parents when a girl about 12 years old, her father at that time being one of the officers in charge of the transport ship "Sultana."
 About 11 years later, after coming to Beverley she was married to Mr. H. G. Blechynden, at York, on May 27th, 1874. Mr. Blechynden was then farming in the Bally Bally district. Later they made their home at "Erindale," Kokeby, where they lived for over 30 years.

Their family of 3 sons and 1 daughter survive her, Herbert (Jardanus), Will and Arthur (Kokeby) and Kathleen (Beverley), also 22 grandchildren, are left to mourn the loss of a devoted mother and grandmother.

The funeral took place on Friday, December 28th, the cortege leaving the Roman Catholic Church immediately after Requiem Mass, which was celebrated at 9.30 a.m., and proceeded to the R.C. Cemetery, attended by a representative gathering of old identities and friends from all parts of the district—proof of the high esteem in which the deceased lady was held.

The pall-bearers were Messrs Edward and Ian Powell, Horace Smith, F. Hopkins, F. P. McInheney, and J. McDonald.

Mrs. Minett and Mrs. Broadhurst (Perth) sisters of the deceased were among the chief mourners.

Obituary.

MR. H. G. BLECHYNDEN.

On Sunday, November 6. the death occurred at the Beverley Hospital of Mr. Henry G. Blechynden, at the age of 84 years. His father, the late Harrison Blechynden, came to W.A. from Kent, England, in the year 1830, in company with the late Mr. Drake-Brookman, bringing stock and implements for land settlement under the Government Settlement Scheme. The young lady, who was afterwards Mrs. Harrison Blechynden, was also on the same boat. After their marriage they settled at "Babbyalla", Beverley, and it was here that Mr. Henry Blechynden was born on October 6, 1843. Deceased had a fund of information on those early days and could always tell a good yarn of the experiences which he went through. He took up land at Kokeby on his own account at the property known as "Erindale." He retired from this in favour of his sons about 20 years ago and has led a quiet life since. His good wife predeceased him two or three years ago, but his daughter Kathleen continued to surround him with every care and attention, and to her and the three sons (Herbert, William and Arthur) who mourn the loss of a father our sympathies go out. The funeral took place on Monday last, after a short service in the Church, and the procession of cars filled by mourners and friends followed the mortal remains to the Catholic cemetery, where many more friends had foregathered to add their tribute of respect. The Rev. Father O'Callaghan conducted the services. Mr. H. Benson had charge of the funeral arrangements.

BEVERLEY NOTES.

WEDDING. EDWARDS-BLECHYNDEN.

A pretty wedding was celebrated at the R.C. Church here on the 1st instant, the contracting parties being Beatrice, the eldest daughter of Mr A. G. Edwards, to Herbert Henry, the eldest son of Mr. H. G. Blechynden, of "Erindale," Beverley. The Rev. Father Gilroy officiated. The bride, who was charmingly attired, wore a wreath and veil, and was given away by her father. Miss Kathleen Blechynden (sister of bridegroom) and Miss Bertha Edwards (sister of bride) acted as bridesmaids, while the bridegroom's brother, Mr. W. H. Blechynden, fulfilled the duties of best man. At the conclusion of the ceremony the wedding party partook of cake and wine, and later in the evening the newly-wedded couple left for their future home in the Mt. Kokeby district. The presents were numerous and useful.

Lilydale Express, 23 Nov 1889 Posted 04 Sep 2012 by anne_marie4, Ancestry

DEATH OF AN OLD RESIDENT:

... Mr. Kennedy sailed from Liverpool in a ship called the Agincourt in the year 1854, and landed in Melbourne early in October of that same year. He proceeded to Geelong, where he took up his abode for some time, but like most early settlers he could not content himself in one place long, for out of 35 years residence in the colony the first 15 were spent in various parts, the principal places being Blackwood, Ballarat and Daylesford. About 20 years ago he took up a large selection on the rich river frontages, on the Upper Yarra. During the land boom he induced to part with his old home, and selling out he came to Lilydale about 18 months ago and built a very handsome villa residence, in which he has resided since with family in very comfortable circumstances. He is a man of very general disposition, and one who never made an enemy either at home or abroad. His domestic relationship too was of the happiest kind, and in losing him his family have lost a real guide protector and friend. We very deeply sympathies with Mrs. Kennedy and the family in their sad bereavement and we may to say that quite a gloom has been thrown over the district by this untoward event. . . . The funeral took place yesterday afternoon and was one of the largest that has taken place in Lilydale, the place of internment being Lilydale Cemetery. . .

Farmer, Gentleman

John and Bridget Kennedy arrived in Australia aboard the Agincourt in 1854, their eldest child Margaret was born whilst on board. The Kennedy's stayed in Geelong for a short time before moving to Ballarat where John tried his hand at mining for gold in and around the Ballarat area. In about 1870 John, Bridget and their eight children moved to Warburton and 'took up a large selection on the rich river frontages, on the Upper Yarra'. The book Warburton Ways by Earle Parkinson states that 'John Kennedy selected land on the north side of the river Yarra, almost opposite where Millgrove railway station later stood. He named the property "Millgrove" after his home town in Tipperary County, Ireland. The farm thus stood for the locality and later gave the town its name.' Johns' obituary in the Lilydale Express says that 'By untiring industry and quiet perseverance, he converted the rude rough bush into the rich and beautiful undulating pasture lands which surrounds his late homestead, situated on one of the most picturesque spots on the Upper Yarra. During the land boom he was induced to part with his old home, and selling out he came to Lilydale about 18 months ago, and built a very handsome villa residence, in which he has resided since with his family in very comfortable circumstances. He was a man of a very general disposition, and one who never made an enemy either at home or abroad.'

When Bridget made her will her daughter Ellen was 31 yet Bridget thought to put in her will that Ellen would forfeit her part of her inheritance if she married without the trustees' consent of the trustees being Ellen's older unmarried sister and younger brother, also in the will mention is made that if anyone placed a (caveat or otherwise delayed or contested the will then that person would forfeit their share of the will. The will also insulates that the house in Belle Vue, Lilydale should be sold. (Certificate of Title Volume 2092 Folio 418381, Belle Vue Lilydale.)

CRICKET FINAL

DINGUP v. SMITH'S BROOK (Contributed)

Somehow one feels that Dingup made for finals It may be the pine trees; it may be the experience of retrieving a ball from the jungle of gumsuckers on the left; it may be the beauty of a soaring "sixer" against the background of long-suffering foliage, or it may be even be the crash of the ball through its leafy haven that appeals so; we who do not hit sixers cannot know, but undoubtedly Dingup is a fit setting for the culmination of a season's cricket. And on Sunday last Dingup and Smith's Brook met to decide the destination of the season's honours in the "A" Grade Association and the home of the shield (now at No. 1 Mill) for a whole year at least.

It was early apparent that the Smith's Brook players were somewhat disconcerted. The reason for their condition became known when it was heard that their captain had somehow won a toss; a state of affairs we gathered altogether beyond the comprehension of the lads from the Brook. Thus, the day started auspiciously for Smith's Brook. Several of the bowlers we noted examined the new ball with a shy interest.

Dingup opened with Alf Muir and Len Collins to the bowling of Mervyn Blechynden and Jones. Neither bowler obtained particular lift from the new ball, and despite several mild sensations the batsmen continued to play the good stuff and collect the maximum from the loose until 47 runs without loss had been gathered. It was left to Jack Gascoyne to finally bowl both men. Alf Muir, after losing his partner went on to make an excellent 43. The ability of this player to hit the right ball the right way is evidenced by his score of 48 including seven boundary shots.

Wickets fell somewhat easier here, and with the score at 3 for 91 Gerry Blechynden became decidedly dogmatic and three wickets fell to him at 102 from consecutive balls. The score here read 8 for 103, but due to some good hitting by Owen Chatley, Dingup carried their score to 139 before being dismissed.

Shortly after lunch Dingup took the field, Mervyn Blechynden and Alex Jones walking out with fields-the field, Mervyn Blechynden and Alex Jones walking out with fieldsmen to open the innings for Smith's Brook. Alf Muir commenced hurling his venomous pill from the "pavilion" end and it quickly became apparent to Smith's Brook supporters and batsmen, especially the two at the targets, that things were not exactly compatible with that condition we somewhat vaguely associate with that very much misunderstood expression "a batsman's paradise." Things got from bad to worse. Merv and pal were soon harbouring much cardiac commotion, especially after one or two particularly vindictive excursions by the ball in that region. The expected disaster soon came.

Merv in a frantic endeavour to frustrate an exceptionally belligerent inswinger from attaining a desired objective somewhere in the vicinity of the fifth rib, obligingly deflected the marauder to Mr. H. Edwards in the slips. One for ten. Tom Reid, bowling exceedingly well from the other end, then disposed of Jones, playing inside of an outswinger and giving an easy chance to the same chap in the same place. Two for 20. Gerry Blechynden was too ill to do himself justice; Jack Gascoyne batted as nicely and correctly as usual before being run out and it was left to Alf Gee and the youthful Mick Starkle to check the Dingup march. Smith's Brook batted stubbornly enough to avoid a follow on, closing their innings with 84. Collins secured the best bowling figures for Dingup, finishing with 3 for 6.

The light was now very unsatisfactory and rain falling, but with an hour to play Smith's Brook was obliged to take the field.

They secured the wicket of C. Doust for 14 runs before an appeal against the light was upheld by umpires Chatley and Gillard and play was abandoned. Dingup were thus 59 runs ahead with nine wickets intact at the close of the first day's play.

The game is in a very interesting position, Smith's Brook being quite confident of producing their really strong batting form in their second innings and Dingup have every hope of emulating their bowling achievement of the first.

A death which occurred at the St. John of God Hospital at Belmont on Saturday last brought to a close at the age of 90 the earthly pilgrimage of a former resident of these parts. The deceased was Henry Herbert Blechynden of Cross St., Swanbourne, who in his younger days farmed at Mt. Kokeby, and was a member of a family with strong ties in this district. He was a brother of Mr. Bill Blechynden, an aged resident now living in Forrest Street, Beverley, who still has interests at Kokeby. When Herbert Blechynden left Beverley many years ago he went to the Manjimup district with which he was to have a very long association. He married Beatrice Edwards, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alf Edwards who lived here over fifty years ago. Mrs. Edwards conducting a private hospital for some years. His wife predeceased him but an exceptionally large family is left to mourn his passing, the members comprising, Marianna (Mrs L. Young), Kathleen (Mrs L. Barley), Laura (Mrs T. Ryan), Veronica (Sister M. Veronica, St. Joseph's Convent, South Perth), Gerard, (Malachi, Mervyn, Ignatius, Marguerite (Sister M. Consolata, St. John of God Convent, Warrnambool Victoria), Terence and Genevieve (Mrs R. Newton). The funeral took place at Karrakatta following a Requiem Mass at St. Joseph's Church, Subiaco, on Wednesday morning.

'BLECHYNDEN—MCDONALD.

At the Sacred Heart Church, Beverley, on Wednesday, the 10th inst., the Rev. Dean O'Reilly joined together in the holy bonds of wedlock Miss Mary McDonald, only daughter of the late Mr. Joseph McDonald, of Sydney, and Mr. W. H. Blechynden, second son of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Blechynden, of "Erin Dale," Beverley. The ceremony was a very quiet one on account of a recent bereavement, only a few of the relations and immediate friends of the contracting parties being present. The bride was given away by her brother (Mr. Joseph McDonald, of Kokeby), and was attended by Miss Fitzpatrick as bridesmaid, Mr. Arthur Blechynden filling the position of best man. The wedding breakfast was partaken of at the residence of Mr. C. Austin, and the customary toasts were honored.

The happy couple, who were the recipients of a large number of pretty and useful presents, went away to Perth by the afternoon train for their honeymoon.

BEVERLEY. Jan. 6. — The adjourned inquest into the circumstances of the death of Stafford Henry William Blechynden, who was killed in a motoring accident on the night of December 24 was resumed at the Beverley Court House yesterday. Mr. F. M. Read, R. M. District Coroner, presided, and the Police Department was represented by Inspector Crowe, of Northam. Mr. R. S. Williams watched the interests of R. M. Wansbrough, who was driving the car when the crash occurred.

After considering evidence submitted by several witnesses, including Dr. Burnside, Constable Rea, the driver of the vehicle, and Allan Cooper, who was a passenger in the car, the Coroner delivered the following finding: "Deceased died at Beverley on December 25, 1932, through injuries received on December 24, when a motor car driven by R.M. Wansbrough, in which he was a passenger, collided with a road guide post. I also find that such collision was brought about by the negligence of the said R. M. Wansbrough, and that he therefore, unlawfully killed the said Stafford Henry William Blechynden."

The Coroner added that certain facts had been placed before him which were all honestly and openly admitted by Wansbrough. They were:— (1) That he was driving a motor car with only one head light (the left) burning, and that such light was a dull one; (2) that he was driving to the incorrect side of road; (3) that a car which had passed him had caused a considerable amount of dust to rise and, on account of the stillness of the night it had remained suspended in the air, causing visibility to be poor; and (4) that he was travelling at 20 miles an hour when visibility, owing to the above causes, was very poor.

The Coroner also quoted Section 266 of, the Criminal Code, and went on to say that under that section a duty was imposed on all persons using dangerous things, which included a moving motor vehicle, to

The Altar and Sanctuary of The Sacred Heart Church, Beverley, was beautifully and artistically decorated by the Presentation Nuns on June 29 when Rev. Fr. O'Callaghan united in holy matrimony, John Martin, second son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Blechynden, of Mt. Kokeby, and Lorna Irene, second daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Fleay, of Gilgering.

The bride entered the Church to the strains of the "Wedding March" (played by Miss O'Brien) on the arm of her brother, Mervyn. She made a pretty picture in a beautiful frock of brocaded satin cut on simple lines close fitting with high neck spaghetti trimmed and long sleeves ending in a point at the wrists, the back forming pleats and ending in a soft train. She also wore a beautiful handembroidered veil of Brussels net which fell in graceful folds to form a train, and was held in place by the circlet of orange blossoms originally worn by her mother. She carried a sheaf of white roses and lilies and was attended by Miss Yvonne Fleay (sister) and Miss Sheila Blechynden (sister of the groom) who were dressed alike in becoming frocks of harlequin pink cloque. They wore dainty hats the crowns of which were composed of velvet flowers and transparent brims and sheaf bouquets of pink roses and autumn tonings.

Messrs. Robert and Roland Fleay (brothers of the bride) ably carried out the duties of best man and groomsman, respectively.

As the bride came down the aisle after the ceremony Mrs. W. Blechynden placed a pretty good luck horse shoe on her arm.

After the ceremony the immediate relatives of the bride and bridegroom adjourned to the Railway Hotel where a dainty repast was partaken and the usual toasts were honoured and congratulatory telegrams read.

The party later journeyed to Gwambygine Hall where a large and representative crowd was gathered to offer their congratulations.

As the bridal party entered, the company in the Hall formed a guard of honour, and the happy couple were conducted to their seats. The Hall was appropriately decorated for the occasion with silver horse shoes and other symbols of good luck.

During the evening a presentation was made by Mr. Hicks on behalf of residents of Gwambygine and surrounding districts. He wished the residents of Gwambygine and surrounding districts. He wished the young couple every happiness and prosperity. Mrs. Owens then spoke in affectionate terms of her long association with the bride and her family, and wished the couple every happiness in their new life.

The bridegroom in a few words thanked the people very sincerely for their good wishes and the genuine and hearty reception to his wife and self.

A beautiful supper was prepared and one tier of the wedding cake was cut by the bride and distributed. Dancing was indulged in until a late hour.

The bride's travelling dress was a brown flecked Donegal tweed costume with a dainty fawn silk blouse, and a distinctive close fitting cellophane straw toque, with accessories to tone.

Mr. and Mrs. Blechynden left by car for Northam and later for Mt. Palmer where they will make their home. A large number of pretty and useful presents were received including several cheques.

Motor Fatality on York-Perth Road

Mr. William Walter Fleay, a Prominent York Farmer, Killed.

TWO OTHER OCCUPANTS INJURED.

On Tuesday night last whilst returning from Perth Messrs. W. W. Fleay, farmer of "Oakover," Gilgerring, E. W. Fleay, farmer of "Glen Irwin," Gwambygine, P. F. Cameron, manager York Co-op, H. L. Evans, solicitor, York, and Gordon Fisher, accountant, York, were involved in a motor accident on the York-Perth Road with fatal result, Mr. W. W. Fleay being apparently killed instantaneously.

The above-mentioned gentlemen, who are all prominent business men and farmers of this town and district, journeyed to Perth on Tuesday morning and after transacting various business left for home, having dinner at Sawyers on the way. The car in which they were travelling was a Buick owned by Mr. W.W. Fleay and was being driven by Mr. Cameron. It was at about 1030 p.m. when not quite eight miles from the town that the car left the road and struck a York gum stump on the left-hand side with the result that practically the whole side of the car was torn away. The owner who was seated in the left corner of the rear seat must have received the full force of the impact for he was lifted right out of the car. Death was apparently instantaneous, he receiving a crushed chest and broken thigh. The deceased's brother, Mr E. W. Fleay, occupied the seat on the same side immediately in front and he sustained injuries to the left arm and bruised shoulder. Mr. Evans, seated alongside of the deceased sustained shock and bruises whilst Messrs. Cameron and Fisher who were on the right-hand side escaped injury.

Dr. H. W. Ward was summoned and he together with the ambulance were soon on the scene of the tragedy, where it was found that Mr. Fleay was dead. The body and the other occupants of the car were conveyed to the town. The following morning the Acting Coroner (Mr Roy Inkpen, J P) accompanied by Sergt Donohue visited the spot. The stump which the car struck is portion of a dead York gum which is standing practically right alongside of the road, the jagged end of the stump extending a little over the roadway at a height of about four feet. According to the wheel tracks and the measurements taken by the police the car left the actual roadway approximately 27 feet from the tree and then after striking it continued on its way for about another 30 feet and then stopped facing the fence which runs parallel with the road. The car was considerably damaged and was covered by insurance. A coronial inquiry was opened on Wednesday morning and after evidence of identification was given was adjourned sine die. The deceased gentleman was well-known in this and Beverley districts and was most popular with all sections the community and his untimely* death will be deeply regretted by all. He was 58 years of age, and his wife predeceased him some eight or nine months ago. To the bereaved family of two daughters and four sons, who within twelve months, have lost father and mother every sympathy is extended.

Martin-Murphy Wedding.

On the afternoon of Monday, 20th January, a quiet but pretty wedding (says the "Mirror") took place at St. John's Church, Melbourne Road, Perth, between Mr. William E. Martin, proprietor of the Club Hotel, Nungarra (Black Range), and Miss Murphy, of Fremantle, the Rev. G. Grimes officiating. The bride, who was given away by Mr. H. L. Dobbie, looked charming in a dainty dress of pastel shade of silk voile, trimmed with cream lace, with a prettily trimmed bodice, picture hat of cream tulle, with long white ostrich feathers; and she carried a lovely bouquet of tuber roses and ferns tied with white streamers. Mrs. H. L. Dobbie, who attended the bride, wore a pretty dress of French silk voile, cream and green, and trimmed with cream lace net and reseda green velvet, trimmed with pale pink rosebuds, and she carried a pretty bouquet of pink roses and maidenhair fern tied with pale pink ribbons. Mrs. T. Hyland (mother of the bride), wore a handsome black louissine silk over white glaze, bodice trimmed with cream lace, with black velvet strappings, and smart-hat of black and white tulle and black and white ospreys setting off the costume. She also carried a beautiful bouquet. After the ceremony a reception was held at "Cooroona," the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Dobbie, which was tastefully decorated for the occasion. The bridegroom's present to the bride consisted of a handsome chain bracelet, the bride's present to the bridegroom being a silver shaving set; whilst many other handsome presents were received by the happy couple. Mr. and Mrs. Martin spent their honeymoon at Armadale and Mandurah.

Mr. Thomas McLean, an old pioneer of the Rainbow district, passed away on Tuesday of last week at the advanced age of 79 years. Deceased, who was a native of Scotland, arrived in South Australia in 1856 and took up his residence at Myponga. He next migrated to Victoria and settled at Beaufort. It was there that he lost his first wife, who was drowned whilst crossing a stream. Some years later he married Miss Johanna Cowan, and the issue of the union was four children, three of whom survive. Deceased subsequently took up land at Sheep Hills, where he lived for many years and where it was that his second wife died in 1879. Some 16 years ago deceased settled on his son's farm, near Rainbow, and he resided with him until his death. One of deceased's brothers resides in Beverley, W.A. The surviving members of deceased's family are Mrs. S. Dart and Mr. John McLean, of Rainbow and Messrs. James and Walter McLean, of Beverley, W.A.

OBITUARY

Mrs Mabel Jessie McLean

A gloom was cast over the Christmas occasion in a number of Beverley district homes as the result of the sudden demise on December 25 as the result of a heart seizure of Mrs Mabel Jessie McLean, of Hunt Road, Beverley. She was 67 years of age.

The late Mrs McLean had had a very long association with these parts. She was the widow of the late James Kenneth McLean of the County Peak area and saw much of the early development of that portion of the district. In her retirement she has had as her companion her daughter, Maisie.

Born at Port Augusta, South Australia, she was a daughter of the late Mr and Mrs G Adamson, who, with a family of four came to Western Australia about 55 years ago and almost immediately took up land at County Peak and later acquired farming interests in the Dangin district.

A family of seven mourns her passing these comprising sons Roy and Eric, and daughters Maisie, Effie (Mrs A Kilpatrick) Jean (Mrs A Chester) Joan (Mrs J Chester) and Agnes (Mrs O'Callaghan).

A sister, Mrs S Wansbrough, of Forrest Street, Beverley, also survives her.

The funeral took place at the Methodist cemetery after a service at the church on December 27th, the Rev T Cook officiating. In the absence of Mr E T Fairhead Messrs Purslowe & Sons, of Northam, carried out the arrangements.

School Guttled

State school at Mt. Kokeby, 106 miles from Perth, was destroyed by fire early yesterday morning. Cause of the fire is not known. It was first noticed about 1 a.m., quickly gutted the small wooden building. The small and scattered settlement has no fire brigade and no water with which to fight a fire. Even the tank near the school had no water in it, a report states. Residence of the school mistress, about 40 feet away, was undamaged. Police from Beverley, eight miles from Mt. Kokeby, are making inquiries.

William Blechynden is mentioned as a witness in the following article about the Mt Kokeby School.

Mt. Kokeby School Fire

INQUEST HELD

At the Beverley Court House on Friday, May 11, 1945, the Coroner (Mr. F. A. Bateman, S.M.) held an enquiry into the circumstances surrounding the fire which destroyed the Mt. Kokeby School.

After hearing the evidence of some sixteen witnesses the Coroner found that the fire was deliberately started by some person or persons unknown.

The first witness was Miss E. M. Fox who was the teacher at the school and who deposed that after dismissing the children on Friday, March 13 she and a pupil, Joan Collard, closed and locked the school, closing the only window used. Although it was usual to burn any rubbish, none was burnt on that day. The only inflammable material left in the school was a small bottle of methylated spirits in a cupboard. No fire was left and no lamp burning. There was no electric light installed. Witness lived with the Hunter family in the school house about 40 yards from the school. After retiring about 10 p.m. witness awoke at about 1:30 and saw the reflection of a light in her room. Getting up she saw through the kitchen window that the school was on fire. Flames were issuing from the windows and the chimney of the school. The grass between the school house and the school was on fire. On going to the scene witness found Mr. Richards, Mrs. Thorpe and Mrs. Hunter and two children. The fire appeared to have been going some time and had a good hold. There was no hope of doing anything to save the school. There was no water available. While watching the fire witness noticed a light moving up and down the railway line on the school side of the line. It appeared to move first along the line for about a chain and came up to the gate of the school grounds. Witness remained up until about 4 a.m. and saw the light between 2 a.m. and 4 a.m. It looked like a lantern being carried by a person walking up and down. Mrs. Thorpe, Mr. Richards, Mrs. Hunter and the children were the only ones at the scene. They discussed the moving light but no one went to investigate it. It seemed mysterious. Whoever was carrying the light did not come over to the fire. After burning for some time all the walls of the building fell inward. There was no smell of kerosene or petrol burning. The fire had died down by 4 a.m. when witness again retired. The school children's books, a library of school books and witness' own books were destroyed. Some time previous to the fire there had been a meeting of residents with the object of having the school closed and a bus service for the children to Beverley being instituted. Nothing had been definitely decided.

Questioned by Mr. Parslow, witness stated that the building was a wooden structure with an iron roof. It had not been painted for more than three years and the timber was very dry.

Similar evidence was given by Mrs. A. M. Hunter, with whom Miss Fox resided.

Edwin Richards, a gunner stationed at Rottneest Inland, stated that he was on leave at Mt. Kokeby on the 17th March. After being in Beverley during the day he returned with his sister Mrs. Thorpe and her family, by the Albany express, arriving at Mt. Kokeby about 12.45 a.m. Getting off the train they

After being in Beverley during the day he returned with his sister Mrs. Thorpe and her family by the Albany express, arriving at Mt. Kokeby about 12.45 a.m. Getting off the train they proceeded through the station yard and thence through the school yard to their home at the post office. They noticed nothing unusual on the way. The school and school house were in darkness, though witness noticed a very dull light in one of the rooms of the school house. A motor car pulled up outside the post office some time after witness went to bed and following this he could not get to sleep. About half an hour later, a glare was noticed coming through the window. Getting out of bed, witness noticed from the verandah that the school was on fire. He proceeded to the scene and there saw flames shooting out of the ventilators and windows. He returned home to dress and was later joined at the fire by Mrs. Hunter and Mrs. Thorpe, Miss Fox and the Hunter children. Witness was of the opinion that the fire must have been smouldering inside for some time. The building was not burning on the outside, the fire being definitely inside. There was no grass alight around the school when witness arrived but it caught alight later. The roof of the school fell in first, then the walls collapsed. There was no smell of kerosene or petrol. There was a moderate breeze. The grass burned toward the railway line. While at the fire witness noticed a light which he took to be a hurricane lamp moving about. He saw it on and off for about two hours but it did not come up to the school. The Albany express remained at Mt. Kokeby for a little time on the Saturday night and while there sparks were noticed coming from the engine and blowing to the south-west in the opposite direction

Mrs. Thorpe, sister of the previous witness, gave similar evidence. Evidence that the fire was not noticed up until 1:30 a.m. was given by Colin R. Ridgway, William Blechynden and Mervyn Fleay, who each passed the school on their way home. The native tracker, Gilgie, attached to Northam District Police Office, gave evidence of the finding of tracks from the school yard crossing the railway line. He was of the opinion that they were made by a person wearing the boots which were produced in Court. There were sets of similar tracks in other places. Detective G. Winning detailed his investigations in to the fire and of his questioning of William Charles Bergen and corroborative evidence was given by Constable Thomson, who had assisted him. William Charles Bergen, when called, declined to give evidence as did also Janet Bryce Powell, acting upon the advice of counsel. Mr. Colville Parslow appeared to watch the interests of William Charles Bergen and Detective Winning assisted the Coroner.

 The bridesmaid was Miss Elsie Swan, a friend of the bride—who wore a powder blue frock of silk crepe made on simple lines, with navy accessories; she also carried a bouquet similar to the bride's.
 The duties of best man was carried out by Mr Kevin Blechynden, brother of the groom.
 After the ceremony a reception was held at the Lesser Hall to which relatives and friends were invited. The guests were received by the bride's mother, who wore a smart navy blue frock and hat. She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother, who wore a floral costume, with black accessories.
 During the reception a beautiful 2-tiered cake, which was made and iced by Mrs. J Shackles was cut. The young couple left later by car on their honeymoon.

VALE
FLORENCE MARGARET
REYNOLDS

With the passing of Mrs Florence Margaret Reynolds (widow of the late George Edward Reynolds) at the Beverley hospital on October 14 another tie with Beverley's early days has been severed.

Born in Townsville, Queensland, of Scottish parents, Florence's early life was marred by the premature death of her father during a cyclone. Her mother returned to Scotland where Florence was educated.

Because of her Daughter's persistent ill-health due to the cold climate, Mrs Webb decided to return to Australia where she settled in Beverley. Although of diminutive build, Florence developed here the wiry and tenacious strength that was to carry her through to her 87th year.

In 1910, at St Mary's Church, Beverley, she married George Edward Reynolds. The Re. Canon Groser performed the ceremony and the couple settled in Beverley where Mr Reynolds carried on his trade of carpenter.

The couple had a son, Gordon, and two daughters, Flossie and Elsie who later married Mr Bill Blechynden.

Mrs Reynolds was a staunch member of the Anglican Church and for many years

Church and for many years expressed her love of music in the church choir. She was a foundation member of the Dorcas Society and possibly also of the Mothers Union.

Although of a quiet and retiring nature, Florence possessed a bright and happy outlook on life and was a firm favourite of the many who knew and loved her. In her later life she was one of the first to take up residence in the Frail Aged Lodge. When her health began to fail she moved to Beverley hospital where she remained until she died.

To her son, Gordon, and surviving daughter Flossie, (Mrs J. D. McLean), her son-in-law families and grandchildren the sincere condolences of their many friends are offered.

The funeral was conducted by Canon Henry Tassell on Tuesday October 19 after a service in St Mary's Church Beverley.

Wedding Bells.

SMITH—MCDONALD.

A number of friends gathered at "Dunbeath," the East Beverley residence of Mr. F. McDonald, on Wednesday 25th February, to witness the marriage of his youngest daughter Flora, to Mr. Milford Smith, of "Ferndale," East Beverley. The Rev. R. Hanhu, of Albany (a very old friend of the McDonald family) officiated.

The bride entered on the arm of her father and took her place beside the bridegroom, under a large wedding bell, which with other decorations had been tastefully arranged out by friends of the bride. She wore a pretty frock of ivory satin morocain with georgette sleeves and pearl trimming, a coronet of orange blossom, and a beautifully embroidered veil (which was lent to the bride for the occasion by a friend, Mrs. McKeilar, of Beverley). She also carried a lovely bouquet of asters, roses and fern.

The bridesmaid, Miss Mary McDonald (sister of bride) wore a pretty frock of shrimp pink crepe-de- chene, hand embroidered, and a smart black hat. She also carried a pretty bouquet. Mr. Conrad Smith (brother of bridegroom) carried out the duties of best man.

A reception was held on the wide verandah, immediately after the ceremony. Over fifty guests sat down to the wedding breakfast, where the usual toasts were honoured.

Numerous useful and valuable presents were received as well as a number of congratulatory telegrams.

The happy couple left by motor early in the evening for Perth, en route for the Eastern States, where the honeymoon will be spent. The bride travelled in a fawn gabardine costume with pretty hat to match.

Prominent Citizen's Demise

Descendent of a family which both on the maternal and paternal side first became associated with the Beverley district in 1837, only eight years after the foundation of the colony, Milford Desmond Smith, whose name will ever be associated with "Ferndale," seven miles East of Beverley, passed away at the age of 71 years at the Beverley Hospital on Monday night. He suffered a heart attack in the city two years ago and was ill for a long period, since when he has lived in retirement at Beverley. It was a second attack of the same nature which caused his demise. He is survived by a widow, two sons (Cedric and Keith), and two daughters Mary (Mrs K. Blechynden, of Kokeby), and Flora (Mrs. Peacock, of Mawson). whilst a brother, Conrad, and a sister (Mrs. Baty), also survive him. All are very well-known here and to them all condolences are being extended in their sudden bereavement.

Two of the male members of this family were the recipients of presentations from the government of the day in recognition of services rendered in the capture of the murderers of Police-constable Hackett, which occurred just off the main street of the town ship.

Milford Smith was a son of Mr. Samuel Smith who in 1890 selected land which became the "Ferndale" property and where the subject of this notice was born in 1894. As a young man he became associated with the working of the farm but with the outbreak of war in 1914 enlisted for overseas service, serving first with a 10th Light Horse reinforcement unit in Egypt and later joining up with the 4th Division Artillery with which he served for 2½ years in France. He rose to the rank of Sergeant of Artillery. His periods of leave from France were expended in seeing all he possibly could of the homeland. Following his homecoming he returned to Beverley, to the farm duties from which he had been absent for over four years. In his absence the farm had been carried on by his father and brother, Conrad. His father died in 1940.

The late citizen was responsible for the foundation of the Ferndale sheep and cattle studs, meeting with much success with Southdown sheep and Aberdeen Angus cattle. The measure of the stud's success may be gauged by the many awards it has gained over the years at Royal and other shows in this State and even at Smithfield in London. The property was expanded in 1926 by purchases from adjoining landholders. The previous year Mr. Smith had married Miss Flora McDonald, of "Dunbeath," East Beverley.

Over and above his normal farm activities Milford Smith found time to give much service to various organisations in this district and further a-field. During the last world war, he was chairman of the Beverley Branch of the Australian Comforts Fund. He also served periods as vice-president of the Beverley District Infant Health centre, president of the Beverley branch of P.P.A., and a member of the general Executive; President of the Beverley sub branch of the R.S.L. for eight years; and chairman of the local Repatriation Committee. He was also a State president of the Country & Democratic League of W.A. and on occasion represented W.A. at Wool Producers Conferences.

The late citizen at one time aspired to represent the district in the State Legislative Assembly, offering his services as a Country Party member, but was defeated at the polls by the late James Mann. As a young man Milford played football with the original St. Aubyn's Club and was always interested in all types of clean sport. His demise robs the district of a resident of splendid repute who served his country and his district with a fine sense of citizenship and no little ability.

THE FUNERAL

There was a very large attendance at the funeral of the deceased citizen which was held at the Anglican Cemetery on Wednesday afternoon, and following a service at St. Mary's Church at which the Rev. Henry Tasseil paid tribute to the deceased both in his family life and in service to his country. His citizenship had been demonstrated in diverse activities in furtherance of local organisations and to the advantage of the community in which he had lived for so long. He had loyally served the Country Party to which he had given strong allegiance and farmers organisations in general.

The pall bearers comprised: Messrs. C. Prior, C. S. Weaver, L. W. Hamilton, R. Bremner, L. R. Weaver, Geo. Carr, M. S. Murray and W. E. A. Heal and at the close of the service the "Last Post" and "Reveille" were sounded in soldierly tribute to the late citizen's service in the first world war. Many friends of the family now living in other parts of the State were present to pay their last tributes of respect, and the Country Party were represented by former M.H.R. Len Hamilton, Hon. Les Diver President of the Council. Hon. Norm Baxter, M.L.C., and the Member for the District, Mr. H. W. Gayfer.

The R.S.L. pledge: "They shall not grow old at the going down of the sun and in the morning, we shall remember them" was spoken by Beverley Branch president Mr Dave Mcintosh. A great number of floral tributes were received.

Wedding Bells.

BLECHYNDEN—FITZPATRICK.

St. Joachim's Church, Victoria Park, was the scene of a quiet yet pretty wedding on Tuesday, September 29th, when Stella Bertile, third daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Fitzpatrick, of Shepperton Road, Victoria Park, was united in marriage to Arthur, third son of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Blechynden, of Beverley, in the presence of a large gathering of friends, the Very Rev. Dean O'Reilly officiating.

The bride entered the Church on the arm of her father, looking very dainty in her smart frock of soft white silk, wearing the usual veil and natural orange blossom, and carrying a beautiful bouquet of white flowers. The bridal veil, which fell in graceful folds, was of Brussels net, beautifully worked in honiton-point, and was the gift and work of the bride's grandmother, as was also the trimming on the dress.

The maids in attendance were the Misses Kathleen Blechynden and Dorothy Fitzpatrick, who were attired in girlish frocks of dainty flowered voile, mob caps, and carrying handsome bouquets. The best man was Mr. W. H. Blechynden, and Mr. Ray Fitzpatrick (brother of the bride) supported him.

WEDDING:

BLECHYNDEN — FITZPATRICK

St Joachims Church, Victoria Park, was the scene of a quiet yet pretty wedding on Tuesday, September, 29th, (1914) when Stella Bertile, third daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Fitzpatrick of Shepperton Road, Victoria Park, was united in matrimony to Arthur, the third son of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Blechynden of Beverley, in the presence of a large gathering of friends, the Very Rev. Dean O'Reilly officiating.

The bridal party left the Church to the strains of the Wedding March, played by Mrs. Geddes. A nice change was noticed when rose leaves instead of confetti was showered over the happy couple. Breakfast was partaken of at the residence of the bride's parents, and the usual toasts proposed by Dean O'Reilly were duly honored.

During the evening the young couple left by train for Cottesloe, where the honeymoon was spent, the bride travelling in a smart frock of champagne silk poplin, relieved with touches of saxe blue, hat en suite.

Mr. and Mrs. Blechynden were the recipients of many pretty and useful presents and numerous congratulatory telegrams, and have taken up their residence at Mt. Kokeby.

Foxes at Mount Kokeby.

What was probably a record catch of foxes for the State was made recently by Mr. Arthur Blechynden, of Erindale, in the Mount Kokeby ward of the Beverley Road Board district. As a result, the board has been asked to pay-out on ten scalps. Noticing tracks, Mr. Blechynden followed them to some old burrows on the sand plain, near his property, and after a 'few minutes' digging came upon a litter of seven cubs. After killing these he continued digging and found three more cubs in an adjoining burrow. The parent foxes, have not been seen.

EX-KOKEBY FARMER DIES

MR ARTHUR BLECHYNDEN

The death of a former well known farmer of the Kokeby district in the person of Mr Arthur Blechynden occurred in a Perth hospital suddenly on Monday last. He had previously undergone an operation but his passing occurred unexpectedly and came as a great shock to family and friends. Mr Blechynden was 68 years of age.

The deceased is well-re membered in this district having been a member of a family associated with Beverley from earliest times. For a long period he farmed at Mt Kokeby before leaving years ago to take up residence at Swanbourne and more recently at Mundaring.

As a young man he was prominently associated with local sport and particularly as a footballer with the old St Aubyns team with which he played from its formation.

His wife was formerly a Miss Fitzpatrick and she with a family is left to mourn his passing. A brother, Mr Bill Blechynden, and a sister, Miss Kathleen Blechynden, reside at Beverley, whilst a daughter (Mrs J O'Shea) lives at Dangin.

WEDDING.

O'SHEA—BLECHYNDEN

On June 25th at the Sacred Heart Church, Beverley, the Rev Dr. Giles officiated at the wedding of Dorothy, eldest daughter of Mr and Mrs Arthur Blechynden, late of Mt Kokeby, and John, second son of Mrs E and the late Mr J O'Shea, of County Peak.

The bride entered the Church on her father's arm wearing a frock of white all-over lace made on simple lines and trimmed with pleated satin. She wore her mother's wedding veil of Brussels net and Honeton lace, worn with a coronet of lily of the valley and pearls. She carried a sheaf of white roses, gardenias and fern.

The bridesmaid was Miss Betty Blechynden (sister of the bride) who wore a frock of mauve georgette made with high neckline and peter pan collar, shirred bodice and sleeves and long mittens to tone. She also wore a mauve coronet and veil and carried a pretty sheaf of mixed blooms shading from pink to mauve.

The duties of best man were carried out by Mr A O'Shea, brother of the bridegroom.

After the ceremony Mr and Mrs Blechynden entertained a few relatives at the Freemasons Hotel, Mrs Blechynden wearing a smart wedge wood blue ensemble of wool-de chine and a hat to tone. She carried a bouquet of gold roses and fern.

A very dainty repast was partaken of and the 2-tiered wedding cake was duly cut by the bride. The usual toasts were honoured.

The Rev Dr Giles very ably acted as chairman and many congratulatory telegrams were read. Many pretty and useful gifts were received including several cheques.

The happy couple left by road for their honeymoon, Mrs O Shea travelling in a smart wool jersey ensemble in bardia rose shade with grey accessories.

BLECHYNDEN—ST. JACK: The engagement is announced of Bertile Teresa, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Blechynden, 6 Fraser-street, Swanbourne, to Brian St. Jack, 94 Shenton-road, Swanbourne.

BRIAN JORDAN ST JACK (1912-1985) was born 13 Nov 1912, Mount Barker, (Plantagenet), WA [Reg. 244]. Parents: THOMAS ST JACK (1863-1940) and SARAH ELIZABETH JORDON (1878-1962) who were married 28 Jul 1897, Broomhill, (Woodgarup), WA [Reg. 711]. Registered under Saint Jack. Brian died 19 Oct 1985, Busselton, WA, aged 72 years.

The following five pages contain details of Brian Jordan St Jack's parents, Thomas St Jack (1863-1940) and Sarah Elizabeth Jordon (1878-1962) and a brief history of his grandparents.

THOMAS ST JACK (1863-1940) Brian Jordan St Jack's father

There are a number of discrepancies as to Thomas St Jack's birth and parents:

Family Trees in Ancestry have him as Thomas John Jack born in 1863 in Hobart, TAS, son of Francis Jack and Elizabeth McDonald. Note the surname of Jack. Thomas John Jack was born 21 Feb, 1863, Hobart, TAS. Frances and Elizabeth's first two children were born in TAS. they then moved to New Zealand where their next two born and the family remained. Thomas John Jack died 1925, Christchurch, New Zealand, [Reg. 2592]. This does not appear to be our Thomas St Jack. All records we have of Thomas St Jack is of him with the name of just Thomas and the surname of St Jack.

Thomas St Jack was born 26 Sep 1863, Ballarat, VIC. I cannot find a registration for this birth.

Thomas St Jack died 19 Aug 1940, Beverley, WA [Reg. 400032], aged 75 years. Parents recorded as PETER ST JACK and MARY WALSH. Was this an error? I cannot find any other records of them.

His burial records record he was born in Ballarat, VIC, 26 Sep 1863.

OBITUARYMR THOMAS ST JACK

The death occurred at the Beverley Hospital on Tuesday last of Mr Thomas St. Jack, of Balkuling, at the age of 75 years. Deceased had been a resident of the latter district for the past thirteen years, farming a property in conjunction with his sons. He had been ill for about three weeks and was an inmate of the Hospital for a fortnight.

The late Mr St. Jack was born at Ballarat, Victoria, and when grown to manhood was engaged in farming enterprises. When 28 years of age he came to Western Australia and for many years conducted a mixed farming property at Mt. Barker. He was also manager for a period of the Kendenup Estate for the late Mr J S F Hassell, leaving there to take up the present property at Balkuling. During their residence in these parts deceased and his family have become most popular with all who knew them and there were many expressions of regret at the news of the family bereavement. Besides leaving a widow deceased is survived by a married daughter, who lives at Doodenannin, and six sons: Thomas (Mt. Barker), James (Kendenup) and Ray, Brian, Pat and Colin (Balkuling).

A Requiem Mass was held at the Roman Catholic Church on Wednesday morning and the funeral took place in the Catholic Cemetery in the afternoon, the Rev. Fr. Giles officiating. There was a large attendance of members of the family, relatives and friends, and wreaths and floral tributes were received from the following:

Mrs. St. Jack and family; Gran, Leah, Lya and Mary, Kit and Jim; Dorne and Ethel; Jim Annie and family; Mr and Mrs J Loudon; J H Mann; Frank, Sheila and Jim McDonald; Hastings Family; Mr and Mrs Bateman and May; Nell; Mr and Mrs Hawksley and family; Directors and Staff of Balkuling Co op; J and E Adamson; Mr and Mrs Terry Loneragan and family; Mr and Mrs E Rule and family; Members Balkuling Golf Club; Mrs S Hart; Mr and Mrs Aiken and Hugh; Mr and Mrs A Minchin; Nora and Peg; S M Solomon and family; Mr and Mrs D H Johnston; Syd and Elma Fowler and family; C and B Bateman; Mr and Mrs A H Murray and Mrs R Draper and A Woodley; Mr and Mrs Fowler; Mrs A H Murray and Mrs R Draper and A Woodley; Mr and Mrs Fowler and family; Mr and Mrs E C Johnston; Stan Mercy Minchin and family; Mr and Mrs D Johnston; Herb and Ada; Ruby, Trix, Fos and Cyril; Jess, Clarence and Norrie; Annie and Mary McDonald; Mr and Mrs C Johnson and family.

CARLISLE CRASH.

Motor Cyclist Dies.

LAC Roger Vincent Blechynden (24), of 6 Fraser-street, Swanbourne, who was severely injured when a motor cycle he was riding collided with a motor truck in Rutland Avenue, Carlisle, on Friday afternoon, died at the Hollywood Military Hospital on Saturday morning. He will be given an Air Force funeral.

There were many notices in the paper by family and friends mourning his death. These are just a couple.

BLECHYNDEN (LAC Roger Vincent, RAAF). --Always a lonely heartache, many a silent tear, often, too, a little prayer for our dearest boy, who died of injuries on December 11, 1943; aged 24 years. Time takes away the edge of every grief, but memory turns back every leaf. Inserted by his loving parents, sisters and brother.

BLECHYNDEN. --In loving memory of my dear Friend, Roger, who passed away December 11, 1943. The best of friends can always meet along the way of memory sweet. Inserted by Laurel FIELD.

Sister Rita Clare Blechynden

Newspaper article:

Sister leaves with one regret – she's not a 'grandma'

BUSSELTON: A woman who has never married but who has given a quarter of an average lifetime caring for the health of young children in this district is to retire on February 5.

She is Sister Rita Blechynden who, since she came to Busselton in 1964, has helped and advised a large but unknown number of mothers in the care of their babies.

Being a child health nurse requires special qualifications and training as well as training and experience in general nursing and midwifery.

Sister Blechyndens interest in the health of children in particular started long before she came to Busselton.

She was for 10 years a ward sister at Princess Margaret Hospital, then trained in child health at the N'Gala Mothercraft Centre for the Busselton appointment.

Like most other forms of health care, that relating to babies and young children now has a much larger scope than it did about two decades ago.

Sister Blechynden said from planning the diet and watching the weight of babies, which was her prime responsibility when she first came to Busselton, the child health care programme had been widened to cover a far greater range.

Child Health Department Sisters now had the responsibility of referring to doctors babies which developed special problems.

Personal advice to mothers which will help them to care better for their children and assist them in coping with everyday problems is also now part of a child-care sister repertoire. "Calm mothers invariably have calm babies," Sister Blechynden said.

She added that she felt sorry for many young mothers these days because of the pressures being put on them in many ways, often by the media.

Sister Blechynden said the demands being made on child health care sisters' time was now far greater because of more detailed physical examinations of children - particularly first-time babies - liaison with doctors and other health care workers.

She made the point that the clinic continued to monitor the progress of youngsters until they were about five years old.

Her duties also included home visits when required by mothers with special problems.

Apart from assisting babies get a healthy start in life, Sister Blechynden has often had to play the part of foster parent to worried or distressed mothers.

Nevertheless, she said it had been a rewarding 17 1/2 years with only one small regret. That is that she has not been in the job quite long enough to be a grandmother. Sister Blechynden had hoped that before she retired one of the children she had helped care for would have been bringing a baby to the clinic.

During her stay to date in Busselton Sister Blechynden has lived in a flat at the clinic which she will vacate for her successor.

However, Sister Blechynden will continue to live in Busselton in a new home she is having built in Peel Terrace.

Her retirement will provide her with the opportunity to do many of the things she has had to forego — gardening, reading and developing her culinary skills — because of a busy work schedule.

Sister Blechynden is also a keen horse-racing fan and is looking forward to being able to go to more race meetings, particularly in the country.

"My retirement will give me time to care for my house and relax, but no doubt I will continue to go peering into prams," she said.

WEDDING

BLECHYNDEN—THOMAS.

A wedding of interest to Mt. Kokeby and Beverley friends was celebrated on September 4th at St. Joachim's Church, Victoria Park, the contracting parties being David John, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Blechynden, of Fraser Street, Swanbourne (late of Mt. Kokeby) and Rosalie Maud, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Thomas, of Kalgoorlie.

In the unavoidable absence of her father, the bride entered the Church on the arm of an old friend Mr. T. Gill, who gave her away.

The chief bridesmaid was Miss Maureen Blechynden, sister of the bridegroom, and the second bridesmaid was Miss Irene Grenville, friend of the bride. The duties of best man were carried out by Mr. Keith Mulligan, and that of groomsman by Mr. Douglas Sorenson.

After the ceremony at which the Rev. P. Dunne officiated a few friends and relatives adjourned to the home of Miss Fitzpatrick where the cake was cut, congratulatory telegrams read, and good wishes bestowed on the happy couple who later left per the express for Kalgoorlie where they now live.

Handsome gifts were received, also several cheques. The good wishes of all their friends go with them in their new life.

A WINDFALL.

For Beneficiaries.

PROPERTY WORTH £8000.

Years after the death of their grandfather, Joseph Graham O'Connor, late of Mayfield, Newcastle, his two grandsons and two grand-daughters, who are beneficiaries under his will, learned that the estate included property at Lindfield worth £8000.

The land formed part of a Crown grant of 50 acres to Mr. O'Connor in the eighties. To all appearances the whole of the land was sold at a later date, but a more recent survey disclosed that the disposal included adjoining lands, and that there was a residue of the original grant. At one time a move was made to have the land dedicated as a park, but such a course was prevented by the intervention of the Crown.

According to Mr. L. C. Fitzpatrick, one of the beneficiaries, who brought an action in the Supreme Court yesterday, the members of his family were ignorant of their good fortune until October, 1924, when Harry McIntosh, who represented himself as an old friend of Mr. O'Connor, called on him and said that he had discovered a certain residue of land to which Mr. O'Connor had a doubtful claim. Mr. Fitzpatrick said that he signed an agreement whereby 75 per cent, of the land was to go to McIntosh and his friend, McLeish, and 25 per cent, to the Fitzpatrick family, after the certificate of title had been granted.

Mr. Fitzpatrick told the Court of further negotiations, which resulted in another agreement. This provided that if the certificate of title of the land was obtained the land was to be sold, the expenses were to be borne by McIntosh and McLeish, and

Mr. Fitzpatrick said that he signed an agreement whereby 75 per cent, of the land was to go to McIntosh and his friend, McLeish, and 25 per cent, to the Fitzpatrick family, after the certificate of title had been granted.

Mr. Fitzpatrick told the Court of further negotiations, which resulted in another agreement. This provided that if the certificate of title of the land was obtained the land was to be sold, the expenses were to be borne by McIntosh and McLeish, and the parties to the agreement were each to get one half of the balance. Still more discussions were held with the idea of a rearrangement of the percentages in relation to the costs of subdivision.

"It has since been ascertained that the land was under the Real Property Act, that the title was clear, and that the land had been in my grandfather's name for 40 years," said Mr. Fitzpatrick, who explained, also, that the cost to the beneficiaries of an equity suit was £1500.

The story was told during the hearing of the action in which Leo Columbus Fitzpatrick and Joseph Patrick Fitzpatrick, administrators of the estate of Joseph Graham O'Connor, sued Matthew John O'Neill and Henry Morrissey, solicitors, trading as Murphy and Mooney, for damages of £5000, alleging that in acting for the beneficiaries, the defendants had been neglectful of their interests during certain of the negotiations.

Mr. Justice James said that he would take the case from the jury, because there was no evidence of negligence against either defendant. He added that O'Neill, who had acted in the matter, had exercised every care, and had done everything possible to facilitate the transactions, and that if there was any delay it was the delay of other solicitors, and was entirely due to plaintiffs themselves. Plaintiffs were non-suited.

THE LATE MR. FREDERICK BERNASCONI.

By the death of Mr. Frederick Bernasconi, which took place recently with suddenness, there is removed from the Hamilton parish a man of sterling character. The deceased gentleman was returning to his home at about 5 o'clock in the evening of the 8th July, when he was noticed to be seized with a weakness and to fall to the roadside. Although assistance was immediately forthcoming and medical aid summoned it was found that death had taken place.

A native of the Manning River, where he was born sixty-three years ago, the late Mr. Bernasconi had resided for the past fifty years in the Newcastle district. Of a genial disposition, the deceased gentleman made many friendships and was most popular with all classes and creeds. Somewhat of a retiring disposition, he took little active interest in public matters. A husband and father, he devoted the major portion of his time to his wife and family, who were ever his first consideration. An exceptional type of Catholic he actively identified himself with all Church matters in Hamilton. As Warden of the Sacred Heart Parish for a considerable number of years, he was always to be relied upon to carry out his duties efficiently. He was appointed one of the prefects of the Sacred Heart Confraternity, which was recently re-formed in the parish. Also he was prominently associated with the Society of the Australian Holy Catholic Guild, in which he had occupied many official positions during a membership of forty-three years. For the last fourteen years Mr. Bernasconi had been in the employ of Messrs. Earp Woodcock and Beveridge, of Wickham, Newcastle, and prior to that was associated with the timber mills of Mr. Ellis.

Tactful and courteous at all times, the deceased gentleman enjoyed the close friendship of the Very Rev. Father Joseph O'Donohue, who was for many Via Maureen Morris in reply to a query as to whether Arthur and Stella's daughters were all nurses.

Yes, Arthur and Stella's daughters were all registered nurses, Rita was the Matron at Princes Margaret for quite a few years. I think Auntie Maureen may have been there as well but was a nurse in Melbourne. Mum (Rosalie – David's later to be wife) was her friend and they were in the Air Force together, that's how Mum met Dad. I have all Mums complete Air Force records. Applied for them, they are great, has all her application forms, discharge papers etc.

Kathleen Mary Blechynden was born 31 Dec 1888, at Beverley, WA. Registered in 1889 [Reg. 126]. Name written as Kathline Mary. She remained single. It appears 'Aunty Kit', was very family oriented and is portrayed in many family photos following. Kathleen was proud to be one of the bridesmaids at the wedding of Beatrice Edwards to her brother, Herbert Henry Blechynden, in 1905.

BEVERLEY NOTES.

WEDDING. EDWARDS-BLECHYNDEN.

A pretty wedding was celebrated at the R.C. Church here on the 1st instant, the contracting parties being Beatrice, the eldest daughter of Mr A. G. Edwards, to Herbert Henry, the eldest son of Mr. H. G. Blechynden, of "Erindale," Beverley. The Rev. Father Gilroy officiated. The bride, who was charmingly attired, wore a wreath and veil, and was given away by her father. Miss Kathleen Blechynden (sister of bridegroom) and Miss Bertha Edwards (sister of bride) acted as bridesmaids, while the bridegroom's brother, Mr. W. H. Blechynden, fulfilled the duties of best man. At the conclusion of the ceremony the wedding party partook of cake and wine, and later in the evening the newly-wedded couple left for their future home in the Mt. Kokeby district. The presents were numerous and useful.

Kathleen apparently cared for her elderly father Henry George Blechynden during his final years. This is confirmed in his obituary detailed earlier in the branch, see extract below:

His good wife predeceased him two or three years ago, but his daughter Kathleen continued to surround him with every care and attention, and to her and the three sons (Herbert, William and Arthur) who mourn the loss of a father our sympathies go out.

5. JESSE WILLIAM BLECHYNDEN (1845-1846)

Jesse William was Harrison and Charlotte Blechynden's fifth child. He was born 12 Apr 1845 at 'Babbyalla', East Beverley, Western Australia.

Tragically, Jesse was not to grow up with his brothers and sisters. He died from dysentery; 11 Dec 1846 aged 20 months at 'Babbyalla'.

5. BLECHYNDEN, JESSE WILLIAM (1845-1846) was born 12 Apr 1845 at Babballall (sic, 'Babbyalla'), East Beverley, WA. [Reg. 564]. Harrison and Charlotte were delighted to welcome their third son into the family. His oldest brother John was now aged 12 years and was already spending time helping his father on the farm. His sister Sarah was aged four years and Elizabeth three years and his brother, Henry George was just 18 months of age. The two girls enjoyed having another baby in the family. Jesse and Henry George were followed by another boy, Walter Edward who was born 16 Jun 1846.

6. WALTER EDWARD BLECHYNDEN (1846-1940) & JANE NEEDS (1855-1938)

Walter was Harrison and Charlotte Blechynden's sixth child. He was born 16 Jun 1846 at 'Babbyalla', East Beverley.

On 27 Oct 1873, Walter married Jane Needs at the Picton Anglican Church in Bunbury.

The couple farmed 'Glenpennant' on the Upper Warren near Manjimup and had 11 children.

Jane passed away on 1 Jun 1938 at 'Glenpennant' at the age of 83. Walter passed away in Manjimup on 8 Apr 1940 at 93. They are buried together at Balbarrup Cemetery.

WALTER EDWARD BLECHYNDEN (1846-1940) was the sixth child born to Harrison Blechynden and Charlotte Robus. His parents, who were married in Perth on 3 Mar 1832, emigrated from Kent in England to the Swan River Colony, arriving on the ship Minstrel on 20 February 1830. Walter was born 16 June 1846 at Babalalla (sic, 'Babbyalla'), East Beverley, WA [Reg. 808].

Walter Blechynden. Written on back of photo 'Son of Harrison B, brother of John'. From May's album.

His oldest brother John aged 13 years and sister Sarah aged five years, were born in Perth, prior to his parents moving to an unestablished property named 'St Aubyns' in the district of Beverley. This was where his sister Elizabeth, was born. His parents then moved to lease the property next door named 'Babbyalla', where his two brothers Henry George and Jesse were born. Sadly, almost six months later his brother Jesse died aged 20 months. By the time Walter turned seven years of age four more boys had been added to the family: Charles Edwin, Thomas Harrison, Jesse William and Joseph.

Walter grew up on 'Babbyalla', see the main story about 'Babbyalla' and Beverley in the Harrison Blechynden section. As the boys got older, they would have become responsible for chores around the home and yard. The district was still very new and there was very little infrastructure, and as yet no schools. Their mother and the girls would have been busy with the boys and helped to teach them how to basically read and write. As the boys grew older, they would also have had to learn to ride horses and begin to help their father with the farm. By 1852, a store made from mud bats and a wheelwright had been established at Edwards Crossing, just a few kilometres away. The family would have travelled by horse and cart to shop for goods at the store. A show was held every year at York, and this became a very important, social outing for the whole family.

When Walter was about eight years of age, his oldest brother John Blechynden walked to the Blackwood district in 1854 at the age of 21 guided by friendly Aborigines and was so impressed with what he saw that he acquired two pastoral leases along the Blackwood River.

Walter was recorded as being 13 in the 1859 Census. (Census 1859: Return of the Number of Persons who slept on the Premises of H Blechynden in the Beverley District on the night of the 31 Dec 1859).

The farm had become a viable concern and Harrison and the boys would have been kept hard at work from dawn until dusk. Walter was aged 14 years when John Blechynden married Elizabeth Green on 23 Feb 1860, at St George's Cathedral in Perth. John took his bride to settle in the first home built in the newly established town that was to be named Bridgetown. See the section on John Blechynden for the interesting story of his house 'Bridgedale'.

AUSTRALIA FROM SURVEYS MADE BY ORDER OF THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT Item 094A - Australia from surveys made by Order of the British Government (et alia), John Arrowsmith, London, 1862 [Office record with explorer's routes marked to 1874]. (Bridgetown and Manjimup had not yet been surveyed).

Walter was aged almost 16 years when his sister Elizabeth 'Anne' Blechynden was married in York, at the Anglican Holy Trinity Church to Thomas Edwards on the 5 Mar 1862.

In 1864, now aged 18 years, Walter walked to Bridgetown with his brother Edwin and joined their eldest brother John at his home 'Bridgedale'. Walter stayed with John and Elizabeth and worked for them for three years before moving south to work for Charles Rose on his property 'Wilgarrup' for another three or so years. It appears Walter also managed 'Wilgarrup' with one of his brothers for a period of time while the Roses were overseas.

During his time working for his brother John, Walter would have found time when at 'Bridgedale' to spend time with John and Elizabeth's growing family of at that stage, four boys: John William, George, Edwin and James.

His sister, Sarah Harrison Blechynden was married 30 Nov 1867, in York, at the Anglican, Holy Trinity Church, to John Henry Markham Page. One can imagine Walter and his brother Edwin may have taken time out from their farming duties to ride to York for the wedding. Another wedding in the family took place when his brother Charles Edwin Blechynden was married at St Pauls Anglican Church Beverley on 24 Apr 1872 to Caroline Mary Davies.

Walter left 'Wilgarrup' in about 1870, when, looking to have his own farming property, he selected an acreage of land on the Upper Warren near Manjimup, which he named, 'Glenpennant'. This was a time of hard work as he cleared the land and began to establish his farm on virgin land. During this time Walter met and began to court a young woman, the one he was to marry in 1873, by the name of Jane Needs.

On 27 Oct 1873, WALTER married JANE NEEDS (1855-1938) at the Picton Anglican Church, Bunbury, WA [Reg. 3638]. The couple farmed 'Glenpennant' together and went on to have 11 children. Their story continues after details of Jane's birth and her family below.

NEEDS, JANE (1855-1938) was born 3 Jun 1855, in Crendon (a few miles from Donnybrook), WA [Reg. 2838]. In WA BDM registration her name was recorded under Weedes (sic, Needs). She was the daughter of BENJAMIN NEEDS (1817-1880) and ELIZABETH BURROUGHS (1823-1869). One her birth certificate Jane's parent's names were recorded as Benja Needs and Elizabeth Burrows. They were married 3 Apr 1848 Parish Church, Tiverton, Devon, England. England & Wales, Civil Registration Marriage Index, 1837-1915 for Benjamin Needs, 4th Quarter 1875, both were of age. Benjamin was recorded as being a labourer.

Note: Needs is frequently spelt Needes in many historical records. Benjamin's surname on his marriage certificate is recorded as Needs. Needes was recorded on most of his documentation prior to coming to WA. After the arrival of Benjamin and Elizabeth Needes to WA, the spelling of their children's birth and marriages varied. Some were registered in WA BDMs as Needs and others as Needes. Jane's birth was recorded as Weedes. Benjamin's wife Elizabeth Burroughs was recorded on her arrival in WA as Needes, on her headstone is recorded Needs.

The following section gives details on Jane's parents, Benjamin Needs (1817-1880) and Elizabeth Burroughs (1823-1869) and family.

Jane's father, was born 1817, Burlescombe, Devon, England. His parents were MARY QUANT (1776-1823) and BENJAMIN NEEDES (1778-1863). Her mother was born in 1823, Tiverton, Mid Devon District, Devonshire, England, the daughter of JAMES BURROWS (1781-) and EMMA LEWINGTON (1786-1861).

Prior to their marriage, Jane's parents had a daughter, AMELIA LUCE NEEDS who was born 21 Mar 1844, Tiverton, Devon, England. Following their marriage, they had a son, WILLIAM NEEDES who was born 29 Sep 1848, Tiverton, Devonshire, England.

In England at this time with "a rising population, rural unemployment, and migration to the towns, together with the horrendous conditions in which many people lived and worked, meant that the country's often archaic political system and ways of organising itself were coming under immense strain."

It appears that Benjamin Needs and his small family were experiencing hard times. Benjamin was convicted of larceny on three counts on 28 Dec 1848. See <https://convictrecords.com.au/>. At that time his daughter Amelia would have been four years of age and son William just three months old. He was sentenced for seven years and one week for each of the other two charges.

Convicts to Australia: Pyrenees:

<https://convictrecords.com.au/ships/pyrenees/1851>

Needs Benjamin 663 7y 34 Tiverton 28 Dec 1848. Pyrenees – arrived in WA in 1851.

This 832-ton ship was built at Sunderland in 1851. It was employed twice as a convict transport for WA and left Torbay, England on Mar 30, 1851 bound for the Swan River Colony. On this voyage she carried the fourth of 37 shipments of male convicts destined for WA. The voyage took 90 days and the Pyrenees arrived in Fremantle on Jun 28, 1851 with 96 passengers and 293 convicts [Erickson]. Thomas Eagles and Alex C. Macleroy were the captain and surgeon respectively.

On arrival - Benjamin NEEDES Age 33, Hair brown, Eyes blue, Eyebrows and Lashes brown, Nose large, Mouth large, Visage fresh, Make stout, Married 2 children, Residence of the Prisoner's relatives or friends: Wife Tiverton. Benjamin was a labourer, at Bunbury 28 Jun 1851: TOL Ticket of Leave Description 28 Jun 1851: Height 5 feet 9 inches. Hair brown. Eyes light. Visage round. Complexion fresh. Appearance very stout. Marks - scar under chin. Trade - labourer. Marital - married, children 2.

WA Convict records, Benjamin Needs, No. 663:

663	Benjamin Needs	34	5 9	Brown	Light	Round	Fresh	Very stout
Scar under chin	..	..	..	..	..	Labourer	married	2

Conditions as a transportee for such a very minor offence would have been difficult for Benjamin both in the Hulks in Portsmouth and on the journey to Australia on the Pyrenees crowded in with 293 convicts and 96 passengers. Convict laborers were generally treated harshly in the colony and he would have missed and worried about the welfare of his wife and children back in England.

Census 1851 shows Elizabeth and her two children living in number 80, Halberton, Devon, England, with her sister Sarah and husband John.

CONVICT RECORDS: <https://convictrecords.com.au/convicts/needs/benjamin/9964>

Benjamin was granted a conditional pardon in 1853. The time that Elizabeth and the children endured while Benjamin was in Australia would have been difficult for them back in England without financial support. There was no welfare available in the mid 1800's. On 23 Apr 1853, Benjamin, now a free man, applied for his wife and children to come to Australia. In 1854 Elizabeth and their two children Amelia and William came out to Australia to join him.

ELIZABETH NEEDES emigrated to Perth on 28 Dec 1853 on the vessel Victory, arriving on 24 Mar 1854 to meet up with husband Benjamin Needs.

It would have been a joyful reunion for the family, Benjamin, now having served his sentence. Amelia was aged nine years and William four years. Benjamin and Elizabeth had four more children.

BENJAMIN NEEDS/NEEDES (1817-1880) and ELIZABETH BURROUGHS (1823-1869) had six children. Details of each are in their individual sections following.

FAMILY TREE CHART FOR BENJAMIN NEEDS (1817-1880) AND ELIZABETH BURROUGHS (1823-1869)
m. 3/4/1838, Tiverton, Devon, England.

Benjamin and Elizabeth's third child, their first born in Australia, was Jane was born 3 Jun 1855, Millerup, Capel, a few miles from Donnybrook. Benjamin, (named after his father and grandfather), was born 22 Aug 1858, followed by another daughter, Mercy who was born 6 Oct 1860, both registered at Capel River, WA. The older children were now aged as follows: Amelia 16, William 12 and Jane, five years.

Looking towards the future for himself and his family in 1860 Benjamin Needs successfully applied for 40 acres of land. Looking to improve this virgin land, between 1862 and 1871, he was recorded as employing eight Ticket of Leave men, who would have assisted in clearing land and erecting buildings and structures as he established his farm, which was one of the first in this area. He built his homestead on the property he named 'Springfield Farm' located at Lot 4617 Goldfields Road, Upper Capel.

Map showing the location of Upper Capel.

It was a momentous occasion when their eldest child Amelia, aged 17 years, married William Gibson on 8 Oct 1861 at Picton. Benjamin and Elizabeth's sixth child, Thomas, was born on their property, 'Springfield', in Sep 1864. It was a sad day for the family when he died at the age of two years on 8 Apr 1867, registered at Bunbury, WA.

'Springfield'/'Torridon'

Benjamin and Elizabeth welcomed their first grandchildren who were born to their eldest daughter, Amelia and William Gibson: Elizabeth Gibson born in 1862, Susan Gibson in 1864, Henry Gibson in 1866 and William Gibson in 1868.

The property, 'Springfield', was the home of Benjamin and Elizabeth Needs and their family until it was sold after Elizabeth's death. The property in the 1870's was renamed 'Torridon' Farm.

Elizabeth Needs (nee Burroughs) died 21 Nov 1869, Bunbury, WA, aged 47 years. One can imagine, the family was devastated. It was a sad day for the family when she was buried at the Picton Cemetery. Benjamin was now aged 52 years and the children were aged as follows: Amelia, 25; William, 21; Jane, 14; Ben, 11; and Mercy, 9. (In 1868, shortly before his mother's death, William Needs was recorded as working at Gawler River.) One can imagine that Jane would have been a great help to her father, assisting in looking after the younger children at 'Springfield.'

Headstone of Elizabeth Needs and of her son Thomas Needs, who died at the age of two years, Preston Cemetery, WA.

Benjamin Needs returned to England 28 Apr 1875, Tiverton, Devon, England, via SS China, six years after his wife Elizabeth died. Prior to leaving he sold his property 'Springfield'. It appears all his children, except for William, at this time, remained in WA. The youngest living child, Mercy, would have been 15 years of age when he left. One can surmise she may have stayed with her older sister Amelia.

Physical Description

Torridon is a single storey brick house with a hipped corrugated iron roof and a wrap-around verandah in the Victorian Georgian style. The bricks are red face, laid in English bond and appear to be handmade. Original 12 light Georgian sash windows are extant where they have been protected by the verandah.

The house is picturesquely sited on rising ground overlooking the head of the Capel River. The original plan comprised three adjoining rooms, typical of a number of early residential farm buildings of the mid-1800s. Some alterations occurred in 1951, possibly including verandah additions, and dated by an inscription in one of the cement quoins, "RESTORED WSLs 1951 SGYLL." A recent hipped roof extension on the north-west corner, clad with fibre cement boards, has altered the north (front) facade.

In October 1874, due to ill health, he advertised Springfield Farm for sale. It comprised 160 acres of freehold land (150 had been cultivated) and a good pastoral run of about 5,000 acres.

(Note: Elizabeth died in November 1869, so that would have had a bearing on that decision.)

There was a 'good substantial dwelling house' of three rooms, 'a good detached kitchen, cellar, storehouse, dairy, barn, and grainery, 45ft. by 18ft., stables, cart shed, stockyards, &c. ... a good kitchen garden, with vineyard'. (Herald 7 Nov. 1874, p. 2). Lt. H. Douglas MacKenzie (also spelt McKenzie), of the McKenzies of Torridon, Scotland, purchased Springfield Farm and renamed it Torridon.

Follow the link for more details about the McKenzie's and subsequent owners on the Heritage Council of WA website.

Obituary. MR WILLIAM GIBSON. A SOUTH WEST PIONEER The death occurred in South Bunbury yesterday morning of Mr William Gibson, at the age of 71 years, from natural causes. The deceased had been ill for three weeks, up to that time he was hale and hearty, and took the keenest interest in everything that was going on retaining his faculties right up till the last moment. Several of the children and the deceased's wife were present during the last moments. The deceased was born in Norfolk, England, in 1824, on the 11th July. He came to Australia in 1852, landing in Fremantle. After that date he travelled over a good part of the State, and in 1861 was married to Miss Needs in the Picton Church. The couple resided at Donnybrook for some years, carrying on agricultural pursuits. A few years later they removed to "Eelup," near Bunbury, where they lived for 23 years, carrying on the farm there. He then removed to the old home near Clarke's Vineyard, in South Bunbury, and was	the first market gardener in the Port, carrying on the trade for many years and subsequently handing it to his sons. The deceased took no active part in public life, but was ever interested in the community round him, and an active worker in all that was for the good of his fellow-men. The deceased's wife is still living, at the age of 71 years. There are eleven children living out of the fourteen born and baptised of the marriage. The living children are:—Mrs W. Bull (Elizabeth), Benmorefield, Mrs J. Pickett (Susan), South Road, South Bunbury; Mr Henry Gibson, South Bunbury; Mr Benjamine Gibson, South Bunbury; Mr George Gibson, South Bunbury; Mrs E. Prosser, (Amelia), South Bunbury; Mr Walter Gibson, South Bunbury; Mr Ernest Gibson, Lake St, Perth; Mr Joe Gibson South Bunbury; Mr Clarence Gibson South Bunbury. The funeral took place at 2.30 o'clock this afternoon, and leaving the home, proceeded to South Bunbury Mission Hall, where a short service was held. It then proceeded by road to the Picton Cemetery (where remains should be interred). The Rev. J. Frewer officiated. There are over sixty grand-children, and eight great grand children. The chief mourners were all the children, and many grand-children, besides a very large number of South West friends.	A large number of beautiful floral emblems were received, including those from the following:—Mrs Dixon, Mr Ryan and Pearl Griffin, Mrs Flaherty and daughters, Mr and Mrs Treloar, Mr and Mrs T. Lookhart, Mrs Evans, Mr and Mrs Griffin, Mr and Mrs Sedgwick and family, Mr and Mrs Young, Mr and Mrs Noddy, Mr and Mrs T. Brittain, Mr and Mrs W. Newman, Mr and Mrs J. SECOND CHILD OF BENJAMIN NEEDS (1817-1880) AND ELIZABETH BURROUGHS (1823-1869):

2. NEEDS, WILLIAM (1848-1921) (via Lynn Mayo Family Tree, certificates in gallery) was born 29 Sep 1848, Halberton, Devon, England. Emigration to Perth WA 28 Dec 1853 with his mother Elizabeth Needs and sister Amelia. In 1880, he was recorded as being employed at Oamaru, Otago, New Zealand.

The story of William's early years can be read in his parent's chapter. One can surmise that as he grew up, William worked on his father's farm. He was aged 21 years when his mother died 21 Nov 1869. Shortly before his mother's death William Needs was recorded as working in 1868, Gawler River. His father William sold the farm and returned to England 28 Apr 1875, six years after his wife's death. It appears that William continued on his travels and records show he eventually ended up in New Zealand. In 1880-1881, he was in Waitaki, Otago, New Zealand.

WILLIAM NEEDS (1848-1921) married SARAH JANE CAMPBELL (~1855-1943), 9 Feb 1881, New Zealand.

William Needs died 25 Mar 1921, Oamaru, Otago, New Zealand. We do not know any details at this stage about Sara Jane Campbell's family. William and Sarah Jane Campbell (~1855-1943) had five children: William Henry (1881-1971), Amelia Gibson (1883-1974), Gertrude Margaret (1886-1952), Robert Alexander (1892-1984) and Benjamin Robert Needs (1894-1916), KIA, 15 Nov 1916, Messines.

Oamaru, Town in the South Island, New Zealand

Oamaru is the largest town in North Otago, in the South Island of New Zealand, it is the main town in the Waitaki District. It is 80 kilometres south of Timaru and 120 kilometres north of Dunedin on the Pacific coast; State Highway 1 and the railway Main South Line connect it to both cities.

Records show William Need's residence at the following years and place: Employment: 1880, 1890, 1900 Oamaru, Otago, New Zealand, farm labourer. 1896, 1900, 1905-1906 Oamaru, Otago, New Zealand. Described as a farmer on the 1905 electoral register.

William Needs died 25 Mar 1921, Oamaru, Otago, New Zealand. William and his wife Sarah together with their youngest son Benjamin Herbert, who died at Messines, are buried Oamaru, Otago Cemetery, New Zealand. Their daughter Gertrude Margaret and husband Donald Smith and baby son are also buried there.

Note: * William's son Benjamin Herbert Needs was wounded and died of wounds at Messines, 15 Nov 1916. He was buried in the Zillebeke Churchyard Commonwealth War Graves Commission Cemetery, 1 ½ miles SSE of Ypres. Commemorated at the Oamaru Otago Cemetery as per Image.

 THIRD CHILD OF BENJAMIN NEEDS (1817-1880) AND ELIZABETH BURROUGHS (1823-1869):

3. NEEDS, JANE (1855-1938). See details of Jane in the story of her parents above and her marriage to Walter Blechynden following.

FOURTH CHILD OF BENJAMIN NEEDS (1817-1880) AND ELIZABETH BURROUGHS (1823-1869):

4. NEEDS, BENJAMIN (1858-1914) Via Giblett Family Tree

Benjamin Needes was born 22 Aug 1858, 'Springfield', Capel River, WA [Reg. 4268], recorded as Needes.

Benjamin Needs died 1914, Blackwood, WA [Reg. 47]. Recorded as Needs.

Benjamin grew up on 'Springfield'. He was nine years of age when his baby brother Thomas died on 8 Apr 1867 and 11 years of age when his mother Elizabeth died on 21 Nov 1869. A lot of sorrow for a young boy. He was aged 17 years when his father left on 28 Apr 1875 to return to England. Benjamin worked for the Muir's as a bullock driver taking crops to Albany and one can imagine this is where he met and courted Charlotte Muir.

BENJAMIN NEEDS (1858-1914) married CHARLOTTE MUIR (1860-1927) 26 Jul 1884, Busselton, WA [Reg. 5775]. Recorded as Needs.

MUIR, CHARLOTTE (1860-1927)

Charlotte Muir was born 4 Apr 1860, Forest Hill, WA [Reg. 5185]. Her parents THOMAS MUIR (1833-1926) and CHARLOTTE AMELIA HERBERT (1838-1905) were married 9 Oct 1858, St John's Church, Albany, WA [Reg. 1242]. Charlotte was the eldest child of the 'Deeside' Muir's.

THOMAS MUIR (1833-1926) AND CHARLOTTE AMELIA HERBERT (1838-1905) HAD NINE CHILDREN:

1. CHARLOTTE MUIR (1860-1927) married BENJAMIN NEEDS (1858-1914), 1884, WA [Reg. 5775].

2. ELIZABETH MUIR (1861-1940) married CHARLES KITCHING FOWLER (1853-1923), 1891, WA [Reg. 228].

3. MARY MUIR (1864-1864) Died aged 3 days.

4. AGNES MARY MUIR (1865-1938) married 'JACK' JOHN CHARLES MANE (1873-1913), 1903, WA [Reg. 19].

5. MARGARET MELVILLE MUIR (1868-1930) married m.1 THOMAS RICHARD SMITH (~1862-1892), 1891, WA [Reg. 19]. m.2 MARGARET MELVILLE MUIR (1868-1930) married ROBERT ALEXANDER SCARLETT (1865-1944), 1901, WA [Reg. 13].

6. ASENATH AMELIA MUIR (1870-1951) married CHARLES EDWARD DOUST (1877-1947), 1900, WA [Reg. 13].

7. MARY WHITE MUIR (1872-1944) married JAMES FOWLER (1867-1949), 1898, WA [Reg. No. 14].

8. ANDREW MUIR (1876-1966) married ETHEL UNA FORREST (1880-1961), 1902, WA [Reg. 24].

9. JOHN MUIR (1880-1950) married IDA BLANCHE DOUST (1881-1964), 1901, WA [Reg. 12].

Electoral Roll:

1903, Thomas Muir, Deeside, Charlotte.

1910 Thomas Muir, Deeside, farmer.

1903, 1913, 1931, 1958 Andrew Muir, Deeside, farmer, Ethel Una, married.

FIFTH CHILD OF BENJAMIN NEEDS (1817-1880) AND ELIZABETH BURROUGHS (1823-1869):

5. NEEDS, MERCY (1860-1943)

Via Halligan Family Tree

Mercy Needs was born 6 Oct 1860, Capel River, WA [Reg. 5421]. Surname recorded as Needes.

Mercy grew up on 'Springfield'. She was aged seven years of age when her baby brother died on 8 Apr 1867 and 9 years of age when her mother Elizabeth died on 21 Nov 1869. What a sad time for a little girl. Her older sister Jane helped look after her while her father worked 'Springfield'. Her sister Jane was married 27 Oct 1873 to Walter Edward Blechynden at the Picton Anglican Church, Bunbury. Mercy was aged 15 years when her father sold their property and left to return to England 28 Apr 1875. It is possible she went to live with Jane and Walter Blechynden. Almost ten years later she married Clarence Doust. Clarence worked as a Stockman on his brother's property Geegelup, Bridgetown.

MERCY NEEDS (1860-1943) married ABRAHAM BENJAMIN 'CLARENCE' DOUST (1858-1937), 1885, Albany, WA [Reg. 5984], surname recorded as Needs.

DOUST, ABRAHAM BENJAMIN 'CLARENCE' (1858-1937)

Abraham Benjamin Clarence Doust was born 24 Aug 1858, Toodyay, WA [Reg. 4354]. Parents: ISAAC DOUST (1813-1903) and FRANCES 'FANNY' ELIZABETH FELLOWS (1815-1899) who were married 9 Oct 1836, Icklesham, East Sussex, England.

Abraham was the last of ten children born to Isaac Doust and Frances Fellows, who migrated from Sussex, England, to the Swan River Colony on the Simon Taylor 20 Aug 1842. They were accompanied by their two children, Emily and Alice who were born in Rye, Sussex, England. Following their arrival in WA, they had another eight children.

The following pages have details of Abraham Benjamin 'Clarence' Doust's parents Isaac Doust (1813-1903) and Frances 'Fanny' Elizabeth Fellows (1815-1899) and family:

DOUST, ISAAC (1813-1903) 'Clarence' Doust's father

Isaac Doust was born 20 Feb 1813, Udimore, Rye, East Sussex, England. Isaac Doust died 21 Jun 1903, Bridgetown, WA [Reg. 31].

FELLOWS, FRANCES 'FANNY' ELIZABETH (1815-1899) 'Clarence' Doust's mother, was born 2 Feb 1815, Sussex, England. Parents: HENRY FELLOWS (1783-1862) and FRANCES FREDERICK (1793-1874). Fanny died 18 Oct 1899, Bridgetown, WA [Reg. 2299], aged 85 years

CHILDREN OF ISAAC DOUST (1813-1903) AND FRANCES 'FANNY' ELIZABETH FELLOWS (1815-1899):

1. EMILY DOUST (1838-1929) married SIMON MARTIN (1823-1886), 30 Nov 1854, Toodyay, WA [Reg No. 747].

2. ALICE LOUISA DOUST (1840-1927) married HENRY GREEN (1831-1867), 15 Dec 1859, Toodyay, WA [Reg. 1402], registered under Louisa Alice Doust.

3. ISAAC DOUST (1843-1884) Builder and owner of pearling vessel. Murdered 2 Apr 1884, Stewart Island, WA.

Evening Journal (Adelaide, SA: 1869 - 1912), Sat 10 May 1884, pg 5

Western Australia, Perth, May 9. Governor Broome has published a long report of his impressions of the colony during his visit to the country districts. The Otway arrived at Geraldton from Cossack today. She reports that Isaac Doust has been murdered by the natives of Thursday Island. (ed. They were his crew. The murder was in the north of WA – see below)

The wreck of a small vessel supposed to be the Swan had been found by the Black Hawk on the coast reef off Cape Londonderry abreast of Stewart Island. Assuming it to be the wreck of the Swan, the unfortunate master, Mr. Isaac Doust, must have made a voyage of about three hundred miles in his dingy to the mouth of King Sound before being murdered by his native crew.

Note: Cape Londonderry is the northernmost point of mainland Western Australia, as well as the southwestern corner of the Timor Sea. It lies east of Cape Talbot and northeast of Kalumburu (the nearest settlement), in the Kimberley region.

4. HENRY JAMES DOUST (1846-1912) married ELIZABETH CHAPMAN (1850-1939), 1872, Bunbury, WA Reg No. 3425].

The following article by Colin Svanberg gives us some idea about Clarence Doust and his wife Mercy and children. Via the Newman family tree, Ancestry, on a history of the Doust family.

Initiative, foresight bring the Dousts to Bridgetown by Colin Svanberg

TO some extent the Dousts form part of the forgotten pioneers.

It is interesting to note however, that the Dousts arrived before many early settlers to the Nelson district, in fact they arrived on the same vessel which carried two other pioneering families.

The Dousts originated from France before making their home at Bodiam Castle, near Rye, in the English county of Sussex. The family was hard pressed to meet exorbitant land taxes and shifted to the nearby village of Uddimore.

One of the sons, Isaac, married local girl Frances Fellows. Their first child Emily was born in 1838 and Alice followed in 1841.

The Dousts were joined by Isaac's brother James in sailing to Australia in 1842. The "Simon Taylor" carried the new settlers out on the same voyage as John and Ann Giblett, who settled at Balbarrup, and the Longbottom's who went to the lower Blackwood.

Isaac took his family to York where he worked for a farmer, Mr Cook. The Doust's first son, Isaac, was born in York before they went to live on a farm in Bolgart.

Isaac took his family to York where he worked for a farmer, Mr Cook. The Doust's first son, Isaac, was born in York before they went to live on a farm in Bolgart.

The "Highland Lassie" was then leased in Toodyay where Isaac was the inn keeper of an ill-fated hotel. In 1860 the business failed and two years later a torrential flood washed the building away.

At the time the hotel met financial difficulties the youngest of the Doust's nine children was born. On the advice of the local doctor, he was named Abraham Benjamin Clarence Doust. (ABCD) or commonly known as Clarence.

While still in Toodyay, Clarence's father bought "Riverside", a property neighbouring the "Deeside" Muir, where the newlyweds settled in 1882.

Clarence and Mercy set about developing the property with great enthusiasm keeping close ties with "Geogelup". In return for agreeing some of his cattle Henry would keep his young brooder supplied with flour.

The first "Riverside" home was made of mud bricks with a shingle roof. Extensions were later necessary as the family grew to 11 children.

These extensions were made using jarrah boards from their own timber mill, the first sawmill in the district. The mill was powered by a wood-fired boiler which partly remains today.

Fruit cases, numbering many hundreds, were produced from wood put through the mill. The "Riverside" family and their neighbours used the cases for transporting fruit to Albany by bullock wagon.

Clarence was proud of a particularly fine vegetable garden he created, keeping his family in plentiful supply of fresh vegetables.

One dish Mercy cooked was by mincing kangaroo meat, adding onions and bacon to make very tasty rissoles.

Some sheep, but mainly beef and dairy cattle were kept.

A coastal lease at Moirs station, 11km west of Walpole, was taken up. The cattle, particularly when feed was scarce in the summer months, were prone to obtaining rickets when eating zamia palms. This gave rise to the necessity of sending cattle to the coast where feed was more abundant.

Clarence and Mercy had six daughters and five sons. Today the only surviving child is Violet Beard who, in her 80s, lives with her son-in-law Reg Linley in Bunbury.

Rebecca Cook, a Perth girl who later married Frank Doust (Clarence's second son), taught the Doust and Muir children in a rustic fashioned building at "Riverside". This building burnt down and the Deeside school was established.

The teacher then became Miss Holland who shared the week between the Perth and Deeside schools. She rode a little grey horse called "Fairy" and could not have been too perturbed by her nickname "Pepper Pot" as she lived to reach 100.

Every second Sunday the Doust children attended the church service held at Deeside. The minister was Mr Hart, with the Muir and Needs families also attending to make up the congregation.

Clarence and Mercy became known as a kindly couple, never failing to render assistance to those in need, a trait which arose from their firm religious upbringing.

On one occasion a family was left without a father, with the Dousts doing everything possible to make the situation easier for them. They also accommodated one sick woman, even taking her to the Bridgetown doctor and paying the doctor's bills.

Clarence's father came down to "Riverside" after his wife died in 1899 aged 84. He was cared for by his son for several years before he went to "Geogelup". Isaac died aged 90 and was buried at Bridgetown.

In 1912 Henry died at "Geogelup" at which time he possessed one of the finest farms in the district. The property is now owned by Dowdell Davies and family.

On Isaac's death "Riverside" was inherited by Henry, who in turn passed the property on to Clarence.

By 1928 the "Riverside" dairy had a herd of 90 milking cows. A petrol-driven milking machine was installed which saved an enormous amount of time.

Alfred, who by 1931 had been running his father's farm for 11 years, married Charlotte Muir and his parents moved to "Quarantine" where another of Clarence's sons, Matthew, had a property. This property is now owned by Bill and Reta Whitfield.

Just eight years later, Alf died suddenly, leaving his wife and no children. "Riverside" was sold and bought by the present owner, Tom Muir, where he today runs beef cattle and sheep.

Clarence's eldest son Clarence Isaac Doust (like) was 24 when he married Agnes Helen Giblett of Dngup House. Their first property was "Dunard" before purchasing "Dngup House" in 1930 from the estate of Thomas Giblett.

Mr. Matthew's marriage to Walter Blechypedia's daughter, Hilda, Clarence and Mercy stayed with Ike and his family for several years. Clarence died after an operation in Perth, at the age of 79, in 1937. Mercy went to live across the road where her daughter Clara had married.

The "Highland Lassie" was then leased in Toodyay where Isaac was the inn keeper of an ill-fated hotel. In 1860 the business failed and two years later a torrential flood washed the building away.

At the time the hotel met financial difficulties the youngest of the Doust's nine children was born. On the advice of the local doctor, he was named Abraham Benjamin Clarence Doust. (ABCD) or commonly known as Clarence.

As a teenager, Clarence teamed with his second oldest brother Henry on a journey to Bridgetown, a long way by foot in 1873. This was a district not long opened up to grazing, which offered the Doust brothers many opportunities as they possessed great initiative and foresight.

The two brothers opened a store in Bridgetown at which time Henry married Elizabeth Chapman in Bunbury. The couple were to have nine children, initially living in a cottage named "Kelak", across the road from the shop and the present site of the Shell garage.

An incident relating to Kelak cottage and the "town pet" can still be recalled. One day Elizabeth was in her garden after making some bread which was left to rise on the kitchen table. The "town pet", a stray pony which wandered around Bridgetown, went up the four steps into the cottage, and was discovered by Elizabeth devouring the fresh bread.

Following the store, Henry and Clarence went on to build the first licensed drinking house, the "Farmers Home" which proved immensely successful.

The "Farmers Home" became a popular meeting place, providing accommodation at times when dances were held at the mechanics hall, attracting people from all over the district.

On numerous occasions the hotel was fully booked which provided a great deal of entertainment to the guests. On one occasion - Henry found himself barricaded into his room after a night of gaiety by his visitors.

In 1899 James Scott purchased and enlarged the hotel which has since remained the Scott's Hotel.

Soon after entering the hotel business Henry purchased a big, undeveloped property naming it "Geegeelup" after the brook running through Bridgetown, which is Aboriginal for willie wagtail. Clarence worked as a stockman on his brother's property before marrying Mercy Needs of 'Springdale'

Capel in a wedding ceremony in Albany.

While still in Toodyay, Clarence's father bought "Riverside", a property neighbouring the "Deeside" Muirs, where the newlyweds settled in 1882.

Clarence and Mercy set about developing the property with great enthusiasm keeping close ties with "Geegeelup". In return for agisting some of his cattle Henry would keep his brother supplied with flour.

Mr. C. I. Doust, J.P.

The popular secretary of the Manjimup Road Board and a native of the Warren District, Mr Clarence Edward Doust, J.P., was born some twelve miles from Manjimup, being the son of Mr Clarence Doust, of Riverside, who is still alive and resides in the district. He was educated privately there being no schools within the vicinity of his home and at the age of fourteen, after four years schooling, he went to work for Mr Arthur Blechynden, a storekeeper of Bridgetown. On his return to the Warren, he was contracting for six years, mostly fencing and with Mr E. Hughes erected over 100 miles of fencing at from £7 to £8 per mile. In 1907 he selected 700 acres of land about 17 miles east of Manjimup and went in for sheep raising. This property was sold in 1922.

In 1909 he married Miss Agnes Giblett of Dingup, the family consisting of two boys and three girls.

At the formation of the WARREN ROAD BOARD, he was appointed secretary, a position he held till he asked for leave of absence to join the colours in 1916. Mr Doust was attached to the 51st. Battalion until an attack of pneumonia when he was transferred to the A.M.C. A few weeks before the Armistice he was invalided home from France.

On his return to this State, he was appointed AGRICULTURAL BANK INSPECTOR for Manjimup and was in charge of 136 Soldier Settlers and 87 Agricultural Bank clients. The district included the Manjimup Road Board area as well as a large portion of the Bridgetown, Upper Blackwood and Cranbrook Road Boards. A few months prior to leaving he had Mr P. W. Payne, who is still in the Department in the district, for his assistant.

In 1923 he resigned from the Agricultural Bank, having accepted the position of FEDERAL LAND VALUER covering the eighteen Road Boards in the South-West extending from Pinjarra southward and westward from Kojonup. In this position every block of land was separately inspected and valued and there can be few people in the State who have such an intimate knowledge of the South-West.

Upon the death of the late Mr F. Doel in 1926 he resigned from the Taxation Department and AGAIN BECAME SECRETARY to the Manjimup Road Board, a position he still retains in addition to Board Supervisor, Secretary and Inspector of the local Board of Health, Secretary and Inspector of the Vermin Board, Building Surveyor, Obnoxious Weed Inspector and Traffic Inspector.

In 1922 he wrote the first letter recommending the settlement of the South-West by Group Settlement, but on different lines to those on which it was afterwards instituted by Sir James Mitchell. Owing, to the difference of methods Mr Doust would not be connected with it.

He takes a great interest in sport especially cricket, football and tennis and has been an ardent rifle shot. In 1907 he was adjudged the champion athlete of the district, most of these points gained in foot racing, his best time for 100 yards being 10½ seconds.

He has been a member of the U.A.O. DRUIDS since 1903 and a foundation member of the I.O. Odd Fellows in Manjimup. He has taken a keen interest in the Manjimup Agricultural Society, having been president on several occasions.

Giblett of Dingup, the family consisting of two boys and three girls.

At the formation of the WARREN ROAD BOARD he was appointed secretary, a position he held till he asked to leave of absence to join the colours in 1916. Mr Doust was attached to the 51st. Battalion until an attack of pneumonia when he was transferred to the A.M.C. A few weeks before the Armistice he was invalided home from France.

On his return to this State he was appointed AGRICULTURAL BANK INSPECTOR for Manjimup and was in charge of 136 Soldier Settlers and 87 Agricultural Bank clients. The district included the Manjimup Road Board area as well as a large portion of the Bridgetown, Upper Blackwood and Cranbrook Road Boards. A few months prior to leaving he had Mr P. W. Payne, who is still in the Department in the district, for his assistant.

In 1923 he resigned from the Agricultural Bank, having accepted the position of covering the eighteen Road Boards in the South-West extending from Pinjarra southward and westward from Kojonup. In this position every block of land was separately inspected and valued and there can be few people in the State who have such an intimate knowledge of the South-West.

Upon the death of the late Mr F. J. Doel in 1926 he resigned from the Taxation Department and AGAIN BECAME SECRETARY to the Manjimup Road Board, a position he still retains in addition to Board Supervisor, Secretary and Inspector of the local Board of Health, Secretary and Inspector of the Vermin Board, Building Surveyor, Obnoxious Weed Inspector and Traffic Inspector.

In 1922 he wrote the first letter recommending the settlement of the South-West by Group Settlement, but on different lines to those on which it was afterwards instituted by Sir James Mitchell. Owing to the difference of methods Mr Doust would not be connected with it.

He takes a great INTEREST IN SPORT especially cricket, football and tennis and has been an ardent rifle shot. In 1907 he was adjudged the champion athlete of the district, most of these points being gained in foot racing, his best time for 100 yards being 10½ seconds.

He has been a member of the U.A.O. DRUIDS since 1903 and a foundation member of the I.O. Odd Fellows in Manjimup. He has taken a keen interest in the Manjimup Agricultural Society, having been president on several occasions.

In 1920 he was appointed a JUSTICE OF THE PEACE for the Blackwood district and in 1924 for the Wellington Magisterial District. He is also a member of the Children's Court for the Manjimup district and Acting Coroner.

Again becoming interested in the land in 1921 he now farms the old DINGUP HOMESTEAD where about forty cows are being milked.

In 1913 he founded the first branch of the Farmers and Settlers' Association in the Warren and has been a member ever since, but now takes no active interest in policies, considering that same would be inimical to the harmonious working of his present

Death of Mr Clarence Doust

The Warren district mourns the loss of one of its oldest and most highly respected residents in the person of Mr Clarence Doust, who died at St. John of God's Hospital, Subiaco, in the early hours of Monday morning, the 19th inst., at the age of 78.

The deceased gentleman entered the hospital early in March and underwent an operation which, though necessary in the treatment of his malady, was not regarded as serious. The operation was successful and the patient appeared to be making a satisfactory recovery. A change for the worse, however, developed and on April 9th all the members of his family were summoned to the hospital. Twice he rallied during the ten days remaining before the end. His many relatives and friends derive some comfort from the knowledge that the fine old gentleman's life ended quite peacefully and without pain.

Son of an old colonising family, the late Mr Clarence Doust was born in Western Australia in 1858. At the age of 15 he came with other members of his family to Bridgetown, remaining there until 1882, when he selected and settled on "Riverside," the old property near Decide now occupied by his son Alfred. About two years later, he then being about 26 years of age, he married Miss Mercy Needs, daughter of Mr and Mrs Benjamin Needs of "Springfield"

Abraham Benjamin Clarence Doust died 19 Apr 1937, Subiaco, WA.

Obituary

MRS. MERCY DOUST

The death occurred on Monday, October 18, at Rosehill, Manjimup, of Mercy Doust, relict of the late Clarence Doust, formerly of Riverside. The late Mrs. Doust was 83 years of age at the time of her death, and was formerly Miss Mercy Needs and was born at Torridon Estate, some four miles from Donnybrook. Whilst still in her infancy her mother died and some years later her father returned to the Channel Islands. In the early eighties Miss Needs came to reside with her sister (Mrs. W. E. Blechynden) of Glenpennant and in 1884 married the late Clarence Doust (who predeceased her in 1937) and resided at Riverside until 1930. She leaves three sons and five daughters; 27 grandchildren and 13 great grandchildren to mourn their loss; two sons and one daughter predeceased her. When the late Mrs. Doust first came to Manjimup there were only nine other settlers in the district. She was the last surviving representative of the first generation of both the Doust and Needs families who arrived in W.A. in 1842. Her remains were interred in the Balbarrup cemetery on Wednesday last, the last rites being carried out by the Rev. A. Jenkins. The pall-bearers were Messrs Andrew, Tom and Andy Muir, Florrie Muir, Lin Muir and J. S. Ipsen.

Floral tributes of affection were many, the deceased lady being highly esteemed and loved throughout the district. Among the wreaths were those from:

Isaac and Agnes; Frank and Rebecca; Matt and Hilda; Francis and Eric; Alice, Bob and the boys; Clara and Herbert; Ben and Clarrie; Violet and Bill; Charlotte and Trevar, George, Joy and Wendy; Marjorie and George; Eric, Evie and Eunice; Keith, May and Ivy; Jean and Ethel; Doris and Phil; Tom and Olive; Jack, Linda and family; Charlie and Sid Young; Ivy and Charles; all at Deeside and Riverside; Ethel, Rosa, Win; Frank, Evelyn and Muriel; Willie, Lila, Walter and Rowland; Millie (Bunbury); all at Hinton; Hilda, Charlie and boys; all at Hillview; Maudie, Bob and family; Jesse and Kathleen; loved ones at Springdale; all at Fernhill; Amy and Lewis; Evelyn and Roy Muir; Florrie, Agnes and girls; Son and Nora Muir; Lyn and Dot; F. and L. SIXTH CHILD OF BENJAMIN NEEDS (1817-1880) AND ELIZABETH BURROUGHS (1823-1869):

6. NEEDS, THOMAS (1864-1867) was born Sep 1864, Springfield, WA [Reg. 26372]. He died 8 Apr 1867, aged 2 years, Bunbury, WA [Reg No 3479].

Continuing the story of WALTER EDWARD BLECHYNDEN (1846-1940) AND JANE NEEDS (1855-1938)

Three months prior to Walter and Jane's wedding, Walter Blechynden's father, Harrison Blechynden, died on the 17 Jul 1873 at Beverley, WA, aged 71 years. The funeral was held at St Paul's Church, Edwards Crossing and he was laid to rest at the Edwards Crossing Cemetery. One can imagine Walter would have travelled to Beverley to be with his mother and family for the funeral.

WALTER EDWARD BLECHYNDEN was married 27 Oct 1873 to JANE NEEDS at the Picton Anglican Church, Bunbury, WA. It is highly likely that the whole Blechynden family, together with the Need's family would have helped celebrate the marriage of this couple.

Old Picton Church where Walter Edward Blechynden and Jane Needs were married.

Walter Blechynden was recorded as being a farmer and grazier, in Bridgetown and Manjimup in the 1870's. He and his family established 'Glenpennant', which is located near Dingup, at the end of Glenpennant Road, about 20 kilometres east of Manjimup, WA, along the Muir Highway.

Provisions were obtained from Albany where Walter traded fruit and potatoes in return for flour, tea and other essentials. Cattle were taken to the neighbouring coastal leases of the Roses, between Doggerup and Malimup, from Windy Harbour. As well as bringing up her family and taking part in the community, Jane acted as a local midwife.

MANJIMUP:

Manjimup was named after the Noongar Aboriginal words "Manjin" (a broad-leafed edible reed) and "up" (meeting place, or place of). The Manjimup district was first settled in 1856 by the timber cutter Thomas Muir. He was followed in 1862 by George and Sarah Giblett who built at Balbarrup to the east of Manjimup. Giblett's house (1870) and the Dingup Church (1896) still stand in the tiny village. Manjimup was declared a town in 1910, and a railway from Perth was completed in 1911.

For the scattered settlers of the Warren area the Balbarrup property of John Giblett, Nelson Location 32, a Crown Grant, settled in 1861, became a central point for meeting and the collection and distribution of mail. It became the Post Office for the area in 1864, John Giblett as the Postmaster, with the office being part of his family home. It was named 'The Blackwood Post Office' with John receiving the sum of Five Pounds per annum as a salary! The mail came by horseback monthly from Bunbury with a pack horse used if the mail was heavy. A three day stop over was made to enable letters to be answered. In 1870 the name was changed to Balbarrup Post Office.

DINGUP is a small town located near the Muir Highway in the South West region of WA. Thomas and Maria Giblett married in 1868 and moved to Dingup. The land had been purchased for Thomas the oldest son of the Giblett family who had settled in the Balbarrup area in 1861.

It is worth noting here that four of Walter Edward Blechynden and Jane Needs' children, married descendants from the pioneering Giblett family.

Benjamin Harrison Blechynden married Bertha Mary Giblett
Elena Evelyn Blechynden married Frank Thomas Giblett
Alma Mercy Blechynden married Ernest John Giblett
Enid Maude Blechynden married Walter John Giblett.

The Giblett's were a well-respected first settler family who migrated to WA in 1842. Bertha, Frank and Walter's parents were Thomas Giblett and Maria Moulton and Ernest's parents were George Giblett and Sarah Gardiner.

Also, three of Walter Edward and Jane Needs, daughters, married into two other famous and well-known pioneer families, the Muir's and the Doust's.

Clara Annie married Robert Forrest Muir
Lila Rubus married William Pointz Muir
Hilda Blanche married Matthew James Doust

Almost a year after their father's death, Walter's brother, Henry George Blechynden, was married in York to Mary Ann Reilly on 7 May 1874. Five months later, Walter and Jane Blechynden's first child Benjamin Harrison, (Benjamin after Jane's father and grandfather and Harrison after Walter's father), was born 8 Sep 1874 at 'Glenpennant'. Their second child Clara Anne Blechynden was born 23 Apr 1876 at the Warren, WA. Possibly, Walter and Jane proudly showed off Benjamin and baby Clara, traveling by horse and carriage, to help celebrate the marriage of his brother Thomas Harrison Blechynden, who was married, at the Anglican Church in Northam, to Annie Maria Dunham on 24 Sep 1877.

Charlotte J Blechynden (Charlotte after her grandmother and the J most likely Jane after her mother), was born 19 Jul 1878, recorded as Blackwood, WA. Lila Rubus Blechynden followed, born on 10 Apr 1881, also recorded as the Warren, (her second name, the surname of Charlotte Robus, her grandmother.) Jane was kept very busy with her four children: Benjamin, Clara, Charlotte and Lila. Walter's brother Jesse William Blechynden was married on 13 Sep 1882 at York to Emma Sarah Dunham.

Walter and Jane's fifth child Elena Evelyn Blechynden was born 7 Apr 1883, followed by number six, Alma Mercy Blechynden, (recorded as Mary in her WA BDM's birth record), born 5 Sep 1884, and number seven child, Hazel Minna Blechynden, born 27 Aug 1886, number eight child, Hilda Blanche Blechynden 25 Apr 1888 and their ninth child, Laura Jane Blechynden born 27 Jul 1889.

Walter Blechynden

Jane Blechynden (nee Needs)

The whole family would have been concerned to hear that Bevan Hamersley who had inherited the property of 'Babbyalla' Estate was to take residence there in 1888. They must have been relieved to hear that their mother Charlotte had moved to live with her son, Charles and his wife Caroline Blechynden, at 'Roesland'. A year later, Charlotte Blechynden (nee Robus) died on 13 Sep 1889 at 'Roesland', Beverley.

It would have been a sad time as the whole family congregated to honour their mother, mother-in-law and grandmother at the funeral at St Paul's Church, Edwards Crossing. She was buried at Edwards Crossing Cemetery, next to her husband Harrison Blechynden. Walter and Jane's nine children, at this stage, were aged as follows: Benjamin 15, Clara, 13, Charlotte 11, Lila 8, Elena 6, Alma 5, Hazel 3 years, Hilda 1 year and baby Laura. The funeral was a large one with the whole family and friends gathered.

Walter Edward Blechynden

Walter and Jane's tenth child, Clayton Ashley Blechynden was born 19 Jun 1893, Blackwood, WA. Walter's youngest brother, Joseph Blechynden (the last of his siblings to wed), was married, 4 Oct 1893, at St Mary's Anglican Church Beverley, to Grace Bridget Emma Hancock.

The children grew up on 'Glenpennant'. They all received schooling, married and had families of their own. It was a time of celebration when at the age of 20 years, their eldest son Benjamin Harrison Blechynden married Bertha Mary Giblett at the Dingup School, on 27 Jul 1904. Their eleventh and last child Enid Maud Blechynden was born 21 Feb 1896. Jane was now aged 41 and Walter 50 years. Life was a busy one for the family.

Over the next 20 years another ten weddings took place and Jane and Walter enjoyed becoming grandparents as each couple were blessed with children. Weddings in order of date: Clara Anne married Robert Forest Muir, 10 Apr 1900. Lila Robus Blechynden married William Pointz Muir 27 Jun 1900. Elena Evelyn Blechynden married Frank Thomas Giblett 23 Apr 1906. Charlotte Blechynden married Reece George Spencer 25 Apr 1911. Alma Mercy Blechynden married Ernest John Giblett 23 Oct 1812. Laura Jane Blechynden married Harold Arthur McKenney, 1916. Hazel Minna Blechynden married Charles Colin Lister, 1919. Enid Maud Blechynden married Walter John Giblett, 28 Apr 1920. Clayton Ashley Blechynden married Louisa Adeline Blythe, 27 Feb 1932. Hilda Blanche Blechynden married Matthew James Doust, 1934.

A PIONEER'S BIRTHDAY

MR. WALTER BLECHYNDEN, 83.

Mr. Walter Edward Blechynden, one of the earliest settlers on the Warren River, attained his eighty-third birthday on Sunday last.

Over fifty persons gathered at the old home, "Glenpennant," on the Warren River, to congratulate the fine old pioneer, who has lived through all but seventeen years of the century we celebrate, and it was found that Mr. Blechynden is still hearty and active in spite of his ripe age. The visitors mainly were children and grand-children of Mr. and Mrs. Blechynden, with a sprinkling of other relatives, and only two or three were not connected with the family. The occasion was made a memorable one by the number and goodwill of the guests and the magnificent spread, which took in the proportions of a banquet, so rich and various were the viands.

Mr. Wm. Mottram, on whom fell the pleasant duty of proposing the health of the principal guest, mentioned the courage and enterprise, and the sterling pioneering spirit of Mr. Blechynden, who, when he was a boy of 18, walked from Beverley, where he was born, to Bridgetown, to join his brother, and afterwards, nearly 60 years ago, selected the land upon which they stood, when there were none but the Muirs, Wheatleys, Giblett and Brockmans in all the wide area of the Warren district. Mr. Blechynden's work and his character had gained for him the affection of his many children and grandchildren, and the respect of all his neighbours. Mr Mottram recalled the days when he and his brother John made periodical journeys to Albany by bullock wagon. Their father usually arranged for them to travel in company with Mr. Blechynden when he also took his bullock-team to Albany. The trip to Albany and back occupied fourteen days, and their loading of potatoes, butter and other produce brought very little money compared with present day prices, and still they showed a profit.

Mr. Blechynden was married a few years after his arrival at Glenpennant, and Mrs. Blechynden, who is nine years younger than her husband, is strong and well and took an active part in the day's celebrations. Indeed, Mrs. Blechynden had a considerable share in the honours, as her own seventy-fourth birthday was reached on the 3rd inst.

NONAGENARIAN'S BIRTHDAY

"Glenpennant," the old home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Blechynden was the scene of a lively dinner party, June 16, the occasion being in honour of Mr. Blechynden's 90th birthday. Close on 80 relatives and a few old friends gathered there to wish Mr. Blechynden a very happy birthday, and no doubt one and all enjoyed themselves at the long table set on the verandah and well laden with a variety of nice edibles. The chief attraction was a nice three-tiered cake (made by Mrs. Frank Giblett) beautifully iced and adorned with 90 gaily coloured candles.

These caused great amusement when being lighted, and also when Mr. Blechynden, with two or three good puffs, extinguished them. The chairman (Mr. C. I. Doust, M.L.A.)

in a few well-chosen words proposed the toast of honour, coupled with the name of Mrs. Blechynden, and all joined in singing "For they are jolly good fellows." Mr. Ben Blechynden suitably responded for his Dad and Mother. Another toast that was honoured was that of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Doust and was able to be responded to by Mr. Doust himself. Mr. and Mrs. Blechynden have eleven children, forty-four grandchildren and sixteen great-grandchildren.

OLD PIONEER PASSES

In the presence of about 150 relatives and friends and their sympathisers, the remains of the late Mrs. Jane Blechynden were laid to rest in Balbarup Cemetery on June 3.

The late Mrs. Blechynden throughout her long life of 83 years had enjoyed good health up to a few days prior to her death on June 1. She was one of the Warren District's oldest residents, having come as a bride to her husband's home Glenpennant in the year 1873, immediately after their marriage in the old Picton Church.

A daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Needs, she was born at Millerup, a few miles from Donnybrook, in 1855, and so was a link with the earliest colonising days of the South-West. Through marriages she was related to many of the older families in the Warren and Nelson Districts. Her brother, the late Mr Benjamin Needs was one of the earlier pioneers, having acquired the original Perup property (now held by his son John) from the late Thomas Muir of Deeside, who in 1854, was the actual founder of the settlement in the Warren area. One of the late Mrs. Blechynden's sisters is Mrs. Mercy Doust, widow of the late Clarence Doust, and mother of Mr. C. I. Doust, M.L.A. Nine daughters and two sons all survive, and her descendants number 42 grandchildren and 23 great-grandchildren.

STATE'S OLDEST SON

A Manjimup Claimant.

Believed to be the oldest son of the State. Mr. E. Blechynden of Manjimup will be 94 years of age on June 16. Born at Beverley in 1846 he commenced farming about eight miles from Manjimup as a young man and has remained in the South-West ever since.

Mr Blechynden is still a keen fisherman and interested in the development of the South-West which he has seen grow from a few scattered homesteads among virgin forests. He has nine daughters and two sons, all living, and has 43 grandchildren and 29 great-grandchildren.

Walter Edward Blechynden died 8 Apr 1940 in Manjimup, WA. Walter and Jane Blechynden were both buried at Balbarrup, WA.

An account of the life of each of Walter and Jane's ten children follows.

AN OLD WEST AUSTRALIAN.

Mr. W. E. Blechynden Dead.

MANJIMUP, April 8. —Believed to have been the oldest native-born resident of Western Australia, Mr. Walter Edward Blechynden, of Glenpennant, died this morning at Manjimup. He was a son of the late Mr. Harrison Blechynden, of Beverley, who arrived at Fremantle in the Egyptian (actually the Minstrel) in 1830. He was born at Mt. Pleasant, Beverley, on June 16, 1846. In 1864 he walked to Bridgetown in company with his brother, Edwin, and joined their eldest brother, John. For three years they rented Wilgarrup, then owned by the late Mr. Charles Rose (uncle of the present owner, Mr. J. C. Rose). In the early seventies, he selected Glenpennant, on the Upper Warren, and occupied it until his death.

A PIONEER MARCHES ON

MR. WALTER E. BLECHYNDEN DIES IN 94th. YEAR.

The district mourns its oldest resident, and the State its oldest son, Mr. Walter Edward Blechynden, of "Glenpennant," died at 10 o'clock on Monday morning at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Muir, "Seaton Villa," Manjimup, his long and honourable life having reached to within three months of his 94th birthday. For the past week or two his friends knew the end was approaching, although prior to that period he had retained his health and faculties to a remarkable degree. As a fine old gentleman he will be remembered with affection by all who ever knew him.

The late Mr. Walter Edward Blechynden was a son of the late Harrison Blechynden, of Beverley, who came from England and arrived at Fremantle in the "Egyptian," in 1830.

He was born at "Mount Pleasant," Beverley, W.A., on June 16, 1846. In 1864, a youth of 18, he walked to Bridgetown in company with his brother Edwin, and there joined his eldest brother, John. The three brothers rented "Wilgarrup," which was then owned by the late Charles Rose (uncle of the present owner, Mr. J. C. Rose). In the early 1870's Walter Blechynden selected "Glenpennant," on the Upper Warren River, and occupied it until his death. In 1873 he was married in the old church at Picton to Miss Jane Needs, who was born on June 3, 1853, at "Spring Field," a property afterwards owned by the late Hugh Brockman, and now known as "Torrington." The late Mr. Walter Blechynden leaves nine daughters and two sons, all living, 43 grandchildren and 29 great-grandchildren. His wife died in June, 1938.

It is interesting to note that the "Glenpennant" Blechyndens are descended from one of the very oldest Kentish landed families, tracing their history back to one Nicholas Blechynden who owned the manor of Quarington, in the parish of that name, in the latter part of the reign of Edward the First (1300-1307).

THE Blechynden family, many of whom live in the South-West, is widely dispersed today, but one common ancestor links all the families, traced to the 14th century reign of King Edward I.

Nicholas Blechynden, at that time, was a member of one of the oldest Saxon landed families in Kent, where he lived in Quarington Manor. The name Blechynden was derived from a parish in Oxford or Sussex where similar sounding names existed.

Two descendants of this family, Harrison Blechynden and his cousin George, sailed into Fremantle in 1830 on board the "Egyptian". Also on board was Charlotte Augusta Robus, who married Harrison soon after arriving in Perth. The couple initially lived in Perth before taking up land in Beverley.

Twenty years later, their son John set out in search of land in the higher rainfall areas to the south of Beverley.

Early settlers with huge pastoral leases had taken up the better land from Bunbury to Busselton by 1850, leaving the eastern side of the Darling Range practically undeveloped, because of the presence of poison heart leaf. This plant had caused heavy stock losses resulting in the late opening of the Nelson district to farming.

Aborigines were most helpful to the settlers who treated them well. John was guided by members of a tribe having knowledge of rich land, free of heart leaf where many head of wild cattle and horses grazed.

John Blechynden took up a large pastoral lease over an area along the middle course of the Blackwood river in the early 1850s.

At the same time Edward Hester, also guided by natives, arrived via a different route, from Bunbury. Hester took up a site having safe pasture for his cattle, downstream to Blechynden on the banks of a brook which joined the Blackwood.

For nearly 10 years, John Blechynden worked hard on his property, increasing his stock number to a good size. He married Perth girl, Elizabeth Green in St George's Cathedral in 1860.

In 1864 John was joined by his 18-year-old brother Walter, and Edward Blechynden, who had walked down from Beverley.

For three years the brothers worked at "Wilgarrup" owned by Charles Rose, acting as managers while the Roses were in England in 1868. The white gate, a distinguishing feature of the property was built at this time.

Wilgarrup was later leased by George Layman, who also claimed to be one of the first born of WA parents.

Walter married Capel girl Jane Needs in 1873, at the Picton Church, in a marriage which lasted 65 years.

"Glenpennant", a property near Nyamup, was taken up by Walter and Jane in the same year they were married. A 10,000-acre lease came with the property on the Upper Warren.

Walter and Jane had nine daughters and two sons.

Jane's sister Mercy married Charles Doost, of Riversdale, her brother Ben married Charlotte "Deaside" Muir taking up Thomas Muir's original Perup property and another of Jane's brothers, William, went to New Zealand. Provisions for "Glenpennant" were obtained from Albany where Walter traded fruit and potatoes to return for flour, tea and other essentials.

Cattle were taken to the neighbouring coastal leases of the Roses, between Doggerup and Mallinup, between Doggerup and Mallinup, from Windy Harbour.

Walter was proud of his bush sense and never became lost in the thick bush from his property to the coast — unlike some of his neighbours. He is also accredited with taking 1000 wethers from Bridgetown to Fremantle, losing only one, which he ate for food on the journey.

On his return to cross the river at Mandurah with two horses, Walter was taken over by ferry free of charge as being one of the first passengers to use the service.

A cooler adapted by Walter at "Glenpennant" remains today at "Bridgedale". This comprised a wooden box covered by a hessian bag and surrounded by charcoal. Water dripped from a container and the wind blowing through the hessian and charcoal would keep fresh and cool the family's fruit, milk, butter, cheese and meat.

Today the "Glenpennant" property remains in the hands of the Blechyndens with three generations, Clayton, Vernon and Walter Edward, still actively farming the land.

Many historical items remain on the property including the original slab house and dairy. Farming implements including the cream separator, butter churn and washer which Jane, in particular, used to make hundreds of pounds of butter can still be found.

For nearly 10 years, John Blechynden worked hard on his property, increasing his stock number to a good size. He married Perth girl, Elizabeth Green in St George's Cathedral in 1860.

Initially the couple lived in a small cottage while building the stately home called “Bridgedale”, the first house in Bridgetown. It was in this cottage in 1861 John William was born, thus becoming one of the first children to be born to WA parents.

Aborigines had populated large areas of the South-West with many living around Bridgetown. Close associations developed with the early settlers as many became skilled stockmen or employed to ease the burden of the housewives who needed assistance in caring for their large families.

Invariably, large numbers would congregate, frequently calling at homes in search of flour and tobacco. Accompanied by large numbers of dogs, they presented a formidable sight, especially to wives and children when their husbands were away droving.

In 1864 John was joined by his 18-year-old brother Walter and Edward Blechynden, who had walked down from Beverley.

FIRST CHILD OF WALTER BLECHYNDEN & JANE NEEDS

1. BLECHYNDEN, BENJAMIN HARRISON (1874-1952) & GIBLETT, BERTHA MARY (1879-1838)

Benjamin Harrison Blechynden, the first child of Walter Edward Blechynden and Jane Needs, was born 8 Sep 1874, 'Glenpennant', Manjimup, registered at Picton, WA [Reg No 15915]. He was Baptised on 6 Oct 1874, Bunbury, WA. Benjamin died 19 May 1952, 'Glentulloch', Bridgetown, WA [Reg. 42], at his own residence. Buried Balbarup Cemetery, Anglican section.

Benjamin grew up in a family of two boys and nine girls in the Warren district in the old home 'Glenpennant', which his father had selected, having walked from Beverley looking for good land.

MR. BRIGGS' GRAMMAR SCHOOL, FEMANTLE

... During the past half-year 61 names have been Enrolled— 28 from Fremantle, 13 from Perth, and the rest from the country districts.

Mr. Briggs' Grammar School, Fremantle.

The following interesting report was read at the distribution of prizes at Mr. Briggs' Grammar School, Fremantle, last Tuesday:—

During the past half-year 61 names have been enrolled—23 from Fremantle, 13 from Perth, and the rest from the country districts. Already there are many applications for admission next quarter, beginning on the 14th of January. Mr. E. Needham has not disappointed our high hopes, and I greatly value his assistance. A pleasant spirit of work pervades the school, and as a consequence steady improvement. I have suspicions of a conspiracy of co-operation on the part of the boys to do their best for the sake of the school. The schedule of work comprised Holy Scripture and Liturgy, Latin, French, Euclid, Algebra, Trigonometry, Mensuration, Arithmetic, English Grammar and Composition, Geography, History and Drawing. Although our boys do the work set as well British youths of similar standing, yet I regret the absence of a desire for other information than the text-books afford, and I fear that there is little taste for reading good literature. I have mentioned this publicly before, as I notice here an undue prolongation of puerile sports into manhood. This neglect makes the mind of middle age dull and vacant, and old age lonely and miserable; whereas with a taste for reading one

When a young man he acquired and developed the property known as 'Glentulloch', about 11 kilometres south east of Bridgetown and lived and worked there all his life.

BENJAMIN HARRISON BLECHYNDEN married to BERTHA MARY GIBLETT (1879-1838) 27 Jul 1904 at the Dingup School, WA [Reg. 19]. BERTHA was born 20 Jun 1879, Blackwood, WA [Reg. 20113]. She was the fourth child of THOMAS GIBLETT (1842-1897) and MARIA MOULTON (1845-1930) who were

DEATH

Of Mrs. Ben Blechynden

A bereavement which affected two of the best known and most widespread families in the Warren and Blackwood districts occurred with the death on Thursday, the 20th inst., of Mrs Bertha Mary Blechynden, of "Glentulloch", Bridgetown.

The deceased lady, who was 58 at the time of her death, was the wife of Mr Benjamin H. Blechynden, and a daughter of the late Mr and Mrs Thomas Giblett, who established the old property, "Dingup", five miles from where Manjimup now stands. Dingup is now in the hands of Mr C. I. Doust, M.L.A., whose wife is a sister of the late Mrs Blechynden. Upon a more or less invalid condition which Mrs Blechynden had suffered over a period of many years, pneumonia supervened and proved fatal within a few days. Her death was so unexpected that many of her friends in the outlying parts of the districts were unaware of it in time to attend the funeral.

The funeral took place on Friday afternoon, the 21st inst., the cortege leaving Bridgetown at about 2.30 p.m. A little later than four o'clock the remains were laid to rest in the Church of England portion of Balbarrup Cemetery, where many of the district's early residents lie. The burial-service was read by Mr H Otley, of Manjimup.

The attendance at the grave side represented nearly all the pioneering families of the Warren and Bridgetown districts. The bearers were: Messrs E. J. Giblett, A. Machin, C. H. Blechynden, Alf. Blechynden and A S C. Chatley.

The Late Mr. B. Blechynden

The death occurred on May 19 of Benjamin Harrison Blechynden at his home at Glentulloch, about 14 miles from Bridgetown, at the age of 78 years.

He was the eldest of two sons of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Blechynden, of Glenpennant, Manjimup, and was born in Bunbury in 1874. There were also nine daughters in the family.

The deceased farmed on his father's property and in 1904 married at Dingup Bertha Mary Giblett, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Giblett, pioneers of the Warren district. Then he took up land at Glentulloch, where he remained ever since. His wife predeceased him 14 years ago.

Glentulloch was well known for sheep raising. Mr Blechynden was a great advocate for district progress and always worked to achieve that end, but he did not take a prominent part in public life. He had been ailing for some time. He is survived by two sons and three daughters.

Loss Felt Of Bridgetown Pioneer

Many people, and the district in general, will feel the loss of the late Mr. B. H. Blechynden who passed away at his residence, "Glentulloch", Bridgetown, on May 19th in his 78th year.

Born in Bunbury he lived as a boy in the Warren District at the old home "Glenpennant," which his father the late Walter Blechynden had selected having walked from Beverley looking for good land.

Provisions were brought from Albany by bullock wagon and as a young boy he remembered being given a penny to spend in Albany on one of these trips, but the choice was too great, and he brought the penny back intact.

He attended Paisleys school in Bunbury and late Briggs in Fremantle.

While a young man he acquired and developed the property known as "Glentulloch" and lived and worked there all his life.

He married Bertha, the second daughter of Thomas and Maria Giblett of Dingup, who predeceased him. Two sons and three daughters mourn the loss of their parents.

HELPED DISTRICT

The late Mr. Blechynden found time to help the district generally, and with others, interested himself in providing a school at Brooklyn on the late Mr. Cullen's property, and helped raise money to build the Yornup Agricultural Hall. He was also keenly interested in the then proposed railway between Yornup and Cranbrook.

Deceased was a keen cricketer in the early days being a member of the old Boomers Club at Sunnyside. On one occasion he rode on horseback to Donnybrook to buy a ball so that a match could take place.

An industrious and well-liked and respected man. he enjoyed company and liked a good "wongi" about old times. He had a great courage of spirit- which sustained him throughout his life.

Many beautiful floral tributes were received from a very large circle of relatives and friends, is follows: Your loving children: Frank and Evelyn Giblett; Clayton, Lou, Vernon and Blanche: Nieces Edie and Pat (Kojonup); Aunt Both Bertha Mary Blechynden and Benjamin Harrison Blechynden are buried at Balbarrup Cemetery. The two headstones shown here indicate Bertha has her own grave and when Benjamin died 14 years after Bertha it appears the combined headstone was made for them both.

Bertha's name is also included with the Benjamin Harrison Blechynden headstone - same years of birth and death and age of death, in fact she is put first on that headstone. An obituary for Benjamin in the project says Benjamin is laid to rest alongside his wife - The funeral took place on Wednesday last, when the remains were interred in the Anglican portion of the Balbarrup Cemetery, near Manjimup, alongside those of his wife. Note: Balbarrup spelt as Balbarrup in the notice.

1. BLECHYNDEN, ENA EDNA (1906-1970) was born 26 May 1906, Blackwood, WA [Reg. 57]. Ena grew up with her brothers and sisters on the family farm, 'Glentulloch'. She married GORDON LINDSAY FARQUHAR (1902-1974) 17 Aug 1940, St. Paul's Church Bridgetown, WA [Reg. 52].

FARQUHAR, GORDON LINDSAY (1902-1974) was born 22 May 1902, Grangemouth, Stirlingshire, Scotland, parents, WILLIAM DALZIEL FARQUHAR (1872-1946) and CATHERINE LINDSAY (1902-1974). He arrived in Albany, WA, 5 Oct 1905, via the SS Africa, accompanying his mother Catherine 'Kate' and brother, Stuart to join their father, William and William's brother John, who had arrived 6 Jun 1905 via the Omrah. Ena and Gordon Farquhar had a daughter, Peggy who later married John Flynn.

1924 Morris truck used by Ena's father Ben Blechynden.

Caption: Bob Farquhar had to rely on old photographs, like this one of a 1924 Morris truck used by Ben Blechynden, to help construct the Busselton-Wonnerup Road, to help him restore his many vehicles to their original condition.

Robert 'Bob' Farquhar, (Peggy's cousin), the son of Gordon's brother Stewart, over many years, accumulated a large collection of restored old trucks, vehicles and farm machinery at Yornup.

Gordon and Edna had a farm 'Karlashay' where Gordon established a Corriedale sheep stud. The farm was near the railway line just west of Yornup and included land where the mill is located now. They also bought a property in Bridgetown and called it 'Sunnyhill'. They set up an apple orchard and home there. It is located on the west side of the highway at the top of the first hill heading South out of Bridgetown. Locals call it Farquhar's Hill. There are great views from the house over Suttons Lookout, Bridgetown and up the Blackwood Valley towards Kangaroo Gully and Sunnyside. Gordon was a champion golfer and cricketer. He was in the first group of 10 students to attend Springside School at Yornup. There is a detailed history of the Farquhar history written by Ena and Gordon's daughter Peggy Flynn, (nee Farquhar), in the excellent book Yornup From The Heart, pg. 281.

PLAGUE OF BLACK COCKATOOS

Heavy Bridgetown Damage

Probably the fiercest attack by black cockatoos on a Bridgetown orchard ever recorded occurred last Friday when apples estimated at 200 cases were destroyed in under two hours. The apples were the property of Mr. Gordon Farquhar, and were in an orchard which he is leasing from Mr. R. S. Hester.

Two hundred Yates' trees, which last year cropped 473 cases, have in Mr. Farquhar's opinion, less than 150 cases left on them. This season was not as good as last year's said Mr. Farquhar, but he had expected to market about 340 cases of excellent fruit. Over half of these have now been lost.

He had arranged for a watch to be kept each morning and evening, but the man had been called away, and when Mr. Farquhar arrived at the orchard on Friday morning, between 80 and 100 of the Black Cockatoos rose from the trees. So thick were they that he killed three with his first cartridge from a 12-bore he was carrying, two with the next and before they got out of range, he hit yet a sixth which was seized by an eagle, which dropped down from nowhere to clutch the crippled bird.

A scene of devastation met his eyes as Mr. Farquhar reached that part of the orchard where the Yates were. Not one tree had escaped damage, even a few odd Yates scattered about the orchard had been mauled.

A "Times" representative visited the orchard with Mr. Farquhar during the morning, and the destruction which had been wrought in a couple of hours was unbelievable. Every tree had lost half or more of the fruit, which was lying underneath the trees pecked to bits or bitten off by the birds in their scramble. Underneath one branch were the remains of 70 apples, with 30 still left on the limb. Some of the apples were still whole, one twig having been bitten through and was on the ground. The fruit was not matured and will be useless; even the twigs for next year's fruit had been damaged. While in town afterwards, Mr. Farquhar received word that Mrs. Farquhar, on their own property, was having a battle with Black Cockatoos which were around there.

While in town afterwards, Mr. Farquhar received word that Mrs. Farquhar, on their own property, was having a battle with Black Cockatoos which were around there.

Mr. Farquhar said that he had shot 147 cockatoos last year for certain, with many more which had been wounded and escaped to the trees; that had cost him over £13 in cartridges. Day after day he had been compelled to sit at the top of the orchard for a couple of hours towards evening to protect his crop, but he had thought that they had seen the last of the pest this season when he had bagged about 40.

Judging by the havoc wrought in this instance in so short a time, said Mr. Farquhar, the birds must have been starving when they entered the orchard. If a bonus were declared, there would be some incentive for persons other than orchardists to hunt the birds, otherwise the cost of cartridges was prohibitive, said Mr. Farquhar.

(At the last meeting of the Bridgetown Fruitgrowers' Association a motion was passed asking for a bonus to be declared on these birds which are already classed as vermin. Their tremendously powerful beaks split an apple with ease in their search for the seed which is all that interests them.—Ed.)

Ethel Maude Bax (nee Blechynden) daughter of Benjamin Harrison and Bertha Blechynden

Katanning artist, Mrs Ethel Bax gained second place for the most popular painting in an exhibition at Albany over Easter.

Mrs Bax of Avon Street has been painting only a year and gained second place out of more than 200 paintings entered by about 80 artists, with 1500 people voting on the decision.

The exhibition was a competition run by the Albany Shire Council and each artist was permitted to enter two paintings.

Mrs Bax's successful painting was an oil called "The Burn" and it featured fire burning up a tree.

The painting was sold to an Albany resident.

Mrs Bax expressed her desire to put on an exhibition of paintings, along with other local artists in Katanning.

"I think there would be enough artists and enough people interested to hold a successful exhibition," she said.

A large and diverse range of people attended from all the above mentioned families. They came from far and wide and the Busselton Civic Centre was full each day. An extra highlight of the reunion was that Jill Blechynden, a New Zealand Blechynden cousin representing that side of the family, was able to travel all the way to Busselton from New Zealand to attend the reunion. To commemorate the occasion Jill Blechynden was presented with a framed picture of St Mary's Church of England Busselton by Diane, organizer of the reunion.

George Blechynden, cousin of Harrison Blechynden arriving on the same ship, did the carpentry work on the church. George was the brother of John Blechynden who settled in New Zealand and Jill is a direct descendant from that line.

The Family of Andrew and Elizabeth Muir of Forest Hill, Mount Barker, Western Australia.

In January 1844

two years after their second son, James, had sailed to Hobart Town, Van Diemen's Land Andrew and Elizabeth arrived in Albany to settle in Western Australia.

In Scotland, Andrew Muir had no wish to follow his father and brothers into mining.

His uncle, George Cheyne of Cape Riche, sent a request from Western Australia for experienced farmers to work his land.

Andrew and Elizabeth sailed to the colony to begin their new life, bringing with them a wide range of hand tools and much practical knowledge.
Travelling with them on the ship Ganges was Elizabeth's seventy two year old mother and their six children aged from two to twenty two years of age.

Two of their babies had been buried in the parish of Markinch, Fife.

Their son, James, joined the family from the Victorian goldfields eighteen years after their arrival in Western Australia.

Andrew was two years old when he arrived in Western Australia and like his brother John, was educated at home. He became a renowned horseman and enjoyed hunting wild cattle and breaking in wild horses. As he grew, he accompanied his older brothers in their search for good grazing land for their growing flocks of sheep.

In 1856 he took up land at NABAGUP (place of the cobbler) where he built a two-roomed paperbark hut. He cleared land to grow wheat, which he carted to FOREST HILL to be ground into flour. By 1861 he had moved to the present LAKE MUIR farm on the western side of the lake. The brick homestead, overlooking the lake, is lived in today by a 4th generation Muir family. It was built by ticket-of-leave men who then went on to build the brick homestead at DEESIDE. The LAKE MUIR house was built in 1865, the year that Andrew and Mary Ann were married.

Mary Ann was the daughter of Sgt. Phillip Baker, a sergeant in the 21st regiment, who arrived in Sydney in 1833 as an escort for convicts. He came from Sydney to King George Sound in 1835. Her mother, Sophia Points, came to Albany as a companion to Mrs Smith, the wife of a merchant. Mary Ann was the youngest of six children. Her three brothers died young; her sister Eliza married George Chester and sister Emma Amelia married William Lowe. Mary Ann was only one month old when her father died in Perth. Her mother later returned to Albany where she married George Uglov, a store-keeper. Mary Ann's mother and George had two sons. One son from this marriage died as an infant and the remaining son, George Uglov (Jnr), married Marion Ellen Earnshaw. The name Points in some family names is spelled Pointz, but certificates from England and Willie Muir's birth certificate from Albany show the spelling as Points.

168 SETTLER FOOTPRINTS FROM STAR – MUIR FAMILY

The following extract from Alison Muir's book describes Andrew Muir's death and three other graves located on the family farm at Lake Muir:

"Andrew was only 59 when he died in a shooting accident on the Nornalup coast that he loved. This took place "between Banksia camp and the first long bog on the side of a hill covered with thick Sheoak trees." The wooden cross placed there by the family may still be there, but would be very difficult to find as lack of regular fires has made the area almost impenetrable. Andrew was buried at Lake Muir where the inscription on his tombstone reads

"Be ye also ready, for in such an hour as ye think not the son of man cometh." Matthew xxlv:44

As well as Andrew's grave, the small family graveyard near the homestead holds three other graves. Andrew's wife Mary Ann, who suffered from ill health, went to live with her eldest son (Andrew Gordon Muir) and his wife Rebecca at MORDALUP soon after Andrew's accident. She was buried alongside her husband when she died only six and a half years later, at the age of 60. Andrew and Mary Ann's two-year-old son, who swallowed carbolic acid, was buried there in 1880; the other grave is that of their granddaughter Enid who was fatally burned in 1916."

The Late Andrew Muir PIONEER FAMILY RECORD OF 100 YEARS (Contributed)

The recent passing of Andrew Muir, jr, of Brunswick-road, Albany, has removed a member of a family with a record of more than a century of pioneering achievement. Andrew Muir's long life of 90 years has been lived through all but 11 years of that family history in this country. Out of respect to him, who was one of its worthiest members, as well as one of this district's most public-spirited and best citizens, it is fitting that we in this generation should know something of how this district and its hinterland was pioneered and the part played in its development by Andrew Muir and the family from which he sprang.

The Sailing Ship "Ganges," 1844.

On January 18, 101 years ago, a Scottish couple, with their young family of four sons' and two daughters, landed in this State from the sailing ship "Ganges." A fifth son, James, followed later. The husband had brought his wife and family from their native heath and farm in Fifeshire, Scotland, to manage a sheep run for his cousin in a faraway spot in this strange new land. The cousin was George Cheyne. The far-away spot was Cape Riche, east of Albany, where, Cheyne had some time previously taken up country.

And so began the history of the Muir family in this South-West corner of our great island continent.

A Stake

Andrew and Elizabeth Muir, with their vigorous young offspring, were apparently ambitious to establish their own stake in this new land of their adoption, for we read in the Cyclopaedia of Western Australia, that after a few years "he came to the Mt Barker district and for a time rented a property called 'Ongerup' on the Hay River. While there he made some explorations to the westward and discovering the locality on which 'Forest Hill Estate' (since sold to the Government and now known as Pardelup Prison Farm) is situated, Pardelup Prison Farm) is situated, took over this country from the Crown and entered upon its development."

The reading of this bald statement, and a further matter of fact statement, that "the pioneers had to cart all necessities and farm produce from and to Albany, 46 miles away, by horse teams with wagons of home manufacture, and that much of the flour used on the place was ground by hand in an old steel mill," does little to excite the imagination.

How did these early settlers manage? What were their houses like? How did the mothers fare with their young families and lack of ready medical aid? Did they ever run out of food? And how did they get on with the natives? How did mother fare for the hundred and one household accessories which housewives consider so indispensable today?

These and a host of other questions inspired the writer some 18 months or so ago to call on your late friend and his good wife at their home in Brunswick-road.

The True Historian

At that time both these devoted "old timers" were well, and quite enjoyed discussing memories of the early days. Mrs Muir, however, proved to be the true historian, having kept written records for decades back, and added realistic details of early domestic life which had escaped the memory of her partner. His mind was more impressed with the outdoor phases of pioneer life of raising sheep, and cattle and horses; of building houses, sheds, fences and dams, etc. Although in his 89th year at the time, his eyes would light up keenly when he spoke of sheep, and cattle, and grasses, and things of Mother Earth beloved of farmers' the world over.

Andrew Muir, jr, was a grandson of the original Andrew Muir of 1884 and spent the greater part of his life developing the property now known as Pardelup.

An Old Scottish Custom

The Christian name of "Andrew" in the Muir family tree requires some explanation, as it is liberally sprinkled amongst the family members and has often led to confusion, especially in business affairs, and it is common to refer to the various "Andrews" by prefixing the name of their respective properties — "Mordalup Andrew," "Deeside Andrew," etc.

It seems that it was a custom they brought with them from their district in Fifeshire to always name the first son after the father's father and the first daughter after the mother's mother.

Albany Connections

Grandfather Muir, being apparently true to the traditional Scotchman, also had ambitions in the business world, and later established a general merchant's store in Albany, as well as carrying on the farm. In 1884 this business was taken over by his son Robert Trail (father of our late Andrew Muir, jr), and carried on by him under the name of A. Muir and Son, which later again was taken over by another of Robert's sons, Robert Trail Muir, who was a one-time (1901) Mayor of Albany, the town of his birth.

town of his birth.

Distant Horizons

But to return to the family home at Forest Hill. It seems that the young Muirs were also imbued with the family urge to seek pastures new, and very soon sought to satisfy their curiosity as to what lay behind the seemingly endless bush, which lay to the west of what in those days was the "back of beyond."

With the aid of the natives, with whom they seem to have always been on friendly terms, they pushed out and established out-stations on the Frankland River 80 miles, "Nabagup" 40 miles, "Lake Muir" 50 miles, "Deeside" and "Pirup" 60 miles.

A much more ambitious expedition was to Eucla on the border of South Australia. Eucla was pioneered and established by the family. Later Jim Muir, who had gone to the Eastern States from Scotland, instead of accompanying his family to WA in 1884, came over from the East and established "Fern Hill," about five miles from what is now the site of the town of Manjimup.

Shearing Time

These places, other than Eucla, were first used as outcamps at which sheep were shepherded, and at shearing time each year the flocks were brought to the central homestead at Forest Hill. We can well imagine the shearing season, the return of the shepherds from their long and lonely vigils in the bush, the added activity on the farm tending and provisioning the greatly increased farm population—for mobs totalling as many as 16,000 sheep were brought in for shearing; but most of all the fun and pleasure of the family reunion, of mum and the girls busily and joyfully engaged in those housewifery preparations to welcome their menfolk. And later when the outstations had been developed to residential farms and on which the boys had established their own homes, and wives and families, the family re-unions would still be seasonal events eagerly anticipated and enjoyed by all.

Family Co-operative Farming.

All the Muir brothers, except Jim, who had settled at Fern Hill, near Manjimup, took part in this family farming partnership up to 1884, when the estates and all the livestock were distributed amongst the various members of the family, owing to several causes.

First, the Eucla venture, to where sheep were shipped via Albany port. Secondly, the outstations had developed sufficiently to be worked as separate farms, and family units established. Thirdly the death of the mother round whom most homes are centred and at whose parting many homes break up.

on which the boys had established their own homes, and wives and families, the family re-unions would still be seasonal events eagerly anticipated and enjoyed by all.

Family Co-operative Farming.

All the Muir brothers, except Jim, who had settled at Fern Hill, near Manjimup, took part in this family farming partnership up to 1884, when the estates and all the livestock were distributed amongst the various members of the family, owing to several causes.

First, the Eucla venture, to where sheep were shipped via Albany port. Secondly, the outstations had developed sufficiently to be worked as separate farms, and family units established. Thirdly, the death of the mother round whom most homes are centred and at whose parting many homes break up.

Sons of the Soil

Although the Muirs are numerous, with few exceptions they will be found "on the land." In common with most other pioneers of the soil, the love of Mother Earth is bred in them, and they excel in the simple common things of life.

They are true sons—and daughters—of the soil, who know nature intimately. The family seems to have always been associated with farming, but since their emigration to this country, they have learnt the secrets of bush craft; they are hunters and bushmen in the real Australian sense; they are horsemen of no mean order, as many bush riders can tell; they are cattlemen and sheepmen and all that a century of successful land pioneering in this South-West can make them; but, best of all, I think you'll find them, homely people, whose kindly hospitality is legion—a relic of the early days when, in the unwritten law of the great outback, travellers always expected, and always received, expected, and always received, shelter and hospitality and their company welcomed as messengers from the outside world.

There are many more travellers now than then, but we moderns travel in comfort and speed. In those days travellers often were constrained to camp on the roadside, and often found themselves short of tucker, or water, or dry clothing.

The Law of the Outback

They have learnt, and have always practised, the law of the bush and of the road—"to do unto others as you would have them do unto you."

For that is one of the secrets and the great truths that is learnt outback; true mateship. To be a good neighbor—to readily help the other fellow in his trouble, without question; that is the law of the bush, as it is a social law of life.

That is why hospitality, good neighborliness, as well as good bushmanship and farming, good initiative and the enduring spirit of never-say-die has made this family what it is.

That is why I write of them.

That is why, to end on a personal note, these lines are offered as a gesture of appreciation for the hospitality and mateship, I have shared with members of the Muir family.

MANJIMUP AS TENT TOWN RECALLED

Manjimup, Tues, - The early days of Manjimup- the town as a settlement of tents and shanties and horse and cart trips to Albany for supplies – are vividly recalled by Mrs. C. A. Muir.

Mrs Muir, who recently celebrated her 90th birthday, has spent most of her life in the district.

She was born at Glen Pennant homestead near Nyamup about 20miles from Manjimup.

She was the eldest girl in a family of nine girls and two boys. Her maiden name was Blechynden.

Her father lived to the age of 93 and her mother till she was 83.

Mr Blechynden walked several times from Beverley to Manjimup before he settled at Glen Pennant sometime after 1870.

The family was one of about four who had settled in the district. The other farms were two or three miles away.

All the stores for the farm came from Albany and twice a year the family went with bullocks and a waggon to get provisions.

The cart was loaded with farm produce – butter, potatoes and apples – which was sold in Albany to buy other provisions.

Mrs Muir, who recently celebrated her 90th birthday, has spent most of her life in the district.

IN BARRELS

"The butter was carried in 50lb. barrels and my mother salted it, so it would keep," Mrs Muir said.

"We were paid about 10c a pound for it. Apples brought about 1c a pound, and potatoes from $16 to $20 a ton.

"The whole trip usually took about two weeks."

Mrs Muir stayed on the farm till she married on April 10, 1900. Then she went with her husband to Seaton Ross, a farm about 30 miles east of Manjimup.

"They stayed there for about 12 years, then moved into town to Seaton Villa, in Brain-street, where she has been ever since."

"When we moved there it was a thriving town—but everyone lived in shanties or tents," Mrs Muir said.

Alison Muir on pg 171 in her book Settler Footprints from Star Muir Family, gives a good summary of Robert's life, which includes Clara:

Robert Forest Muir, the third son of Andrew and Mary Ann, was a great horseman whose riding skills were renowned in and South Australia. First, he settled at Seaton Ross, north of Mordalup and then moved to Manjimup where he became a foundation member of the Warren Roads Board and started a livery stable. Under the management of his (and Clara's) eldest son Ron, this business eventually grew into the Muir Ford business. The business was later managed by Ron's two sons John and Bill, and then by Bill's son Colin. After 78 years of trading, Muir Ford was sold in May 2004. Ron's second son Gary (Clara and Roberts grandson) runs a very successful tour business on the Walpole-Nornalup inlets.

Robert and Clara's second son, Melville Shirley, joined the local Post Office staff when he first left school in Manjimup. He and his wife Edith later farmed at WOODGREEN, near Lake Muir for many years. He had met Edith when she came home for school holidays with her friend Ethel Muir from DEESIDE. Shirley, as he was always known, followed his father's interest in local government and spent 38 years as a Manjimup Shire councillor. He was chairman for three of those years. A month after Shirley's death in 1984, his wife Edith received two letters from the Governor General's Department. One to say that he had been nominated for a British Empire Medal for his 38 years of service to local government and his numerous community activities. The next, to apologise that it could not be presented - there being no provision for posthumous presentation.

Ray, Robert and Clara's youngest son, was sent to board at Hale school in Perth after which he joined the staff of the National Bank. He later served as manager and auditor at several branches throughout the state.

Robert and Clara's daughters Sylvia and Win both attended Girls High School in Claremont which later became St Hilda's. Sylvia worked in her brother Ron's business in Manjimup and Win in other offices in Manjimup.

Jack Mazzeletti – Denmark's man of many talents

ANNE SIMPSON

DENMARK'S pioneers were a tough breed of people, with Jack Mazzeletti (1877-1930) remembered as one of the district's most prominent settlers.

Millars Brothers had moved their milling operations out of Denmark in 1904 and later sold the deserted townsite in 1908 to the state government. By 1911, land was being opened in the karri forest east of Denmark, and Jack, his wife Maria and four children took up a block on Scotsdale Road.

The plan was to grow vegetables, and although the land may have been previously selected, it was still covered with heavy forest.

Jack hated waste and discovered a lucrative sideline in making charcoal from the burnt trees and scrub. There was a ready market in Albany and Kalgoorlie, and being an experienced sleeper hewer, Jack could also judge the value of the high quality jarrah and karri trees that had been felled and discarded.

The early pioneers faced huge challenges. Following Millars' departure three years before, the town had become almost uninhabitable when new settlers started trickling in.

They struggled in the high rainfall district, milking cows and growing what they could. Like most of the pioneers, Jack was quick to supply his neighbours with milk and vegetables.

Many settlers were crushed by the hardships, but for Jack, each challenge was invigorating, and he faced numerous tasks with energy, including felling giant trees, some nearly two metres in diameter, so he could build a house and sheds.

He had invested limited capital and relied on growing vegetables, including potatoes, to survive. It was not a successful venture and in summer 1913 disaster struck. Jack expected an excellent harvest, but the entire crop was washed into the Denmark River by devastating floods.

It was a disaster in more ways than one. Shattered by this event, Maria became very ill and died suddenly at the age of 35.

Jack was left to raise his young family, and later married his housekeeper, who produced another four children.

He soon looked for other ways to make money, including bacon and cream production. The milk was separated for cream and pigs were fed on skim milk.

Over the years Jack put his diverse skills into practice, including his blacksmith experience to make farm implements. He was active in the community and was appointed to a government advisory committee in 1927 to look into the Group Settlement Scheme problems.

This kept him away from his farm and put the family in debt. On his return, he went to mount a horse to check on the farm when he collapsed from a brain tumour and died a few days later. His family were forced off the land two years later because of the unpaid debt and their inability to cope with the hardships.

WEDDING
MUIR—MAZZOLETTI.
Great interest was centered in the Church of England, Manjimup on the last day of 1927, when Walter Ronald, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Muir, of Manjimup, was wedded to Dorothy Lilian, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Mazzeletti, of Denmark. The Rev. J. Craven was the officiating clergyman, and Miss Waveney Giblett presided at the organ. The bride was a radiant picture in brocaded crepe-de-chene ornamented with pearl trimming, and a beautiful veil loaned by a friend. She carried a bouquet of white roses. Mr. Shirley Muir, brother of the bridegroom, acted as best man, and Mr. D. Surridge as groomsman. Miss Gladys Mazzeletti, the first bridesmaid wore banana crepe nanette with French pleated flounces, silver turban and shoes, and carried a bouquet of pink rosebuds and maiden hair fern. The second bridesmaid was Miss Sylvia Muir, who was attired in apricot nanette with French pleated flounces, silver turban and shoes, and her bouquet was of cloth-of-gold roses and maiden hair fern. After the ceremony, at 8 p.m., a reception was held in the Town Hall, when about 250 guests sat down to a sumptuous wedding breakfast served on tables beautifully decorated in a colour scheme, with carnations in vases, and pink and blue streamers. The occasion was remarkable for its warm sociability, as well as for its great number of friends and well-wishers of the happy, young couple. It is doubtful that Manjimup has ever seen a greater or more successful gathering of its kind. Mr. L. Mahoney, of Denmark, proposed the toast of the bride's parents, and Mr. William Johnston the health of the parents of the bridegroom. In each case the toast was enthusiastically honoured, and Mr. J. Mazzeletti and Mr. R. F. Muir, respectively, responded.	The toast of the bridesmaids, proposed by the bridegroom, was well received, and was responded to by Messers. S. Muir and D. Surridge on the ladies' behalf. On the proposal of the Rev. J. Craven a toast was drunk to absent friends. A great array of valuable and beautiful presents, including many cheques, were on view, and a number of telegrams of congratulation, some of which came from the Eastern States, were read at the reception. Mrs. Les Liddelow's music was highly appreciated, and Mr. Tozer, a visitor from New Zealand, rendered several delightful items on the steel guitar, ukelele and other instruments. The tables having been removed, dancing occupied the evening until 1 a.m. The principals in this happy event left by motor for Yallingup, the bride wearing a bois-de-rose crepe nanette ensemble, with hat and shoes to match. After the honeymoon they will return to reside in Manjimup. Among those who journeyed from Denmark were Mr. and Mrs. Hooton, Mr. Onions, Miss Roberts, Miss Violet Mazzeletti and Mr. L. Mahoney, and from Perth came Mr. Dix, Mr. and Mrs. Allan Young and Miss E. Neil. Details of many handsome dresses are not available, while some appear below. Mrs. R. F. Muir, almond green georgette, French pleated, trimmed with fawn; hat en suite, and a posy of rose buds; Mrs. J. Mazzeletti, bois-de-rose crepe de chene, hat to match. Miss Edna Blechynden, green broche silk with georgette trimmings; Mrs. Walter Blechynden, luvica silk; Miss Bertha Blechynden, floral voile; Mrs. C. H. Blechynden, navy blue silk;

WEDDING MUIR—LUCAS

The marriage of Miss Min Lucas, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Lucas, of Tammin, and Mr. Raymond Robert Muir, youngest son of Mrs. C. A. Muir and the late Mr. R. F. Muir, of "Seaton Villa," Manjimup, was solemnised at St Mark's Church, Tammin, on June 7, at 5 p.m. The Rev. Gardner officiated at the ceremony.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a trained gown of ivory figured satin. The long veil was held in place by a trail of waxed flowers, and she carried a sheaf of white tulips and fern.

There were three bridesmaids, Misses Kath Hocking, Wyn Muir and Betty Frearson, who were attired alike in attractive picture frocks of flame taffeta. Halos of autumn toned velvet flowers formed their head-dresses, and they carried dainty muffs of matching tulle.

The bridegroom was supported by Messrs. Les Wing, Ron Muir and Keith Hocking.

The bridegroom was supported by Messrs. Les Wing, Ron Muir and Keith Hocking.

After the ceremony, about 70 guests assembled in the Tammin Hotel lounge, where they were received by Mr. and Mrs. Lucas and Mrs. Muir. Mrs. Lucas wore an ensemble of mulberry nixon with black accessories, and Mrs. Muir chose a navy outfit with touches of gold embroidery.

A sumptuous repast, served in buffet style, was enjoyed, and the usual toasts were honoured.

Later in the evening the bride and bridegroom left for their honeymoon, the bride travelling in a smartly cut Russian tunic woollen suit in navy, trimmed with astrakhan, with navy and white accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Muir will make their home in Kalgoorlie, where Mr. Muir is attached to the staff of the National Bank.

5th CHILD OF CLARA ANNE BLECHYNDEN & ROBERT FORREST MUIR

5. MUIR, ENID JANE (1908-1911) was born 1908, Blackwood, WA [Reg No. 146]. Jane spent her short time on earth living with her family at Seaton Ross.

At the age of "two and a half", her clothes caught on fire and as a result she died.

Enid J Muir died 29 May 1911, Blackwood, WA [Reg. 9], aged 3 years.

Note: WA records show her birth was registered in 1908 and her death in 1911.

The following pages, courtesy Alison Muir

 Death of Enid Muir at SEATON ROSS on the 29th May 1911 It was a May evening and nearly dark at SEATON ROSS. Clara Muir, who had left the house for a short time to gather eggs, heard screams and turned to see her two and a half year old daughter Enid running toward her with her nightgown in flames. She quickly bundled the child up in her apron and ran to the house. A young man working there at the time, entered the house and saw the child on the kitchen table, her burns being covered with olive oil. Enid's father Robert, then came from the vicinity of the shed and assessing the gravity of the situation hurried to ready the horses and buggy for the trip to the nearest doctor in Bridgetown, 65 kilometres away.	Dawn was breaking and all the local roosters were crowing as the distraught parents negotiated the last steep hill down into Bridgetown. It was then that Enid died, before they could reach the doctor. For the rest of Clara's life a crowing rooster was always a reminder of the child she had lost. Before the accident, Enid had been running round the house towing a shoe box on a piece of string. The string was attached to a button on her nightdress. The family assumed that she had thrown the box into the open fire to watch it burn and the flame from the burning string had reached her clothing. Enid was buried at SEATON ROSS. The following year, when Robert and Clara moved to live in Manjimup, the remains were disinterred and reburied in the small family graveyard at LAKE MUIR.
---	---

Her parents must have been devastated. When Jane died the other children were aged as follow: Walter Ronald was almost 10 years, Melville Shirley was 8 years, Sylvia Clara was 6 years and Raymond Robert was 4 years.

WEDDINGS.
SPENCER-BLECHYNDEN.
A very pretty and popular wedding was celebrated in the Dingup Church on April 25th, the contracting parties being Mr R. G. Spencer of Upper Blackwood, and Miss Charlotte Blechynden, second eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Blechynden of the Upper Warren. The officiating clergyman was the Rev. Mr. Devlin (Rector of Bridgetown). The bride, who was given away by her brother-in-law, Mr. R. F. Muir, was gracefully attired in a pretty cream satin striped silk, with a slight semi-Empire effect, the bodice being trimmed with silk applique, with yoke and sleeves of tucked net, finished with plaited silk braid. The skirt was slightly trained and was trimmed prettily with braid to match; the usual wreath and veil were worn, and also a spray on the corsage. The bridal bouquet consisted of white carnations, chrysanthemums and asparagus fern. The bride was attended by her youngest sister Enid, who wore a pretty cream silk dress tucked and trimmed with fine lace and insertion, with white velvet hat to match. The best man was Mr. Powell of South Australia. After the wedding ceremony was over, the bridal party and friends proceeded to the Warren Agricultural Hall where about 150 guests partook of breakfast, all being friends of the bride and bridegroom. After the usual toasts were honoured the happy couple left for Greenbushes en route for Perth and Adelaide, where they intend spending a few weeks with the bridegroom's relatives. The bride's going-away dress was a navy blue silk Bengaline coat and skirt costume, with velvet hat to match.	relatives. OBITUARY

MRS. CHARLOTTE SPENCER

Keen regret was felt by residents of the Yallingup, Busselton, Manjimup and Bridgetown districts when it was learned that Mrs. Charlotte Spencer, wife of Mr. R. G. Spencer, of "Thornhill," Yallingup, had passed away early on Wednesday evening, March 3, at the Busselton Hospital. Deceased, who had been in failing health for some considerable time, bore her suffering without complaint, being always cheerful and happy, having the respect of all who knew her.

The late Mrs. Spencer, who was 65 years of age, was born in the Manjimup district at "Nyamup" on the Wilgarup River, and up to 1930, when she came to Yallingup with her husband and family, had spent all her life in the district. She was married in 1911 and had two daughters, Elwin Maud (Mrs. T. E. Scott) and Elvie, both of whom are well known and respected in the Yallingup district.

The great respect in which deceased was held was shown on Friday afternoon, March 5, by the large gathering of relatives and friends who attended a service at St Mary's Anglican Church, Busselton, and afterwards at the graveside in the Dunsborough cemetery. The gathering was very representative of town and country residents, and included a number of members of the Sussex Road Board of which Mr. Spencer has been a member for some years.

Chief mourners at the graveside, besides the sorrowing husband and daughters, included Mesdames M Doust, F. Giblett, E. J. Giblett and W. Giblett (sisters), and Messrs. C. and B. Blechynden (brothers), and a number of other close relatives of both the late Mrs. Spencer and her husband. Three sisters of deceased, who were unable to be present, are Mesdames C. Muir, M. Muir and C. Lester.

The service in the church and last rites at the graveside were conducted by the Rev. R. E. Davies, and the pallbearers were Messrs. P. L. Reynolds (chairman), R. J. Seymour and F. O. Maitland (members) and L. M. Powell (secretary, of the Sussex Road Board), and Messrs. J. L. Elsgood and R. Donald, whilst the casket was borne by Messrs. J. Doust, E. J. Giblett, Yelverton and Bywaters.

Among the many beautiful floral tributes laid upon the grave were those from the following:—Sorrowing Husband; Hilda and Matt; Alma, Ern and family; Hazel, Colin and Sophie; Ben and family; Clayton and Lu; Francis, Evie and family; Clara and family; Aunty Mercy, Herbert, Clara and family; Frank, Evelyn and Hazel; Agnes and Isaac Doust; Enid, Walter and children; Erie, Frances and girls, and E. MR. R. G. SPENCER

The death occurred at the Busselton Hospital on October 24th of Mr. Reece George Spencer, well respected resident of the Yallingup district for a number of years.

Prior to taking up farming at Yallingup, the late Mr. Spencer followed the same occupation for many years in the Warren district. He took an active part in the affairs of the district in which he lived, and for a time was a West Ward member of the Sussex Road Board, representing the ratepayers of that area faithfully and well. Of a quiet disposition, he did not enjoy the best of health in recent years, and had the misfortune to lose his wife about three years ago. Two daughters are left to mourn his passing.

The funeral took place on Friday last, October 26th, the remains being laid to rest in the Dunsborough cemetery following a service held at St. Mary's Church, Busselton, the Rev. R. Ball, of Margaret River officiating at the church and graveside. There was a large attendance of friends and relatives, the pall-bearers being Messrs. F. Coulls, H. G. Curtis, E. Dawson, H. Moor, S. Elsegood and B. Buttery. The carriers were Messrs. C. Donald, J. Donald, L. Smith, F. Neal, O. Cross and J. Hayley.

A number of beautiful floral tributes were laid upon the grave, including those from the following:—Loving daughters Maud and Elvie; Son-in-law Tom and grandchildren; Aunty and the girls; Mr. and Mrs. J. Old Resident Passes

Death at Busselton

For many years a resident of the Manjimup district, Reece George Spencer died at the age of 73 in the Busselton Hospital on Thursday last.

The late Mr. Spencer was well known to Manjimup district. He came from South Australia about forty-five years ago and selected land on the Perup River, known as "The Horseshoe." Ten years after his arrival in the area he married Miss Charlotte Blechynden. His wife predeceased him by about four years.

In 1929, the late Mr. Spencer sold his Perup property and during the following year took up a place named "Thornhill" near Yallingup.

His end was sudden. He was taken to the Busselton hospital on Monday, only three days before his death. The funeral took place on Friday at the Dunsborough cemetery, the Rev. Bell of Margaret River officiating.

Two daughters and three grand-daughters survive him.

Obituary

THE LATE MR. GEORGE SPENCER

On October 23, Mr. Spencer passed away in the Busselton Hospital. A stroke he had a few days previously caused his sudden death, although he had been a sick man for several months. The funeral took place at the Dunsborough cemetery on October 25, where he was laid to rest beside his late wife and where a good gathering of relatives and friends paid their last tribute. His daughter Maude (Mrs. Tom Scott and husband) were the chief mourners with other near relatives, Mrs. Frank Giblett and Mr. and Mrs. Matt Doust from Manjimup, and Mr. Ben Blechynden, and Mr. and Mrs. Ern. Giblett from Bridgetown, and our good old lady, Mrs. Bull, who had looked after Mr. Spencer for some time. Before Mr. Spencer went to "Yallingup to live 16 years ago, he had owned the well-known "Horse Shoe" property on the Perup River, which he had selected 20 odd years before, and like his cousin, (the late Mr. William Spencer), he and his wife had been great helpers with all the functions held at Chowrup and district, where Mrs. Spencer with her good old accordion was chief musician at all the dances for a long time. Mr. Spencer was 73 years at his death, and so ends the life of another good old pioneer of the bush.

FULL ACCOUNT OF THE ACCIDENT.

MR. MUIR'S CAREER.

With reference to Mr. Andrew Muir's death on the Coast Hills, about 50 miles from Lake Muir, near Brooke Inlet, on January 21, we may give the following particulars:—Mr. Andrew Muir and his son (Mr. A. G. Muir) and nephew (Mr. A. Muir) started to the Coast Hills on January 7 on a month's holiday. They purposed going to Deep River for fishing, kangaroo hunting, and wild dog poisoning and trapping. The trip had been long talked about. Surveyor Goodwin and one of his men went with them as far as the Deep River, and then returned. They caught a few fish and shot a few kangaroos, but no wild dogs. They burnt some very old scrub, over 20 years old, on Naninulup Estuary on the 17th (Sunday), and camped all day at Landers' old camp, first used in 1818. On their way back from Deep River on the Monday they shifted to what is known as the Banksia camp, back from Cape Chathan, and went fishing and hunting. On Thursday morning the horses had strayed, and they went and brought them back, and as it was early, they started to the westward to burn the hills that day, but meant to go on and have dinner at a spring, and set fire to the hills when returning in the afternoon. After going about three or four miles Mr. A. G. Muir shot the first kangaroo. When they got about four miles from their camp Mr. A. G. Muir was in the lead, Mr. Muir next, and Mr. A. Muir behind. As they were going between two overhanging sheoak trees Mr. A. Muir's rifle went off. He did not know until he saw the smoke coming out of his rifle whose gun it was that had gone off. He saw his uncle get off his horse, put his hand to his back and fall down among the bushes. His son put his father's head on his knees, but he could only look up in his face. He never spoke. He gave a few long breaths and was dead. It was 20 minutes to 10 o'clock when the accident happened, and at a quarter to 10 all was over. A few moments before that he was talking, and in the best of spirits, as he always was, and they were all enjoying themselves. The two young men put the body on the horse, one leading and the other walking alongside. When they got to their camp they sewed the body up, in three blankets and put it on the pack horse, and got to the lake that night about 12 o'clock. Thus ended their pleasure trip. The two young men could not speak all the way from the coast, being so overcome with grief. Mr. Andrew Muir was a little over 55 years of age at the time of his death, and was highly respected by all who knew him. He was buried at Lake Muir on Saturday, January 23, and was followed to the grave by many of his friends from the Blackwood and Bridgetown, and from Forest Hill, near Mount Barker.

Mr. Andrew Muir came to Western Australia, January, 1844, in the barque Ganges, Captain Walker. He was a little over three years old when he landed at Fremantle. His father, mother, grandmother, brothers and sisters all came out together. After landing at Fremantle, they had to wait for over three weeks before they could get a passage to Albany. They got passage to Albany in an American whaleship. First of all, they went to Cape Riche, 70 miles East of Albany, to Mr. George Cheyne's. After living at Cape Riche five years, Mrs. George Cheyne, his aunt, with the help of his mother taught him to read and write. He was a fair scholar and a great reader and could converse on almost any subject. After leaving Cape Riche he lived at Oronjup for about five years, his father, Mr. Andrew Muir, having rented Oronjup farm from the late Mr. Edward Spencer. There for a good part of his time he was shepherding with one or two native boys, when he learned the native dialect and could speak it well, and understood all the native customs. From Oronjup he went to Forrest Hill, his father Mr. Andrew Muir, having selected land there. After about two years, and when he was 15 years of age, he and his brother Thomas and two native boys started to the west with a flock of sheep. No one was then living

After about two years, and when he was 15 years of age, he and his brother Thomas and two native boys started to the west with a flock of sheep. No one was then living nearer than what is now known as Bridgetown, Mr. John Blackwell settling there the same winter. The natives were numerous, but they had no trouble with them. The camp at Porup and Decella. Lake Muir the first winter they went there, was a beautiful sheet of water, then about 18 miles round and from eight to nine feet in depth, and covered with thousands of ducks and swans. The blacks mostly lived on small fish that went up the small brooks to spawn. The lake is now quite dry and like a large plain. After shepherding about Porup and Decella, they went to Lake Muir and afterwards selected land on the west bank, what is now known as Lake Muir estate, where he has been living ever since. Over 30 years ago he and his brother Thomas cut a track to the Coast Hills where he met his death, and took cattle down there, but they did not do so well as they expected so the run was abandoned, but since then Mr. Muir has held blocks of the same country and cattle have done well on it. About 24 years ago he and his brother Thomas with a few native boys cleared a track to what is now known as the Gardens' Coast. It runs through scrub that has not been burnt for over 20 years. It took a month to clear a track of 40 miles. Some of the blacks knew the country. He afterwards went to Kuchla to relieve his brother and went out north to look for some young men who were lost, and later he returned to Lake Muir.

He leaves three grown up sons and two daughters. The eldest daughter is married to Mr. A. Muir, of Forest Hill.

Mr. A. Muir will be greatly missed in the district being a cheerful, energetic man. A few years ago he imported some well bred Hereford cows and two bulls from the estate of Mr. J. H. Angus, South Australia. He also put up miles of sheep and cattle paddocks, and took great pride in his orchards. He was a good blacksmith and carpenter and in fact he could turn his hand to anything. In short he was a good all-round man. He was a self-made man and one that in every way—in character, in understanding, and in kindness of disposition could be held up as an example to the rising generation.

Septuagenarian W. P. Muir Recalls The Past

At Lake Muir on Monday last Mr. W. P. Muir celebrated his 79th birthday, though the observance of the occasion was held a few days previously. He is the only surviving son of three of the pioneer, Andrew Muir, who settled on the property in 1862. His only surviving sister (of two) is Mrs. Henry Doust of the Upper Blackwood.

The grand old home where Mr. and Mrs. Muir received their guests recently is as sound now, as the day it was put up more than 80 years ago.

William married Miss Lila Blechynden in 1900 and their five sons and three daughters are well known residents of the Warren district.

A keen rifle shot he commenced competitive shooting about 1895 and his trophies which are given a hallowed place in the home, remind him of his earlier days at the mounds. In 1908 Mr. Muir recalls competing at Karrakatta against such men of note as H. J. Simper, Maingay, W. Garraty and other top flight men of that era. There he used to garner his share of the considerable prize money. He was not so successful at Kalgoorlie, according to his own admission.

In the Torbay and Albany districts in his younger days, he was regarded as no mean all-round athlete. His apparent fragile physique was capable of amazing stamina and had he been coached as young men of today are, there is little doubt that he would have far exceeded his best efforts. When pressed for some details of his sporting ability Mr. Muir modestly confessed that he had taped 21 ft. 3 in. with a long jump, 45 ft. 9 in. hop, step and jump, cleared 5 ft 8½ in. in a high jump. On the track, watches credited him with the hundred yards under evens and though he does not recall a time for the 120 yards hurdles (he usually competed off a 43 yard mark in this event) he does remember winning a gold medal at Albany for this event, winning a gold medal at Albany for this event, against strong opposition from Perth. At Warren picnic meetings of the early days, he was a keen competitor and among his strongest and toughest opposition came from the late William Mottram, a man of similar wide athletic attainments.

Mr. Muir's interests did not rest with athletics and as one would expect, he was no mean rider, and lover of good horses. He remembers winning a Mt.

Barker Cup and several minor races at Albany and the Frankland River race meetings. As a rough rider he had few peers, when at his best.

This paper joins with his legion of friends throughout the Warren district, in wishing Mr. and Mrs. Muir continued health and happiness.

His apparent fragile physique was capable of amazing stamina and had he been coached as young men of today are, there is little doubt that he would have far exceeded his best efforts. When pressed for some details of his sporting ability Mr. Muir modestly confessed that he had taped 21 ft. 3 in. with a long jump, 45 ft. 9 in. hop, step and jump, cleared 5 ft 8½ in. in a high jump. On the track, watches credited him with the hundred yards under evens and though he does not recall a time for the 120 yards hurdles (he usually competed off a 45-yard mark in this event) he does remember winning a gold medal at Albany for this event, against strong opposition from Perth. At Warren picnic meetings of the early days, he was a keen competitor and among his strongest and toughest opposition came from the late William Mottram, a man of similar wide athletic attainments. Mr. Muir's interests did not rest with athletics and as one would expect, he was no mean rider, and lover of good horses. He remembers winning a Mt. Barker Cup and several minor races at Albany and the Frankland River race meetings. As a rough rider he had few peers, when at his best. This paper joins with his legion of friends throughout the Warren district, in wishing Mr. and Mrs. Muir continued health and happiness.

Death Of Lake Muir Pioneer

Mrs. H. T. Doust's Brother

Death has claimed in his 81st year William Pointz Muir, one of the Warren district's most respected pioneers, who in his younger days was regarded as an athlete with few peers. As a rifle shot, horseman, breeder of racehorses, and in field athletics there were few who were his equal. His loss to the district is a bitter one, for since a young man he has served the district as it is given few to do.

Mr. Muir was the only surviving brother of Mrs. Henry Doust of Winnijup, who is thus the only surviving member of her family, which consisted of three brothers and two sisters. The late Mr. Muir celebrated his 80th birthday last August when, as he had done for a decade before, he had around him his family including his great-grand children and as many of his friends as the delightful old homestead "Lake Muir" would accommodate.

He was born at Albany, one of a family of five, and of the three boys and two girls only one sister, Mrs. Henry Doust of Bridgetown survives. He settled at the lake on the shores of which the homestead was built, when a young man and married in 1900 at Glenpennant in a little ivy covered building that was used for school, divine worship, or storeroom. The bride was Lila Blechynden, a member of a well-known family. The officiating clergyman was the Rev. Hart.

Of the marriage there were three girls and five boys, all of whom survive. They are Cliff, Roy, Lila (Mrs. M. Kammann), Evelyn (Mrs. M. Kammann), Lin., Etna (Mrs. D. K. Johnston), Wally and Roland who share with their sorrowing mother the loss of a fine father and husband.

His death occurred on Thursday last after an illness of nearly a year. He came to the home of his daughter, Mrs. Johnston, and there he passed away.

Romantic Past

It would be impossible to chronicle all the highlights of the life of the late Mr. Muir.

chronicle all the highlights of the life of the late Mr. Muir. He was a man of small physique but phenomenal industry, and beside making a success of his farm he had many outside interests.

His family tell of the trips he made as a young man to Albany, a laborious journey of 110 miles with a bullock team, taking his farm produce there and returning with the necessities of life for himself. His son, Wally, carries on the farm today.

He had a fine record as a rifle shot, both on and off the range and he was immensely proud of his trophies won in stiff competition on ranges as far afield as Kalgoorlie, and Perth. Close to his 80th birthday a lifelong friend in Mr. F. Maingay visited him and took him on what proved to be his last Kangaroo hunt. Using a .303 from the car and in spite of his failing strength, his keen eyesight brought the joy of a kill, shooting from the car window.

He bred some fine racehorses and with them reaped many honours. He raced as far apart as Fremantle and Albany about 1912 and with one of his mares, "Flora" he proudly boasted that she carried his colours first past the post on 27 occasions, besides two seconds and one third.

Amazing feature of his adventures with the turf is that he often drove his horses in the buggy the day or so before to meetings at the Frankland (50 miles), Bridgetown (60), Mt. Barker (72), and have them compete with success.

In field athletics this whipcord competitor could jump the equivalent of his own height and had been officially clocked for 10 seconds over the hundred yards. He competed at Torbay and Mt. Barker and his appearance at picnic meetings throughout the Warren district was always a draw card.

The old homestead where he spent his lifetime was erected on the shores of Lake Muir about 87 years ago. Everything which went into its construction was produced on the site. Bricks were made on the job, lime burnt from the basic materials from the shores of the lake and all the timber pit-sawn on the job. Twin sawyers were proud of their weekly two load output even in those days.

One son, Lin, was born at "Lake Muir," the other children at Glenpennant. The family's nearest doctor in the very early days was at Bunbury. At 79 years of age, he rode to the coast with a mob of cattle, doing 24 miles a day. He had his last ride at 80 years and then, in his own words, "give me a new pair of legs and I'll still ride anything that can be brought me."

MUIR LUPTON.
 A very pretty wedding took place in St. Thomas' Church, Dingup, on November 17th, the contracting parties being Mr. William Clifton Muir, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Muir, of Lake Muir, and Miss Alma Jane Lupton, the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. Lupton of Bunbury, and formerly of Narrogin; the Rev. J. Craven, Rector of Manjimup, officiated.
 The duties of best man were carried out by Mr. Roy Muir, brother of the bridegroom; while Mr. Johnson acted as groomsmen.
 The bride, who was attired in a gorgeous gown of ivory French Crepe de chene, beautifully hand painted in pale shades and trimmed with pearls was attended by two bridesmaids: the Misses Leila Lupton, sister of the bride, and Evelyn Muir, sister of the bridegroom. Miss Lupton wore mauve georgette, elaborately beaded in mauve and silver, while Miss Muir was attired in sea-green crepe de chene, trimmed with silver lace and beads. Both bridesmaids wore gold wristlet watches, the gifts of the bridegroom.
 The bride carried a bouquet of cream roses and fern.
 There were over 200 guests at the reception to wish the happy couple long life and happiness.

Mrs. Lupton, mother of the bride, wore black satin heavily beaded, while Mrs. Muir, mother of the bridegroom was charmingly gowned in grey crepe de chene embroidered in pink and gold with hat to match.
 The wedding cake was made by Mrs. Frank Giblett, aunt of the bridegroom and was the gift of Mr. Leslie Lupton, brother of the Bride.
 After the reception the happy couple were motored to Greenbushes by Mr. C. A. Blechynden intending there to catch the train to Bunbury and Perth where the honeymoon was to be spent, the bride travelling in a charming frock of brown Milanese silk with pretty black hat.
 The happy couple were the recipients of many valuable and useful presents.

WEDDINGS

KAMMAN-MUIR.

Few weddings in recent years have attracted so much attention in the Warren District as that which took place at the Methodist Church, Manjimup, on Thursday, June 27th, when Evelyn Rubus, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. P. Muir, of Lake Muir, was married to Martin, youngest son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Kamman.

No history of the South-West would be complete without mention of the bride's grand-parents, the Muirs and Blechyndens, who were among the State's earliest colonists and were associated with the Warren District for more than sixty years. Their numerous descendants have been loyal to the soil, and, as graziers and farmers have played a wonderful part in the settlement of the district.

Mr. Mart Kamman has been well and very favourably known to Manjimup people since his arrival as a very small boy with his widowed mother and brothers and sisters twenty-three years ago. The eldest brother, Fred, now a successful orchardist had preceded the arrival of the family and Mrs. Kamman, senr., had entered into the pioneering work with a courage and energy equal to that of the best of our colonists. Speakers at the reception remarked that the bridegroom's energy and straight forwardness made him a true son of his mother.

The little church contained less than half the crowd which gathered to witness the ceremony. White marguerites and ivy made a simple and effective decoration to the platform. Miss Waveney Giblett, cousin of the bride, presided at the organ, and "The Voice that Breathed O'er Eden" was sung as the bride entered on the arm of her father.

A happy idea was realised in fixing the date of the marriage on the anniversary of the wedding of the bride's parents. The bride's dress was of white georgette and silk lace, delicately shaded with pink, and she carried a bouquet of pink and white rose buds. Her wreath and veil had been worn by her mother exactly twenty-nine years previously. The orange blossom worn in the button holes of the bridegroom and best man at that earlier happy wedding had been preserved, and re-appeared on Thursday last on the coat lapels of the bridegroom and Mr. Roy Muir, brother of the bride, who was best man. Mr. Wm. Kamman, nephew of the bridegroom was groomsmen.

Miss Lila Muir, sister of the bride, was first bridesmaid, and was daintily dressed in mauve georgette relieved with silver, the flared skirt having the uneven hemline effect. Her headress was a bandeau of mauve and silver, and her shoes were of silver brocade. The second bridesmaid was Miss Dorrie Doust, of Upper Blackwood, a cousin of the bride. The form of her attire was similar to that of her companion but the prevailing colour was electric blue. Each bridesmaid carried a pretty bouquet to tone with her dress.

The Rev. T. F. Smout officiated at the ceremony, and during the signing of the register, Master Les Ball rendered an appropriate solo.

All the bouquets carried were artificial and represented the tasteful handiwork of Mrs. Ron Muir.

After the ceremony the party repaired to the Town Hall, where Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Muir, assisted by Mrs. Walter Blechynden (the bride's maternal grand-mother) received their guests to the number of over two hundred and twenty. Mrs. Muir wore navy wool crepe de chene and carried a tastefully arranged bouquet, and Mrs. Blechynden was attired in navy repp, her posy of red roses adding a bright touch of colour. The whole

WEDDINGS KAMMANN- MUIR.

Few weddings in recent years have attracted so much attention in the Warren District as that which took place at the Methodist Church, Manjimup, on Thursday, June 27th, when Evelyn Rubus, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. P. Muir, of Lake Muir, was married to Martin, youngest son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Kamman.

No history of the South-West would be complete without mention of the bride's grandparents, the Muir's and Blechynden's, who were among the State's earliest colonists and were associated with the Warren District for more than sixty years. Their numerous descendants have been loyal to the soil, and, as graziers and farmers have played a wonderful part in the settlement of the district.

Mr. Mart Kamman has been well and very favourably known to Manjimup people since his arrival as a very small boy with his widowed mother, and brothers and sisters twenty-three years ago. The eldest brother, Fred, now a successful orchardist had preceded the arrival of the family and Mrs. Kamman, senr., had entered into the pioneering work with a courage and energy equal to that of the best of our colonists. Speakers at the reception remarked that the bridegroom's energy and straight forwardness made him a true son of his mother.

company sat down to decorated tables generously laden with everything required to mark a particularly festive occasion. The place of honour on the bridal party's table was occupied by a magnificent wedding cake, made by Mrs. Frank Giblett (aunt of the bride) and decorated with all the skill and taste of Mrs. Harry Kamman (sister-in-law of the bridegroom).

The wedding gifts displayed on the stage included a great variety of valuable, useful and beautiful articles, and in addition a considerable number of cheques were received.

The loyal toast having been honoured, the usual toasts of the bridegroom and of the bridesmaids were heartily received and were aptly and neatly responded to by the bridegroom and best man respectively.

In proposing the toast of the parents of the newly-wedded couple, Mr. I. Doust paid a tribute to the pioneering work done by Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Muir and said, although he was never acquainted with the late Mr. and Mrs. Kamman, he was convinced that they must have possessed the sterling qualities which were so evident in the fine character of their son.

Mr. Clarence Doust responded on behalf of Mr. and Mrs. Muir, not without protest from the company, who demanded a speech from Mr. W. P. Muir. The latter, however, shirked the issue, a circumstance humorously explained later by his old friend Mr. Wm. Mottram, who declared that Mr. Muir had been christened William Point, and upheld his name by working points instead of working.

The toast of the ladies was proposed by Mr. Don McKay, and responded to by Mr. Wm. Mottram in his happiest vein.

"Absent Friends," proposed by Mr. Alf Doust, and "The Chairman" (Rev T. Smout) proposed by Mr. Joseph

Roberts, completed the toast list, after which the floor was cleared and dancing, to the strains of Rooney's Orchestra was enjoyed for the rest of the evening.

The occasion was a remarkable gathering of relatives and friends, parties having travelled from the Upper Blackwood, Frankland River and Nannup and it was noticeable that introductions and sociable conversation were more general than is usual at many of our local functions.

During the evening the happy couple left by motor for Bridgetown en route for Perth, the bride travelling in an ensemble of cinnamon charm-line with hat to match. After the honeymoon Mr. and Mrs. Mart Kamman will return to reside in Manjimup.

WEDDING

MOTTRAM- MUIR

On Monday last, at the Methodist Church, Manjimup, the marriage took place of Dorothy Maud, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Mottram, of "Rockbridge," to Lindley Pointz, third son of Mr. and Mrs. Willy Muir, of the "Lake."

The church was decorated with greenery and pink and white flowers by friends of the bride.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father. She looked charming in a gown of white embossed ivory satin with spray of orange blossom. This was designed on classical lines, with long flowing train. The veil was of soft silk net with hand embroidered sprays on each corner, the veil being held in place with a coronet of orange blossom and leaves. She carried a bouquet of pink roses.

The bridesmaids (sisters of the bride), Mabel and Bernice, looked exquisite in gowns of embossed cyclamen satin with overdress of silk net. They wore shoulder length veils of cyclamen net with silver leaves in their hair and carried bouquets of cream roses.

The charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Johnson performed the duties of train bearer. She was attired in a dress of apple green satin, with over-slip of net trimmed with bands of green satin and pink forget-me-nots. She had pink water waved shoes to tone and carried a basket of pink roses.

The duties of best man were carried out by the bridegroom's brother, Wally. The groomsmen were Cliff Mottram, brother of the bride.

The reception took place at the Town Hall, Manjimup, where 160 guests were entertained.

The bride's mother was attired in black crepe de chene, with hat to tone. Mrs. Muir (the groom's mother) was dressed in navy with hat of same material. They both carried a posy of deep red roses.

The three-tier cake, which was the centre of attraction, was made and decorated by Mrs. Frank Giblett, aunt of the bride.

The master of ceremonies at the breakfast was the Rev. S. Slater, whose ready wit at each toast was greatly enjoyed by the guests. After the Loyal Toast the usual toasts being honoured, the Rev. Slater proposed the toast of the bride and groom. The groom responded and then proposed the toast of the bridesmaids, responded to by the best man. "Absent friends" was proposed by Mr. Shirley Muir, and responded to by Mr. Forrie Muir. "The bride's parents" was proposed by Mr. M. Kamman and responded to by Mr. D. Mottram. The "bridegroom's parents" was proposed by Mr. C. I. Doust and responded to by Mr. William Mottram. The toast to the ladies was honoured by Mr. Vick Starkie and responded to by Mrs. H. Stephenson. A vote of thanks was tendered by Mr. Jack Smith to the Rev. S. Slater for his duties as chairman.

After the reception the hall was opened to the public for dancing. Later a dainty supper was served.

The bride and groom left at midnight, with the good wishes of all, for a honeymoon tour. The bride departed attired in a smart costume of Burgundy wool crepe, with hat, shoes, gloves and bag to tone. The couple were the recipients of numerous useful presents and cheques. A large number of telegrams were received.

2. MYRA ISABELLA JOHNSTON (1905-1989) married HAROLD ERNEST ARMSTRONG (1899-1985) 1932, Perth, WA [Reg. 746].

3. DOUGLASS KNAPTON JOHNSTON (1911-1958) married JESSIE ETNA MUIR (1913-2003) 1931, Blackwood, WA [Reg. 28].

Jessie Etna and Douglas 'Talkie' Johnson and bride, daughter Kaye

Electoral Roll:

1925, 1937 William Johnston, Manjimup, storekeeper, Grace Mary Eliza, house keeper

Grace Mary Eliza Johnston (nee Knapton) died 1937, Manjimup, WA [Reg. 21], registered in 1938. William Johnston died 1954, Blackwood, WA [Reg. 73], aged 85 years.

JESSIE ETNA MUIR (1913-2003) AND DOUGLASS KNAPTON JOHNSTON (1911-1958) HAD THREE CHILDREN: Glen, Kaye and Grace Johnston.

Electoral Roll:

1936, 1949 Douglass Knapton Johnston, Manjimup, shop assistant, Jessie Etna, home duties
1954, 1958 Douglass Knapton Johnston, "Glendale", Springall Rd, Manjimup, farmer, Jessie Etna, home duties

DOUGLASS KNAPTON JOHNSTON died 12 Oct 1958, Manjimup, WA. Buried in the Old Manjimup Cemetery.

Note: Following the death of her husband Douglass Knapton Johnston's 1958, the Electoral Roll – see following, shows Jessie Etna Johnston continued living at Glendale, Springall Rd, Manjimup. In 1977 she changed her address to Mottram St, Manjimup. Also living at the same address is Jessie Etna Woodward. This must be her daughter who has reached the age to vote. Could be her birth or married name. In family records there is mention of Jessie Etna Johnston (nee Muir) being associated with GEORGE WOODWARD. I can't find a marriage of Jessie Etna or her associated with George Woodward in WA in the Electoral records. Perhaps this is him: George James Woodward (1907-1972) died 1972, Blackwood, Australia, [Reg. 1972]. Following up not able to confirm this is him.

Electoral Roll:

1963, 1968 Jessie Etna Johnston, "Glendale", Springall Rd, Manjimup, home duties.

1977, Jessie Etna Johnston, 28 Mottram St, Manjimup, home duties, Jessie Etna Woodward, 28 Mottram St, Manjimup, home duties. This must be her daughter. No mention of George Woodward.

1980 Jessie Etna Johnston, 28 Mottram St, Manjimup, home duties.

Big Crowd at Wedding Reception

The reception which followed the Muir-Gibellini Wedding on Thursday night last was attended by large number of relatives and friends. The function took place in the Manjimup Town Hall.

The principals were Elsie, fifth daughter of Mrs. and the late Mr. L. Gibellini, of Palgarrup and Roland, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Muir, of Lake Muir. The ceremony took place in St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Church. Manjimup, and was performed by Father Duffy.

The bride, who entered the church on the arm of her brother, Corrie Gibellini, was dressed in white satin, showing scroll work on bodice and peplum, with a three-quarter length veil held in place with a coronet of lace, tulle and orange blossom. Her bouquet was of pale pink and white roses and fern.

Her bouquet was of pale pink and white roses and fern.

Miss Roma Stokes was the bridesmaid. She was frocked in pink crepe satin trimmed with sequins, surmounted by a pink tulle veil with a coronet of hair braid and tiny rose buds. Her bouquet was of pink roses and fern.

The flower girl was Miss Helen Goldring, who wore a green silk frock and carried a basket of roses and pink carnations.

The bridegroom's parents were honored at the request of Mr. Mat Doust, with Mr. Roy Muir responding for them.

Absent friends were remembered in a toast called for by Mr. M. d in a toast called for by Mr. M. Muir, and the toast list was concluded with that of chairman proposed by Mr. A. F. H. Muir. Dancing was enjoyed after the breakfast. The happy couple departed for their honeymoon, the bride choosing as her travelling dress a gown of blue with white accessories.

Duties of best man were carried out by the bridegroom's brother, Mr. Wally Muir.

Owing to illness, Mrs. Gibellini unfortunately was unable to be present, and guests at the reception were received by Mrs. W. P. Muir wearing a black costume with black accessories and carrying a bouquet of pink roses.

The chairman at the breakfast which was prepared by the Manjimup R. S. L. Women's Auxiliary was Mr. C. I. Doust, who after the honoring of the Loyal Toast, paid tribute to the Bride and Bridegroom. After responding suitably, the bridegroom called for the toast of the bridesmaid, to which the best man replied.

The absence of the bride's mother was regretted by Mr. P. Allen, who proposed the toast of Mrs. Gibellini. Mr. Corrie Gibellini replied on her behalf.

GIBLETT—BLECHYNDEN.

A very popular wedding was celebrated in Dingup Church on Wednesday last, when Mr. Frank Thos. Giblett of Balbarrup and Miss Elena Evaline Blechynden, daughter of Mr. Edward Blechynden, (sic should be Mr. Walter Edward Blechynden), of the Warren, were united in the bonds of holy matrimony. The bridesmaids were Miss. Blechynden (sister of the bride) and Miss Stella Giblett (sister of the bridegroom). There was a large gathering, fully 150 friends being present. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. G. H. Devlin. Subsequently a wedding breakfast was partaken of in the Agricultural Hall. The usual toasts were honoured, the Rev. G. H. Devlin proposed the toast of the bride and bridegroom which was responded to by Mr. Giblett, who proposed the toast of the bridesmaids to which Mr. E. Blechynden responded. Mr. E. Blechynden proposed the toast of the parents of the bride which was responded to by Mr. W. Blechynden. Mr. Hart proposed the health of the bridegroom's mother and Mr. Walter Giblett responded. The company being in festive mood departed somewhat from the recognised track of toasts on these occasions and Mr. Amos Giblett proposed the toast of the bachelors coupled with the name of Mr. William Mottram and Mr. John Blechynden who blushing responded, when, however, the toast of the ladies was proposed and Mr. A. Scott was nominated as their champion the honour proved too great to be borne and he executed a masterly retreat from the room. It was evident, however, that someone must respond, and the scouts sent forth to capture the errant Mr. Scott captured Mr. D. Mottram and hailed him into the room. Mr. D. Mottram having arrived inside learned what was expected of him and forthwith proceeded to reply to a toast which he had not heard and of the nature of which he admitted that he was not fully acquainted.

WEDDING

Cox-Giblett

A wedding of more than usual interest took place at St. Thomas's, Dingup, on Wednesday, the 19th inst., when Waveney Evelyn, eldest daughter of Mr and Mrs Frank T. Giblett was married to Ronald, second son of Mr and Mrs G. F. Cox, of "Wynscot", Bridgetown.

The bride's great-grand-parents on both sides of the house were among the earliest of West Australian colonists, her mother being a member the old Blechynden family, and her father a son of the late Thomas Giblett, who, it may be noted, many years ago built the church on his own land at Dingup and gave it as a place for public worship, and which later was dedicated in the name of Saint Thomas. The bridegroom's parents are Bridgetown residents of long standing, having settled there on their arrival from England twenty-two years ago. Among their earliest acquaintances in this country were Mr and Mrs Giblett, with whom they became united by the recent marriage.

Another point of interest is the fact that the bride has been organist at St. Thomas's for the past three years.

Another point of interest is the fact that the bride has been organist at St. Thomas's for the past three years. The church was beautifully decorated by girl friends of the bride, arum lilies and other white flowers being used on the altar, rail and on the walls with fine effect. Approaching the church, the gate was surmounted by a floral arch on which the starry croyea and sweet-scented boronia were prominent. The path leading to the church door was strewn with rushes and flower petals. The bride, who entered the church on her father's arm, was in white satin gracefully cut on Princess lines, with a train. Secured by a head dress of orange-blossom was a handsome veil of tulle and lace loaned by her cousin, Mrs Edwards. She wore a necklet of crystals and carried a bouquet of beautiful croyea sprays.	bouquet of beautiful croyea sprays. The bridesmaid, Miss Winice Giblett (sister of the bride), wore pale pink floral taffeta, with blue hat and shoes, and carried a bouquet of pink croyea. A pretty little train-bearer was "Paddy" Hills, whose frock was of white voile edged with lace. The bridegroom was supported by Mr W. Sweet as best man. "The Voice That Breathed" was sung by a large congregation, the organist for the occasion being Miss Wyn. Muir (cousin of the bride). The officiating clergyman was the Rev. Walter Bushell, rector of Manjimup. After the ceremony about 150 friends and relatives were received at Dingup Hall by the parents of the bride and bridegroom. Mrs Giblett appeared in navy crepe georgette trimmed with fawn, hat and shoes to match, and bearing a posy of primroses and violets. Mrs Cox wore navy morocain with fawn trimmings, and a navy hat. Her posy was of violets. In the hall streamers were hung overhead, the walls were decorated with croyea, while the same floral pride of the karri country further adorned the long, well-laden tables. The health of the newly-married couple was proposed by the Rev. W. Bushell and drunk with musical honours. The bridegroom responded, and proposed the health of the bridesmaid, on whose behalf Mr W. Sweet responded. The toast of the bride's parents was proposed by their very old friend, Mr Clarence Doust, and on behalf of the bridegroom's parents by W. S. Rutherford. A response on behalf of Mr and Mrs Giblett was made by Mr C. T. Doust in a witty speech in which he spoke "in the first person plural", as though he were literally the mouthpiece of those for whom he spoke. After returning thanks for the toast, he expressed their gratitude to the many friends who had assisted in the decorations and who in various ways ensured the smooth working of all the arrangements. On Mr Doust's proposal a toast to "The Helpers" was enthusiastically honoured. The toast of "The Chairman" (Rev. W. Bushell) was entrusted to Mr J. W. Margereson. Mr Bushell responded with a characteristically vigorous speech, partly in lighter vein and partly in more serious mood. The three-tiered cake, which was much admired, was made and decorated by the bride's mother, whose skill in this connection has been acknowledged on many occasions. Many useful and handsome gifts were received by the happy young couple, whose new home will be at Balbarrup, on Mr J. Q. WEDDING BELLS

DOUST—GIBLETT

A quiet wedding was witnessed by a few intimate friends at St. Thomas's Church, Dingup, on Tuesday, February 21, when Winice Jean, second daughter of Mr and Mrs. F T. Giblett, of "Oakleigh," Balbarrup, was married to Clifford Henry youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Doust. of "Springhill," Winnegup." The Rev. Walter Bushell was the officiating clergyman. The bride, who was given away by her father, was attired in a graceful frock of powder blue cloque with hat to match. After the ceremony a small party of relatives partook of a wedding breakfast at the home of the bride's parents. The proceedings were restrained out of respect for the memory of the bridegroom's grandmother, Mrs H Doust, senr, whose death occurred recently.

ANDERSON— GIBLETT

At Dingup Church on May 22, Muriel, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Giblett, was married to William, only son of Mr. George Anderson and the late Mrs. Anderson, of North Perth.

The bride, who was given away by her father, was attired in an attractive mustard hued suit with brown accessories. The matron of honour was Mrs. Fred Thomson who was dressed in a lettuce green frock, her accessories being brown.

Mr. Jack Cox was best man and the ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Tassell.

Following the wedding a reception was held in the town hall at which 150 guests were present, the feature of the well laden tables being the birthday cake (sic) made and iced by the mother of the bride.

The toast of bride and bridegroom was submitted by the Rev. Tassall, and responded to by the bridegroom. Mr. Mat Doust presented the toast of the bride's parents, which was replied to by an old friend of the family in the person of Mr. William Johnston.

Other toasts were: The Matron of Honour, submitted by the bridegroom and replied to by Mr. Jack Cox; Absent Friends, and the Bridegroom's Father and Sisters, moved by Mr. D. K. Johnston. Mr. David Mottram acted as chairman. Mrs. Mory presented the bride with a satin covered horse shoe as she left the church.

GIFT EVENING

A gift evening to Bridgetown dressmaker, Miss Muriel Giblett, who married Mr. W. Anderson at Manjimup was held in Dingup Hall.

Evening also took the form of a send-off to Miss Giblett's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Giblett, who are leaving for Manjimup.

Dancing and singing was a feature of the turn-out. After a very dainty supper, Rev Tassell called on Mr Matt Doust to say a word or two,

Mr. Doust, on behalf of all those present, asked Miss Giblett to accept the many gifts that had been brought.

Mr. Chatley expressed Dingup's regret at Miss Giblett's father and mother leaving the district. He presented Mr. and Mrs. Giblett with a gift of money.

ANDERSON—GIBLETT

At Dingup Church on May 22, Muriel, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Giblett, was married to William, only son of Mr. George Anderson and the late Mrs. Anderson, of North Perth.

The bride, who was given away by her father, was attired in an attractive mustard hued suit with brown accessories. The matron of honour was Mrs. Fred Thomson who was dressed in a lettuce green frock, her accessories being brown.

Mr. Jack Cox was best man and the ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Tassell.

Following the wedding a reception was held in the town hall at which 150 guests were present, the feature of the well laden tables being the birthday cake made and iced by the mother of the bride.

The toast of bride and bridegroom was submitted by the Rev. Tassall, and responded to by the bridegroom.

Mr. Mat Doust presented the toast of the bride's parents, which was replied to by an old friend of the family in the person of Mr. William Johnston.

Other toasts were: The Matron of Honour, submitted by the bridegroom and replied to by Mr. Jack Cox; Absent Friends, and the Bridegroom's Father and Sisters, moved by Mr. D. K. Johnston.

Mr. David Mottram acted as chairman.

Mrs. Mory presented the bride with a satin covered horse shoe as she left the church.

A gift evening to Bridgetown dressmaker, Miss Muriel Giblett, who married Mr. W. Anderson at Manjimup was held in Dingup Hall

Evening also took the form of a send-off to Miss Giblett's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Giblett, who are leaving for Manjimup.

Dancing and singing was a feature of the turn-out.

After a very dainty supper, Rev Tassell called on Mr. Matt Doust to say a word or two.

Mr. Doust, on behalf of all those present, asked Miss Giblett to accept the many gifts that had been brought.

Mr. Chatley expressed Dingup's regret at Miss Giblett's father and mother leaving the district.

He presented Mr. and Mrs. Giblett with a gift of money.

LISTER—HOLLAND

On Saturday, June 26th, a wedding of interest to many people was celebrated at Augusta, the parties being Miss Lily Madge Holland, of Karridale, and Mr. Colin Roland Lister, of Mosman Park.

The bride looked charming as she entered the church on the arm of an old friend of her family, Mr. Hubert McDonald. Her long sleeved gown was made of ivory moss crepe cut on classical lines, with three flat folds finishing in a smart bustle bow at the back, the bodice being embroidered in ivy leaves in fine French net. A tulle veil was worn with a coronet of orange blossom, and she carried a beautiful sheaf bouquet of white and gold rosebuds and maidenhair fern.

The bridesmaids, Misses Ivy Holland (sister of the bride) and Patricia Murphy (cousin), were frocked alike in misty blue fine silk marquisette, daintily trimmed in white lace. They both wore blue halos of taffeta and tulle and carried bouquets of pink and white rosebuds and maidenhair fern. The duties of best man were carried out by Mr. C. Spackman, and Mr. Patrick McDonald was groomsman.

After the ceremony a reception was held in the Karridale Hall, approximately 300 guests being received by the mothers of the bride and bridegroom. Mrs. Holland chose a grey costume, trimmed in royal blue, with black accessories, whilst Mrs. Lister wore a dress of rich burgundy de chene, trimmed with gold beads, and accessories to match.

Mr. Brown ably carried out the duties of chairman for the breakfast and Mr. McCasill was the M.C. for the dance which followed. During the evening vocal items were rendered by Mr. and Mrs. C. Cross, and Messrs. Brown, Bradley and D. Reardon.

The bride's travelling ensemble was a smart black and white suit, with black velvet toque trimmed with diamantes and tiny spotted veil, and black accessories.

Mr. M. J. Doust
Honoured at Deeside

On Saturday last at "Kingarrup" a dance was held in aid of the Deeside Tennis Club. During the evening occasion was taken to present a silver tea set, suitably engraved to Mr. M. J. Doust. whose marriage to Miss Hilda Blechynden of Glen Pennant Manjimup takes place on Apr 2nd. Mr. J. Smith made the presentation on behalf of members of the Deeside Rifle Club in recognition of services rendered during the past twenty years both on the range and socially, during which time he carried out the secretarial duties for five years and deputy captain for a period. The Rifle Club also has a nice roomy hall with supper room, ladies dressing room, knight (sic) light installed and tennis courts, adjoining the range, all of which were mainly due to his untiring energy and organisation.

Mr. Smith congratulated Mr Doust and wished he and his future wife every success in the days to come, and expressed the members' pleasure that he was bringing to their district such a popular and well-respected lady as Miss Blechynden. Mr. Doust received a fine ovation when he rose to respond.

DOUST—BLECHYNDEN

Widespread interest was evinced in the marriage of Mr. Matthew J. Doust to Miss Hilda Blechynden, at St. Martin's Church, Manjimup, on Easter Monday.

The bridegroom is the third son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Doust, who selected the old property of "Riverside," near Deeside, and who lately have resided at Perup. The bride is the fifth daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Blechynden, who were among the earliest of the Upper Warren settlers when they took up their present fine property, "Glenpennant."

Both bride and bridegroom have won the high regard of all who know, them, and the union of the two old and respected families is viewed with general satisfaction.

A quiet wedding had been intended, but a host of friends and relatives overflowed the church. The Rev. Walter Bushell was the officiating clergyman.

The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. Harold McKenna, as matron-of-honour, and by little Val. Muir as train bearer. The duties of best man were carried out by Mr. Tom Muir, of Deeside.

A Dam Tractor.

Litigation relating to a Cletrac tractor supplied by J. M. Dummond and Co. and S. Dvoresky to Harold Arthur McKenney, of Kojonup, engaged the attention of Mr Justice Burnside in the Supreme Court last week-end. The plaintiff, a farmer and dam-sinking contractor, alleged that the tractor, which he obtained from the defendant firm under a hire purchase agreement, failed to conform to the conditions of implied and expressed warranty. He sought a rescission of the contract, - repayment of a deposit of £150, and amount of promissory notes for the balance of the purchase money, with interest, cancellation and delivery of all unpaid promissory notes, repayment of sums paid to the defendants by the plaintiff for spare parts, etc., amounting to £68 10s 2d, and damages.

In his statement of claim plaintiff said he agreed to purchase the tractor in August, 1923, for £500, £150 to be paid in cash on delivery, and the balance in three amounts on subsequent dates, with interest. Defendants delivered the tractor in October, 1923, at Kojonup, when plaintiff paid the £150 deposit, and gave three promissory notes for the balance. The sale was made upon (1) an implied condition that the tractor was new; (2) an expressed condition that it was suitable for farm work and dam sinking in the Kojonup district, and would perform such work satisfactorily and more cheaply and expeditiously than horses; (3) an implied warranty that it was reasonably fit for the purpose for which it was required; (4) and an expressed warranty. The tractor, plaintiff asserted, was not new, and did not perform the work satisfactorily, was not in good condition or working order, and not reasonably fit for the purpose required. Plaintiff paid the promissory notes under protest, and after threats of legal proceedings. He claimed damages in respect of repair costs, wages, and loss on contracts for dam-sinking, which he was unable to perform.

The defendants denied that the tractor failed or was in bad order. The plaintiff they asserted continued in possession of it after delivery and did not give defendants written notice, stating wherein it failed, and did not allow them a reasonable opportunity to put the machine in order. A paragraph of the purchase agreement set out that continued possession, or failure to give notice as indicated, or to allow reasonable opportunity, should be conclusive evidence that the machine fulfilled the warranty. Alternatively, the sale was one of a specified article under its trade name and there was no implied condition as to its fitness for any particular purpose. Defendants counterclaimed for; £68/10/2., for goods sold to plaintiff, work and labour done by defendants, and moneys paid by defendants for the use of the plaintiff.

Plaintiff replied that if he did not give the defendants written notice of the tractor's failure, the defendants by attempting to put it in order waived such written notice. They had due oral notice and were well aware of the defects of the machine.

Tractor and Dam-Sinking - The litigation over a Cletrac tractor led to a third day's evidence being given before Mr. Justice Burnside in the Supreme Court yesterday. Harold A. McKenney, farmer and dam sinking contractor, of Kojonup, claimed against J. M. Drummond and Co and S. Dvoretzky, rescission of his contract for the purchase of a tractor under a hire purchase agreement, repayment of money paid and damages in respect his having been supplied with a machine allegedly defective. Mr. V. Smith, KC with him Mr. G. A. Cooper, appeared for the plaintiff, and Mr. J. P. Dwyer, for the defendants. In opening the case for the defence Mr. Dwyer said there had been no breaches of warranty as claimed by the plaintiff. In buying a tractor the plaintiff did not rely upon the skill judgement of the defendants, but bought a Cletrac tractor, having decided to buy that type of tractor before seeing the defendants. He bought it on the recommendations of persons who used that type of tractor. The tractor dug 8,000 yards and there was no warranty given that it would do more. Therefore, that warranty had been fulfilled. He thought he would be able to satisfy the Court that the tractor was new and that it was of good material. Frank James Barnes, engineer, said that two years ago he was in the employ of the defendants and visited Kojonup and inspected the tractor in question, which was near a dam. Bruce Holden was with him. The tractor was not in good working condition. The plugs were oiling up owing to an excessive splash of oil and, perhaps, the loosening of the pistons. He found the pistons to be loose. He dismantled the engine and sent it back to Perth. Later he recommended the defendants to substitute another engine and this was done, a new Woodley engine being sent. When the new engine was put in the tractor was in very fair condition. He used the tractor in the dam and it worked well but the machine was still stiff and it stopped several times owing to an obstruction in the petrol cock and the running out of fuel. He saw the tractor on subsequent occasions and formed the opinion that McKenney was not capable of driving it and that it was not properly lubricated. The hearing of the case was adjourned to 10.30 a.m. on Monday.

OBITUARY

Late Mr. H. A. McKenney

District wide regret was expressed at the passing of Mr. Harold Arthur McKenney at Kojonup on the 2nd. inst. For some years Mr. McKenney had been receiving medical treatment for a heart ailment, and prior to his death he was a patient at the local Hospital for two months.

The late Mr. McKenney was born at Nhill, Victoria, 55 years ago, and after residing at Bunbury and at Bridgetown came to Kojonup in 1909, selecting a large farming property, known as "Glen Oaklands", on the Towerlup River. A few years later he married Miss Laura Blechynden, of Manjimup. Besides his extensive farming interests Mr. McKenney was a member of the local Road Board for six years preceding his death, being Vice-Chairman for the past five years. He took an active interest in the Primary Producers' Association, including No. 1 Wool Zone Council, and in the Kojonup Pastoral and Agricultural Society, being one of the guarantors of the Society's overdraft. For many years he was a Justice of the Peace. Mr. McKenney was a man of ability and sound judgement, his wide experience and general knowledge being readily available to aid all who sought his advice. His views were always listened to with respect, and he was happy in the knowledge that he had a very wide circle of friends and none who thought ill of him.

He is survived by his widow, three sons and two daughters:— Edith (Cpl. in A.W.A.S.), Pearl, Wilfred (R.A.A.F.), Everard and Geoffrey.

The deceased was interred in the Kojonup Cemetery on June 3rd. in the presence of a very large gathering of relatives and friends, the funeral being preceded by a service at St. Mary's Church with the Rev. B. L. Somner officiating. The funeral arrangements were carried out by Messrs. Jewell and Davis.

Messrs. R. Benn, P. T. Hill, Syd.

Edwards, J. F. Cavanagh, N. B. O'Halloran and Josiah Notrich acted as Coffin Bearers, and E. C. Jones, R. H. Reid, R. Krakouer, J. Fitzmaurice, A. G. Baber and L. MacBride as Pall Bearers.

Floral tributes were received from Loving Wife and children; Joe, Nell & Louie; Annie & Rube; Margaret and Jack; Hilda & Matt; Clara, R. W. Wedding

BLECHYNDEN—BLYTHE

A wedding of interest to Manjimup residents was celebrated at the Church of England, Guildford, on Saturday, February 27, when Mr. Clayton A. Blechynden, younger son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Blechynden, of Glenpennant, Manjimup, was married to Miss Louise A. Blythe, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Blythe, of Guildford. The Rev. Vine was the officiating clergyman.

The bride's dress was of cornflower blue crepe de chene, with georgette trimmings, and hat to match. The bridesmaid, Miss Florrie Blythe (sister of the bride), was attired in lemon silk, with hat to tone. The bridegroom was supported by Mr. M. J. Doust, as best man.

Among those present were the bride's mother, Mrs. Blythe, who wore red and grey floral georgette; | Mrs. Ingram, aunt of the bride, in; navy morocain; Mrs. Coppin, in black crepe de chene; Mrs. Finlay, floral silk voile; Mrs. Beere, in cream chenille georgette, with crepe de chene trimmings; Miss Ingram, in W georgette, with grey silk embroidery; Miss Beere, in lemon crepe de chene, with white trimmings

After the ceremony a number of friends and relatives attended a reception at the home of the bride's parents.

A short honeymoon was spent in Perth, and Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Blechynden came to reside at their home; on the Warren River, in this district.

Following is an intriguing article telling us much about Clayton Blechynden and his beef raising on Glenpennant. Note there are a few discrepancies re the reporter's mention of John and Walter Blechynden and their migration to the south west from Beverley. In 1854, John Blechynden walked to the Blackwood district at the age of 21, guided by two friendly Aborigines. He was so impressed with what he saw that he acquired two pastoral leases over about 10,000 acres of land along the middle courses of the Blackwood River with an option to buy ten acres to build a residence. He was one of the first people to appreciate the possibilities of stock raising in the country. In 1864, now aged 18 years, Walter walked to Bridgetown with his brother Edwin and joined their eldest brother John at his home 'Bridgedale'. It is possible John did accompany Walter along the way, ten years after his first major trek. More can be read in the chapters on John and Walter Blechynden.

Old ways win for Clayton

The Devon industry and indeed the beef industry as a whole, owes a lot to the profound cattle breeding principles of Manjimup farmer, Clayton Blechynden.

At 95 years of age, "Clayt" has years of experience to back his theories that have managed to turn off cattle at premium prices.

Totally "switched-on" when it comes to cattle, some of his principles might worry the modern producer but would confirm the traditionalist in the path he has always taken.

Pioneering days

The property, Glen Pennant was first taken up by his father, Walter Edward Blechynden (who was incidentally the first white male born in Western Australia). (ed. This statement is not correct.)

With his brother John, Walter Blechynden made the trek from Beverley to Bridgetown encountering only aboriginals on the way. They relied on them for water and directions to Bridgetown.

Parting

John chose to remain at Bridgetown (he owned Blechynden house), while Walter chose Glen Pennant as the land to develop.

The job of developing it was put in the capable hands of son Clayton, who over the years turned the block into prime cattle country, land which has produced quality beef and a reputation which impressed butchers throughout the state. The Blechynden theory is that if you don't feed the land, it won't feed you.

Philosophy

"And there's no point in feeding bad cattle – you are wasting your time then," says Clayton.

He lives by that dictum. Even in the early stages of production, he would bring bulls across from the eastern States, because nothing suitable was available on the local market.

Those were the "Shorthorn days" just after the depression, when many beef producers in the south west turned to dairy production as an income.

Totally "switched-on" when it comes to cattle, some of his principles might worry the modern producer but would confirm the traditionalist in the path he has always taken. Clayton's association with cattle goes back to the turn of the century and the farm which he cleared by hand.

Pioneering days
The property, Glen Pennant, was first taken up in 1842 by his father, Walter Edward Blechynden (who was incidentally the first white male born in Western Australia). With his brother John, Walter Blechynden made the trek from Beverley to Bridgetown encountering only aboriginals on the way. They relied on them for water and directions to Bridgetown.

John chose to remain at Bridgetown (he owned Blechynden house), while Walter chose Glen Pennant as the land to develop. The job of developing it was put in the capable hands of son Clayton, who over the years turned the block into prime cattle country, land which has produced quality beef and a reputation which impressed butchers throughout the State. The Blechynden theory is that if you don't feed the land, it won't feed you.

Philosophy
"And there's no point in feeding bad cattle – you are wasting your time then," says Clayton. He lives by that dictum. Even in the early stages of production, he would bring bulls across from the Eastern States, because nothing suitable was available on the local market. Those were the "Shorthorn days" just after the Depression, when many beef producers in the south west turned to dairy production for an income.

The key to the success of Glen Pennant, Clayton stresses, lies not only in the quality of cattle, but also in the condition of his land. When he was a lad helping his mother grow potatoes, he scattered some "Shirley Number 5 potato manure" along a fence line. It produced knee high grass and ever since Clayton Blechynden has insisted his land be heavily fertilised.

Prime
"We still literally pour it on, which means there is always a tonne of feed for the cattle," he explains. "When the market dries up, we have prime, grass fed cattle ready for sale. "But I won't put bad cattle on good feed – there is no point in that at all." The Glen Pennant steers will meet any market, virtually at any time of the year and always in prime condition. With a twinkle in his eye, the grand old man of the beef industry is quick to point out that prices of 220kg/steer are the norm for his lines of Hereford/Devon cross steers. His cattle have for many years been sold direct. Clover Meats have a long-standing order with Clayton but he has never met the man who buys his product! Clovers might not inspect cattle before buying so confident are they of the quality and suitability to the market of the Glen Pennant steers.

His wife, Louise.

The infusion of Devons into the operation has been a relatively recent one. Having built up a solid herd, essentially consisting of the Hereford/Shorthorn, Clayton, always with an eye on what he calls the "true" beef cattle, decided that the Devon would produce well flavoured meat.

Pay-off
"In the early days, people with lesser cattle could get away with it – there wasn't much difference in the prices between those and a line of top steers. "But today, people with well bred cattle get paid for them." Clayton's bull buying programme is geared towards the top end. He pays top money for Devon bulls from Michael Jones' Westcourt stud at Kojonup and for Herefords from Brad Day's Springstead at Dardanup.

ELEVENTH CHILD OF WALTER BLECHYNDEN & JANE NEEDS

11. BLECHYNDEN, ENID MAUD (1896-1983) & GIBLETT, WALTER JOHN (1872-1957)

Enid Maud Blechynden was born 21 Feb 1896, Glenpennant, Manjimup, Reg. place Warren, WA [Reg. 46].

Enid Maud Blechynden

ENID MAUD BLECHYNDEN (1896-1983) married WALTER JOHN GIBLETT (1872-1957) in 1920, Blackwood, WA [Reg. 15].

WEDDING.

GIBLETT—BLECHYNDEN.

A pretty wedding was solemnised at Dingup Church, on Wednesday, April 28, the contracting parties being Walter J, eldest son of Mrs. Giblett, of "Dingup House," and the late Thomas Giblett; and Enid Maud, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Blechynden, of "Glenpennant," Warren. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. F. Davies.

The bride wore a beautiful dress of white crepe-de-chine with the usual wreath and veil, and was attended by her niece, Miss Sylvia Muir, who wore a pretty frock of pale blue silk.

The duties of best man were carried out by Mr. Jack Frayne.

The wedding breakfast was held in the Agricultural Hall, when the usual toasts were honoured, after which the happy couple left per motor en route for the Blue Mountains, New South Wales, the bride travelling in a navy-blue costume, with hat of white velvet and ostrich feathers. Many valuable and useful presents were received.

OBITUARY.

The Late Mrs M. A. Giblett.

With the passing of Mrs M A Giblett, of Dingup, the District has lost another of its oldest residents, and there are many who have lost a good friend.

The deceased was of a most generous and loving disposition, and her life was one of service; self being crowded out.

The funeral, which took place on Thursday of last week was attended by over 200 relations and friends.

Dingup Church, where the first part of the service was held, was filled to overflowing, about thirty persons being unable to gain admission.

The Rev. Davis of Bridgetown, conducted the service and eulogised the deceased lady, whom, he said, he believed has passed on to continue her work in another sphere.

On arrival at the old Balbarup Cemetery, where the funeral took place, many people, who had been unable to the first part of the service, had gathered.

After the usual service had been read, the first two verses of "Abide With Me" were sung.

Many beautiful floral tributes were received, the list of which is appended:—Walter and Enid, Herbert and Clara, Frank and Evelyn, Bertha, Ben and family, Ella and Henry, Agnes and Ike, Mabel, David and family, Stella and Jim, All at Manjimup House, Jemima, Mrs A T Clarke and family

OBITUARY.

The Late Mrs M. A. Giblett.

With the passing of Mrs MA Giblett, of Dingup, the District has lost another of its oldest residents, and there are many who have lost a good friend.

The deceased was of a most generous and loving disposition, and her life was one of service; self being crowded out.

The funeral, which took place on Thursday of last week was attended by over 200 relations and friends. Dingup Church, where the first part of the service was held, was filled to overflowing, about thirty persons being unable to gain admission.

The Rev. Davis of Bridgetown, conducted the service and eulogised the deceased lady, whom, he said, he believed has passed on to continue her work in another sphere.

On arrival at the old Balbarup Cemetery, where the funeral took place, many people who had been unable to the first part of the service, had gathered.

After the usual service had been read, the first two verses of "Abide With Me" were sung.

Many beautiful floral tributes were received, the list of which is appended:—Walter and Enid, Herbert and Clara, Frank and Evelyn, Bertha, Ben and family, Ella and Henry, Agnes and Ike, Mabel, David and family, Stella and Jim, All at Manjimup House, Jemima, Mrs A T Clarke and family and Miss Clarke, Gertie, Olga, Edie, Son, Thelma and Bill, Linda, Dorrie, Joy and Tom, Clive, Bernard and Ursula, Waveney, Winice, Thomas and Muriel, Ern and Alma, John, Amy, and May, Mr and Mrs H Blechynden, Rose and Pat Vale, Lily and family, Mr and Mrs J Muir, Hilda, Lew and family, Herbert, Minna and Boys, Mr and Mrs G S Giblett and family, From "Blackwood Bend" (G Meares), Jesse and Kathleen, Mr and Mrs W E Blechynden, Clayton and Hilda, From "Sunnyhurst," All at "Oldfield," Mr and Mrs Crombleholme, Maude Livingston and sons, From "Crowhurst," : Mr and Mrs W Johnstone and family All at "Riverside," Mr Mrs and Miss Kitley, Mrs Edward Davies and Miss: Davies, Mr and Mrs F J Hornby and family, Mrs Ralph, Mrs Frayne and sons, Mr and Mrs James and family, Mr and Mrs J Wheatley, Mr and Mrs F B Davies, Mr and Mrs G E Davies Mr and Mrs Everit Reid, The Liddel family, Mr and Mrs Cameron, Mr and Mrs P A Allen and family, Mr and Mrs L Liddel and Mrs Butcher Mr and Mrs Dawson and family, Frank and Elsie Crowd, Mr and Mrs Jack Spencer and Dick, Mr and Mrs J May and family, Mr and Mrs C Wheatley, Evelyn, Guy and Alan Daffield, A Narocki, Mr and Mrs Andrews and family, Mr, Mrs and Miss Margereson, Mr and Mrs W Dick, Mr and Mrs R H Edwards and family, Mr and Mrs Hithersay, Mr and Mrs D McKay and family.

OBITUARY

MRS. MARIA A. GIBLETT.

The S.W. mourns the loss of one of its oldest and best residents in Mrs. Maria Agnes Giblett, of Dingup, who died on Tuesday, March 11, at the age of 84 years. The remains were laid to rest on March 13, beside those of her husband in the old Balbarrup Cemetery, probably the first cemetery to be consecrated southward from Bridgetown.

On the way from Dingup House the cortege halted at Dingup Church where the coffin was placed before the altar, the pall bearers being Messrs Hubert J. Giblett, J. S. Scott, A. S. C. Chatley and H. E. Blechynden, and a short service was conducted by the Rev. F. Davies, of Bridgetown. In the course of his address the preacher dwelt upon the long and wonderfully active and useful life of the late Mrs. Giblett, whom he had considered as a very dear friend for the past eighteen years. He could not accept the old idea of eternal rest as a reward for active lives such as that of Mrs. Giblett. He believed that an eternity of leisure would have no joy for one who in this life found pleasure in valuable work, and he thought that in the after-life Mrs. Giblett, and others like her, would be given the opportunity to carry on the noble activity which they scarcely began whilst on this earth. There was an attendance of over two hundred at the graveside where the Rev. F. Davies read the burial service. Beside the numerous relatives of the deceased lady, and other local residents, the number included Mr. L. Moulton, of Bridgetown; Mr. Ern Giblett, of Upper Blackwood; and Mr. Tom Giblett of Hester (nephews); the Hon. John Ewing, M.L.C., and Mr. J.H. Smith M.L.A.; Mrs. John Muir and daughter and Mr. and Mrs. Meares, Upper Blackwood; Messrs L. McAlinden, W. Blechynden, H. E. Blechynden, Alf. Cullen and Mrs. Fred McAlinden, from Bridgetown.

Following is a list of the floral tributes: From Ada; Walter and Enid; Herbert and Clara; Frank and Evelyn; Bertha, Ben and family; Ella and Henry; Agnes and Ike; Mabel, David and family; Stella and Jim; all at Manjimup House; Jemima; Mrs. A. T. Clarke and family and Miss Clarke; Gertie, Olga, Edie, Son, Thelma and Bill; Linda, Dorrie, Joy, Tom, Clive; Bernard and Ursula; Waveney, Winice, Thomas and Muriel; Ern and Alma; John, Amy and May Blechynden; Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Blechynden; Rose and Pat Veale; Lily and family; Mr. and Mrs. J. Muir; Hilda, Lue and family, Hubert, Minna and boys; Mr. and Mrs. G.S. Giblett and family; from "Blackwood Bend" (G. Mears); Jesse and Kathleen; Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Blechynden, Clayton and Hilda; from "Sunnyhurst"; all at "Oldfield"; Maud Livingstone and sons; from "Crowhurst"; Mr. and Mrs. W. Johnston and family; all at "Riverside"; Mr., Mrs. and Miss Kitley; Mrs. Edward, Davies and Miss Davies; Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Hornby and family; Mrs. Ralph; Mrs. Frayne and sons; Mr. and Mrs. James and family; Mr. and Mrs. J. Wheatley; Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Davies Mr and Mrs. G. E. Davies; Mr. and Mrs. Everit Reid; the Liddelow family; Mr. and Mrs. Cameron; Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Allan and family; Mr. and Mrs. Les Liddelow and Mrs Butcher; Mr and Mrs Dawson and family; Frank and Elsie Crowd; Mr. and Mrs Jack Spencer and Dick; Mr J. May and family; Mr and Mrs Claude Wheatley; Evelyn, Guy and Alan Duffield; A. Narocki; Mr and Mrs. Andrews and family; Mr, Mrs and Miss Margereson; Mr. and Mrs. W. Dick; Mr and Mrs K. Edwards and family; Mr and Mrs Hithersay; Mr and Mrs D. McKay and family; Mr. and Mrs Crombleholme.

The late Mrs. Maria Agnes Giblett was born at Guildford, W.A., 1845, and was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Moulton, her father being a storekeeper in Guildford at that time. In 1869 she was married at Picton to Mr. Thomas Giblett and in the same year the young couple journeyed southward to make a new home at Balbarrup, in the house where Mr. and Mrs. W. G Dawson now reside. Mr. and Mrs Giblett remained at Balbarrup only about a year, for in 1870 they moved to Dingup, where Mrs Giblett spent the remainder of her long life. Her husband met death by accident thirty-three years ago. There were nine children of the marriage, all of whom survive, and all were at their mother's funeral. The deceased lady possessed the reserved manner characteristic of many of the old settlers of the South West, and yet she contrived to exert a strong influence on every worthy social or public movement, and her help was ready and generous wherever it was needed. The old homestead was a meeting place in the earliest days of the Warren settlement, and at all times visitors found a warm and friendly hospitality. Conversation with the lady of the house was always agreeable and interesting, and throughout her long period of life in the bush she retained a quiet dignity of manner and a clear mental outlook.

Car Turns Over

ACCIDENT ON MANJIMUP ROAD

On Tuesday last whilst enroute for Manjimup Mr. Walter Giblett, of Bridgetown, had a very narrow escape from serious injury when his sedan car ran off the road and turned on its side with its nose in the bush. About three feet away was a large, "vicious looking" stump which, if he had been travelling at any speed, would have most certainly done a great amount of damage. As it was, the car was lying on its side and the only portion damaged was a crack in the glass of one of the front head lights. In the back portion of the car, resting on the unbroken windows were several parcels and an axe. When interviewed Mr. Giblett said that apparently, he must have dozed at the wheel. He woke in sufficient time to slow the car up and thus avoid a very serious accident.

EARLY YEARS IN MANJIMUP

LECTURE BY MR J E DEACON, MA

At a lecture delivered in the Manjimup Town Hall recently, Mr. J. E. Deacon, MA, former headmaster of the Manjimup Junior High School and now a district superintendent, dealt with the development of the district between the years 1875 and 1912. It was the second lecture on early history which Mr. Deacon had given.

In the first part of this study, Mr. Deacon said, we reached the stage of development in the Warren district up to about the year 1875. We have seen how this rich country was first discovered and how, little by little, farms were wrested from the virgin forest. It remains now to consider the manner in which the district expanded and how a thriving township came into being.

Let us for a moment consider something of the background of contemporary history so far as other parts of the State are concerned.

After 1868, no more convicts were to be sent to, although for a number of years they were of material assistance to the State, principally through their labour in the construction of roads and bridges to aid transportation — matter of pressing importance to the early settler. Thus, the bridge had been thrown across the Blackwood River at Nannup, supplying a need for the pioneers of the Lower Warren in the transport of their goods to Busselton and Bunbury. In addition, the Bridgetown-Bunbury Road was improved by a gang of convicts who carried out construction work as far as Padbury's Hill near Balingup.

After 1868, no more convicts were to be sent to Western Australia, although for a number of years they were of material assistance to the State, principally through their labor in the construction of roads and bridges to aid transportation — a matter of pressing importance to the early settler.

Thus the bridge had been thrown across the Blackwood River at Nannup, supplying a need for the pioneers of the Lower Warren in the transport of their goods to Busselton and Bunbury. One Tree Bridge famous One Tree Bridge which is still in existence, although no longer used for traffic. Mr. Giblett signalled the completion of the bridge by driving across it a heavy wagon pulled by a full team of bullocks, the clearance on either side of the dray being a matter of a few inches. This bridge provided access to the graphite mine which was worked for some time.

By the side of the Donnelly River, George Giblett felled a huge karri tree on which he built a bridge—the famous One Tree Bridge.

From the Manjimup district the road to Bridgetown through Balbarup was incredibly rough, filled with ruts which became morasses during the winter. Other farming areas had the benefit of Road Trusts but in the deep South West the settlers were too scattered and distances too great to allow of any such organisation. Fortunately the Warren district had men with a strong community sense, and by their combined efforts the tracks were kept clear enough for bullock waggons.

The road to Albany was improved somewhat but it is recorded that not until 1892 was it possible for a spring cart to make the journey.

Trade was still carried on almost entirely by barter.

The road to Albany was improved somewhat but it is recorded, that not until 1892 was it possible for a spring cart to make the journey. Trade was still carried on almost entirely by barter. Thus we find E. L. Von Bibra (who had taken over the business of James Everett at Bunbury) advertising in the "Perth Gazette" that while he had "a large variety of goods well adapted for country settlers; colonial produce would be taken in exchange"

Warren Settlers

In the early 70's Walter Edward Blechynden was attracted to the lands of the Upper Warren River. He was the son of Harrison Blechynden, a successful Beverley farmer who had arrived from England in the "Egyptian" (sic, should be "Minstrel") in 1830. When a youth of 18 Walter Blechynden had made the long walk from Beverley to Bridgetown in company with his brother Edwin to join John Blechynden, who had taken up a pastoral lease on the Wilgarrup River in December, 1864. The annual rent for the lease of 10,000 acres was £10, and the property was first occupied for a tenure of eight years. In 1873. Walter Blechynden was married in Wollaston's old church at Picton to Jane Needs. At about the same time Peter Wheatley occupied another property on the Warren which he named 'Clover Cottage.' He had originally come from Ireland with his parents and was associated with the Lefroys of "Karri Hill." A little later Arthur Clarke, a member of the well-known Bunbury family, took over "Fern Hollow." John Mottram, who, as we have seen, was one of the earliest pioneers of the district, started to develop his own farm; of "Peppermint Grove." All of these settlers formed a little group of their own near the Warren River, and as their families grew it was decided to erect a building which could serve as a school and as a social centre. Suitable clay was found nearby and the men burned sufficient bricks to make a substantial building.

The first teacher was Kate Logue, who subsequently received payment from the Central Board of Education under the elementary Education Act of 1871, which provided for a scale of fees for the pupils. Miss Logue was a lovable soul, who bore with resignation the many practical jokes of her high-spirited young charges, and there are still old residents in Manjimup today who remember with fond recollections the happy days they spent in the old school house.

Church services were held at fairly regular intervals, but in the course of time the school was closed and the building was consecrated as a church. Situated in picturesque surroundings, the Upper Warren Church is well worth the trouble of a visit by the tourist.

Trade was still carried on almost entirely by barter. Thus we find E. L. Von Bibra (who had taken over the business of James Everett at Bunbury) advertising in the "Perth Gazette" that while he had "a large variety of goods well adapted for country settlers, colonial produce would be taken in exchange."

Warren Settlers

In the early 70's Walter Edward Blechynden was attracted to the lands of the Upper Warren River. He was the son of Harrison Blechynden, a successful Beverley farmer who had arrived from England in the "Egyptian" in 1830. When a youth of 18 Walter Blechynden had made the long walk from Beverley to Bridgetown in company with his brother Edwin to join John Blechynden, who had taken up a pastoral lease on the Wilgarrup River in December, 1864. The annual rent for the lease of 10,000 acres was £10, and the property was first occupied for a tenure of eight years. In 1873, Walter Blechynden was married in Wollaston's old church at Picton to Jane Needs.

At about the same time Peter Wheatley occupied another property on the Warren which he named 'Clover Cottage.' He had originally come from Ireland with his parents and was associated with the Lefroys of "Karri Hill." A little later Arthur Clarke, a member of the well-known Bunbury family, took over "Fern Hollow." John Mottram, who, as we have seen, was one of the earliest pioneers of the district, started to develop his own farm of "Peppermint Grove."

All of these settlers formed a little group of their own near the Warren River, and as their families grew it was decided to erect a building which could serve as a school and as a social centre. Suitable clay was found nearby and the men burned sufficient bricks to make a substantial building.

The first teacher was Kate Logue, who subsequently received payment from the Central Board of Education under the elementary Education Act of 1871, which provided for a scale of fees for the pupils. Miss Logue was a lovable soul, who bore with resignation the many practical jokes of her high-spirited young charges, and there are still old residents in Manjimup today who remember with fond recollections the happy days they spent in the old school house.

Dingup Church

Meantime a church had been erected at Dingup through the enterprise of Thomas Giblett and his sons, who used the local soapstone for building material. Soon after a hall of some size was built nearby and this was utilised as a school and for social functions. In the course of time a recreation ground was cleared, its inauguration being marked by a cricket match between the Warren and Upper Blackwood teams.

Old settlers still look nostalgically at those far-off days. Work was hard and tedious, but much simple pleasure was derived from social gatherings and family reunions.

The Jubilee celebrations of 1951 remind us of that first Jubilee of 1879, when Western Australia celebrated its first fifty years of settlement. The people of the Warren district look back to the present

The Jubilee celebrations of 1951 remind us of that first jubilee of 1879, when celebrated its first fifty years of settlement. The people of the Warren district took part in the general rejoicings by a get-together on a modest scale. No doubt they could echo with feeling the sentiments of the inspired, unknown poet who introduced this effusion applicable to the occasion in the "Western Australian Times"

‘And last of all we'll hail the happy day
When trade may travel on an easier road;
As yet we've only seen the lumbering dray
Drawn slowly on beneath its creaking load;
Soon where, with aching feet the traveller strode
We'll hear the rapid engine coursing free,
Converting lonely wastes to man's abode;
For lo! the hour and the man we see Ready to start the work, which marks the jubilee.’

As a matter of fact, another 32 years were to elapse before Manjimup was to witness "the rapid engine coursing free" and in the mean-time the settlers were to get along the best way they could with the poor transport at their disposal.

Hollow Log Home

However, resourcefulness is the hallmark of successful pioneering, and these hardy souls were certainly not lacking in this respect. A well-known story is told of a settler named Charles Young who made his first home in a hollow log.

Young, who was born in 1842, arrived at Albany as a member of the crew of a Yankee four-masted schooner at a time when the men had reached the point of mutiny. He was 20 years of age and when the ship reached King George's Sound, he promptly deserted and made his way on foot to Narrogin. Eventually he found himself at on foot to Narrogin. Eventually he found himself at Wongong, near Armadale, where he secured employment for a little time, before joining up with Pemberton Walcott, who was on his way to the Warren with a herd of cattle.

He eventually found employment with the Brockman's at the Warren House property near Pemberton, where he remained for 3 years. He next managed Scott's property on the Donnelly River for another 10 years, eventually selecting "Mica Hill," a property on the Lower Warren Road, 9 miles from the present position of Manjimup, about the year 1878.

Here he took his young bride, a Miss Thacker, of Swan Valley, their first dwelling being a huge fallen karri tree, and here, so the story runs, his first child was born. Charles Young became the father of four daughters and eight sturdy sons. The grand old man passed peacefully away in 1933 at the age of 91. Such men were certainly made of sterner stuff!

Pemberton Named

As for Walcott, his name was perpetuated when a large timber mill came into existence with a thriving little town to follow. He was a member of a well-known family that came to Western Australia in the earliest years of the colony, and which is mentioned by Lieutenant Bunbury in his journal of 1837. The Warren Road Board was asked to suggest a suitable name for the new town, and as Walcott was the first settler on the site, his name was naturally put forward. However, it appeared that there was another "Walcott" somewhere else, but as the settlers' christian name sounded sufficiently euphonious, the town received the name of Pemberton, replacing the former designation of Big Brook.

The opening of stores at Bridgetown in the 80's removed the necessity of the wearisome Journeys to Albany and Bunbury. As the number of settlers increased, itinerant hawkers plied their trade in the several home steads, the principal articles of commerce being wearing apparel. One of these traders was the father of Mr. J. H. Smith, who was the parliamentary representative of this district for so many years.

The Ladies

Smith would take a large roll of dress material eagerly sought by the ladies of the house to make new dresses for the next social occasion. They were not a whit put out by the fact that most of the other ladies present were attired in precisely the same patterned material. At least one did not have to worry about the latest fashion.

Natives were still numerous in the district and they were very much in evidence on high days and holidays. Both the Gibletts and the Muirs had contracts to issue the government ration of flour, tea, sugar and fig tobacco. On ration days it was an interesting and amusing sight to site them come in with their numerous lean dogs, some of them still favoring the kangaroo cloak and perhaps carrying a piece of lighted red gum bark, carefully sheltered from the wind. The Warren tribe at one time appear to have been a large one, and it is a sad fact that today there is not a single representative of this friendly and gentle people.

As the number of stock increased the disadvantages of shepherding became apparent and the farmers turned their attention to the necessity of defending their properties. Timber was certainly plentiful, but the task of cutting posts and rails was by no means easy. Where labour had to be employed, it was calculated that a post and rail fence would cost about £25 a mile.

First Phase

The settlement of the Warren District was now more or less complete in its first phase. Other arrivals, particularly after the Homestead Act of 1893, moved in little by little, and through experience more land came into production, although farmers were still engaged almost entirely in stock-raising or in the production of such crops as potatoes requiring a comparatively small acreage.

It was proved that the land and the climate were eminently suitable for many types of cereals, and as far back as 1900, a small quantity of flax was grown at Deeside. Until the expansion of the railway to Bridgetown in 1898 there was no prospect of exploiting the fine timbers that formed the great forests of the South West. John Allnutt, of Bridgetown, was the first settler in this State to have 30 acres of orchard under production, and his enterprise was followed by others who realised that the deep soil and equable climate were admirably suited to the cultivation of fruit trees on a commercial scale.

Moreover, the introduction of guano to aid in clearing the country made it easier to prepare the land for fruit trees, and it is interesting to recall that the pioneer in this direction, Joseph Johnson, of Balharra, was the first man in the Manjimup district to attempt fruitgrowing as his principal means of livelihood. As the number of settlers increased, the demand grew for the marking out of a townsite. In this respect the district is peculiar in comparison with other parts of State where townsites were marked out and surveyed very soon after the land discovered. Thus, Beverley was declared a townsite in 1830, Toodyay in 1833, Bunbury in 1841 and Bridgetown in 1868.

As we have seen in a former address, the name of Manjimup was given to a townsite on the Wilgarrup River within the boundaries of Location 7260. where a sub-division of 13 lots was surveyed. It was renamed Balbarrup in May, 1910, and in the same month the present townsite of Manjimup was gazetted. Before this survey was made, the Surveyor-General requested the secretary of the Warren Road Board to suggest names for certain streets; and he replied on 7th May as follows: "In reply to yours of the 7th ult, asking my Board to suggest names for streets in Manjimup, I beg to forward the following which represent the names of old and prominent settlers. O'Connor being an exception, who is the engineer in charge of the Wilgarrup railway construction works: Mount, Giblett, Rose, Brockman, O'Connor, Mottram, Reeve, Young, Wheatley, Brain, Ipsen, Muir, Doust and Blechynden streets."

In this happy way the people of Manjimup today are constantly reminded of their forebears who "bore the heat and burden of the day," and who blazed the trail for those who were to follow after. Continued in our next issue.

7. CHARLES EDWIN BLECHYNDEN (1848-1918) & CAROLINE DAVIES (1850-1942)

Charles Edwin was Harrison and Charlotte Blechynden's seventh child. He was born on 15 Mar 1848 at 'Babbyalla', East Beverley.

On 24 Apr 1872, Charles Edwin married Caroline Davies in St Paul's Anglican Church at Edwards Crossing, Beverley.

The couple farmed 'Roesland' and 'Red Hill' together in Beverley and went on to have eight children.

Charles Edwin passed away on 22 Jul 1918 and Caroline on 8 Nov 1942, both in Beverley. They share a grave in the Beverley Anglican Cemetery.

7. BLECHYNDEN, CHARLES EDWIN (1848-1918)

Charles Edwin was born on 15 Mar 1848 at 'Babbyalla', East Beverley, WA [Reg. 1098]. He was the seventh child of Harrison Blechynden and Charlotte Robus.

The story of Charles Edwin's parents is told earlier in this Blechynden history. However, in very abbreviated form, Harrison and Charlotte emigrated to the newly formed Swan River Colony from Kent, England, arriving in Perth on the ship Minstrel on 20 Jan 1830. They were married in Perth on 3 Mar 1832, where their first two children, John (1833) and Sarah (1841), were born. Following their move to the newly allocated district of Beverley, their third child, Elizabeth (1842), was born at the 'St Aubyns' farm homestead. The family then moved to 'Babbyalla' farm, close to 'St Aubyns', where another seven children were born - Henry (1843), Jesse (1845 – who, tragically, passed away at the age of 20 months), Walter (1846), Charles Edwin (1848), Thomas (1849), Jesse (1851), and Joseph (1853).

By 1859, Harrison was a 'well-established farmer and grazier'. As he grew into manhood, Charles Edwin and the other six Blechynden sons no doubt joined their father working on the farm. One can imagine that they sometimes travelled by horse and cart to the mud-bat store and wheelwright business established 13 kilometres away at Edwards Crossing (4km north of Beverley on the Avon River). Elizabeth was later to marry Thomas Edwards, whose family established this first tiny service centre for the district.

Charles Edwin was six when his elder brother John, guided by local aboriginals, walked approx. 250km south to the Blackwood District (which embraces the current townships of Bridgetown and Greenbushes), where he acquired two pastoral leases. On 23 Feb 1860, John married Elizabeth Green in St George's Cathedral, Perth. One can imagine Charles and his siblings had a great time acting grown-up at the wedding, dressed in their best outfits. John took his bride to settle in the first home to be built in the newly established town that was, in 1868, to be named Bridgetown. More details about John and Elizabeth can be read in the chapter dedicated to them.

In 1864, now aged 16 years, Charles Edwin walked to Bridgetown with his brother Walter where they joined John. For three years, they rented 'Wilgarrup', then owned by a Mr. Charles Rose. See some details of this property in the article on the following page.

Following his time at Bridgetown, Charles Edwin Blechynden returned to Beverley. He left 'Babbyalla' in 1870 and, for five years, rented 'Seaton Ross' from a Mr. Johnson. It is recorded that he was employing five Ticket of Leave men at Beverley in 1865 and during the period 1873-74.

At the age of 24, CHARLES EDWIN BLECHYNDEN (1848-1918) married CAROLINE MARY DAVIES (1850-1942) on 24 Apr 1872, at St Paul's Anglican Church, Edwards Crossing, Beverley, WA [Reg No. 3421].

It is recorded that following his five years at 'Seaton Ross' Charles Edwin went to 'Mount Pleasant' for three years, then resided in Bridgetown, then moved back to 'Seaton Ross'

HISTORIC HOMESTEADS

HISTORIC HOMESTEADS.No. 24: Wilgarrup, Manjimup.

IN the year 1864 Mr. Tom Thomas built the house known as Wilgarrup for Mr. Charles Rose, who was one of the earliest settlers in the Manjimup District. The entrance to the property, which is about 8½ miles north of Manjimup on the main Perth-road, is through a fine gateway, then along a winding pathway to the house which is not visible from the road.

THE house, built with slab and dab, with lathes on the outside placed at an angle, is the only house built in this style in the district. It is a typical old homestead. The original house had a verandah all round it, but this has since been made into rooms. There is a very large front door made of jarrah, with two glass panels. This door opens to the hall in which there is a fine collection of native weapons. In the middle of the house is the old dining-room, which, owing to the lack of windows, is very dark, and must have been very inconvenient to the occupiers.

About 20 yards from the house is the old kitchen, which is a little higher than the house. It is necessary to go up a few steps to get to it, and one can imagine the amount of labour involved in taking meals from the kitchen to the dining-room. Adjoining the kitchen is the old dairy, also built of slab and dab. In this building there are shelves that were used to hold the pans of milk and receptacles for the butter.

All the buildings were originally roofed with shingles, but these have since been replaced with iron. There have been a number of alterations made in recent years, a new kitchen and a dining-room having been added. Foliage almost covers the house, which faces a beautiful garden at the foot of which is the Wilgarrup Creek.

Mrs. Robert Henry Rose, of Stanton Hall, Sussex, England (her husband died when he was 29 years of age) came to Western Australia in 1853, bringing with her two sons, Charles and Robert, and a considerable amount of property which included some machinery. Some of this machinery is still in a loft of a barn which is a short distance from the house.

Mr. J. C. Rose, the present owner of the property and a nephew of Mr. Charles Rose, worked on the property as a jackeroo. He went North for 15 years, and during his absence his uncle died, and the property was sold to Mr. George Layman, of Wonnerup. Out of sentiment, Mr. J. C. Rose purchased the property back to the Rose family. When Mr. and Mrs. Rose first lived at the house their nearest neighbour was seven miles away. Mr. J. C. Rose has proved his worth to the community and there is a beautiful illuminated address, which was presented to him when he retired after serving for 23 years as chairman of the Manjimup Road Board.

Mr. and Mrs. Rose have two daughters and five sons. Four of the sons are at present working on the property.

Caroline Davies was born 26 Mar 1850, Guildford, WA [Reg. 1432]. She was the daughter of THOMAS DAVIES (1825-1902) and MATILDA EDWARDS (1831-1887) who were married 6 Feb 1849, Swan River Colony 'Wexcombe', WA [Reg No. 249].

The next section provides a more detailed history of Caroline Davies' family background, including another link to the Edwards families. The story of Charles Edwin and Caroline continues after that.

Caroline Davies' father, Thomas Davies, was born about 1825 in England. He was the child of ALFRED 'GEORGE' DAVIES (1776-1853) and ELIZABETH GARNAL (1776-1838). Alfred, Caroline Davies' grandfather, was born 25 Jan 1776 at Castle Frome, Herefordshire, England. His parents were William and Ann Davies. (Via Barbara E Grosvenor and Birch Family Tree, Ancestry). Alfred George Davies married Elizabeth Garnal on 19 Dec 1808 at Castle Frome. Of note, this castle was owned by King Harold before the Norman Conquest. The name, which is also found in the nearby villages of Canons Frome and Bishop's Frome, is said to derive from the Latin 'formosus', meaning beautiful. See <https://www.britainexpress.com/attractions.htm?attraction=4328>). Certainly, the little village surrounding the castle is a peaceful and idyllic spot today. Alfred and Elizabeth had two children, Alfred Alexander (1811) and Thomas (1825), who emigrated with them to WA on the Quebec Trader, arriving on 19 Apr 1834. They first settled in Fremantle and the family is depicted in the WA Museum Welcome Wall [panel 481]

We do not know much about Caroline Davies' grandmother Elizabeth ('Eliza') or her parents' and siblings. She was thought to have been born about 1776. Following their arrival in Fremantle, Alfred and Elizabeth did not appear to have any more children. Her death was not found in WA records. "Ask a Librarian" confirmed their marriage. Perhaps she returned to England. There is a record via Sandy O'Connor on "My Heritage" that she died in England on 18 Oct 1838, St Andrews, Holborne, Middlesex, England. This would have been four years after Elizabeth arrived in Fremantle with Alfred George and sons.

Alfred and Elizabeth's two children are detailed below.

1. ALFRED ALEXANDER DAVIES (1811-1875) was born in England on 16 May 1811 and died in Fremantle, WA [Reg. 8379], on 13 Mar 1875. His first marriage was to CHRISTINA THEY ROBERTSON (1801-1843) on 10 Apr 1837, in Fremantle, WA. Her birthplace and parents are unknown. She died Jun 1843 (aged 42), Fremantle, WA [Reg. 60]. Alfred's second marriage was to HANNAH WILLIAMS (1823-1896) on 16 Oct 1843 in Fremantle.

Copy of marriage certificate of Alfred Alexander Davies and Hannah Williams

Hannah was born about 1823 in England, the daughter of Frank and Ellen Williams. She died on 10 Jul 1896 at Market St, Fremantle, WA [Reg. 699]. Her death certificate recorded she had been in Fremantle for 18 years, which puts her arrival date about 1841.

Alfred and Hannah had seven children as follows. All were born and died in Fremantle. Some became prominent figures as detailed at <https://fremantlestuff.info/people/daviesarthurelvin.html>. Indeed, this web site is full of information about this family who became prominent members of the Fremantle community, cabinet makers, funeral directors and including three brothers becoming the Mayor of Fremantle.

1. EMMA ELIZABETH DAVIES (1844-1905) Emma was born in 1844. WA [Reg. 419]. She married PHILLIP WEBSTER (1829-1893) in 1869 in Perth, WA [Reg. 2988] and died on 15 May 1905 in Fremantle, WA [Reg. 1015].
2. GEORGE ALFRED DAVIES (1846-1897) George was born in 1846, WA [Reg. 809]. He married LETITIA KING (1854-1948) on 27 Jul 1875 in Fremantle, WA [Reg. 13913]. George was a Mayor of Fremantle and a Justice of the Peace. He died on 30 Jan 1897 at South Street, Fremantle, WA [Reg. 869].
3. ELIZABETH HELEN DAVIES (1849-1916) Elizabeth was born in 1849, WA [Reg. 1288] and died on 3 Aug 1916 at Fremantle, WA [Reg. 199].
4. ALFRED ALEXANDER DAVIES (1853-1934) Alfred was born 1853, Fremantle, WA [Reg. 2181]. He married ALICE FLORENCE BON MCBAIN (1858-1942) in 1878 in Wesley Church, Perth, WA [Reg No 4456] and died on 1 Nov 1934 at Subiaco, WA [Reg. 1920].
5. EDWARD WILLIAM DAVIES (1855-1904) Edward was born on 24 Sep 1855. He married KATE MURRAY (1856-1920) in 1875, Fremantle, WA [Reg. 4044]. Like his brother George, Edward was also a Mayor of Fremantle and a Justice of the Peace. He died 25 Jan 1904 in Fremantle, WA [Reg. 889].
6. SOPHIA HANNAH DAVIES (1857-1942) Sophia was born 1857, Walliabup, (Bibra Lake), WA [Reg. 40003]. Sophia married WALTER ANDREW MEWS (1861-1933) in 1881, Fremantle, WA [Reg. 5040] recording her name as Sophie and died on 21 Dec 1942 in South Fremantle, WA [Reg. 379].

7. ARTHUR ELVIN DAVIES (1867-1918) Arthur was born 7 May 1867, Fremantle, WA [Reg. 9891]. He married MARGARET JESSIE KILPATRICK (1872-1940) in 1893 in Beverley, WA [Reg. 132]. Arthur was a cabinet maker and undertaker. He was also a Mayor of Fremantle as well as a Justice of the Peace. He was elected to Parliament in 1906, continuing in that role until Nov 1911. Arthur died on 27 Mar 1918 in Beaconsfield, WA [Reg. 79].

2. THOMAS DAVIES (1825-1902) was born 1825, England. He and MATILDA EDWARDS (1831-1887) were married 6 Feb 1849, Swan River Colony 'Wexcombe', WA [Reg. 249]. Thomas died 24 Jun 1902, Northam Shire, WA [Reg. 11].

Continuing with the story of Thomas Davies (1825-1902) and Matilda Edwards (1831-1887).

Caroline's mother Matilda was born on 1 May 1831 at Guildford, WA and baptised on 18 Nov 1832. She died on 27 Mar 1887, WA [Reg No. 36], aged 55, in the Northam District of WA and is buried in the Northam cemetery. She is also commemorated by a plaque at the base of a tree in the Edwards Crossing Cemetery.

Matilda was the sixth child of WILLIAM EDWARDS (1792-1865) and ELEANOR AYLING (1798-1871). William had emigrated to the Swan River Colony from Sussex, England, arriving on 14 May 1830 on the 'Rockingham' with his wife and four children - Eliza, William, Caroline and Mary. Following their arrival, Matilda and her three brothers - Alfred, Charles and Thomas Edwards - were all born in Guildford. William was an ex-soldier of 95th Regiment and had received several campaign medals, including for the Battle of Waterloo. In 1830 he was recorded as being a farm servant to Peel at Murray River. He was a tenant on Stirling's farm at Guildford where his wife had a store, Bt. Swan Loc. 23 of 200 acres 1831. By 1841 William was leasing Hamersley's property 'Sandgate' at York. By 1845 he had 3,540 acres at Beverley - 'Mt. Pleasant', 'Speldhurst' and 'Seaton Ross'. Matilda Edwards (nee Davies) died 27 Mar 1887, Beverley, WA [Reg. 185], recorded as Matilda Davis in WA BDMs. Plaque at base of tree, Edwards Crossing Cemetery at Beverley.

To avoid duplication, more details on the Edwards family can be found in the in the section on the third child of Harrison and Charlotte, ANNE ELIZABETH BLECHYNDEN (1842-1927) and her husband THOMAS EDWARDS (1838-1903).

LAURIE DAVIES

YORK – ITS HORSE AND HEY DAYS

THE TRIALS, ADVENTURES AND SUCCESSES OF A PIONEER FAMILY OF YORK

As one of the oldest surviving members of one of the earliest pioneering families in York, I have been prevailed upon by my family to record my experiences of York and district in those early days and its development since.

At eighty-four years of age my memory may sometimes play me tricks, and I apologise in advance for this, but I hope to keep my narrative as factual as I possibly can, thereby making it a reasonably authentic record.

When I was due to be born my mother arranged with a Mrs Mann, a neighbour who lived about one-and-a-half miles away to be present at my birth. Mrs Mann was an experienced midwife. It was a cold and windy night on the 12th of June, 1897 when the call went out. Willie Hunt, a lad of about fifteen who had just come to work for my father was called out to bring Mrs Mann as my arrival was imminent. To get to Mrs Mann's place the poor lad had to run through the field where wild cattle were grazing on the property of Mr J. H. Monger at Six Mile Brook. Despite his fears, the wild cattle, and the inclement weather he brought Mrs Mann, Mrs Mann helped to bring me, and here I am attempting to bring my unseen reader a book about York.

In the early 1920's York was a flourishing country town with a population of about 4,000. Now like many other country towns, the population of York has diminished and is about half that number. Hopefully by restoring the beauty of the town, and making tourists aware of its many historical and geographical attractions, our lovely old town will again grow in size and popularity.

My older sister Eva May Durnin, now lives in Inglewood and my younger sister Leta Ethel, who married Dave Wallace (since deceased) now lives in Ulster Road, York.

I must emphasise that the names I use, the dates, and the places, are to the best of my knowledge correct. But human memory is fallible.

When this book is finally published I intend to donate it to the York branch of the Frail Aged. The proceeds, I hope, will help in the construction of a Frail Aged Home for the early settlers and other residents of York who will then be able to enjoy a little comfort and security in the autumn of their lives.

Histories are about people and the parts people play in the drama of civilisation. This book is a history not only of the township of York, but also of my family. It is only fitting, therefore, that it should begin with a brief account of where our family came from, what they did, and how they did it.

The story begins when my grandfather Thomas Davies, arrived at Fremantle in 1834 at the age of eight with his older brother Alfred, along with free settlers determined to make their homes in Western Australia. Thomas Davies was single, and later became a miller.

But Thomas Davies was not to remain single long. On the 14th of May, 1830, William and Eleanor Edwards arrived in Western Australia aboard the 'Rockingham'. What is significant for our narrative is that their fifth child Matilda was born a year later and like Thomas Davies grew up in Guildford. We know nothing about the courtship of Thomas and Matilda, but we do know that in 1849 Matilda Edwards became Matilda Davies, and on the 25th of October 1858, Matilda gave birth to William Thomas Davies, my father at the family holding 'Springdale'.

Life was not easy for the children of the pioneers, nor yet for the pioneer women. Grandfather and grandmother both worked hard, and the children were expected to play their part. Most of my father's childhood was spent in the company of his brother James, tending the family flocks as they grazed, clearing the grazing grounds of the poisonous shrubs that grew in such abundance, herding the sheep into pens at night, and maintaining the fires that were their best protection against marauding dingoes. The years spent developing the family property on Six Mile Brook on the Clackline Road were far from easy.

But if it was not easy it was certainly exciting. Ships continued to arrive loaded with migrants, and each arrival was a special event. Most of the migrants arrived with very little except the determination to create a new life for themselves and their families. Some possessed special skills that were of inestimable value to the young colony and one such was Richard Smith.

Richard Smith was carpenter and a good one. When he arrived from England he had nothing but a bag of tools, a pretty nineteen-year-old wife, and boundless energy. The year was 1829, and the ship that brought them was the 'Caroline'. But it was not long before Richard Smith had established a reputation as a highly skilled tradesman, and much of his work stands today. He was engaged by Governor Stirling to assist in the building of the original home at Woodbridge, near Guildford, and later to work on both the Perth Town Hall and Government House. When a vessel was needed to transport stores from Fremantle to Perth it was Richard Smith who was given the task of building it. He did so from old packing cases! While all this was going on he was also busy building a house at Clayton, out from Bellevue, and later probably realising the limited applicability of packing cases, built Smith's Saw Mill at Sawyer's Valley which he continued to operate until his retirement to Toodyay. While all this was going on, however, Richard and his pretty wife had produced an equally pretty granddaughter (Sarah was the daughter of John the eldest son of Richard and Mary Smith) whom my father married in 1892.

In those days, when a couple married, and set up house, they had to build it. Happily in most cases materials were close at hand.

The first parcel of land my father bought was 100 acres from Tom Carmody at one pound an acre. On this land was erected a two-roomed bat brick house with blackboy rush to cover the roof and flat stone or anthill to cover the floor. Anthill, when puddled with water and spread will set very hard, like cement. In those days, fences were made of stakes which were cut and stood upright side by side in a trench. Another type of fence was the 'harper' fence. This consisted of rails laid one on top of the other and held in place by two upright posts.

My father had selected his land with care. Not only was it very fertile, but it was watered by Six Mile Brook and ideally suited for fruit-growing. Accordingly, ten of the hundred acres were soon under fruit trees. Four or five years later the young trees were bearing sufficient fruit to supply not only private customers (there was no need for a 'hawker's licence' in those days) but also the several fruit shops in York. As the fruit trees flourished, and more

Despite the birds, however, our orchard was now producing more fruit than the local market could absorb. For one thing, we no longer had a monopoly on fruit production. Other orchards had developed around York, and on the banks of the Avon, and the Baids, Hoops, Edwards, Morse and other families were in the business.

Accordingly Father looked elsewhere for a market, and for some time we cased fruit for sale in the Goldfields. It soon became apparent that the train-crews enjoyed our fruit as much as the local birds enjoyed it. So many cases arrived broken and ransacked that Father simply decided it was not a profitable proposition. It was impossible to prove anything against the pilfering train-crews so the Goldfields lost our fruit, and we lost a market.

The following newspaper article appeared in the Elder's Weekly on 2 May 1929. Transcribed for easier reading, it gives a short history of Beverley and provides an excellent insight into life in the district at that time.

people of this thriving district, as well as visitors from surrounding districts and the Metropolitan area. The local Hospital, which was sorely in need of financial support, will as a result receive a goodly sum from the takings at the numerous functions this week.

On Anzac Day impressive services were held at the Monument, which was beautifully draped and adorned with lovely wreathes and flowers, and a "follow on" service took place in the Mechanics Institute, where Rev. R. J. Smith delivered an inspiring address.

There was much merriment on the Tuesday afternoon at the recreation Ground, where a sports programme was carried out, the numerous events providing of great interest and not a little amusing to the large gathering of spectators. The participants in the procession headed by the "Darktown" Brigade band, as well as those contesting the various events, particularly the Draught Horse Derby – the Mile Walk- the Old Buffers' Race, and the Rescue race, a firemen's event, appeared to enjoy the fun as much as the onlookers. They certainly entered into the spirit of the day, and through their efforts the Hospital funds will be materially assisted.

The Beverley Race Club held its Centenary meeting on Wednesday, Apr 24. There was a very large attendance and some exciting results: The Centenary 6 Cup Race of £100 drew 14 horses to the starting post, and was won by Ranith, with Eipcluera second and Chelblanoo third. Hon. Vernan Hammersley, M.L.C. resented the cup valued at £20 to the winner, J. D. Cockwell and a gold mounted whip (presented by H. P. Walker) to the rider (J. Armanasco).

Beverley's History.

It may surprise readers to know that Beverley was on the map of WA as far back as 1833, and that the first house built in the district was at Roesland, 2 ½ miles south, in 1837 or thereabouts. The Barracks on the Dale, and 'St Aubyns', where the soldiers were quartered, are both historic structures dating back to the late thirties or early forties.

The original site of Beverley was at Edwards Crossing and St. Paul's Church was built in the vicinity in 1858, the late William Edwards presenting 5 acres of land. Miss Wells, afterwards Mrs S. Parker, of Dangin, gave the bell, which now does service at St. Mary's, Beverley.

The land now occupied by the Town of Beverley was surveyed in 1870 by Lord Forrest, who named the principal streets, two after himself, and the main street (Vincent Street) after his assistant.

The bridge over the Avon River at Beverley was built in 1870.

In 1872 there were five buildings in Beverley, three of them are still in evidence. One is the Settler's Arms Hotel, built by the Smith family, and which enjoyed many years of prosperity, it being one of the very few hotels en route from Perth to Albany, via York. It is now known as "The Dead Finish," its usefulness having long since departed and it became delicensed several years ago.

Early Reminiscences.

The writer was fortunate in meeting several pioneers of the Beverley District, who, on request, readily recounted their experiences of the early days, and were reminiscent of the history told them by their parents.

Horace Smith, despite his 74 years, is still hale and hearty. His experiences would fill a book. His father, Charles Smith, built Roesland from bricks made on the banks on the Avon River which runs through the Roesland property, named after J. S. Roe, who arrived in the colony in 1829.

There was a family of ten sons and four daughters. Charles, William, Alfred and Fred (the first twins born in the Colony, James, George, Herbert, Horace and Sam. Mrs Eliza Lennard (Mr. E. G. Barret-Lennard's mother), Mrs. Amelia Brown, Mrs Clara Sewell and Julia Smith, who with Fred Smith, took up residence at the Vasse. Most of the members of the Smith family were born at Roesland. Horace Smith's father was a solicitor and was educated at Lincoln Fields, London. His uncle was Sir James Bowman. Mr. Horace Smith in the early days used to travel to Perth each week, leaving Beverley with a dray drawn by three horses early on Monday morning and returning on Saturday. The dray was laden with Sandalwood and wool and the return "cargo" was hogsheads of beer and cases of whiskey for the Setters Arms Hotel. It was necessary to take food for both horses and the driver on the forward and return journey. The hay used to be cut in squares of two feet and the knife used is still in Mr. Smith's possession. Subsequently a chaff cutting machine was invented. Mr. Smith is the proud possessor of a gold watch presented to him by the Government of Western Australia in recognition of his gallant conduct, on 16th Sep 1884. He with his brother William, Dave Kilpatrick and Inspector McKenna armed themselves and went in pursuit of three bush rangers one of whom had killed Policeman Hackett in cold blood at Beverley. Two of the bush rangers were shot and the third escaped but was subsequently captured and hanged.

It was stated that had those bush rangers escaped the whole community would have been endangered. Mr. Smith has filled many important offices and has been a justice of the peace for nearly 40 years.

Mr. E. G. Barret-Lennard was born in 1850 at St Aubyn's near Beverley. His mother was Horace Smith's sister and she died in 1927 at the age of 85 years. His father was Edmund Thomas Henry Barret-Lennard who was only 15 years of age when he arrived in the Colony in the early thirties. He stayed with his uncle at St. Leonard's, Upper Swan, and when he became of age, he assumed the control of the St. Aubyn's Estate at Beverley.

He subsequently selected a block of land (comprising 1000 acres) from the Government, relinquishing his interest in St. Aubyn's in 1854. Two years later E. G. Barret-Lennard was born. He was educated privately until 14 years of age, when he was sent to Perth to receive tuition under Bishop Hale. He visited England with his father in 1872 and spent three years in colleges in Sussex and London, returning to Western Australia to resume occupation of the Annandale property which had been leased during their absence abroad. The property was restocked with sheep, but heavy losses were incurred, and at the age of twenty-one Mr. E. G. Barrett-Lennard started out on his own at Woonderlin, now the property of his son, Thomas Barrett-Lennard. As each of Barrett-Lennard's sons became of age they each received a share of his estate. Frank recently disposed of Seaton Ross to A. J. McGlew. Other brothers are Henry and Alexander Forrest and there is one sister. Mr Barret-Lennard married Fanny Emily, daughter of James William Broun of Beverley. He has had a very useful career, filling many important offices including that of Mayor of Beverley. Mr. Barret-Lennard has for several years given a dinner on Anzac Day to ex-service men, and at last week's function 55 ex South African and A.I.F. men accepted his hospitality to dinner at the Freemason's Hotel, Beverley.

Other pioneers met in Beverley were H. Whittington, born in 1862: L. A. Edwards, 1867: and H. Sewell, 1870, all of whom are worthy descendants of a sturdy band of pioneers. Mr. Sewell's father was born at Seaton Ross 80 years ago.

The Lennard's, Sewell's and Parker's all came out from Belhus in Essex in the early thirties.

Messrs. F. & H. Blechynden, who own the historic property at Roesland as well as other lands in the Beverley district could recount the history of their parents' pioneering, all of which has been of material assistance in bringing the Beverley district to present day prosperity.

Peter Broun who landed in Perth in 1829 was the first Colonial Secretary, his son filled a similar position, and Beverley claims the grandson of Peter Broun in Hon. F. T. Broun who has also been Chief Secretary in the State parliament.

There are other names that should be mentioned as having played . . .

THE SMITH FAMILY, FIRST OWNERS OF 'ROESLAND' MENTIONED IN THE ARTICLE ABOVE

It appears that Ann Emily Smith (nee Chapman) was one of the first European women in the Beverley district.

Researching into the Charles Smith and Ann Emily Chapman family and the birthplace of their children in more detail, the birth registrations seem to indicate that following the births of her first four children in Fremantle and Perth, Ann Smith was at the Halfway Inn and at 'Roesland' in the Beverley district and York for the birth of the rest of her children.

It is possible that Ann Smith may have been there to assist Charlotte Blechynden in the birth of their fourth child Henry George in 1843 registered as at 'Babbyalla'. It also follows that both women perhaps would have looked after one another for some of the births thereafter. The following gives an indication as to when and where the Smith children were born and indicating the whereabouts of Ann and Charles Smith and family relating to the Beverley district and their association with the Blechynden family.

CHARLES SMITH (1803-1886) married ANN EMILY CHAPMAN (1813-1881) on 23 Apr 1831 in Fremantle, WA. Both were born in England (exact details unknown). Charles arrived in the colony on 12 Oct 1829 aboard the Orelia from Derwent River, TAS. He was an agent of William Gellibrand (a merchant & Charter of Ships). He was single and aged 26. After their marriage they are recorded as being the operators of the Halfway House Inn on York Rd in 1843 but soon abandoned this business and went farming. Charles Smith was the first owner of 'Roesland' prior to 1888 when it was taken over by Harrison and Charlotte Blechynden's son Charles Edwin Blechynden. Charles was variously recorded as a landowner and farmer in Beverley and Mourambine (a small town between Brookton and Pingelly); Postmaster Mourambine 1862, Chairman of Beverley Roads Board from 1871-1874; Secretary of Agricultural Society in 1876. They both died in Beverley, Ann on 19 Jul 1881 (aged 68) and Charles on 14 Sep 1886 (aged 83).

Their first child Elizabeth Ann Smith, was registered as being born in 1833, in Fremantle, WA. It is interesting that Elizabeth Ann Smith later married Edmund Thomas Henry Barrett-Lennard, 1854, in York, who following their marriage, settled on 'St. Aubyns', next door to 'Babbyalla'. Charles and Ann's second child, Charles Chapman Smith, was born in 1834, registered at 'Roesland', Beverley. Their third child Julia Smith was born in 1835, registered as Beverley. The next four children: William Smith born 1837, Henry Chapman Smith born in 1839 and died 1841; Frederick Smith, twin born 1841; and Alfred Smith, twin born 1841, (the first twins born in the Colony), were registered as being born at Halfway House, York Rd, WA. Amelia Smith born 1843 was registered as York Road, WA. The rest of their children: Clarissa born 1845, James Henry born 1847, George Beaumont born 1850 and Lewis Herbert born 1853, were registered as Beverley. Edmund Horace born 1855, and Samuel Thomas born 1856, were registered in York, WA.

Charles Smith and Ann had 14 children as detailed below.

1. ELIZABETH ANN SMITH (1833-1886) was born 9 Jan 1833, Fremantle, WA. She married EDMUND THOMAS HENRY BARRETT-LENNARD (1823-1895) 1854, York, WA [Reg. 643]. Registered under Eliza Ann Smith. Elizabeth died 15 Jan 1886, Perth, WA [Reg. 13709]

Harrison and Charlotte Blechynden's third child Anne born in 1842, was registered as 'St Aubyns'. At this stage, according to their children's birth records, Charles and Ann Smith were living at Halfway House. Following Anne, Charlotte and Harrison Blechynden had another seven children, all registered as 'Babbyalla' (various spellings), Beverley and York, the last being born in 1853. It is possible that Ann and Charlotte assisted one another and others with the birth of their babies.

Following is a summary of the early days of Roesland and its first owner, Charles Smith, before 1888, when Charles Edwin Blechynden took it over.

Bicentennial Dictionary of WA:

Charles Edwin Blechynden: Farmer, Beverley "Seaton Ross" then Bridgetown, then Beverley, acquired "Roesland" 1888 & later "Red Hill". Employed five Ticket of Leave men at Beverley 1865 & 1873-74.

BEVERLEY BOOK, 1946, "Roesland" and "Redhill" by E. and H. Blechynden: P. 50, 51

HISTORICAL BEVERLEY, BEVERLEY 1929, CENTENARY CELEBRATIONS

Elder's Weekly on 2 May 1929:

It may surprise readers to know that Beverley was on the map of WA as far back as 1833, and that the first house built in the district was at Roesland, 2 ½ miles south, in 1837 or thereabouts.

"Roeslands", (Ed. 'Roesland') now owned and occupied by Mr. Horace Blechynden, was presented by the West Australian Government in 1843 to the late Mrs. Charles Smith (mother of Horace, Herbert, Samuel, and others) for presenting the State with the first twins (the late Frederick and Alfred Smith).

Charles Smith, built Roesland from bricks made on the banks on the Avon River which runs through the Roesland property, named after J. S. Roe, who arrived in the colony in 1829.

Following is an intriguing article written by Charles Smith in 1861, about his sons when staying at his sheep station, experiencing the appearance of about two hundred unknown Natives:

Roesland, Beverley, Feb 15, 1861.

To the Honourable
The Colonial Secretary,

SIR.—Convinced of your desire to obtain information that may tend to assist in the discovery of the internal resources of the colony permit me to make known a circumstance which took place at my sheep-station a few days since; the station alluded to was Narmbyng in the new country to the eastward. My eldest son had been staying there in company with his brothers, when about two hundred Natives, from a tribe and country quite unknown to the natives there, made their appearance, they were much alarmed at the sight of my sons, and could not be made to approach. From the information collected by my sons from the natives they say they had come about six days journey from the eastward, and describe their country as very beautiful, and compared it to the country at my station. My sons had intended in the morning to have made another attempt to hold a conversation with them, but in consequence of an attempt, having been made in the night to steal one of their women by my son's Natives, a disturbance took place at which my son's natives were likely to have the worst of it, and they threatening to call in the white people, the strangers seized their weapons and ran directly, and have not since been heard of.

I have the honor to be Sir,
Your obedient servant,
CHAS. SMITH.

Our Project is mainly about the Blechynden and extended families. The story of Charles Smith and his family would fill another book. We can only touch on them here. Sue Wheatley (nee Susanne Broun) has done a considerable amount of research on Charles Edwin Blechynden and Charles Smith and family relating to 'Roesland'.

Charles Smith's daughter Amelia Jane Smith (1843-1904) married Charles Frederick Broun (1839-1927) 27 Feb 1862. A Church of England wedding at Gilgaring, WA. [Reg. 1732], registered under Charles Frederick Brown. Sue commented: During this period, it is noted that he may have then resided at the home of his father-in-law – Charles Smith – property named "Roesland", located at Mt Kokeby. He may have then "Leased" Roesland in 1883. Their first child Frances Ann Broun was born on 4 Jan 1863 at 'Roesland', Beverley, WA [Reg. 6829], registered under Francis Ann Brown.

Page 36 of the Charles Smith history by Sue Wheatley reads: 'In the Eastern Districts Chronicle of the 22 Feb 1884 Charles Smith advertised - To Let. Research on Trove shows that the advertisements were repeated over some considerable time. For example, they occurred on 6 May; 2 & 23 Jun; 7 & 14 Jul; and 4 Aug 1884. At this time, Charles Smith was aged 81 years and was probably very keen to sell. His wife, Ann Smith (nee Chapman), had passed away on 1 Jul 1881, Edwards Crossing, WA [Reg. 10980], aged 67 Years.

Charles Smith died 14 Sep 1886, WA [Reg. 14193], aged 86 years. The following article gives a brief summary of the life of Charles and his time on 'Roesland'. Note: The article mentions St Peter's churchyard, however, various gravesite websites confirm it was St Paul's, Edwards Crossing.

THE LATE MR. CHARLES SMITH.

(COMMUNICATED.)

On Tuesday, the 14th September, 1886, Mr. Charles Smith died at the advanced age of 86, at Beverley, at the residence of his son, Mr. Horace Smith. His remains were interred in St. Peter's churchyard, near the graves of his wife and daughter. Taking into consideration the scattered condition of the settlers of this district, the funeral was exceedingly well attended. All classes of society seemed alike anxious to sympathise with the family, and to show their regard for their departed and very aged friend.

Mr. Smith has left nine sons and one daughter to mourn their loss, three daughters having died before their father. The eldest, who married Mr. E. B. Lennard, J.P., died in the present year. The second daughter married a Mr. Curtis at the Vasse; the third daughter (the only one surviving), married Mr. Charles Broun, third son of Mr. Peter Broun, for many years Colonial Secretary in this colony, who came here with the Governor as one of the Government staff in 1829. The youngest daughter, who married Mr. H. H. Sewell, died in 1876.

Forty-two years ago Mr. Smith settled in the Beverley district upon land granted by the Crown according to property introduced by the early settlers. His hospitable character was proverbial. Everyone, from the highest to the lowest, including the aborigines, were all welcome at Roesland, and, situated as that homestead is, on the high-road to all the southern portion of Beverley, Mr. and Mrs. Smith's kindness and hospitality were indeed often accepted, and have been appreciated by many a weary traveller. The homes of isolated settlers were as land-marks in the early days, and "going as far as Roesland to-day" was the common expression of those who were travelling to and from the south.

The late Mr. Chas. Smith arrived here in 1831, as agent for Gillibrand, of Sydney, New South Wales. Shortly after his arrival in this colony, Mr. Smith married a Miss Chapman, and after a short stay at Fremantle, and some years' residence in Perth, and at the Half-way-House, York road, he finally moved to the Avon in the Beverley district, and established a homestead on his estate, which he named Roesland, where he remained till within a few months of his death. Mr. Smith had some years retired from business. He was foremost and active in promoting all movements tending to the welfare of the district. He held the first appointment as Chairman of the Beverley Roads Board after the coming into force of the Roads Board Act. And it is to the foresight and public spirit of the deceased gentleman that Beverley obtained some years ago the telegraph spirit of the deceased gentleman some years ago the telegraph line to that town. He was often called to the chair at public meetings, for which he was well qualified. In social gatherings he was apt and cheerful, and in conversation fluent and agreeable.

As one of the pioneer settlers, therefore, Mr. Smith has left behind him examples of the energy and endurance so characteristic of Britain's sons in whatever chase their lot may be cast. We linger as we write of these old friends of our younger days, and if we take a retrospective glance at the past, and think of the many trials they had to contend with, the dark cloud which so repeatedly overshadowed their path and prospects, we cannot do less than remember them as brave, valiant leaders of the early struggles of Western Australia.

One can imagine Charles and Caroline were delighted when their first child Frank Harrison Blechynden was born 15 Jul 1873 in Beverley, WA [Reg. 15052], recorded under Bleychenden. They had been married for just over a year when Charles Edwin's father, Harrison, died on the 17 Jul 1873 at 'Babbyalla' Beverley, WA [Reg. 6696], (recorded under Bleychenden), aged 71 years. The funeral was held at St Paul's Church at Edwards Crossing where he was laid to rest. With the loss of the head of the family, it was a sad time for the family.

Following Harrison's passing, Charlotte continued to live at 'Babbyalla' with her three youngest sons. Thomas Harrison, Jesse and Joseph working the farm. Henry George Blechynden was married in York to Mary Ann Reilly on 7 May 1874 took up land at Mt Kokeby, the property being known as 'Erindale.'

When their next child was born Charles and Caroline had moved to Bridgetown, once more searching for the right place to raise their family. Alice Matilda Blechynden was born on 10 Jun 1875, Bridgetown, WA [Reg. 16530] and baptised on 18 July of that year. Through the 1870s, the newly gazetted town named Bridgetown was growing steadily. Charles's brother John Blechynden and his wife Elizabeth (nee Green) were now well established in their home 'Bridgedale' and now had eight children, their eldest son, John William aged 14 years. Sadly, they had lost their fifth child Charlotte, when she died as a baby in 1869. Walter and his wife Jane Needs, farming at 'Glenpennant', in Nyamup, 17 kilometres south east of Manjimup, now had two children, their second newly born. (The township of Manjimup was not gazetted until 1903).

Charles and Caroline returned to Beverley and their next child Albert Edwin was born on 25 May 1877, registered in Beverley, WA [Reg. 182218] and was christened 17 Jun 1877. One can imagine the grief when this baby died at 'Speldhurst', on 10 Nov 1877, WA [Reg. 9454], aged 5 months. At this stage Frank Harrison was aged four and his sister, Alice Matilda, two.

Charles's brother Thomas Harrison Blechynden (1849-1933) married Annie Maria Dunham 24 Sep 1877 and they moved to and farmed at Wagin.

The next two children were born at 'Seaton Ross', (Beverley): Ernest Walter born 20 Sep 1878, WA [Reg. 19698], (recorded as Earnest), and Sydney Thomas born 2 Jan 1881. WA [Reg. 21301], (recorded under Sidney Thomas Blechynden).

Their sixth child Horace Edwin was born on 12 Nov 1882, was also registered as being born at 'Seaton Ross', (Beverley), WA [Reg. 23602].

On 13 Sep 1882, Charles' younger brother Jesse William (1851-1934) was married at York to Emma Sarah Dunham. He and Emma remained working on the farm at 'Babbyalla'

At this stage: Frank aged nine years, Alice seven years and Ernest four years, were of school age. With the development of the newly designated town of Beverley, Charles and Caroline's children now had the opportunity of a formal education. Pages 90-93 of Beverley: Our journey through time tells the history of the first official school in the newly designated town.

Our journey through time: Plate 26 – The first school in the Beverley townsite.

Their seventh child Herbert William was born on 16 Feb 1886, his birth registered as Beverley, WA [Reg. 28870]. Baby Herbert did not live long, dying 21 Feb 1886 at Beverley, WA [Reg. 13481] aged five days. One can imagine Charles and Caroline were devastated.

An enormous change took place when the owner of 'Babbyalla', Edward Hamersley died. Bevan Hamersley inherited the property and took up residence there in 1888. Following their departure from 'Babbyalla', Charles Edwin younger brother Thomas became a farmer at Wagin, and his other younger brother, Jesse a farmer in Beverley.

In 1888 Charles Edwin Blechynden purchased 'Roesland', so named because it was surveyed by Mr. Roe at the time that he surveyed the Beverley township. Shortly after this, he purchased the larger property of 'Redhill' on Government condition.⁵ Six years later Mr George Shenton offered to sell 'Killibin', a small property of about 170 acres and this was added.

Following the evacuation of 'Babbyalla' in 1888, Charles Edwin's mother, Charlotte, and his youngest brother, Joseph, moved to live with Charles Edwin and his wife Caroline at 'Roesland'. Charles and Caroline now had five surviving children: Frank Harrison, aged 15 years, Alice Matilda - 13 years, Ernest Walter - 10 years, Sydney Thomas - seven years, and Horace Edwin - six years. (Alick George Robus was not yet born).

One year later, Charlotte Blechynden (nee Robus) died on 13 Sep 1889 at 'Roesland'. The funeral was held at St Paul's Church, Edwards Crossing and she was buried at the Edwards Crossing Cemetery next to her husband Harrison.

Writings by his son Horace record, "Charles Edwin was a Beverley Church Warden from 1890 to 1901. He then lived in North Fremantle for a time, (see more in the paragraph, "Reminiscing" further on). On his return to Beverley, he was the Church People's Warden from 1908 until his death in July 1918."

Charles and Caroline's eighth child, Alick George was born 22 Feb 1892, Beverley, WA [Reg No. 448]. Charles's younger brother Joseph Blechynden was married, 4 Oct 1893 at Beverley to Grace Hancock. Joseph purchased the eighty-acre freehold property known as 'Gilgering', about 1904.

Charles Edwin Blechynden: Postal records show that Charles Edwin Blechynden was recorded as being at Roesland 1894, 1895. He does not appear to be recorded alphabetically or in Beverley in 1897-1898. 1899-1903 he is recorded under Edwin Blechynden, farmer Beverley. In 1904, his postal address was John St, North Fremantle and from 1905-1908, Ainslie Rd, North Fremantle. By 1910 and 1912, he was once again living in Beverley. In 1904, Charles Edwin was aged 57 years, planning his retirement, accompanying his daughter Alice Matilda to the city, his sons managing the farm.

With these, and lands later selected and bought by Frank and Horace, collectively known as the 'Roesland' and 'Red Hill' farms, Charles Edwin, and his sons farming with him in Beverley, built up a fine property, well situated of over 5,000 acres.

⁵ From 1887, the government sponsored wider agricultural settlement, beginning with deferred payments on land grants. The Great Southern Railway, opened in 1889, facilitated agriculture along its length, linking farms to markets in an era of deficient roads. Pastoral leases were extended to 21 years. An Agricultural Commission in 1891 resulted in a decade of government initiatives. The Homestead Act 1893 granted free (conditional) rural land parcels, with incentives expanded in 1898. Via Lindsay Adams: "Re your question re the location of 'Killibin', the couple of photos attached describe where the arable part of the block is in relation to 'Mt Kokeby'. It is only a relatively small block (13.85 Ha). The green line from 'Killibin' to 'Mt Kokeby' (298m) is an old surveyed road.

'Killibin' was particularly notable as the location of a communal shearing shed that was built in 1917 and used until about 1980. Shortly after the photo was taken it was demolished. According to my father's understanding, the Blechyndens at 'Burnside' farm - just south of the townsite of Mt Kokeby - used to drive their sheep up the Great Southern Hwy to 'Killibin' in order to use the shed."

The following article is an excellent write up of the history of Charles Edwin Blechynden and family and provides a good overview of the family history for this branch. It is from the excellent BEVERLEY BOOK, 1946, Compiled and published by Alf. T. Thomas, a member of the WA Historical Society, and approved by The Beverley Road Board.

“Roesland” and “Redhill” by F. and H. Blechynden (Ed. Frank Harrison and Horace Blechynden), pgs. 50-51.

The name of Blechynden is coupled with the Settlers who landed in the new colony in the year 1829. It was at that time that Mr. Harrison Blechynden, grandfather of Frank and Horace Blechynden, arrived in WA. Coming to Beverley in the early forties, he leased the “Babbyalla” property from the Hamersley’s, and remained on the property until 1888, when Mr. Bevan Hamersley having inherited “Babbyalla”, took up his residence there.

It was during this occupation of “Babbyalla”, that the son Henry was born (1843) and his brother Charles. Henry grew up and worked with his father on “Babbyalla”, and after their evacuation in 1888, he bought “Erindale”, in the Kokeby area, which place is now owned by his son, Mr. William Blechynden. But in 1870 the son Charles, left “Babbyalla”, and for about five years rented from a Mr. Johnson the property “Seaton Ross.” He then went to “Mount Pleasant,” but only stayed there three years, and then moved to Bridgetown. But for some reason or another he evidently did not like the Bridgetown district, and came again to “Seaton Ross.” About this time, he decided there was not much satisfaction in fencing farms and working them for other people, so he began to look around with the object of purchase.

It was in 1888 that he purchased “Roesland,” so named because it was surveyed by Mr. Roe, and selected at the time he surveyed the Beverley township. A short time after this, Mr. Blechynden selected, on Government conditional purchase, the property known as “Redhill.” About six years later, Mr. George Shenton offered to sell “Killibin,” a small property of about 170 acres, and this was added. With these and lands later selected and bought by Frank and Horace, they built up a fine property, well situated of over 5,000 acres.

In the year 1872, Charles married Miss C. Davies, of York, and there were eight children of the marriage. One son, Frank Harrison was born in 1873 and Horace in 1882, and these boys, after receiving their education, easily settled down to help their father with the work of the farm. It was hard slogging those days, with horses and drays, and none of the modern appliances of today, but working under their father’s instruction, and studying the vagaries of nature, they became good farmers, and so in the year 1905 the father handed over the management of the whole concern to them, and retired to a home which he had purchased in the township, where he and his wife lived happily together until his death in 1918.

At the time of his approaching marriage, Mr. Frank Blechynden built a house on the “Redhill” property. He married Miss Alice Robins of Beverley in 1909. His brother Horace Blechynden married Miss Amy ‘Ella’ Craig, of Yacka, South Australia, in 1906. They have been blessed with a family of three sons (Bruce, Frank and Colin), and a daughter Muriel.

Each season the farm crops about 1,000 acres, i.e., 500 acres of wheat and 500 acres of oats and peas. All the horses have long since been disposed of, and the work is speeded by tractor and motor truck, the rising generation enjoying their share of the work.

It was in 1924 that Messrs, Blechynden established their Dorset Horn Stud, over which they have no regrets. On various occasions they have sold stud rams to breeders in different parts of the State at prices ranging up to 53 guineas. As a base for this stud, they selected rams from the Newbold Stud in South Australia, whilst the ewes they purchased from the Parker's of Northam.

They have had many successes with their fat lambs, besides realizing good prices at the markets. In competition for the Meggitt Cup for Fat Lambs to Export (which had to be won three times in succession), they were twice runners-up before Walker Bros. carried it off by winning three times in succession. A very handsome trophy in the possession of the firm, is a silver teapot, presented for the best Yearling Colt or filly in 1926. They scored again by winning the cup presented by Mr. J. I. Mann, M.L.A., for most points in the live-stock section of the Beverley Show – this cup also had to be won three times before passing into the hands of the winner.

The brothers have always taken a lively interest in the various activities of their hometown, also in sport and local government. Both are members of the local Bowling Club, keen on the game, and Horace has been President of the Bowling Club for eight years. He has also been a member of the Beverley Agricultural Society for 40 years, a committeeman for 35 years and President for three years. Frank was a member also for 45 years and committeeman for 40 years, also he has held a seat on the Beverley Road Board for about 10 years, in two terms (1913-1919), again 1942. He is still a member. Both are on the Hospital Board. Of recent years both senior members of the firm have taken up their residence in the township. Frank, junior, married Miss Ella Wansbrough, a daughter of the late Mr. C. P. Wansbrough, now resides at the "Redhill" homestead. They have one daughter Norma. Bruce married Miss Ellen Wood, of County Peak, and resides on a property about six miles from Brookton. This property consists of about 3,000 acres, (2,300 acres which were selected by his Uncle Frank in 1900, 700 acres bought by Horace in 1916), and was purchased by Bruce in 1945. They have four sons – Neil, Dennis, Allen and Cyril.

Colin, the other son of Mr. Horace Blechynden, who was connected with the firm of Elder Smith & Co. Limited, for upward of ten years (being manager for 4 years at York) has recently bought a property at Quairading. He married Miss Pope of Kellerberrin, and they have two daughters, Beverley and Elizabeth.

Their daughter, Muriel, married Mr. Stanley Sutherland, of "Rosehill," Beverley. Mr. and Mrs. Sutherland now live at Katanning, with their family of four – John, Geoffrey, Margaret and Ross.

NOTE- The above historical sketch was compiled as at Jun 30, 1946. The brothers have now dissolved partnership, a harmonious term of 43 years. The elder brother Frank retired from the firm, and Frank Jun [Ed. Frank Robus, son of Horace]. has taken his place. As from July 1st, 1946, the firm has been carried on under the new name of H. E. Blechynden and Son [Ed. i.e., Horace Edwin & son, Frank Robus].

From 1940-1946 the original 'Roesland' homestead was occupied by Bob and Biddy Eyre. Bob was a workman on the Blechynden properties of 'Roesland' and 'Red Hill' and Biddy was also working at the 'Red Hill' house. Records of Bob's wages showed an increase in early 1940 when Bob and Biddy were married.

NOTE: The actual historic 'Roesland' homestead no longer exists with not even stone footings visible. The former 'Redhill' homestead with much associated farming infrastructure has been extensively developed over the generations and remains in the family. All the farms have been amalgamated into one large enterprise and, as explained by Lindsay Adams below, renamed as 'Roesland'.

During the Spring Back to Beverley 150 Years event held on 24-25 Sep 2022, a number of descendants of the Blechynden family and others associated with 'Roesland' gathered together, their aim, locating the original property site of the historical 'Roesland' homestead. Much discussion was held, comparing the site with the photo to the left:

Many pieces of pottery and glass were found on the ground indicating where the home site had been and from a site nearby where it is believed many people camped during the construction of the new railway line.

A LONELY UNMARKED GRAVE:

Via Donna Logothetis, a descendant of this family tree, 2019:

The following little story can make us to pause for a moment as a remembrance for those babies and others who were stillborn in the early days of the Beverley district.

When I visited Beverley, a friend took us out to the original farm but on the way, we stopped at a property which originally was owned by the Smith family and is now owned by Frank Blechynden. It is used for some farming but no house on the property. There is nothing there but a fig tree and a dam. Apparently near the dam is buried twin babies but no-one seems to know from which family they belonged to. Here is a pic of the dam where the twins are buried, there is no grave or markings at all so no-one knows exactly where they are, all we know is that they are buried near the dam. It is to the left off Great Southern Highway on the way out to Kokeby and sits to the right of Avon River.

The photo above was taken of the area just across the creek near the old 'Roesland' homestead site we visited. "Other family members also confirm the story that there is allegedly an unmarked grave there where twins are supposed to be buried".

This grave is not to be confused with the marked lonely grave on the south edge of Beverley town for Francis Joseph Wansborough. See photos below.

Lindsay's comments: On the back of the original of this photo my grandmother, Ella (wife of Frank Robus B), has written 'Pigs at Roesland'. There is a stamp on the back of it from Owen Bros, Photographers etc, Beaufort St, Perth. This suggests to me that the photo was perhaps taken by an Elders Weekly photographer and then a copy given to or obtained by my grandparents.

Per Lindsay Adams: The current 'Roesland' is actually the old 'Red Hill'. The homestead (just to the right of the wheat silos on top of the hill in the first picture) is the original Red Hill home built by Frank Harrison Blechynden just prior to his marriage to Alice Robins in 1909. It is where the portraits of Horace Edwin & Amy 'Ella' and my grandparents hang.

NAME CHANGE OF THE WHOLE FARM: (Via Lindsay Adams). Just prior to Frank Robus' passing in 1995, his grandson David asked him about his thoughts on changing the name of the whole farm (i.e., the combined 'Red Hill' and 'Roesland' farms) to just 'Roesland'. Apparently, he thought it was a great idea. So, that is exactly what my brother did from that moment onwards.

Returning to the story of Charles Edwin and family:

Charles Edwin and Caroline Blechynden's children grew up, married, and began their own lives and families, except for Alick. More details can be read in the individual chapters following.

The first wedding in the family was when Ernest Walter Blechynden married Beatrice Annie Walker, 1903 at Beverley. In 1906, the family celebrated two weddings. Sydney Thomas Blechynden married Kathleen Priscilla Simpson in Beverley and Horace Edwin Blechynden married Amy 'Ella' Craig in Jun 1906, in Fremantle. In 1909 they celebrated two more weddings: Frank Harrison Blechynden married Alice Matilda Robins at Subiaco and Alice Matilda Blechynden married Edwin John 'Jack' Chandler 26 Aug 1909, St Mary's Anglican Church at Beverley. Note. Two Alice Matilda's is correct. See also further on.

WW1 loomed, cast a shadow over the world and young men from WA began to enrol, amongst them Alick who signed his attestation papers at Blackboy Hill on 15 Mar 1915. It must have been a worrying time for the family when he proceeded overseas. Tragically ALICK GEORGE ROBUS BLECHYNDEN died 28 Feb 1917. Killed in action – FRANCE - buried Warlencourt British Cemetery. See more details in his section.

DEATH OF CHARLES EDWIN BLECHYNDEN

Charles Edwin Blechynden died 22 Jul 1918, Beverley, WA [Reg. 19]. He was buried in the Beverley Cemetery.

OBITUARY – CHARLES EDWIN BLECHYNDEN (1848-1918)

A fine type of colonist passed away suddenly at his residence, Beverley, last week. He had just returned from a motor drive and was apparently in the best of health and spirits. While sitting in an easy chair conversing with his wife he suddenly expired, the cause being heart failure.

Referring to the event the "Beverley Times" says: - Deceased who came from an old Kentish family whose ancestry can be traced back to the beginning of the 14th century was born at 'Babbyalla' about five miles from Beverley in Mar 1848 and had thus just passed the allotted span. In 1872 he married Miss Caroline Davies, eldest daughter of the late Thos. Davies of York, and leaves a widow and family of four sons (Frank, Ernest, Sydney and Horace) and one daughter (Mrs Chandler of Leederville), to mourn their loss, his youngest son, Sergt. Alick Blechynden, having been killed in action early last year. Deceased has five brothers and two sisters living in various parts of the state. He was engaged practically all his life until he retired about 14 years ago, in farming pursuits in the Beverley District, and for the past ten years had been a resident of the town where he gained the respect and esteem of all with whom he came in contact.

At the funeral many relatives from York were present, including: -Cr. W. Johnson, Messrs. R. McKay, W. T. and James Davies (brothers-in-law), and Mr. . .

MRS. CAROLINE BLECHYNDEN

One of the district's grand old Ladies has crossed the Bar this week in the person of Mrs Caroline Blechynden, relict of the late C E Blechynden, and mother of a family which has been prominently associated with the district and State for many years. She was 92 years of age and died on Sunday night at the Beverley Hospital where she had been an inmate for some weeks.

Deceased was the daughter of early-comers to the State and was born at Guildford. When seven years of age her parents moved to York where they took up land. It was at this centre as a young woman she met her life partner and after the marriage the couple came to Beverley where they lived for 2 years before proceeding to Bridgetown. The journey to that centre by horse and dray with a few months old infant ever remained one of her most vivid memories of the pioneering days. After two years in the south-west the family returned to Beverley and were located at 'Seaton Ross' for the next ten years. The next move was the purchase of 'Roesland' which was farmed for many years, ultimately being taken over by sons of the union, upon which transfer Mr and Mrs Blechynden took up residence at Fremantle, only to return to the scene of their earlier labours within the course of a few years.

Mr Blechynden died in 1918 at Beverley and Mrs Blechynden continued to reside with a sister at the home in Edward Street Beverley, and for periods with members of her family. Till a few years ago she remained active but failing health then restricted her activities. She was a good worker and a staunch adherent of the Anglican Church throughout her life and a supporter of charitable causes. Her main interest, however, was in her home and family. Those left to mourn the passing of a splendid mother are: Frank (Beverley) Alice (Mrs Chandler—Wembley); Ernest (Babakin); Sid (Beverley) and Horace (Beverley); besides 9 grandchildren and 10 great grandchildren. Three children predeceased her, including a son, Alick, who was killed in France in the first world war.

The funeral took place at the Anglican Cemetery on Wednesday afternoon in the presence of a gathering of friends and relatives. Before the interment a service was held at St Mary's Church and the Rev Paisley officiated here and at the graveside. The arrangements were carried out by Mr E T Fairhead, and the pallbearers were: Messrs A Handcock, F Lodge, J Magennis, H G Langford, Frank Davey and F Walker. Wreaths and floral tributes were received from the following:

Frank and Alice; Horace and Ella; Dennis and Allen; Syd and Kate; Ernest; Beaty and family; Elsie, Jack and May; Rosie and Joyce; Mr and Mrs C G Cooke; Albert; Ella Frank and Norma; Stan, Muriel and children; Edna and Bruce; Colin and Nancy; Peter, Mary and family; Manager and staff of the Beverley Farmers Co op Co; M Simpson; Aubrey; Julia and Jack; Mr and Mrs Mcgennis; Jean and Steve; Mr and Mrs Cooper and family; W A and J K McLean and family; H Eyre; Ida, Edna and Dovie; Mrs T G and Mr R Walker; Mrs Grisby and family; Ernie and Verna Rogers and family; Mr and Mrs Geo Carr and family; Mr and Mrs E B Simmons and Marie; Hubert, Nance Robbins; Mr and Mrs L T Davies; Mr and Mrs A T Walker and family; Mr and Mrs John McLean; Grace and Harold Hicks; Mr and Mrs Lennard and family; Annie and Lou, Ruby and Ernest.

FIRST CHILD OF CHARLES EDWIN BLECHYNDEN & CAROLINE DAVIES

1. BLECHYNDEN, FRANK HARRISON (1873-1955) & ROBINS, ALICE (1871-1941)

Frank Harrison was Charles Edwin and Caroline Blechynden's first child. He was born on 15 Jul 1873 in Beverley. He married Alice Matilda Robins in Subiaco in 1909. They farmed 'Red Hill' and 'Roesland' in partnership with Frank's brother Horace and his wife Amy 'Ella' (nee Craig). Frank and Alice had no children. Alice passed away on 7 Jul 1941 at the age of 69 and Frank on 14 Dec 1955 at the age of 82; both in Beverley. They are buried together in the Beverley Anglican Cemetery.

When their father, Charles Edwin, retired. In 1903, Frank Harrison and his brother, Horace Edwin, took over the Roesland and farms. In 1909, he built a substantial home at 'Red Hill' (still in use today) in preparation for his new bride.

FRANK HARRISON BLECHYNDEN (1873-1955) married ALICE MATILDA ROBINS (1871-1941) in 1909, Subiaco, WA [Reg. 59].

Unfortunately, we don't know the names of all the people in this excellent photo. The gentleman in the middle is certainly the groom, Frank Harrison Blechynden.

On the back of the photo, it indicates that the bridesmaids are Alice's younger sisters Edna & Dora (written Dooreen), however there is no way of telling which is which (although Dooreen's name is written first - maybe she is the one on the left?). Our best deduction is that the three ladies in white are: Doreen, bride Alice then Edna.

Note: With marriage, Alice Matilda Robins became Alice Matilda Blechynden, having the same name as Frank's younger sister, Alice Matilda Blechynden. This at times caused some confusion. Both women were both married in the same year, 1909, with Alice Matilda Blechynden becoming Alice Matilda Chandler. Alice Matilda Blechynden (nee Robins) became a teacher and taught for many years at the first school established in Beverley.

Alice Matilda Robins was born 1871, Guildford, WA [Reg. 13425]. Her father, WILLIAM BALDWIN ROBINS (1839-1907) and mother, ROSALIE MATILDA CHESTER (1850-1915), were married in 1870 in Middle Swan, WA [Reg. 3059]. The next few pages provide details about Alice Matilda Robins' parents, and a brief history of her grandparents.

Via Australian/European Family Tree, Ancestry, William Robins was born 30 Aug 1839, Swan River Colony, Guildford, WA. Parents: BENJAMIN ROBINS (1807-1863) and ELIZABETH MARY 'BETSY' DEVENISH (1820-1913) who were married 18 Jul 1838, Beverley, WA. A PIONEER COLONIST.THE LATE MRS ROBINS.

By the passing away at the ripe age of 93 years of Mrs E. M. Robins, of Guildford, has been removed another of the fast diminishing number of Western Australia's earliest settlers. The deceased lady arrived in the colony with her parents, the late Mr and Mrs Wm. Devenish, in the ship Hoogly in the year 1830, at the age of 10 years, and has resided in the State ever since—a period of 83 years. She married Mr Benjamin Robins in June 1838, and her husband predeceased her half a century. The issue of their union was 8 sons and 5 daughters of whom 5 sons and 3 daughters are still living, and there are 32 grandchildren and 51 great grandchildren.

The late Mrs Robins retained full possession of all her faculties almost up to the time of her death, and had vivid recollections of the hardships encountered in the early days both in Guildford, where her parents settled, and later at Beverley where she and her husband took up land in the early days of their married life. Subsequently Mr Robins acquired the property known as "Water Hall," near Guildford, and he and his young wife and family removed to that place, where they resided until the death of Mr Robins. The generous hospitality and kindly nature of the deceased lady endeared her to a large circle of friends, and of her it may well be said "To live in hearts we leave behind, is not to die."

The funeral took place on Sunday afternoon in the Anglican cemetery, Guildford. The chief mourners

Guildford. The chief mourners were Mrs A. L. Sewell, Mrs S. Chester, and Miss Amelia Robins (daughters), Messrs Lewis and Theo. (sons), Messrs A., S., E., L., H. and R. Chester (grandsons) Messrs G. Gill, S. B. Devenish and Harold and Roy Devenish. The pall bearers were Messrs W. Randford, J. Jecks, W. F. Guppy, I. Wood, J. H. Munday and O. Jones. Among others noticed at the graveside were Messrs C. Wellman, S. Dema, W. Jones, W. G. Johnson, Jas. Morrison (senr), G. Holmes, J. Jones, E. W. Snook, J. Gould, J. Barnes, A. Davies, T. Jones and many others. A large number of floral tributes and messages of sympathy were received and the burial service was conducted by the Rev. Canon Foster. The funeral arrangements were carried out by Messrs A. Douglas Jones and Co., Ltd., of Guildford and Midland Junction.

See Western Mail (Perth, WA) Sat 30 Mar 1907 for confirmation of date and place. Gravestone is recorded as 2 Dec 1906 which is incorrect.

Alice's mother, Rosalie Matilda Chester was baptised 17 Jul 1850, Perth, WA, [Reg. 1363650]. Her parents were JOSEPH CHESTER (1807-1886) and SUSANNA SWAINE (1817-1884). Rosalie died 4 Feb 1915, Beverley, WA [Reg. 9] and is buried in the Beverley Anglican Cemetery.

JOSEPH CHESTER was born 14 Jan 1807, Foxley Green Bray, Berkshire, England. He died 7 May 1886, Perth, WA [Reg. 13886]. His first marriage was to CATHERINE HARRIETT BREWER (1809-~1842), 26 Dec 1832, St Martin in the Fields, Westminster, England. Their two children were Charles Joseph Chester (1834-1924), and Catherine Harriet Brewer Chester (1835-1919). Both born in England. Catherine must have died about 1842 prior to Joseph's second marriage to SUSANNA SWAINE on 21 Dec 1842, Saint Leonards, Shoreditch, London, England. The three children born to this second union were: Granada William Chester born in England, in 1843, who died very young; Sydney Chester (1845-1911) and Emily Jane Chester (1847-1864).

Joseph Chester migrated to WA via the Orient, arriving in Fremantle on 20 Mar 1848, with his wife, Susanna (nee Swain) and four children as follows:

1. CHARLES JOSEPH CHESTER (1834-1924) married CLARA ROSSER (1839-1925), 26 Dec 1866, Walkerville, SA [pg. 427 Vol 69].
2. CATHERINE HARRIETT BREWER CHESTER (1835-1919) married JOHN WILLIAM HARDY (1833-1913), 24 Jun 1867, Res of William Harvey, Glenburnie, SA [pg. 154 Vol 73].
3. SYDNEY CHESTER (1845-1911) married BETSY DENENDISH ROBINS (1849-1917), 8 Feb 1871, Guildford, WA [Reg. 3218].
4. EMILY JANE CHESTER (1847-1864) married CHARLES HANWITH HORDEN (1840-1882) in 1864 in Albany, WA [Reg. 2858].

Joseph was an upholsterer and cabinet maker who was active in the Swan River Mechanics' Institute, established in 1851. He and Susanna resided in Perth until around 1856, when Joseph, took over the Rose and Crown Hotel in Guildford. Joseph Chester's Cottage is one of the oldest places remaining in the City of Vincent in metropolitan Perth, WA. Alice Matilda Robins' mother, Rosalie born in 1850, was the eldest of three children born in WA.

5. ROSALIE MATILDA CHESTER (1850-1915) married WILLIAM BALDWIN ROBINS (1839-1907), 1870, Middle Swan, WA [Reg. 3059].
6. LOUISA CHESTER (1855-1929) married EDWARD FRANCIS ROBINS (1856-1913) 30 Dec 1886, Perth, WA [Reg. 3675].
7. ALICE CHESTER (1862-1867) was born 1862, [Reg No 6272]. She died 1867, aged 5 years, [Reg. 3647].

Rosalie Chester and William Robins had seven children together as follows:

1. ALICE MATILDA ROBINS (1871-1941) was born 1871, Guildford, WA [Reg. 13425]. She married FRANK HARRISON BLECHYNDEN (1873-1955) in 1909, Subiaco, WA [Reg. 59].
2. BENJAMIN ROBINS (1874-1961) was born 25 Aug 1874, Perth, WA [Reg. 15685]. His first marriage was to m.2 GRACE BARRETT-LENNARD (NEE SEWELL), (1875-1960) 1898, Perth WA [Reg. 1270]. She went on to married EDWARD ERNEST BARRETT-LENNARD (1870-1897) 15 Jul 1896, Upper Swan, WA [Reg. 985]. Benjamin died 18 Sep 1961, Perth, WA [Reg. 2670].
3. IDA ROSALIE ROBINS (1878-1966) was born 1878, Perth, WA [Reg. 19303]. She married STEPHEN TELFER COUPER (1867-1917), 1901, Beverley, WA [Reg. 3]. Ida died 1966, Canning, WA [Reg. 13].
4. HUBERT WILLIAM ROBINS (1881-1956) (electoral rolls, have his name as Herbert) was born 1881, Beverley, WA [Reg. 22009]. He married ANNIE YOUNG GOLLAN (1884-1969), 1908, York, WA [Reg. 15]. Registered as Hubert. Hubert died 1956, Perth, WA [Reg. 276], registered as Hubert.
5. ALFRED ROBINS (1883-1883) was born 1883, Beverley, WA [Reg. 23658]. Alfred died aged 2 months, 1883, WA [Reg. 11657].
6. EDNA LOUISA ROBINS (1885-1972) was born 1885, Perth, WA [Reg. 26184]. She died 23 Aug 1972, Rossmoyne, WA.
7. DORA ELMA ANNIE ROBINS (1890-1965) was born 1890, Beverley, WA [Reg. 368]. Recorded as Dora Emlee. Electoral Roll, registered as Dora Elma Annie. She married MAURICE CHRISTMAS

(1906-), 1926, Perth, WA [Reg. 761]. Registered as Dora Elina Robins. Dora died 1965, Como, WA [Reg. 692]. Registered as Dora Elma Annie.

In 1924, Frank Harrison Blechynden, started a Dorset Horn Sheep stud and won many prizes with fat lambs. He was an Agricultural Society Committee man for 40 years. On Beverley Road Board for 10 years (1913-19) and (1942-1946), on the Beverley Hospital Board and a very keen bowler. In partnership with Horace Blechynden, Frank sent a sample of wheat to a Melbourne Exhibition in 1906. Together they had a stallion to stand for mating: Young Murray Prince - £3 single mare, £5 for two, £7 for three - money returned for all mares not proving in foal. (BJ. Aug 1905). Frank was also a very good rifle shooter (1905) and good bike rider (Beverley Times, 14 Oct 1905). He won prizes at the Beverley Agricultural Show for poultry (a drake and duck eggs) and vegetables. (Oct 1905). In

Frank Harrison Blechynden was twice Grand Master of the Beverley Masonic Lodge being first installed in 1911 and again in 1928. (Via his obituary, see further on).

It is interesting that Alice's father, William Baldwin Robins (1839-1907), was registered as being a member of United Grand Lodge of England Freemasons, 2 Dec 1874.

THE MASONIC BALL.
A BRILLIANT FUNCTION.

The annual Masonic Ball has undoubtedly established itself as the chief social event of the year in Beverley, and last Wednesday's function was no exception to the rule. Despite the prevailing depression there was a very large attendance from York, Brookton and surrounding centres, the total attendance numbering quite 80 couples. The hall and stage were tastefully decorated for the occasion, and when dancing was in full swing presented a most pleasing scene. The proceedings were opened with the singing of the National Anthem, followed by "Rule Britannia," and when the strains of the latter were struck up a large number of red, white and blue electric lights were switched on, giving a very pretty and appropriate effect. First-class music was supplied by Mrs. Nind (piano), and Messrs. Hardwick Bros. (violin and flute), and Mr. T. G. Walker carried out the duties of Director of Ceremonies. A dainty and appetising supper was laid out in the supper room and in a marquee adjoining, and was served under the supervision of a committee of ladies, the table decorations being particularly charming. Viewed from any and every standpoint the ball was a decided success, and reflects the greatest credit upon the genial secretary (Mr. W. J. Giblett) and the committee who assisted him in his endeavors to make it what it proved to be—one of the most successful and enjoyable functions in the history of Beverley. The dresses worn by the ladies included many pretty and becoming costumes, among which were the following:—

Mrs. Frank Brown, pink crepe de chine, with silver trimmings.
Mrs. H. Blechynden, grey brocaded satin, lace basque, trimmed points and Australian beads.
Mrs. Syd. Blechynden, apricot crepe de chine over satin, and point lace and black fur.
Mrs. Bremner, black silk.
Mrs. G. L. Brown, heliotrope brocade, tunic of soft lace.
Mrs. F. W. Clarke, cream satin charmeuse, silver and pearl trimmings.
Mrs. L. W. Childlow, white satin with tunic of nylon and trimmings of white fur.
Mrs. Fawcett, vieux rose, crepe tunic and basque of shadow lace.
Mrs. Forbes, red satin, black nylon overdress, red mesh.

THE ROESLAND ESTATE

ONE of the best known, properties in the Beverley district is Roesland, which, in conjunction with the Red Hill property near-by, is conducted by Messrs. F. and H. Blechynden. The two properties total about 5,000 acres. The Roesland property gets its name from the fact that it was the first area surveyed by Surveyor Roe.

The properties carry from 3,000 to 4,000, sheep and in addition about 800 acres are sown each year with wheat and oats. In 1925 the proprietors established a Dorset Horn stud flock while they also go in for fat lamb production. The property is well watered, as the Avon River flows through it, and it is also watered by a number of wells and soaks.

*Mr. F. Blechynden, who lives at the old Roesland, homestead, has been president of the Beverley Agricultural Society for the past two years and he is also a member of the Beverley Hospital Committee. (See comment).

Ed. This article unfortunately incorrectly refers to Roesland as Roeslands. This has been corrected in the text. It also incorrectly indicates that Frank lived at the Roesland homestead. Comment via Lindsay Adams: * My understanding is that Frank Harrison lived in the 'Red Hill' house from the time he built it in 1909 until he decided to retire into Beverley around 1946 (when my grandparents, Frank & Ella, moved into the 'Red Hill' home).

The early arrivals on the scene concentrated on keeping the flames from encroaching on a pea stubble paddock in which a haystack was located and in this they were successful. Knapsack sprays again proved most useful in finally subduing the outbreak.

OBITUARY

MRS. A. M. BLECHYNDEN

The death occurred after a long illness on Monday evening at the Beverley Hospital of Mrs. Alice Matilda Blechynden, wife of Mr. Frank Harrison Blechynden, of Beverley. Deceased was 69 years of age.

The late Mrs. Blechynden was the eldest daughter of the late Mr and Mrs W Robins, who were pioneers in these areas having very early associations with the Bally Bally district where they were among the first to take up land. She was born in the district, and after completing her education became a teacher and taught for many years at the first school established in Beverley.

She was married to Mr. F. H. Blechynden in 1910 the couple taking up residence at Mr. Blechynden's property at Red Hill. About six years ago she had an accident in which she sustained a broken leg and her health has never been of the best since that occurrence. About twelve months ago she

There were no children of the marriage. In addition to a husband deceased is survived by two brothers (Ben and Hubert Robins) and three sisters (Mrs. Cooper, of Monger's Lake, Miss Edna Robins of Wembley, and Mrs. Christmas, of Victoria Park). She had always lived a retiring life and was a quiet, God-fearing woman, who took a keen interest in her Church for which she was a good worker, as well as being in her younger days a good supporter of social and charitable causes. Her many friends will extend to her bereaved husband and relatives sincere sympathy in the great loss they have sustained.

The funeral took place at the Anglican Cemetery on Wednesday afternoon in the presence of a large gathering of friends. It was preceded by a service at St. Mary's and the Rev. Brown officiated at Church and graveside. The funeral arrangements were carried out by Mr. E. T. Fairhead.

Mr FRANK HARRISON BLECHYNDEN

DEATH AT 82

Born at Mt Pleasant some 82 years ago and a lifetime resident of this district Mr Frank Harrison Blechynden died suddenly at his Beverley home on the 14th inst.

His health had been failing over a lengthy period.

He was the eldest of a family of six boys and one girl of which the surviving members are brothers Ernest (Arthur River) and Horace and Sidney (of Beverley).

His father was born at Babbyalla in this district 107 years ago and upon his marriage was at Seaton Ross for a period to later acquire Roesland and adjoining property which was portion of the Smith Estate. Later the Red Hill property was purchased.

Frank and his brother, Horace, took over these properties upon the retirement of their father and the first mentioned took up residence at Red Hill where he farmed for many years.

Forty six years ago the subject of our notice married Miss Alice Robins. There were no children of the union. The couple retired to Beverley to live in a home in Edward Street but the life partnership was broken shortly afterwards by the death of Mrs Blechynden.

Mr Blechynden was an esteemed member of the local community to which he gave much honorary service.

He served for a very long period as a vestryman and people's warden of the Anglican Church, following in his father's footsteps in this regard.

regard.

As a member of the Beverley Road Board for two terms he was first a representative of the Kokeby Ward and later represented Dale ratepayers.

Another body to which he gave fine service was the Beverley Hospital Board on which he served for several years.

He was twice Grand Master of the Beverley Masonic Lodge being first installed in 1911 and again in 1928.

In the realm of sport the late Mr Blechynden was a foundation member of the Beverley Bowling Club and up to a year or two ago was one of the Club's regular skippers in pennant fixtures. Another of his activities in his young days was rifle shooting and he was a foundation member and one time captain of the Beverley Club.

Field shooting occupied his attention for many years and there was nothing he liked better than an outing with the gun. He was for a long time a regular attendant at an annual kangaroo shoot held at the Dale in honour of another keen sportsman in the person of the late Sir James Mitchell.

Up to a few years ago the late Mr Blechynden was remarkably active for his age.

At 72 he went East taking his car with him and drove it from Adelaide to Beverley at the conclusion of the holiday

2. BLECHYNDEN, ALICE MATILDA (1875-1949) & CHANDLER, EDWIN JOHN (1864-1936)

Alice Matilda Blechynden was born in 10 Jun 1875, Bridgetown, WA [Reg. 16530]. Baptised 18 Jul 1875.

ALICE married EDWIN JOHN CHANDLER (1864-1936) 26 Aug 1909, St Mary's Anglican Church, Beverley, WA [Reg. 21]. Alice, was aged 34 years of age, John about 45 years of age. More details further on.

Alice died 20 Jun 1949, at her residence, 240 Hamersley Road, Subiaco, WA [Reg. 1228]. Via Gilchrist/Cameron Family Tree.

Looking through some old family books, a bible was found belonging to Alice Matilda Blechynden, the second child and only daughter of Charles Edwin and Caroline Blechynden. It is inscribed 'Miss A Blechynden, Roesland' on the inside front cover and 'Miss A M Blechynden' on the inside back cover. Interestingly, the bible seems to have originally come from the Fremantle Gaol, which was initially named 'Convict Establishment WA'.

This title is clearly marked on the inside back cover. Also, 'CE', along with the board arrow symbolising 'Government Property' is clearly marked on the fore edge.

The Bible appears to have been acquired by Miss Alice Matilda Blechynden prior to her marriage to Jack Chandler in 1909. Perhaps it was a gift from her parents.

Looking at the Electoral Roll, for a short while between 1903-1906, her parents Charles Edwin, Caroline and Alice Matilda Blechynden lived together at the same electoral address in North Fremantle. This was of course not far from the prison.

It is interesting that there was another Alice Matilda Blechynden, named as such by marriage, when her brother Frank Harrison Blechynden married Alice Matilda Robins in 1909, in Subiaco. Both couples were married in 1909.

Electoral Roll:

1903. 1906, Alice Matilda Blechynden, John St, North Fremantle, domestic, Caroline, housewife and Charles Edwin Blechynden, farmer, same address. Alice Matilda Blechynden is shown here as living with her parents.

1910 Edwin John Chandler, 262 Fitzgerald St, Perth, engineer, fitter and electrician. In 1899 he and his new wife Mary Jane lived in VIC. Mary Jane Chandler (nee Gardiner) died in 1906 in WA.

1913 Edwin John Chandler 113 Kimberley Street, Leederville, fitter, Alice Matilda Chandler, married.

WA POSTAL DIRECTORY

<https://www.slwa.wa.gov.au/explore-discover/wa-heritage/post-office-directories>

Postal records show that Charles Edwin Blechynden was recorded as being at 'Roesland' 1886, 1889. In 1904 his postal address was John St, North Fremantle and from 1905-1908, Ainslie Rd, North Fremantle. Charles Edwin was aged 57 years, planning his retirement. He and Caroline, with his daughter Alice Matilda in Fremantle, his sons managing the farm. By 1910 and 1912, he was once again living in Beverley.

Surmising: Alice Matilda Blechynden was aged 29 years in 1904. She was recorded in the Electoral Roll as being a domestic. Edwin John and Mary Jane Chandler were married and their first child Ernest William Chandler was born in VIC in 1899. Their second child Louise May Chandler was born 1901, Perth, WA. In 1902 - 1906, Edwin John Chandler's postal address was recorded as 28 Lindsay St, Perth. The Chandler's third child Jessie Chandler died aged 3 months in 1904, in Perth. His wife Mary Jane Chandler died 1 Jan 1906, in Fremantle, (more details following). Perhaps Alice Matilda as a domestic assisted Edwin Chandler following the death of his wife Mary Jane?

ALICE MATILDA BLECHYNDEN (1875-1949) married m.2 EDWIN JOHN 'JACK' CHANDLER (1864-1936) 26 Aug 1909, St Mary's Anglican Church, Beverley, WA [Reg. 21]. This was his second marriage.

"Mother Smith's" name recorded on the back of the photo. Back: Not yet identified.

Speculating: Alice's parents Charles Edwin and Caroline Blechynden, a couple of her brothers, plus brothers of the Chandler family would be in the photo.

Note: Bridesmaid, Ida Matilda Hope Smith was born 1888, Northam, WA [Reg. 1012]. Parents: Eleanor Davies and David Frederick Smith. Ida Smith married Robert Hitchcock 1910. Northam, WA [Reg. 11]. Alice's mother Caroline Blechynden (nee Davies) had two sisters who both married a Smith.

1. CAROLINE DAVIES (1850-1942) married CHARLES 'EDWIN' BLECHYNDEN (1848-1918), 1872, Beverley, WA [Reg. 3421].
2. EMMA AMELIA DAVIES (1852-1931) married JOHN THOMAS SMITH (1854-1915), 1884, Northam, WA [Reg. 5795].
8. ELEANOR DAVIES (1863-1926) married DAVID FREDERICK SMITH (1863-1958) 1886, Wilberforce, WA [Reg. 6401], (Ida's parents).

"Reuben Chandler farmed at Orange, Bathurst, New South Wales. A disastrous year saw the family return to Sydney. At some stage in the 1880s Reuben resumed his original trade of building. He died in 1892 and was buried at Bathurst. . .

Sam and his two younger brothers embraced the Seventh-day Adventist religion and the three brothers moved to WA. Their religious conviction was without doubt nurtured by Sam's mother who was a devout Methodist/Congregationalist. Emma Chandler died in 1912 at a church meeting in Sydney. One of Sam's younger brothers was a foundation member of the early Seventh-day Adventist Church at North Fitzroy in Melbourne."

Edwin John Chandler 's first marriage prior to moving to WA was in 1899 to Mary Jane Gardiner, Fitzroy, VIC. More details following. Two of Edwin's brothers Ernest and Samuel Chandler were married and had families in WA. In this chapter we have only followed up on Edwin and his siblings who came to WA.

Following is a brief description of Edwin John Chandler's brothers, Samuel Allen Chandler and Ernest Edward Chandler:

SAMUEL ALLEN CHANDLER (1873-1913) married Selina Ellen Chapman (1859-1937), 5 Apr 1899, Donnybrook, WA [Reg. 1594]. They had three children who were all born in Perth, WA.

CHANDLER—MILLS.

The marriage of Miss Mae Mills, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Mills, of Northampton, Western Australia, to Mr. Ernest W. Chandler, of Sydney, eldest son of Mr. E. J. Chandler, of West Leederville, was celebrated on March 1 at the Seventh Day Adventist Church, St. Leonard's, Sydney, by Pastor A. H. White. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a charming gown of ivory georgette, over satin, heavily beaded in crystal beads. Her court train of silver lame was lined with shell pink georgette, and finished with ruchings of silver ribbon and tiny sprays of orange blossoms. The long lace veil was held in place by a coronet of silver lame and pearls, with a cluster of orange blossoms on either side. A shower bouquet of asters and roses, finished with tulle and wide satin ribbon, was carried. The two bridesmaids, Miss Mae Chandler, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Lily Ingram, wore frocks of georgette, with trimmings of guipure lace, the former being of periwinkle blue and the latter peach. Both wore a tulle bandeau and carried posies of pastel shaded asters and roses. The train-bearer, little Velma Lawson, who wore a dainty frock of ivory crepe de chine, carried a silver slipper filled with rosebuds. The best man was Mr. Vernon Brooke and Mr. Keith Ingram acted as groomsmen. The reception was held at the Cammeray Hall, Suspension Bridge, North Sydney, the mother of the bride receiving her guests in a smart French pleated frock of black marocain, with oriental trimmings and a high-crowned felt hat to tone. A posy of crimson roses was carried. The bride left for her honeymoon, which was spent at the Blue Mountains, wearing a hand-painted frock of eyelash crepe de chine, covered with a smart coat of brick Ottoman and a vagabond hat of felt.

EDWIN JOHN CHANDLER (1864-1936) & MARY JANE GARDINER (1872-1906) HAD THREE CHILDREN:

1. CHANDLER, ERNEST WILLIAM (1899-) was born in VIC in 1899, VIC [Reg. 26503], recorded under Ernt Wm Chandler, father recorded as Edwin Jno (John) Chandler and mother as Gardiner. ERNEST married CATHERINE 'MAY' MILLS (1906-) 1 Mar 1927, North Sydney, NSW [Reg. 2107]. He was mentioned on his father's death notice in 1936 as being in New Zealand.

ALBERT married VERA EILEEN THOMAS (1916-2015), 26 Apr 1945, St Mary's Church, West Perth, WA [Reg. 861]. Albert was a 34-year-old bachelor and Vera Eileen was a 29-year-old spinster.

Vera Eileen Thomas died 17 Jul 2015, aged 99 years. Albert's occupation was listed as a Truck Driver (now Soldier) and his place of residence was Beverley. His father Edwin John was deceased at the time of the marriage and his father's previous occupation was listed as an Engineer. It's noted also that Vera's parents, Edwin Thomas and Elizabeth Nock, were both deceased at the time of the marriage. Her father Edwin Thomas's occupation was listed as a Miner. Albert Blechynden Chandler and Vera Eileen Thomas had no children. (Stated on his death certificate).

1954, 1958, 1868 Albert Blechynden Chandler, 82 Evelyn St, Gosnells, farmer, Vera Eileen, home duties.

Via Lucia Bender: What I know about my maternal grandfather Albert Blechynden Chandler.

It seems that when he was 23 years of age, Albert was the father of Esther Raine Swarbrick. See details below.

ESTHER 'RAINE' SWARBRICK (1933-2022), daughter of Albert Blechynden Chandler and Ethel Swarbrick. (Adopted)

It begins with my dear 88-year-old mother Esther Raine Swarbrick being adopted as a child. My mother "Raine" was born on 7 Apr 1933. I have a copy of The Adoption of Children Act, 1896, and Amendments, 1. Application for Order of Adoption under Section 3 (or 4) of Act. It states that Esther Raine was born at Nurse Reid's Hospital in Subiaco. Her mother is listed as Ethel Swarbrick – single woman from 14 Shakespeare Street Mount Hawthorn, WA – domestic. (18 years old). Her father is listed as Albert Chandler, Pangbourne Street Wembley Park, WA – Canvasser. (22 years old).

Her adoptive parents were Alfred Louis Swarbrick & Grace Olive Swarbrick of 14 Shakespeare Street, Mount Hawthorn – Motor Mechanic & wife. At the time of the adoption Ethel was also living at 14 Shakespeare Street, Mount Hawthorn. Ethel Swarbrick lived with her sister Dulcie May and her widowed father, previously at the family home Nanson Street, Wembley Park. (a few streets from Pangbourne). Ethel Swarbrick was born 12 Apr 1915. She later married Ron Kersting and they had three sons.

My mother did not find out until her late seventies that she was adopted. This was quite devastating to her. Her "Auntie" Ethel was confirmed to be her mother. They loved each other very much, but the news was difficult at the time for my mum. And now at 88 she wants to know more!

*Esther Raine Swarbrick aged two years.

We are all happy that Mum was adopted into the family of her real mum's relatives, so that she grew up knowing her family. We all have fond memories of Alf and especially of Grace who adopted two other children and gave birth to one son. Grace lived to be 102 years old!

Due to the long timeframe before my mum found out about her adoption her mother Ethel was well into her nineties and was only able to give my mum small amounts of information about the situation around her birth. So far, I know Albert Chandler to have been employed as a canvasser, stove maker, truck driver & soldier.

A GREAT CITIZEN PASSES.

DEATH OF MR. THOMAS GEORGE WALKER.

With the death early on Tuesday morning last at his residence, Hunt Road, Beverley, of Thomas George Walker, the district loses an outstanding personality and a man who was intimately associated with the expansion of this district as well as those adjacent following the land boom which set in in the closing years of last century. As Government land agent and Clerk of Courts stationed at Beverley during a period of widespread settlement he saw the borders of settlement pushed further and further southward and eastward into areas which previously had been considered as altogether too acid for farming pursuits and his work brought him into close association with men of pioneering spirit and the community generally by whom he came to be recognised as a man of sterling integrity and worth who was ever ready to assist them in their difficulties. Added to this virtue was a widespread learning, fertile brain and diffuse interests, making him a most arresting personality to meet and converse with. A product of that great centre of English learning, Oxford University, he brought the best traditions of English life into the young community and it can truthfully be said that the district had much to thank him for. He died at the age of 79 years after a long period of declining health.

The late Mr. Walker was born at Oxford, England, and was the eldest of a family of six. He finished his education at the University, where he took a Queen's Prize in Mathematics, and later was appointed to the University staff, married and settled down. Afflicted from an early age with bronchitis his health caused much concern some years later and it was on this account and also in order to give his growing family of three sons and two daughters an opening in life that he came with them to Western Australia. A suitable post soon presented itself in the township of York. The founder of the York Grammar School (a private institution) and the Interim of the Guildford Grammar School disposed of his interests in the school to the new owner who found himself in an environment to which he was accustomed, albeit the conveniences and the human material available were a far cry from those at the great school he had left. ing widespread interest throughout the world in those days as the result of the impetus it had received through J. W. Swan's discovery of the dry gelatin plate. Always interested in every new scientific development its possibilities caught the imagination of the schoolmaster and he set about learning all that there was to learn of the processes involved and became an enthusiastic photographer. The knowledge thus gained was to stand him in good stead for with the growth of public schools in the city patronage fell off and the York institution was closed. The portrait was a novelty in those days, there was good business to be done in supplying the demand and it was as a camera craftsman that Beverley was first to know Mr. Walker. He brought with him from York a portable studio which he erected on vacant land at a point about where the Soldiers Monument now stands. His portraiture work was excellent but it was in the production of land sales that he achieved his greatest success in this field.

A government land agent had been established in Beverley some time previously, and the holder of the post at this time was George Howe, a brother of Dr. Howe, recently deceased. When he vacated the post and applications were called for a successor Mr. Walker applied for the position and having excellent qualifications received the appointment. Later he was made Clerk of Courts, the duties attached to that office having become too onerous for the police constable stationed here, and it was this post he filled right up to the time of his retirement.

District history was in the making at this period and Mr. Walker and his young assistant, Peter Edwards, dealt with thousands of applications for land in the succeeding years, opening up country for selection from York to Narragun and as far east as Corrigin, Kondinin and Wickham. On behalf of his sons he took up land on the Avon River south of the town and it was here they learnt farming practice. The property is now owned by Harry Eyre. Throughout the long occupancy of office he took a keen interest in the affairs of the district and was prominently associated in many ways with the life of the community. In sporting circles he played a prominent part. As a cricketer he participated in old time matches and later his services were much availed of as an umpire, he being most conversant with the laws of the game. He was one of the enthusiasts who gathered round the late George Brown when the latter introduced

As a cricketer he participated in old time matches and later his services were much availed of as an umpire, he being most conversant with the laws of the game. He was one of the enthusiasts who gathered round the late George Broun when the latter introduced golf to the community and long after his active participation in the game was possible, he filled office and was patron of the Club at the time of his demise. It was in the realm of rifle shooting that he achieved his greatest success. He founded the Club in Beverley, was a crack shot in his day, and schooled many who afterwards figured prominently as marksmen in this district. Bowling also claimed his attention and he was one of the earliest members of the Beverley Club. His name also figures prominently in Masonic circles. He was a Grand Lodge Officer and was Master of the Beverley Lodge in 1910.

The late Mr Walker was well versed in English literature and was a lover of the best in poetry and prose as well as keeping himself abreast of every new development in the scientific world so that his mind was a mine of information on countless subjects. His knowledge was freely given to any who sought information and was valued by the community in the early days of the district's history. Much could be written of his manifold services, of his good humour and tolerance, but suffice it to say that with his passing a notable citizen and a good and faithful servant of the district is lost to us.

Deceased is survived by a widow, three sons (Fred, Richard and Harry) and two daughters Mrs E Blechynden, (Babakin) and Mrs F Barrett-Leonard. There are many grandchildren and one great grandchild.

The funeral of the deceased took place at the Anglican Cemetery on Tuesday afternoon, following a service at St Mary's at which the Rev. Bartlett paid a tribute to the departed as a great citizen and as a man who was ready for the Call when it came. The service at Church and graveside was well attended despite the short notice given and among those present were several representatives of adjacent districts. The coffin-bearers were Messrs. W Fairhead, O Smith, and J and W Shackles and Messrs. F Blechynden, D H Forbes, H D Snith. H A Marshall, F Bremner and W R Gillespie acted as pall bearers. Floral tributes were received from the following:

Loving Wife and Rich; Sons and Daughters; Fred, Sophie and family; Harry, Eva and family; Frank, Elsie and family; Millie and Keith; Herbert and Flo Walker and family; Beverley Rifle Club; Mrs Hunter, Jean and Grace; Mr and Mrs J. District Bereavements

MRS. FLORENCE S. WALKER

A long period of failing health terminated when the death occurred at the Beverley Hospital on the night of the 28th July of Mrs Florence Susan Walker, relict of the late Thomas G Walker, who was Clerk of Courts at Beverley from 1902 to his retirement in 1921.

The late Mrs Walker was the youngest member of a school teaching family and was born in Bedford England, 87 years ago. She was married to Mr Walker in 1894 at Bournemouth, the latter being a professor of mathematics at Oxford University with a keen interest in farming, which led a year later to a decision to leave England for Western Australia.

In this State Mr. Walker's ability in the realm of figures was recognised. He was prevailed upon to enter the service of the Lands Department and he was appointed to the Beverley office in 1902 entering upon a long period of service at a time of great developments in the agricultural areas.

With her husband Mrs Walker was active in many local organisations. Mr Walker died in 1937 and increasing years curtailed her activities but she remained a staunch supporter and worker for the Red Cross Society.

Highly respected by all who knew her there was much sympathy for her family evident on Saturday afternoon last when the remains were laid to rest alongside those of her husband in the Anglican Cemetery. A large crowd was present at Church and graveside. The Rev. Churchill officiated and a wealth of floral tributes bore fragrant testimony to the love and esteem of her friends.

The bereaved family comprises: Fred (Beverley), Richard (Beverley), Elsie (Mrs F Barrett-Lennard, Beverley) and Harry (Quairading). The pall-bearers were Messrs F and H Blechynden, W R Gillespie, J I Mann, E Ford and A McGrath.

Continuing the story of Ernest Walter Blechynden (1878-1957) and Beatrice Annie Walker (1882-1945). Val Valentine wrote the following about Ernest Walter and Beatrice Blechynden and family:

"When farming area around Bruce Rock was opened up for selection, Ernest Walter and Beatrice left Beverley and took up farmland at Babakin. Their farm was called "Hillside". At this stage they had three children - Caroline; Edwin (Ted); Ernest (Jack)'

While they were waiting to be able to build a shelter, they lived in a tent. A very, nice home was eventually built and I have a vague memory it - especially the lovely garden and fruit trees. Ernest and Beatrice farmed there many years and their four children grew up there.

Uncle Ted and Auntie Gladys worked on the Faulkner farm nearby as well as helping out at "Hillside". My Father (Jack) and Mother (May) were living and working at "Hillside" too.

About 1938, Jack and May left Babakin and got work on a farm at Trayning. Jack was manpowered to a farm near Northam in 1939 for a while, but when able to leave, they returned to Trayning where they were able to lease a farm, "Turndale" and then they were able to buy it, following later along buying two other farms as well. Jack and May Blechynden farmed at Trayning until their deaths, Jack in 1985 and May 1987. They are buried at the Trayning Cemetery.

Auntie Elsie and Uncle Bert lived at "Hillside" after Gran Blechynden died in 1945. Uncle Bert worked with Grandad Blechynden. When farms were opened up to returned war service settlers Uncle Bert and Auntie Elsie were granted a farm at Arthur River in the 1950's. When they shifted to Arthur River, Granddad Blechynden sold the farm at Babakin and went to live with Auntie Elsie and Uncle Bert at Arthur River. Granddad would drive up to Trayning and stay with us for a couple of weeks quite often. I have very fond memories of Grandad's visits."

PROPERTY HILLSIDE

HILLSIDE., Mr. E. W. Blechynden's fine property, is situated 25 miles south Bruce Rock at Babakin. It contains 3,000 acres - in undulating - jam and forest country. It is subdivided into numerous paddocks and is rabbit-proof fenced on all boundaries. The property is well watered by dams. This year 900 acres is under crop and looks exceptionally well, more particularly a block of 300 acres sown with Glu-club, which on appearance should according to experts yield 21 bushels per acre. About 50 acres is sown with oats for home feed. Mr. Blechynden has recently re-started stocking sheep, having lately purchased 300 Merinos. He was the first settler in this part of the Bruce Rock district and carted his first crop of 40 bags of wheat 20 years ago to Beverley, a distance of 75 miles, where it was the first sold from this district to the flour mills. Mr Blechynden was born at Beverley 52 years ago and is the son of the late C. E. Blechynden, who was also a native of Beverley, where he was born 81 years ago. The name Blechynden is well known in many parts of this State, particularly at Bridgetown and Beverley. Mr. Blechynden has for the past seven years been a member of the Bruce Rock Road Board, and at present is vice-president of the local Agricultural Society. He is a J.P. for the York magisterial district.

BABAKIN PIONEER

Death of Mr E W Blechynden

The death occurred at the Wagin hospital on Monday morning of Mr Ernest Walter Blechynden, a brother of Messrs Horace and Syd Blechynden, of Beverley. He was born at Seaton Ross in this district 78 years ago and was associated with the Beverley district during his childhood and as a young man, later farming a property known as Glendale, south east of the township.

He was married in Beverley, choosing as his life partner Miss Beatrice Walker, eldest daughter of the late Mr and Mrs T G Walker. The couple were blessed with a family of two sons and two daughters.

Mr and Mrs Blechynden sold out their Beverley interests to take up virgin land in the Babakin district where they were pioneers. He was a member of the Bruce Rock Road Board for many years and was created a justice of the peace.

Mrs Blechynden predeceased her husband by many years and Mr Blechynden later left Babakin to live with a member of his family at Arthur River where he has been domiciled for many years past. The Babakin property is now farmed by a son.

The funeral of the late Arthur River citizen took place at the Anglican Cemetery, Beverley, on Tuesday last, the mortal remains being laid to rest beside those of his wife.

It appears that Edwin along with many other sons of farmers applied for and joined The Boy's Pig Club and as such was granted a pig. Following are inserts from articles about the Boys Pigs Club.

The Boys' Pig Club

"With the exception of a few applications which are the subject of correspondence: our list of approved and registered applications for membership in the Boys' Pig Club is now complete.. .

. . . The following names bring the total up to 686:- . . . Edwin Thomas Blechynden . . .

There are many articles found in Trove on The Boys' Pig Club. It appears it was very popular at that time in Australia and the USA.

"Our object is not simply to encourage pig raising, and thus establish a flourishing industry within the State, but we seek to do this through the younger generation. In this way we hope to organise and educate the farmers of tomorrow to appreciate the value of the pig as a moneymaker on the farm."

The girls protested:

It will be noticed that we have registered one girl's name. We are receiving many letters from girls protesting against being excluded from participating in the work of the club. After reading what the girls say, we are compelled to confess that they make out a good claim as to their eligibility for membership. . . . This is what the girls say for themselves:

No. 1 writes: "The boy gets the pig if he is lucky. He brings it home and tells his sister to look after it for him. Now, sir, the girl on the farm milks cows, feeds calves and pigs, and looks after other things.

give "The Sunday Times" greater pleasure than to be able to supply every deserving applicant with a sow, but our resources are limited. The following names bring the total up to 686:—

Why not trust her with a pig? She will look after it. I will give you my word I will if I get one. . . . Kindly, think again; women have to do a lot of work in wartime."

WEDDING BELLS.

BLECHYNDEN—FAULKNER.

On Saturday, April 9th, the Babakin Hall, beautifully decorated for the occasion, was crowded to its capacity by relatives and friends, to witness the marriage of Gladys Laura, elder daughter of Mr and Mrs D. H. Faulkner, to Edwin Thomas (Ted), elder son of Mr. and Mrs E. W. Blechynden. The Rev. F. G. Smith, Rector of Bruce Rock, officiated.

The bride, who was given away by her father, was prettily dressed in a simple gown of white satin and a veil of embroidered tulle, with a coronet of orange blossom, and carried a bouquet of cream roses, carnations and ferns.

The bridesmaids were Miss Trixie Faulkner, in pale pink crepe de chene, and Miss Elsie Blechynden in green silk with hats to match.

Mr. Jack Blechynden acted as best man.

After the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs Faulkner entertained over 50 of the company at their residence, "Melverley," Babakin.

After the ceremony, Mr and Mrs Faulkner entertained over 50 of the company at their residence, "Melverley," Babakin.

In the evening, by general invitation to a dance and social evening at the hall, Mr. and Mrs Faulkner, and Mr. and Mrs Blechynden, were hosts to practically the entire population of the district.

The numerous wedding presents, and the large attendances at the three functions of the day, testified to the high regard and esteem in which the bride and bridegroom and their respective families are held by all who know them.

The happy couple left for Perth in the evening, the bride's travelling dress being of royal blue satin with hat en suite.

Mrs E. W. Blechynden, at the piano, provided the usual wedding music.

The bride, walking down the aisle on the arm of her father, Mr. D. H. Faulkner, made a very dainty and pleasing picture in her wedding gown of cream matalasse, cut on slender lines, with full leg of mutton sleeves and train, also the customary wreath and veil and a beautiful bouquet, which was the gift of a friend.

The matron of honour and the bridesmaid, dressed in pale blue cloque frocks both wearing halotques of silver lame with blue wood pulp flowers, carrying a lemon and pink bouquet respectively, provided an additional impression of great elegance.

In perfect accord were the pretty decorations of the hall, which were effected by the many girl friends of the bride.

At the conclusion of the ceremony the wedding party motored to the home of the bride.

At the conclusion of the ceremony the wedding party motored to the home of the bride's parents, where a large number of guests partook of a sumptuous wedding breakfast. With the Rev. Guest presiding the usual appropriate toasts were honoured, many of the speakers delighting the company with humorous jesting. A happy day was made even happier for the newly-wedded couple by the sincere good fellowship of the company in wishing them, all possible happiness in this their new sphere of life. Many telegrams were received from friends and numerous beautiful presents.

DEATH NOTICE.

FAULKNER.— On August 29th, 1940, at Bruce Rock Memorial Hospital, Blanche, late of "Milverley," Babakin, aged 65 years. Dearly beloved wife of Daniel Henry Faulkner, mother of Gladys and Lucy (Trixie), and mother-in-law of Ted and Frank.
 "And in the morn those Angel faces smile which we have loved long since and lost awhile."

OBITUARY.

THE LATE MRS. BLANCHE FAULKNER.

A patient sufferer for a number of years the late Mrs. D. H. Faulkner, aged 65 years, passed away at the Bruce Rock Memorial Hospital on Thursday, 29th August.
 Born in Victoria the late Mrs. Faulkner, was married at Perth, Western Australia, during 1914 and immediately following accompanied her husband to Babakin where they, as early settlers, made their home. Respected as a homely neighbour the deceased became well-known throughout her long and happy residence in this district and gathered to her an extensive circle of intimate friends. The deceased leaves a husband and two daughters to mourn their loss.

The funeral took place on Friday 30th, when the cortege comprising sorrowing relatives and sympathetic friends, following an impressive service at St. Peter's Church, moved to the Anglican portion of the local cemetery during the early afternoon where the last rites were conducted by the Rev. G. Stanley. Chief mourners were: Mr. D. H. Faulkner, Trixie and Gladys (daughters); Messrs. Frank Smith and Ted Blechynden (son-in-laws); Mr. and Mrs. G. Martin (brother and sister-in-law); Mr. and Mrs. Coyle (sister and brother-in-law). Pall bearers: Messrs. G. Teasdale, A. M. Buller, J. Lethlean, P. Cram, H. Harling.

Old Pioneer Leaves Babakin

Last Saturday night, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Branson, senr., a farewell was extended to one of Babakin's oldest residents, Mr. D. H. Faulkner.

Mr. Faulkner has been in Babakin for some 33 years and for several years was a member of the Bruce Rock Road Board. This was only one of his many activities.

He was one of the pioneer settlers of Babakin and can well remember the good old days when all supplies had to be carted by waggon from Beverley.

His going will be a big loss to Babakin, as, quite apart from his being a good member of the community, it is with a sad heart that we see our earliest pioneers leaving our district. They seem to take with them part of, as they are called, the good old days, and no matter who comes in their place they can never quite fill the gap in the same way.

The party on Saturday night was well attended, in spite of the fact that quite a few people are still on holidays. There were approximately 100 persons present.

After an evening of singing and a few games and much talking of old days a bounteous supper was served. The gentlemen then took the floor for the speech-making, some of which were amusing, some rather stirring. Mr. Blechynden, senr., on behalf of the District presented Mr. Faulkner with a gold wristlet watch as a token of remembrance of his years spent in Babakin.

Mr. Faulkner responded in a very capable manner and on the note drew to a close a very enjoyable evening.
